SEEN AND HEARD IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, N. C., Feb. 23, 1901.

We have frequently seen in the North Carolina papers, articles in reference to the proposed "inland water-way," and complimentary notices of Hon. J. H. Small in connection therewith. Should the government undertake the job, it will not be surprising, for it had Wallace's channel dredged, and it stood as long as a politician's promise, and to make a practical "inland water-way" for any craft (except those of very light draft), will be as hopeless as to make a New Englander deal justly by the South.

The la grippe and other sickness is very prevalent. Mr. Barnes, the very gentlemanly agent of the A. C. L., is dangerously ill with typhoid pneumonia.

The North Carolina navy is moored at the wharves of our town.

Hart, the hypnotist, is exhibiting here.

Mrs. Fenner B. Stickney, Jr., of Wilson, is visiting relatives here.

The postoffice is soon to be removed to one of Dr. Rodman's new stores, an excellent change. The present quarters are so small that it is difficult at times to get to one's box.

Freeman & Hodges' Lumber Company have commenced to put up their mill.

We expect the oyster canning establishment to start operating at any time now.

A primary is to be held on Tuesday next, the 26th inst., to learn if a majority of the white people wish a dispensary or no. A meeting was held on the 19th inst., at which Dr. Nash presided, to make arrangements for this primary, and some boy, for a joke, some fool for lack of sense, or some cowardly semblance of a man deficient in everything manly, wrote the Doctor a very threatening letter about the matter. We have little idea that the letter was written by any of the bar-keepers of our town, for they are men, and while they naturally oppose the dispensary, they have too much manhood to resort to such a contemptible course as this.

WOOD TO BURN.

And it Almost Burned Something Else.

Saturday Proprietor Charles Skinner, at Hotel Macon, had some hands in his wood house cutting wood. It was so cold that they built a fire among the chips. After supper Mr. E. B. Ficklen, to be on the safe side, went out to the wood house to see if any fire was there. He found some and, as he thought, put it all out. A little past midnight the wood house was discovered on fire. An alarm was turned in and Chief A. J. Griffin and a few others went around and, to all appearances, put it out again. They watched it for an hour and seeing no more fire went home, telling Night Policeman W. H. McGowan, to keep a lookout around there. About 3 o'clock the policeman found it burning again, and enough people were aroused to attend to it without giving any alarm. After so many catchings the woodhouse and a quantity of the wood were pretty well used up, or rather burned up.

Two Children Burned.

Sunday afternoon on the B. H. Carney place, about four miles from town, a tenant house occupied by colored people, was destroyed by fire. Two children, aged about 6 and 3 years, were burned to death in the building. The mother of the children was gone to a neighbors to find some one to help her get some wood when the fire occurred.

New Bank.

Work commenced today in the store next to THE REFLECTOR, formerly occupied by Zeno Moore & Bro., to fit it up for the Greenville Banking & Trust Company. The new bank will have nice quarters for its business. Mr. R. J. Cobb, a thorough business man, is at the head of it.

Large Egg.

Mr. E. B. Ficklen brought THE REFLECTOR an egg layed by a Plymouth Rock hen. The egg is of unusual size and weighs 3½ ounces. Mr. Ficklen is taking much interest in poultry raising and has some very fine stock out at his factory.

In South Africa they kill the Boers, but in this country we must endure them or die.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Feb. 23.

Yesterday was all that could be desired on the part of the weather to make the occasion of laying the corner-stone of the Winterville High School a success and one of pleasure. Quite a nice crowd was present, and at the appointed hour, with colors flying to the breezes and jewels sparkling on the lapels of coats, the Jr. O. U. A. M. marched from their hall to the school building, where appropriate religious exercises were held before the regular order of business began.

After this the Juniors, in accordance with the rules of their mystic order, in an impressive and interesting manner laid the stone. Their program was very appropriate and was enjoyed by those present. Indeed it was an occasion never before witnessed by a great number of our people, and to say it was all, to them, awe-inspiring and strangely beautiful by no means depicts the feelings as expressed on their countenances, at something they saw, and knew not what next to expect. Their anticipations were great and their realizations proclaimed something marvelous. This was a great day with us, for it marked an epoch in our history of which future generations will read and learn that on this day an institution for the education and elevation of the young manhood and womanhood of the community was dedicated to their use and the up-building of their welfare and prosperity.

The regular exercises began with an explanatory speech by W. C. Vincent. Then Prof. W. H. Ragsdale, in behalf of the Jr. O. U. A. M., presented the school with a very handsome Bible and beautiful flag, dwelling on the principles and teachings of this organization, one of which is their espousal and support of the cause of education. The Professor, as he always does, did himself and cause full justice, and that his effort was appreciated is fully evidenced from the fact that all commend him most highly and bespeak a higher incentive to prompt our people in the future to lend their aid more zealously than in the past toward the intellectual care of their posterity.

