GENERAL ASSEMBLY

What The Law Makers are Doing.

WEDNESDAY, 30TH.

SENATE.

The Senate had a busy day's work but no new bills were introduced.

Among the bills that passed third reading was the one authorizing Greenville to issue bonds.

The bill to allow alimony in case of divorce was defeated by a close vote.

HOUSE.

A petition from citizens of Burke county asked for compulsory school law.

Johnston county petitioned for a dispensary.

Some of the new bills introduced were:

By Wright, to place all Confederate soldiers over 55 years of age and not worth over $500 on the pension roll.

By Spainhour, to provide a better system for examining school teachers.

By Morris, to reduce the price of school text books.

The Cowell-Dees contest from Hyde county was looked into and settled, the vote being for Dees, Democrat, to keep his seat.

THURSDAY, 31st.

SENATE.

Several petitions were presented asking that provision be made for the better care of the insane of the State.

A petition from the Daughters of the Confederacy asked for increased appropriation for the support of the Soldiers' Home.

Several Republicans presented petitions asking for a modification of the election laws.

The alimony bill that was defeated the previous day was on motion reconsidered and taken up again.

All the new bills introduced were local in their character.

HOUSE.

A sensation was created in the House by the presenting of a resolution, by Locke Craig, of Buncombe, instituting impeachment proceedings against Chief Justice D. M. Furches and Associate Justice E. M. Douglas, of the Supreme court. The charges are that both judges violated the Constitution in issuing the mandamus upon the State Treasurer to pay a claim for back salary to Shellfish Commissioner White, when the Legislature had forbid such payment.

More new bills were introduced than on any previous day of the session. Among them were these:

By Graham, to provide for the auditing and recording of final returns of commissioners to sell real and personal property.

By Carson, to give trial judges discretion as to the number and length of speeches in all actions criminal in their respective courts other than capital cases, thereby eliminating the necessity of the increase of the number of the Supreme Court judges in the State and the useless expenditure of the people's money.

By McKeithen, transcribing the punishment in capital cases when the jury find and return a verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy.

By Winston, to make the Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the diocese of East Carolina a corporation sole.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina.

Wednesday morning three stores and one residence at Morehead City were destroyed by fire.

Governor Aycock appointed Armstead Jones Solicitor to succeed Congressman-elect E. W. Pou.

The body of Wyatt Hicks was brought here Wednesday. He belonged to the 14th Infantry and was killed in the storming of Peking August 6th last. He was given a military funeral.—Raleigh Post.

J. E. Smith, 707 S. Fifth street, owns a curiosity in the shape of a three legged dog, which was born Saturday night. The puppy has a miniature foot about a fourth of an inch long in the place of the right fore leg. The small foot is growing directly from the body. The other legs are perfectly formed.—Wilmington Star.

Killed by His Own Casket.

Some time ago Amos Rothmeyer, of Sharon, Pa., became imbued with the notion that after his death body snatchers would take his body from the grave and sell it to a medical college, so he had a heavy metal bound casket with an equally strong lock made at Cleveland. Recently the casket was delivered to Rothmeyer's home, and he had it set on end in a room. He admired the casket, and was in the habit of frequently inspecting it. A few nights ago Rothmeyer was trying to move it, and it fell upon him inflicting injuries from which he died.

Mecca of the Mismatched.

"This is the Mecca of all the mismatched portion of the human family to seek solace in free love. If a man becomes dissatisfied with his wife for any cause, or a wife prefers another to her husband, here he or she applies for a divorce without much danger of its being refused. The testimony of the party complaining with slight corroborating evidence, is sufficient. I am not an alarmist, but I do say that our present system of divorce law must necessarily result in the debasement of public morals. The law of marriage and divorce, as it prevails here, is nothing less than legalized concubinage. I should amend the law so as to permit absolute divorce only for infidelity or impotency."—Chicago Tribune.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1901.

There is much complaint now of bad roads. Still Pitt county is away behind the times in taking steps to improve the public roads. We send convicts to work the roads in other counties and let our own roads get almost impassable.

If a stranger comes to Greenville he is at once impressed with the fact that the town needs improvements, and wonders why we do not have them. Then if he hears our own citizens protesting against improvements what can be his opinion of the town and her people?

The greatest barrier that Greenville has had to her progress, and this has kept the town behind more than anything else, is that there have always been some of her citizens ready to oppose and protest against any movement made for the improvement of the town.

