The End of the Century Club.

On the first afternoon of the New Century the Club was most charmingly entertained at the hospitable home of Mrs. J. B. Cherry. Owing to the absence of a number of members there was no literary programme but the time was pleasantly spent in discussing the new books and current events of the day. After which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The End of the Century Club was entertained by Mrs. Quinerly at her home on Tuesday afternoon, January 15. The time was spent in discussing plans for the annual reception to be held at the home of Mrs. Skinner on January 25. Then elegant refreshments were served and the guests departed with pleasant memories of the evening.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY

What The Law Makers are Doing.

WEDNESDAY, 16.

SENATE.

The work of the Senate was very largely petitions and memorials.

Senator James, of Pitt, who had been absent the first week, was present and took the oath as Senator.

Some of the bills introduced were:

By Ward: To amend chapter 384, Acts 1899, in relation to the enforcement of the separate coach ("Jim Crow") or railroad law.

By Foushee: To revise the corporation laws of North Carolina.

By Brown: To prohibit the sale of cigarettes in North Carolina.

By James: Providing for the captions and indexing, etc., of the Acts of 1901.

By Smith: To appropriate $300,000 for the maintenance and improvement of the public schools of North Carolina.

HOUSE.

In the House the following were among the bills introduced:

Daughteridge: Regulating fees of charters of incorporations; fixing fees of charters at $25.00 for $5,000 charter, and graduated up to $750.00 for $1,000,000 charter. Charter to be void unless receipt for the fee appears on the charter.

Carr: To incorporate Apple Tree in Greene county.

McLean: To authorize the Penitentiary to buy or build an establishment to manufacture fertilizers.

Barohill: To pension William J. Whitehurst, of Pitt county.

Nichols: To incorporate Winterville High School in Pitt county.

Hood: To incorporate Bank of Mt. Olive.

Parker: For graded school in Enfield.

Bivens: To prevent shooting and bad language on public highways.

Willard: To make first Monday of September Labor Day; to provide for a general stock law.

White: To protect communities adjacent to State farms.

THURSDAY, 17th.

SENATE.

The Senate was called to order by Lieut. Gov. Turner.

A petition was presented from citizens protesting against extension of charter of the town of Washington.

Among the new bills introduced were these:

By Morton to exempt train dispatchers from jury duty.

By Aycock: To create a State text book commission, and secure for use in public schools uniform school books.

By Woodard: Authorizing commissioners of Wilson county to issue bonds to improve county court house.

HOUSE.

In the House more committees were announced. Representative Barnhill, of Pitt, is a member of the committee on Institution for Deaf and Dumb.

Among the new bills introduced were these:

By Baldwin: An act to abolish the North Carolina State Veterinary Medical Association and to regulate the practice of veterinary medical surgery in the State of North Carolina.

By Hoey: An act to protect land-owners from depredating fowls.

Mr. Lawrence—An act to provide for entering payments of charges on lands in partition proceedings on records by clerks of the Superior Courts.

Wright. An act to repeal chapter 5 of the Code, and substituting a hasty law giving Superior Courts jurisdiction.

Wright—An act to make tenant guilty of a misdemeanor for willfully abandoning and failing to cultivate lands for the crop year he rented.

More Cotton Less Tobacco.

Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, of Pitt, who has been in Raleigh this week, is quoted by a correspondent as saying there will be a considerable increase of cotton acreage and a decrease of tobacco acreage in Eastern North Carolina this year. The reason assigned is "that anybody can raise cotton, while but few are successful with tobacco." The prices of the two crops will also have something to do with it.

No, Maude, dear, telephone girls are not all belles because they get a great many rings.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 18, 1901.

Ex-Governor Russell will go down in history as the "pardoning Governor." He made the reputation of turning more criminals out of the penitentiary than any Governor the State has had.

A hand book of exceptional usefulness is the Washington Post almanac for 1901. THE REFLECTOR is indebted to the publishers for a copy. Like the Post as a newspaper, the almanac is up with the times.

Since his inauguration as Secretary of State Col. J. Bryan Grimes has resigned as President of the North Carolina Tobacco Growers Association, and Col. John S. Cunningham, of Person, was elected to succeed him. The association will petition the Legislature for a charter giving the farmers of the State power to erect tobacco, cotton and fertilizer factories any desirable point.

Too much cannot be said in approbation of so much of Governor Aycock's inaugural address as related to the subject of public education. It may be that we are too poor to do a great many other worthy and almost necessary things but it is certain that we are too poor to stagger under two of the burdens from which the State is suffering. Our present mass of ignorance and the general condition of the public roads. North Carolina has stood quite too long at the foot of the column of intelligence, and the expensiveness of bad roads to everybody who uses them is too great to be longer borne.—Charlotte Observer.

