WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. Nov. 10. The A. G. Cox Mfg. Co., in placing their goods before the public are aware that they will be closely scrutinized and by many severley critised, yet they have no fears on this score. They have been too long before the public, their goods have always stood any and all test to which they have been subjected and no words of commendation are necessary to tell what they are. They speak for themselves and that too in tones that reflect great credit upon their manufactures.

Some of our citizens held a meeting Wednesday night for the purpose of determining whether they should ornanize a lodge of the order of the Jr. O. U. A. M. the meeting was a very successful one and 24 names were enrolled as charter members after passing the necessary examination. They expect to fully organize within the next eight or ten days.

For the first time in our lives we had the prlvilege yesterday of seeing a banana tree in full bloom and with bananas on it. W. J. Wyatt while moving his plants and flowers to his hot house sent the tree by for our inspection. It was certainly, to us at least, an interesting curiosity.

Capt. Bob Shaw, of Washington, spent Thursday in our town. He is an old life-long friend and we were glad to see him.

Dr. B. T. Cox left Thursday for Baltimore.

Miss Daisy Carman, who has been spending a few days with the Misses Wesson, returned to her home yesterday. It is dull over home now, for us and the boy's.

F. O. and Mrs. Cox spent Thursday in Greenville.

Hard times down here. Election returns have made the blues contagious.

Elder W. L. Bilbro, of Ayden, was here one day this week.

A. G. Cox is still paying the highest cash prices for cotton seed.

The Hunsucker Carriage Co's. new supply of harness are laid out for the inspection of all who desire to see something nice and the inducements they offer to those who are in need of harness are extraordinary.

One Thousand Prizes.

Forbes, Joyner & Co., proprietors of the combined Farmers and Planters warehouses, are going to give one thousand presents to farmers who sell tobacco with them the remainder of this season. Every one who sells a load of tobacco with them will get a prize, no blanks, and will have a chance at getting a gold watch, a cooking range, or a breach loading gun. This firm will give you as good, if not better, average prices than you can get elsewhere for your tobacco, too.

An Old Bible.

Mrs. M. V. Forbes, 3 miles above Greenville, N. C., has a Bible that was printed in England in 1728. It was brought to America by Arthur Forbes, the father of Mrs Forbes' late husband, whose children and grand children are in and around Greenville.

A. D. BETTS.

Courtship of Savages.

Among the land Dyaks no youth dare venture to pay addresses to a maiden unless he can throw at her feet a netful of skulls, it being necessary for him to prove his prowess by killing a few men, women or children. Among these tribes the lover offers the maiden of his choice some betel nuts. If she accepts, he is happy, but if she refuses and says, "Be good enough to blow up the fire," it means that he is dismissed. Sometimes the courting is carried on through a medium of a sort of Jew's harp, one handing it to the other, asking questions and returning answers.

When a young Hottentot goes courting, to render himself more attractive he paints his nose, cheeks and forehead with soot. Among some tribes of Madagascar the boys decorate their long locks with leaves, flowers and feathers, "only in order to please the women." The natives of New Britain blacken some of their teeth and knock out others, knowing that otherwise they run the risk of being refused by the ones of their choice on account of ugliness. A woman in that beautiful land would "scorn to accept the addresses of one possessing white teeth, like a dog or pig." A girl who has arrived at a marriageable age has her teeth filed.

The beaus of Zambesia file the middle teeth in the upper jaw into the form of a swallow's tail. In one province of Tasmania a rebellion nearly broke out when orders were once issued forbidding the use of other and grease, for the young men feared the loss of favor in the eyes of their countrywomen. Among the Guayrayos the suitor when courting keeps for days close to the cabin of the cabin of the mistress of his heart, being painted from head to foot and armed with his battle club.

The Melonesian women do the courting. When a girl likes a man, she tells his sister and gives her a ring of string. The sister says to her brother: "Brother, I have good news for you. A woman loves you." If willing to go on with the affair through the sister, an appointment is made, and the following dialogue takes place:

The man says: "You like me proper?"

"Yes, I like you proper, with my heart inside."

Unwilling to give himself away rashly, he asks, "Now you like me."

"I like you altogether. Your skin good."

The girl, anxious to clinch the matter, asks when they are to be married. The man says, "Tomorrow, if you like." There is a mock fight when they tell their relatives, and everything is settled.

In Maoriland the girl generally begins the courting. The love token which the girl throws at the feet of her lover is a little bit of flax made into a sort of half knot. "Yes" is signified by pulling the knot tight. "No" by leaving the matrimonial noose alone.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Thanksgiving.

On Nov. 29th, there will be services at Lang's, conducted by Rev. J. T. Bundy, and at Bethlehem by the pastor. Let us meet in God's house and spend our hour in praising him.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1900.

The Path is Plain.