Prof. Ragsdale was followed by Mr. G. B. King, of Greenville, who, in a forceful and able manner entertained the assemblage on the subject, "Education." An old theme, but one that will last as long as civilization shall exist, and prove interesting as minds grow gigantic with the mighty strides of this more modern age. Mr. King is inspiring, and to listen to his wise sayings and beautiful expressions is encouraging at least to make an effort to become something better than we are. He handled his subject with a master hand and the good he has done this day will bear fruit for generations to come. Greenville licked us, but it can't do it again.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1901.

Next Monday, March 4th, will be the inauguration at Washington. The weather prospect is not very inviting for it.

It is probable that no convention of the North Carolina Press Association will be held this year and the editors will go in a body to the Buffalo Exposition instead. If this is finally decided upon the trip will be taken in June, about the time of the meeting of the National Editorial Association. How does this strike the brethren—and sisters?—Henderson Gold Leaf.

Speaking for one of each, we will say it suits us alright.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

What Some Legislators Say Stopped the Passage of the Libel Law Bill.

Special Correspondent of Reflector. Raleigh, Feb 25.—It is noticed that a number of the weekly papers of the State are complaining of the failure of the Legislature to pass the libel law asked for by the State Press Association. and I have tried to secure some information as the cause of the inaction of the House committee on the judiciary (the Senate having passed the bill) and what I learned from several sources is embodied in the following explanation made by a Representative whom I personally know is not unfriendly to the newspaper fraternity. Said he, in effect.

"The responsibility rests at the doors of those newspapers in North Carolina that have often, and again very lately, published scurrilous and libelous stories about good and honest men—men not in public life, some of them, but who have been most basely slandered. If such outrageous publications are made now against the character and good name of quiet folk pursuing only their avocations and professions, what is there within the realm of possibility and meanness that these vultures and hyenas of the State press—few in number, I am glad to add, but numerous enough to deserve more curbing at the hands of the law than they receive now—would not attempt, with a more lax libel law. What is it they would not essay to charge a gentleman with if they could escape the legal consequences of the act by simply 'taking it back' later?"

"I am afraid the decent, honorable, self-respecting and respecters of others rights and good names papers, who do not libel anybody and who have no care really what kind of libel law is on the statute books, are permitting themselves to be used for an unworthy purpose by the class I have described, and which is clamoring for larger license to assassinate the characters of good citizens. If all the newspapers in North Carolina were like ninety per cent of the "country press" this Legislature would not care what kind of law controlling libellous publications was enacted or whether we had any law on the subject at all. But, unfortunately, there are some character assassinating scoundrels among the editors, as well as in other professions, and they ought to be controlled by even a stronger law than we have at present."

I was told by another that the bill was about to be reported favorably, or at least "without prejudice" when one of the instances evidently alluded to in the foregoing paragraph occurred and caused nearly all the friends of the bill on the committee to desert it. Now, there may be other reasons: I simply state what has been told me.

It may be added, however, that the strictures of some of the papers on the conduct of the average small fry politician and the self-seeking demagogue and the office-hunting crowd generally, are none too severe. It is the fact, and has long been so, that they will use the newspapers to the limit to boost themselves into office and immediately exhibit the basest ingratitude for what has been done for them by the papers.

But the newspapers men are as much to blame as they, by submitting to such treatment when they have the remedy, and a most potent one, in their own hands.

PROGRESS OF THE IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS.

Looks to me as though there will necessarily be an extra session of the Senate (and the House also, of necessity, I believe) if the impeachment trial is to be taken up and concluded without delay.

The judges will be entitled to a "reasonable time" to prepare their defense. Of course nothing could be done before this week in that line for, as Governor Jarvis, of counsel, says, "we did not know until the articles of impeachment were drawn what we would have to answer and stand trial for."

On Saturday the General Assembly will have been in session, two months—exactly the 60 days allowed by law. If only ten days' notice is given the judges and their counsel to prepare their case, the session will be almost at an end before the trial could begin—and it may be a more lengthy one than some people anticipate. Each judge may elect to be tried separately, for instance.

The lawyers in the case so far selected are: For the defense Gov. Jarvis, F. I. Osborne, F. H. Busbee, W. D. Bynum, C. M. Cooke. For the prosecution, W. A. Guthrie, T. F. Davison, J. H. Merriam, J. H. Pou, C. B. Watson, C. M. Busbee. There may be one or two additions to each side.

REVENUE BILL UNPOPULAR.

