ANNUAL MEETING

State Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Association of North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 18, 1901.

This body met in Raleigh on Tuesday and Wednesday, February 12th-13th. The following counties were represented: Vance, Cleveland, Catawba, Burke, Guilford, Davidson, Rowan, Granville, Mecklenburg, Alamance, Richmond, Scotland, Wayne, Caswell, Person, Martin, Pitt, Orange, Lenoir, Robeson, Halifax, Johnson and Wake.

The President of the Association, Mr. N. B. Broughton, being absent on account of sickness, Capt T. B. Parker, of Orange County Branch, was called to the chair.

The President and Secretary Lindsey submitted their reports for past year, which proved that the organization of the Branches last March into a State Association was no mistake.

The following are the prominent changes made in the By-Laws:

1. Each Branch Association is required to keep an advance assessment in its Treasury so as to be ready to promptly meet a loss by fire when one occurs, and the Supervisors are to make the estimate of amount necessary.
2. The privilege is given each Branch to disclaim liability by or in consequence of loss by wind, provided this is added to the policy of member when same is issued.
3. The President of each Branch or his appointee is required to adjust all claims. Heretofore power was given only for disputed claims.
4. The Secretary of each Branch Association is required to make a monthly report of all new business, and annually the condition of his Branch to the General Office at Raleigh.
5. Agents are required to make monthly reports of all business done by them to the Secretary of their Branch. And the General Secretary is directed to make an annual report of the business done during the year in each and all the Branches.

It was decided that wherever two counties formed one and the same Branch, and at a meeting there was a mutual agreement by vote to separate, the liability of the old Branch ceased at that time.

The following officers were elected for the year: President, N. B. Broughton, Raleigh; Secretary and Treasurer, A. E. S. Lindsey, Raleigh; Vice-President, T. B. Parker Hillsboro; Executive Committee, Richard Williams, Capt. W. E. Ardrey, R. W. Scott and T. B. Parker.

The time of the Annual Meeting of State Association was changed to the third Tuesday in January, and that of the Branch Associations to first Monday in January.

A tax of 50 cents on each $1000 of new business issued by each Branch was ordered to be monthly reported to the General Secretary. And if this amount should fail to meet the expenses of the State Association, the deficit is to be prorated among the Branch Associations, and they are to pay same on demand.

All of the Directors of the more than thirty Branch Associations represented expressed themselves as greatly delighted and felt more than ever the great benefit The Farmers Mutual Fire Association has been and may continue to be to the farmers of North Carolina in protecting them from loss by fire.

By the laws of North Carolina no Association has any legal existence in this State unless its policies are signed by the President of the State Association, and said Branch is making its monthly reports to the General Office; and it is the duty of every policy-holder to see to it that his Branch is so doing, or else he may have a loss and wake up to find he belonged to something that had no legal existence.

It is required of the General Office in Raleigh to stimulate and help every County Branch, and to keep supplies of by-laws, policies, blank books, blank reports, etc., always on hand, so that they may be uniform and furnished at lowest cost.

The By-Laws, with changes and additions made, will be published and ready for orders in about thirty days.

N. B. BROUGHTON, President.
A. E. S. LINDSEY, Sec'y.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

What The Law Makers are Doing.

MONDAY, 25th.
SENATE.

The Senate organized the court of impeachment to try the Supreme Court Judges and adopted rules to govern the trial. Summons was issued for the Judges who appeared through their counsel, when they were given until March 6th to file answer to the charges, the trial to begin on the 11th. The pay of the members of the Senate during the progress of the trial was fixed at $4 per day.

Among the new bills introduced was one by Warren to empower county commissioners to draw additional jurors when needed; and one by Gudger to protect schools against contagious diseases.

HOUSE.

One bill introduced was to prevent Senators from running at large in the Hall of the House. It was referred to the committee on Insane.

Most of the other new bills were of purely a local character.

The Biblical Recorder roasts Dr. Chas. D. McIver for saying in his New York speech that the negro women of North Carolina had been better cared for than white women in the matter of education. If Dr. McIver said so foolish a thing, he needs roasting. In the first place it's not so; in the second place if it were so, he ought to be ashamed to tell it outside the State.—Morgan-Herald.

The mallet and trowel with which George Washington laid the corner-stone of the Capitol in 1793 to be used at the laying of the corner-stone of the Carnegie Library, in Washington, a few weeks hence. The implements have only been used once. They are the property of the Alexander Lodge of Masons, of which Washington was once Worshipful Master. The rowel blade is made of silver, and the handle of ivory.

Hardly had the ship on which Consul General Wildman went down settled under the waters of the Pacific, when hungry office-seekers began clamoring for the job that he held at Hong Kong. General Wildman was drowned Friday morning, and up to Saturday night seven applications for the vacant consulate had been filed in the State Department at Washington. It would serve each one of these greedy statesmen just right if the President should carefully memorize their name with a view of cutting around them.—Charlotte Observer.