The Davidson Dispatch says there lives in Lexington, in a three room house, a negro woman, Mag Potter, with fifteen living children, and "three adopted relatives." These nineteen all sleep in one room. There are also six boarders in the house who sleep in one of the rooms. The cooking and eating of the twenty-five is done in the other room.

It has been said, and with considerable significance, that the women in England much more readily settle down contentedly a housewives in rural districts than do the women of this country. It is said that the English women not only adapt themselves to country life, but actually crave it.

There is no more uplifting influence in any country district than the presence of an intelligent woman who loves country life and lays herself out, as the phrase goes, to live happily and contentedly there and be helpful to all about her. —Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

Hand made—The waitress.
High balls have laid many a man low.

The vegetarian should be able to make both ends meet.

No, Maude, dear, locomotor ataxia is not a tax on locomobiles. It doesn't take a clumsy person to break the ten commandments.

The palmist and the poker player are equally addicted to the study of hands.

With the oculist, success is always in sight.

Billville Literary Notes.

Our representative in congress has been heard from. He has sent us three packages of garden seed.

There is a decided lull in literary circles. The poets are plowing, and the novelists are grubbing stumps.

The new magazine has died a natural death, but has made all its unpaid contributors honorary pallbearers.

We return thanks to the Chatahoochee river for moving our office and residence six miles from town taxes.

Major Williams's "History of the Late War" shows conclusively that all we need in this country is peace and pensions.

Billville will not get the new government penitentiary, and yet we demonstrate to the government that we could fill it comfortably.

One of our leading authors has just closed a contract with the railroad to dig an artesian well. He will probably make enough money out of it to publish his new novel.

The author's supper, on Wednesday evening last, was a highly enjoyable affair. There was a 'possum to each poet. All literary matters were laid under the table, with the authors.

It is a Wise Rule.

Quite a deal of promise of honest and effective legislation is contained in the new rule adopted by the Illinois State Senate, prohibiting the privileges of the floor to former members of the legislature who are now acting in the capacity of attorneys for railroads and similar corporations.

It is undeniably true that a vast amount of evil lobbying has been done in State Legislatures though this employment of former legislators enjoying privileges which gave singular opportunity for secret work in the direction of influencing legislation. The unceasing growth of this practice justifies the action now taken in Illinois. Former legislators from the privileges otherwise rightfully granted have themselves to thank for the fact. They have compelled a recognition of themselves as lobbyists.

The example set by the Illinois Senate may be followed by the legislatures of other States with signal benefit. It is not calculated to heighten the standard of legislative integrity if membership in a State Legislature is known to be a reasonably sure step toward lucrative employment in lobby work. The ex-legislator who chooses to become a lobbyist should promptly lose whatever distinction or privilege would otherwise be his as a former lawmaker.—St. Louis Republic.

The Best Medium.

A successful advertiser who has used most of the method of publicity has written to an advertising periodical that he would choose a single newspaper in a community for his business announcements in preference to all the other means of advertising combined. "Nearly every method is good, but only as an adjunct to newspaper advertising," he said. "People take up a newspaper for the distinct purpose of reading, and, therefore, with minds in an impressionable state. They read advertising not by accident, and not when their minds are otherwise employed. If the advertiser can say anything to interest them they can remember it. The newspaper columns are the place where people look for such information as the advertiser should be able to give."—Philadelphia Record.

A new combination mail, express and baggage car has been put on the train over here. It is now the best looking part of the train.

The citizen who is interested in the future of Greenville should think well before putting his name to a petition protesting against the town having improvements.

Any citizen of Greenville ought to be ashamed for his name to be read out publicly before the Legislature on a petition protesting against improvements being made in the town.

Died.

Mrs. J. J. Frizzle died Thursday morning at her home near Bountree's, in Contentnea township. She was formerly Miss Clarissa Lawrence, and a sister of townsman, Mr. J. W. Lawrence. She was a member of the Baptist church here. Deceased had a large number of friends in Greenville who regret to learn of her death.

North Carolina Climate the Finest in the World.

Col. Sylvester T. Everet, on his way from Cleveland to his estate, near Asheville, N. C., was at Chamberlain's last night. "In the Blue Ridge Mountain of North Carolina," said Col. Everett, "is to be found the most perfect climate in America. There are winter resorts in the South and summer resorts in the North, but North Carolina is a desirable place to live in either winter or summer. It is not only to Asheville that people go, but all through North Carolina mountains there are attractive resorts. Some of the most beautiful scenery in the world can be seen there, and each passing season sees an increased number of people coming."—Washington Post.