The Finance Committee, in framing a revenue bill, have stirred up the "business interests" of the whole State, it seems, and various delegations representing all sorts of manufacturing, industrial and other "interests" have been pouring into Raleigh for a week, and demanding a hearing before the committee. They protest loudly and lengthily—and to tell the truth some of them have a good reason to do so. Unless the committee make a number of radical changes before reporting the bill, the Legislature will knock it into smithereens when it comes up for passage. If it doesn't, then the people will knock the future political ambition of the legislators who vote for into something worse. It would take up all your paper to enumerate the "new and unusual" methods and subjects of taxation that have been incorporated into this bill, and which some of the committeemen have been bragging would raise over a quarter of million dollars of money more than the State would need. The bill is likely "raise" something else, and plenty of it, before it becomes a law in its present shape.

The double tax feature has already been stricken out, and the "income tax" exemption raised from $500 to $1,000, etc.

"PAN-AM." RESTAURANTS.

The Best of Service Will Be Provided.

The needs of the inner man will be well attended to at the Pan-American Exposition to be held at Buffalo from May 1 to Nov. 1, 1901. At some exhibitions a great mistake has been made by not providing for good restaurants, where satisfactory meals could be obtained at reasonable prices. Either the food obtained has not been of good quality or prices charged have been exorbitant or the facilities in some particulars have been inadequate to the occasion.

There will be good restaurants in different parts of the grounds of the Pan-American Exposition, so that it will not be necessary for visitors to go outside of the grounds to secure a good meal, well served, at a moderate price. All tastes will be suited in the services rendered, for there will be places where meals will be served on an elaborate plan to suit the most fastidious taste and where prices will be in proportion to those charged at high class restaurants in large cities. There will be other places where the meals will be cheap, but the food appetizing and healthful and the surroundings clean. There will be restaurants in the beautiful building at the entrance to the Midway, another in a similar building at the entrance to the Stadium, another in the Electric Tower, which will be one of the great centers of interest on the Exposition grounds, and another on the Midway. Refreshments will also be served in the Temple of Music, which may be enjoyed by visitors at the same time that they are listening to the concerts in progress in the auditorium. There will also be a New England kitchen, a German restaurant, a Mexican restaurant, an Italian restaurant and other places where various kinds of refreshments will be served.

ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS

Made by the Orange Va. Observer.

Our life is but a little day, then let us be happy while on the way.

One little deed, if kindly done may win a friend, a lasting one.

Deceit is the falsehood used by the devil to mask the human face.

If the country needs a new brand of foolishness, Kansas is certain to hatchet.

The barkeepers in Kansas are complaining about their smashing business.

Love is said to be blind, but it has a mighty good eye when looking for money.

The pawnbroker doesn't like to see any redeeming qualities in the human race.

A Noble Work.

The Singeltary Chapter of Daughters of The Confederacy was beautifully entertained by Mrs. E.
B. Ficklen on Friday afternoon, February 22d. Rightly claiming that the South has adhered more strictly to the principles of liberty instilled into our forefathers by Washington and his followers than any other section of the union, and that Washington, had he lived in our day, would have stood side by side with Lee, this Chapter always holds its February meeting on the 22d, as in January they celebrate the 19th of Lee's birthday.

At the meeting with Mrs. Ficklen, Mrs. Harry Skinner, as chairman of the committee on the Soldiers' Relief Fund for the veterans' hospital at Raleigh, read a very touching letter from Mrs. Henry London, making an earnest appeal for help in that direction. As time goes on, hundreds of these gallant men who, with a wooden leg or crutches or with one arm,
have toiled at home to eke out a bare subsistence by personal labor
during all the weary years that have elapsed since the war, now bending under the weight of years and disease, have no alternative from starvation but to seek refuge
at the Soldiers' Home—a pitiful sight as ever met the gaze of a human being. The State provides the buildings, clothes, food, nurses,
etc., but the sum donated is utterly inadequate to reach the hospital attached, where two-thirds of the inmates lie upon beds of suffering, many of them sheetless and with
a distressing lack of blankets, spreads, etc. The Daughters of The Confederacy have undertaken
this work. The Greenville Chapter, on Friday, passed a resolution to furnish some necessary supplies,
and gentle hands are now busily
at work hemming sheets and pillow cases and making night garments for these sufferers.

A box will be forwarded from Greenville on Thursday morning.
Any contributions of articles enumerated elsewhere, sheets, pillow cases, night shirts and blankets
from merchants or citizens generally, will be gratefully acknowledged by the committee, Mrs. Jno.
L. Wooten and Mrs. F. C. Harding. Said articles or money may be left at THE REFLECTOR office.