A Catholic priest at Kroze, a small town in Poland, was recently awakened at night by masked robbers, who ordered him to produce the 1200 rubles which he had to pay for the construction of a church. The priest pretended to be hunting in his desk for the money, but getting his hands on a revolver he turned suddenly and fired on the bandits, killing two and putting the rest to flight. On removing the masks from the dead men it was found that they were the prefect and sub-prefect of the Kroze police.

It is said Mrs. Nation will soon go into the newspaper business. So she will quit smashing whiskey bottles and try her hatchet (or scissors) on Mr. Nation's bank account.

A horrible disaster occurred on the Pacific coast, last Friday morning, when the ocean steamer Rio de Janeiro sunk while about to pass the Golden Gate to enter San Francisco bay and harbor. In a heavy fog the steamer struck a rock and sunk in a few minutes. Including passengers and crew there were more than 200 people on board, and of these 128 were drowned. Consul General Wildman, U. S. Consul at Hong Kong, with his wife and two children were among the lost. Capt. William Ward, in command of the steamer, was a North Carolinian, his people living in Raleigh.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 25d.

Credit will be due to democrats in Congress whatever reduction of war taxes the country gets. The republicans fully intended to kill the bill in conference, but when they found out that all of the democrats in the House, and enough republicans to make a majority, were determined to head off that scheme, the leaders at once ordered that a compromise be patched up in the conference between the House and Senate bills. That compromise will not, of course, in any sense; be a democratic measure, but it will make some reduction in war taxes that would not have been made, if the democrats had been less aggressive.

All the extravagance of the republican Congress is not connected with big appropriations, although they make the most fuss and are naturally heard the most of. During the debate on the General Deficiency Bill, it was shown that sinecures were thick as peas in a pod. It was shown that committee clerks, the moment they do any real work, use their pull with Members to get extra pay therefor, and that they have been succeeding in getting much money in the shape of gratuities simply because nobody made it his business to oppose these pretty raids on the public fund. The clerk of one committee claimed, and will get $1,000 extra for reading proof of testimony taken by his committee clerks of the Pension Bureau, detailed to help the Pension committees, of Congress, are presented with $500 each in addition to their regular salaries, and clerks who have compiled a few pages from the Congressional record, in regular office hours, are given from $300 to $2,000 each for extra work. A little dialogue between Representative Cannon, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, who reported the bill, and Representative Loud, of Cal., shows how carelessly the items are scrutinized before they are presented to the House. Mr. Loud: "Who is William L. Stiles, who is to receive an appropriation as a messenger for the Committee on Accounts?" Mr. Cannon: "Well, if God doesn't know him any better than I do, he is lost." It has recently become known that a man has for a long time been drawing salary as clerk of one of the important committees of the Senate—Foreign Relations—who did not even come to Washington during the session of Congress, to make a bluff of doing the work which was performed by two assistants.

Another method of extravagance, which has flourished under this administration is connected with the enormous expenses piled up by some of the departmental bureaus. For instance, when Congress provided for the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Department of Agriculture, it provided for one chief at $3,000 a year, one clerk at $1,500, and twenty inspectors at $10.00 a day. The expenses of that bureau during the last fiscal year, as shown by the official figures, have grown to nearly a million dollars, as follows: Salaries $769,329.61, traveling expenses $22,647.85, miscellaneous $101,634.48.

Senator Tillman may have opened the way for many Southern veterans of the Mexican war to get on the pension rolls, when he succeeded in getting a bill pensioning Jim Thomas, a Mexican veteran, which had passed the Senate, through the House, by swearing that not another private pension bill should go through the Senate until it was passed. It is claimed that its passage is practically a repeal of the law, barring those Mexican veterans who sympathized with the Confederate cause from the pension rolls.

Owe No Man Anything.

While the divorce bill was being discussed in the House, we believe, a few days ago, one member professed adherence to the Bible idea. A fellow member said he also had great respect for Bible regulations and that he finds an injunction, "Owe no man anything," and wished to know if the speaker would favor the abolition of the homestead clause in our constitution. This is the first intimation we have noted that a legislator is thinking of such a movement. We are doubtless not ripe for action yet, but the horde of non-debt-payers over the land admonishes every thinking man that it is time to cultivate and ripen the public mind for the movement.

It is a burning shame that we take up a negro for stealing a little article but bestow the honors due gentility on men and women who go on enjoying all the comforts, conveniences and even the luxuries that they can get from honest people, who are struggling with all their might to make that part of their earnings which they can collect stretch out to cover their expenses, so that the owe no one and have always a clear conscience.