One unique feature of the inauguration yesterday was the uniform courtesy of the out-going and incoming State officers to each other. In the procession they rode in the same carriages, on the inaugural stand the old officers presented their successors, and they acted toward each other with the utmost consideration. Governor and Mrs. Russell paid marked courtesies to Governor and Mrs. Aycock, the new occupants of the mansion. This would not have been so remarkable if the two administrations had been of the same party, but it is notable, coming as it does after two of the most fiercely contested campaigns in our history. And it is singularly gratifying.—Raleigh Times.

The fellow who swore off on New Year's day is now taking quinine and whiskey for the grip.

An Unfair Rule.

The Birmingham, Ala., Age-Herald discussing the candidacy—now pretty generally recognized—of ex-Senator Hill, of New York, for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1904, says Mr. Hill, Mr. Whitney, Mr. Bryan, or whoever else aspires to this honor must first demonstrate his ability to carry his own State; that any one of this three must first run for Governor of his State and carry it. This is hardly a logical necessity. Candidates of all parties, it is true, are generally nominated with reference to their ability to carry their own States, but this has not always been the case and is not logically necessary. Mr. Cleveland was nominated in 1892 when Tammany Hall was fighting him tooth and nail and declaring that if he were the nominee he would lose the vote of New York, and when the convention probably believed it. One of the most promising presidential possibilities of 1904 is Mr. Richard Olney. Nobody would expect him to carry Massachusetts but he could likely do better than that—that is, carry New York and other States which are generally accounted doubtful. Mr. Gorman has lost Maryland, and his senatorship along with it, but it is doubtful if any New Yorker could command more votes than he in New York or any Marylander come so near reclaiming Maryland, if he did not do this absolutely, as it is almost sure he would. The rule of conduct which the Birmingham paper prescribes as necessary is neither fair nor politic; but its suggestion that "a Democrat may arise in Ohio, Indiana or Illinois" giving evidences of his availability, seems to be quite sound; and hence the unwisdom of choosing so far in advance. He may be any one of a dozen present possibilities, or Destiny may provide a man at present unknown or unthought of.—Charlotte Observer.

Died of a Wound Received in the War.

Mr. Robert Garrison, a well-known citizen of Mecklenburg county, and a veteran of the civil war, died at his home in Mallard Creek township, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His death was the result of a wound received in the war, thirty-eight years ago.—Charlotte Observer.

The Virginia-North Carolina Baseball League Formed.

Norfolk, Jan. 16.—At a meeting of North Carolina and Virginia baseball men held here to night, a Virginia-North Carolina League was formed. It includes Raleigh, Danville, Norfolk, Portsmouth, Newport News, Hampton and Richmond.

A newspaper whose columns overflow with ads of business men has more influence in attracting attention and building up a city or a town than any other agency that can be employed.—Ex.

Well, this is tough! Obituary column short half an inch, and I've got to go out and kill a man to fill it up!" exclaimed the western editor putting on his coat.

First Snow.

Roofs of houses and places not so wet as the ground were well covered with snow this morning. Much snow must have fallen during the night, but the rain that preceded caused most of it to melt. It was the first snow of the winter.

Died.

Mr. B. A. House, Sr., (more familiarly known as Mr. Ashley House) died Wednesday night at the home of his son, Mr. W. W. House, near Bethel.

In the death of Mr. House another of Pitt county's landmarks passes away. He was born Feb. 4th, 1827, making him nearly 74 years old at the time of his death.

He served gallantly through the four years of the civil war, and lost his left leg in a battle just before the surrender. He came home from the war maimed and heavily in debt, but with three boys went to work and paid every dollar that he owed, beside caring for his family.

Mr. House married three times, and lost his last wife in Dec. 1897, when with a little daughter surviving her he went to live with his son, Mr. W. W. House. In 1898 he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never recovered, and was an invalid the remainder of his life.

He leaves five children, all of whom are grown except the little daughter by his last wife.

MUNFORD'S BIG NEW STORE.

Well may the good people of Greenville and surrounding country be thankful and proud of their Big Store and the wonderful bargains that come from that great institution. For the third time this season has the buyer been north, picking and scouring the New York, Boston and Philadelphia markets and quickly snapped up all the "Juicy Plums." This was securing a leading manufacturer's fall shipment of fine clothing for men and boys intended for a clothier in Galveston, Tex., but which was countermanded on account of the flood. The result is, we can offer mens and boys highest grade clothing at just one-half the old time clothier's price. They will be ready and placed on the tables on

OUR STORE GROWING.

What has made our store such a busy place? What we advertise we do. The throngs that daily fill the store is the very best evidence that we rather understate than otherwise the remarkable value we have to sell.

Our Popular Store.

We leave it to you if there is not a snap, vim or go, about this business not perceptible in any other business in Greenville. It is no secret. The "old fog" dry goods and clothiers are sleeping, waiting for you to come in and pay them their 50 per cent. profit. Will you do it? Or will you trade with a live, hustling, progressive concern that is working like a Trojan and making your dollar buy two dollars worth. We have doubled the business since we are in our new building already, and now want to tripple it.

Holiday Goods.

Over 2 car loads of fancy goods suitable for Christmas presents. The entire store presents a big Bazaar. Everything you can think of is right here. And the
