WEATHER BULLETIN.

Rain tonight and probably Tuesday. East winds becoming south, brisk on the coast.

POOR FELLOW.

Got a Hard Road to Travel.

Chief of Police J. T. Smith is bemoaning his fate. He seems to look upon his days as being few and full of trouble. Under the ordinance enacted by the city fathers making vaccination compulsory it becomes the Chief's duty to accompany the Disciple of Esculapius around and see that any would-be-beligerents stick out their arms to be scraped like good folks ought to do. The Captain don't know whether he will be sand-bagged, hot-watered, kidnaped or—vaccinated. It has been suggested that he get himself a "cuss proof" coat.

GRIMESLAND ITEMS.

GRIMESLAND, N. C., Mar. 4 1901.

We are glad to see Rufus Galloway out again after being sick for several days.

Miss Annie Farrell, who has been teaching at this place, returned to her home Friday to attend the inauguration at Washington City Monday.

Rev. Mr. Eare preached for us Sunday night. He is going to hold a series of meetings here this week, and will preach day and night.

In Narren and B. E. Elks, from this place, attended church at Salem Sunday.

Misses Joe and Louise Smithwick, who have been visiting Mrs. J. O. Proctor, returned to their home Wednesday.

We were glad to have Mrs. J. B. Galloway to visit our town Friday.

N. H. Galloway was in town today.

Austin Grimes was in town today.

Court Adjourned.

Pitt county got a short term of court this time, so many of the lawyers interested being away that it was necessary to continue nearly all of the cases. Adjournment for the term was made this morning, there being little more than a days work found that could be done. So those interested may take notice that there will be no more court this week or next.

HERE'S THE QUESTION.

Is it Erecting or Repairing?

The path of a town Alderman is not always a smooth one, nor does he rest on beds of ease. He is sometimes confronted with problems that one gifted with less wisdom than a Solomon would find hard to solve. They may escape smallpox, but knotty questions, like Banquo's ghost, will not down at their bidding.

The Board of Aldermen of Greenville now have a query on hand that if not settled soon will rob them of sleep or turn them gray headed. The question is, what is erecting a house, and what is repairing a house?

The trouble all came about in this wise: There is an ordinance in the town's code of laws, based on a provision in the charter, prohibiting the erecting of a wooden building within 120 feet of Evans street between certain limits. In the recent fire, among the buildings that got in the scorch was one house that was so unfortunate as to straddle this 120 feet limit when it was planted. The fire department, with no malice aforethought, not knowing what trouble they were heaping up for somebody, put the fire in this house out after it was more than half burned up. The roof, one side, one end and part of the front are gone, while the other side, the floor and what is left of the front are still there, the standing side being over in the fire limits.

Now the owners want to—well, they want a house where they used to have one, but THE REFLECTOR will not undertake to decide what they do want. That is just the question. Do they want to erect a house or do they want to repair a house? The Aldermen are looking at this problem like such questions as "do a nanny goat have horns?" or "when do a pup become a dog?" would be easy in comparison with it.

Now, ye folks who love to tackle knotty questions, here is your chance for solving a problem. Do the owners want to erect a house, or do they want to repair a house? Take the case, gentlemen.

For using a "U. S. Mail" sign on cars not used for that purpose, the Twin City Rapid Transit Company, of St. Paul, Minn, is to be prosecuted.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION.

Ordered in Farmville Township and in Town of Greenville.

Dr. Joshua Tayloe, the State Medical Inspector, was in Greenville Monday and went before the Board of County Commissioners to urge upon them the necessity of ordering compulsory vaccination. Dr. Tayloe stated that where this request came to counties in which smallpox had appeared, if the counties did not take steps to prevent the spread of the disease, the State would of necessity take hold of the matter and general vaccination be ordered.

After discussing the matter the Board passed an order making vaccination compulsory in Farmville township, leaving the matter open temporarily as to the balance of the county, the Board to meet in special session at the call of the chairman and pass an order embracing the whole county if the condition seems to require it. They made the order only for Farmville township at present because the disease is in no other section of the county.