We know of a number of instances where persons of the weaker sex, having others dependent on them, are driven almost out of business and into despair, from losses and delay, by persons that would scorn to be called anything but high toned people. It is too hard! We absolutely need education toward and a revival of common honesty worse than anything else save the Christian religion. We can spend our thousands, our millions for education along intellectual lines, but it is all a travesty, a snare, an incubus, a delusion, a menace to educate our youth, save on the foundation of honesty—debt paying honesty. Shame, shame, shame, that men and women will take the labors of others without paying in satisfactory time and way, indifferent to the amount of privation, anxiety and absolute distress they force upon others by their indifference to principles of right between man and man. If anxiety and exposure leads to premature death the charge of murder may well be laid at the door of many a one who dresses in regulation style to float in society at the expense of others.—Concord Standard.

Mr. W. T. Stead contributes to the American Monthly Review of Reviews for March a clever and well-informed character sketch of King Edward VII. Mr. Stead's estimate of Great Britain's new sovereign will attract the more attention because of the writer's well known hostility to the policy of the Salisbury-Chamberlain administration in the matter of the Boer war—an attitude that has even led to careless imputations of disloyalty. Mr. Stead finds much to admire in the King, and likens the transition from princeliness to kingship, in the present instance, to Shakespeare's account of the transformation of "Madcap Hal" into the sober and resolute Henry V., whom Mansfield depicts.

Newspaper Should Be Calm, Candid and Courageous.

Has not the time arrived when a newspaper of an individual may speak what he believes to be the truth without being prescribed, and forced into silence? The time was, perhaps, when the exigencies of the times demanded that a man should not say what in his heart he believed. But we thought that day had passed. It would be a blessing indeed if public sentiment were so changed as to tolerate the plain unvarnished truth, spoken to be sure, kindly and courteously, but without cant or hypocrisy. We are glad to receive a half dozen papers at this office that are not afraid, and we hope they are being sustained. Of all men in the world the editors of North Carolina in this better time that has dawned upon us, have a mighty burden of responsibility thrust upon them. They are to be the heralds of this larger freedom into which we have entered. They must not follow but lead the way. The editor who will stifle his conscience and be driven into silence by politician or priest, is a craven coward, and utterly unworthy of his calling. Not that liberty should become license, or that a paper should because it can, betray and oppose the principles it pretended to espouse. Not that. But we are speaking of matters of conscience—moral issues—question of right and wrong. The newspaper that will condone a crime because it was committed by its party, is not worthy to enter the home of any citizen. We do not believe in the so-called "independent" paper either in politics or religion; but neither do we believe in a slave to party that will sell its soul to curry favor with the "leaders." A newspaper, like a man should be calm, candid and courageous.—Charity and Children.

STATE NEWS.

Happenings in North Carolina

The State Christian Endeavor Convention will be held in Winston April 25-28.

The jail of Gaston county was destroyed by fire Friday night.
The fire was caused by pouring oil
from a can into the stove.

Check forgers for small amounts have recently been operating in Durham. The forgers were well dressed and represented themselves to be drummers.

Governor Aycock has appointed E. K. Bryan, of Wilmington, as Judge of the Eastern Criminal Court to succeed Judge A. M.
Moore, resigned.

Col. G. B. Hammett, a veteran tobacconist, of Durham, died a few days ago. Last fall he visited Mr.
J. N. Gorman, in Greenville, and is well remembered here.

Dr. Street Jones, of Goldsboro, died Saturday at Morganton. Three months ago he was sand-bagged in New York and his skull fractured.
He was sent to the Hospital for treatment last week. He was a young physician, a son of Dr. W.
J. Jones, of Goldsboro.

In the March Review of Reviews Prof. John R. Commons describes the remarkable arrangement between the employers and the employees of certain trades in this country by which differences are adjusted in delegate bodies representing both sides. These conferences are now held regularly by the longshoremen and the dock managers of the Great Lakes, by the bituminous coal miners and operators, by the National Stove
Founders and the Iron Molders'
Union, and by some other important trades. What gives especial timeliness to Professor Commons' article is the proposal to extend the system to the anthracite coal industry of Pennsylvania, which is to be considered in a conference of miners and operators during month of March.

Thursday at Cedar Springs, near Rutherfordton, Miss Mary Jane Morgan and Bonnie Wright were married. The parents were willing to let the couple marry, although she was just 14, and wore short dresses. The boy is not much older.

The fast young man's time may be spent in being faster during Lent.

Success often simply means that the world has taken a man at his own valuation.

If all the world's a stage, Atlas must have been the first to try to elevate it.

Adam may have had his own troubles, but his trousers never got baggy at the knees.

A New Arable Question.
There is a city magistrate living up town who is possibly raising a mathematical prodigy in the person of his 3 or 4 year old daughter. She has only recently begun to attend the kindergarten and yet meditates changes in the system of enumeration now in vogue which, while startling, are certainly suggestive.

When asked the other day to count,
she hesitated some and then lisped:
"None, some, one, two, free, fore."
—New York Times.

Too Much Sugar.
Dr. Patchen of New York says, "If every living person were to diminish by 90 per cent the amount of sugar he now consumes and maintain its use at this standard, in less than one generation the number of physicians now practicing would be diminished by one-half, and two-thirds of the present number of drug stores would be closed."