We have simply got to do in national affairs what the party did in this State in 1898, refuse further alliance with the traders in politics, stand squarely upon our own integrity, cease grasping at every catch-penny scheme that idle and ambitious minds may devise, and devote ourselves to those questions which appeal to the conscience, the judgment, and the integrity of the people and whose aim will satisfy the people that their best interests will be safeguarded and promoted. This is old-time Democracy, and when we start out again along these lines we may rely with some confidence upon popular support.

The party will revive and reorganize under new leadership. The experience we have just had will prove enough for a generation, let us hope. Ambitious ignorance in our own ranks will not be permitted again to lead us into association and under the leadership of political malcontents and calamity howlers on the one hand and vicious demagogues on the other. Let us be true to ourselves, and we cannot fail to merit at least the respect as well as confidence of our fellow-countrymen.—Raleigh Post

Cotton seed, once deemed worthless, but which under the magic wand of industrial invention has become so prolific in its yield of products—oils, feed stuffs, fertilizer, etc.—has been requisitioned yet another contribution to man's needs Mr Robert Thomas in a small way a paper maker from Florida, and of an inventive turn of mind, has discovered a process of making paper of a great tensile strength out of cotton seed hulls and at a less cost than is required to make it out of wood pulp. Mr. Thomas has a patent on his process and a company has been organized to handle the invention. Thus do we move forward in silence and invention. Charlotte Observer.

Wreck on the Coast Line.

Fayetteville, Nov. 10.—A wreck occurred this morning on the Atlantic Coast Line to a north-bound passenger train. It was caused by a spike tied to the rail. A sheriff's posse and bloodhounds are pursuing the perpetrators of the act. The engine ran a yard on the flange, jumped on a sand bank and turned over with the baggage and postal cars on top. Capt. McGowan, Postal Agent Craft, a lady walking in the aisle of the sleeper at the time and a colored fireman were injured, but none fatally except McGowan, who, it is feared, cannot survive his injuries. The through passengers were brought to this city. The injured men were conveyed to the hospital. The track was blocked and travel delayed for several hours.

How to Hurry.

Reader do you know how to hurry? This is a hurrying age, and you ought to know how to keep up with it if you think it worth while. Here are a few suggestions that may help you.

- Do nothing that you don't have to do.
- Cut out the non-essentials.
- Don't hesitate. Begin at once.
- When you are through, stop, and begin on the next thing.
- Don't be too particular what part of the job you begin with.
- Other things being equal, do what's under your hand first and the next nearest thing next.
- Don't pause between jobs.
- Don't go from one job to another until the first is done. "Do one thing at a time." It takes time to change your mind.
- Do your thinking while you're acting. And think about the work in hand.
- If you have assistants, use them. At first do only what they can't do, and afterward help them out.
- Do nothing twice. This makes it necessary to do it right the first time.
- Don't lay down one tool except to take up another.
- Beware of looking out of the window. That way distraction lies.
- Don't put things off. Do them when you think of them.
- If you'll follow these rules and a few more that you can make yourself, you will be able to reduce your work hours one-half; you won't be boared and worn out by your work; and when it's over you can go and romp with the baby with an approving conscience and a mind at rest.—Monthly World.

What Pluck and Industry Accomplished in the Case of Two Boys.

Eight years ago a citizen of this county died, leaving a widow and five young sons. The man had been unfortunate and after his death his land and personal property went under the auctioneer's hammer and the widow and her sons were left with nothing, save their pluck and resolution to surmount difficulties. Sickness came upon them, the mother died and it seemed that fate was against them but those boys went to work with a will and determination which takes no denial and their success has been phenomenal. By hard work alone, by the wear of muscle and sweat of their brows those boys have redeemed their father's farm, have purchased three hundred acres of good land adjoining it and have plenty of good stock and implements and piled in their cribs is this year's corn crop measuring two thousand bushels under their sheds is fifty bales of cotton made this year.—Monroe Enquirer.

Greenville ought not to be satisfied with what it has in the way of factories. There should be others.

Mr. Tom May, about 70 or 80 years old, who lives about 6 miles north of Greenville started to town on a load of fodder this morning and in some way fell off to the ground and hurt himself severely internally. The doctor was sent for to attend to his injuries. We could get no further particulars.

Read This.

We have taken great care in growing the most improved bright tobacco seed—the White Stem Orinoco, the Broad Leaf Orinoco are the most reliable tobacco ever grown in any section. Every man in the east, who cultivated this kind will average from 2 to 5 per cent more than any other kind. Mr. Sam Mumford, at Ayden, says that his Orinoco will bring fifty dollars more per acre than any other kind grown on same land. Martin county people are growing Orinoco and coining money. You will find these seed for sale at Dr. Wooten's and Dr. Bryan's Drug stores and at some store in each section of the county at 25 cents per package.