Monday night the Board of Aldermen of Greenville held a special meeting to consider the matter of ordering compulsory vaccination in the town. The Board unanimously adopted an ordinance to this effect, placing the limit on the 12th inst. The full ordinance as adopted will be found elsewhere in this paper under a notice from the Mayor.

THE REFLECTOR believes the Commissioners and Aldermen are both right in the orders they have made, and there should be no resistance on the part of the people. It is best for the safety of all to be vaccinated and they should go on quietly and submit to it.

The Book Club.

On account of the inclement weather the Book Club had its meeting last week on Thursday instead of Tuesday as heretofore, with Mrs. F. C. Harding.

Both the President and Vice-President being absent Mrs. Jarvis presided and after the regular routine of business the discussion of new books was resumed. To the list of those already ordered was added Richard Yea and Nay, by the unanimous consent of the Club.

A most excellent paper on Famous Spanish Women, contributed by Mrs. Grimes, was read by Mrs. Cotten and heartily enjoyed by all the members—a vote of thanks to be returned to Mrs. Grimes by the Club.

After the adjournment of the meeting a very interesting contest—given the pen name to find the real name of authors—was furnished by the hostess, the prize being won by and presented, amid great applause and congratulations—to Mrs. Jarvis.

After partaking of delicious refreshments the members dispersed to meet on Tuesday, March 12th, with Mrs. Arthur.

One of the yellow journals detailed a corps of reporters the other day to ask every United States Senator this question: "What would you do with $75,000,000?" Senator Mascn's reply was brief and to the point. "I would build asylums for fool editors," he said.

TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1901.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4.

Yes, the second inauguration of Mr. McKinley was certainly carried through on an imperial scale. As in ancient Rome, the people are amused with gorgeous pageants, while they are losing their most precious profession—Liberty. It was fitting, perhaps, that a man who had just been given by a subversive partisan majority in Congress more autocratic power than was ever possessed by any American President, and more than many kings are allowed to exercise, should be given an imperial inauguration. It was also in keeping with the public extravagance which has grown to such stupendous magnitude under his first administration as to stagger and frighten the conservative element of the country, that more public money should be spent upon his second inauguration than was ever spent upon the inauguration of any other President. Just how much this inauguration has cost the public Treasury will never be known, but that it is an enormous sum anyone can see. Four companies of Porto Rican troops were brought all the way to Washington to march in the Imperial parade, —samples of Colonial subjects, as it were; likewise the cadets from West Point and Annapolis, who had not participated in an Inaugural parade, since Grant's second, before, and the regular troops from every military post in reach. In addition to these, seven warships were brought near enough to have their entire crews in the parade. All of this cost a heap of money, to which must be added the $50,000, which the use of the Pension office for the Inaugural ball, cost the Government. Like the legislation of the Fifty-Sixth Congress, now happily dead, the second inauguration of Mr. McKinley was conducted, regardless of expense, and the dear people must pay the bills for both.

Some wag started a story that the two Colorado performing bears that were carried in the Inaugural parade by a fool-election bettor, were captured by Teddy during his recent hunting trip, and all along the line, was constantly heard: "There comes Teddy's bears." Mr. Roosevelt is said to have been made quite angry by the story and especially by the continued public reference to it.

True to his declared intention of putting the Senate on record, Senator Morgan, offered his Nicaragua Canal resolution, providing for acquiring the right of way as an amendment to the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill. It was killed, as he expected it to be. The vote was 36 to 16 to sustain the chair's ruling that the amendment was not in order. Thus ended the disreputable though successful fight to prevent Nicaragua Canal legislation, which is overwhelmingly favored by the people of this county, and which the republicans pretend to favor to the extent of having had a bill passed by the House before the Presidential election. Senator Morgan cannot be blamed for having asked to be relieved of the duties of Chairman of the Committee on inter-ocean canals, and he never spoke truer words than when he said: "The republicans are not friends of this canal and they know it."

Mr. McKinley didn't like the Hoar amendment to the Philippine amendment to the Army Appropriation bill, which heads off much contemplated looting by preventing the granting of long-time franchises and the disposal of public lands in the islands, but he did not dare to veto the bill on account of the amendment, as that would have been a dead give away, showing his disappointment because the whole looting program could not be carried out.