MUNFORD'S BIG NEW STORE.

Well may the good people of Greenville and surrounding country be thankful and proud of their Big Store and the wonderful bargains that come from that great institution. For the third time this season has the buyer been north, picking and scouring the New York, Boston and Philadelphia markets and quickly snapped up all the "Juicy Plums." This was securing a leading manufacturer's fall shipment of fine clothing for men and boys intended for a clothier in Galveston, Tex., but which was countermanded on account of the flood. The result is, we can offer mens and boys highest grade clothing at just one-half the old time clothier's price. They will be ready and placed on the tables

OUR STORE GROWING.

What has made our store such a busy place? What we advertise we do. The throngs that daily fill the store is the very best evidence that we rather understate than otherwise the remarkable value we have to sell.

Our Popular Store.

We leave it to you if there is not a snap, vim or go, about this business not perceptible in any other business in Greenville. It is no secret. The "old fog" dry goods and clothiers are sleeping, waiting for you to come in and pay them their 50 per cent. profit. Will you do it? Or will you trade with a live, hustling, progressive concern that is working like a Trojan and making your dollar buy two dollars worth. We have doubled the business since we are in our new building already, and now want to triple it.

Holiday Goods.

Over 2 car loads of fancy goods suitable for Christmas presents. The entire store presents a big Bazaar. Everything you can think of is right here. And the

There is little or no difference between an increased tax rate and an increased property assessment.
Either would raise more funds, but it would come directly out of the pockets of the people, just the same.—Durham Herald.

Young Wife Dead.

Mrs. E. J. Proctor, of Scotland Neck, died Tuesday night of pneumonia. She had been married less than a year. Some years ago
Mr. Proctor lived in Greenville and worked on THE REFLECTOR.
We extend sympathy in this great sorrow that has come upon him.

The formal casting of the electoral vote of California took place in an immense hall, in the presence of a vast assemblage of spectators, including the pupils of the public schools at the State capital. The handsome ballot box used on the occasion was made of native California woods ornamented with a gold shield of the State and a gold plate for an inscription.

Griffin-Foley.

Cards bearing the following have

Most of us would profit by the mistakes of others.

We only learn to understand the weather man by degrees.

The fellow who wears glasses doesn't always make a spectacle of himself.

The man who raises hogs realizes that the pen is mightier than the sword.

A woman with a baby and a woman with a dog always look pityingly at each other.

When a fellow is all wrapped up in himself he usually thinks he's a pretty warm proposition.

The woman who has a telephone in her house receives more calls than the woman who hasn't.

The intentions of the peacemaker may be good, but he is apt to find himself regarded as a busy-body.

ed that all children in the city

mediately.

the millionaire and his friends.

By a vote of 35 to 33 the City

James Hill and Edward Brown, bosom friends and bed-fellows, quarreled at Leesville, Va., about which should use a pillow, and Brown was fatally wounded in the duel which followed.

When the tax on manufactured tobacco was raised to 12 cents per pound a new schedule of packages of smaller size was adopted in order that retail prices might remain unchanged. In the revenue reduction bill as reported to the Senate there is a provision for a 25 cent reduction of the cost of tobacco stamps, but none for restoring the former size of the packages. This palpable error should be corrected, unless it be the desire of the senate
that the trust alone should profit
by the proposed tax reduction.
Last year the internal tax on manufactured tobacco yielded nearly $33,500,000. Should the tax be reduced one quarter and the size of packages remain unaltered the annual additional profit to the tobacco manufacturers would be not far from $8,000,000. No such diversion of tax reduction into the pockets of monopoly should be sanctioned or tolerated by congress.—Philadelphia Record.

might provide some punishment

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS
is the one important magazine in the world giving in its pictures, its text, in its contributed articles, editorials and departments, a comprehensive, timely record of the world's current history. Not the enumeration of mere bare facts, but a comprehensive picture of the month, its activities, its notable personalities, and notable incidents. The best informed men and women in the world find it indispensable.
There are many readers in your locality who have yet to learn of its usefulness. We wish to establish active agents in every city and township in the country. We will pay liberally for engaged effort in the subscription field. Leisure moments can be utilized with substantial increase of income. Make a list of the persons in your locality who should have the "Review of Reviews," and send to us for agents' terms, sample copies and working outfit. Then select a subscription list. It is a comparatively simple matter to approach a person with a subscription proposition for the "Review of Reviews," and consequently induce the early receipt. This is the active subscription season. Make application at once, naming your references.
Price, 25 cents a number.