The Senate Cuban investigation cost about $15,000, and amounted to nothing. The report of the Committee says further investigation is unnecessary, because the frauds are now being handled by the Cuban Courts. It is understood that several prominent republicans felt very much relieved when the report was announced, owing to their knowledge that any real investigation would make things very unpleasant to them.

Democrats have no reason to complain when the work of the Fifty-sixth Congress, which ended just before noon today, is studied. Being the minority party they could not prevent extravagant appropriation, but they did prevent the putting through the most extravagant single piece of legislation proposed—the Ship Subsidy bill. Just as they compelled the republicans to abandon the scheme to kill the bill reducing war taxes, both of which were substantial victories for the minority.

The late Mr. Evarts is quoted as having said: "I attribute my good health to the fact that I always get out of bed late and never take any physical exercise." One can get any sort of advice that one wants in regard to personal habits, or any rule of health that one is looking for, and facts to fit any theory. "Early to bed and early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise," is older than the oldest inhabitant, and it is held to be an incontrovertible law of nature that open air exercise is essential to the preservation of good health. And yet here comes along an old man who persisted in living until he was past 82, boasting that he always got up late and never took any exercise. He knocks out the "early bird" adage and the "early to bed" poetry, and what he does to the notion that every day a man must walk himself out of breath and until he is tired all over, is enough.—Charlotte Observer.

One thing the Cubans must get down to the credit of the Americans—the latter have so reduced the death rate in Havana that the Cuban capital is quite as healthful as the average of American cities in the same latitude. There is now but a slight fractional difference in the number of deaths per thousand of the population in Havana and New York.—Philadelphia Record.

"Hats off!" is the command of the March wind.

Father Crecy on Impeachment.

To a plain man who does not read the Constitution between the lines, the accused judges have committed a crime and misdemeanor. The prima facie evidence is against them and to volunteer for their defense, to say nothing of its assurance, is to repeat the odious case of a "swift witness."

When the Constitution of North Carolina declares that: "The Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction to hear claims against the State, but its decision shall merely be recommendatory; no process in the nature of execution shall issue thereon."

The declaration is as plain as that of the Declaration, "Thou shalt not steal;" and therefore, when the Supreme Court judges issue a mandamus to the Treasurer of North Carolina commanding him to pay certain money to a person named, that the Legislature has by special resolution, ordered not to pay out to him, they violated the Constitution, invaded the rights of the Legislative branch of the State government, defied its authority, and committed an act which is defined to be a crime, and for which it defines the punishment, which is—impeachment.

Now, what had a Legislature to do, which had taken a solemn oath to support the Constitution. Had the judges committed the act? Had they issued a mandamus writ? Had they defied the Legislature who were true to its letter and spirit? Had the Legislature usurped any authority that was not its own? Were these acts of the judges crimes or misdemeanors according to our fundamental law? If they were, then the duty of our Legislature was so plain that he who runs might read.—Elizabeth City Economist.

VACCINATION NOTICE.

At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen of the town of Greenville, held on Monday night, March 4th, the following ordinance was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has been made to appear to the Board from representations by the members of the medical profession, and from other good and satisfactory sources that smallpox, a contagious or infectious disease is now prevailing in the neighboring county of Greene, and that it has made its appearance in several well developed cases in this county near the town of Farmville, and this Board being desirous to prevent its appearance in Greenville, and in order to protect the health and lives of its citizens and to protect the commercial interests of the town and believing that vaccination is one of the great means to prevent the spread of the disease,

It is therefore ordered by the Board that all residents of the town of Greenville who have not been vaccinated or who should be revaccinated shall appear before the Superintendent of Health for Pitt County on or before the 12th day of the present month and when deemed by him necessary shall have themselves and their families vaccinated or revaccinated as the case may be.

Any person failing to submit themselves and families to be vaccinated shall upon conviction before the Mayor be fined five dollars.

And to the end that this order may be fully complied with it shall be the duty of the Chief of Police in connection with the Superintendent of Health of Pitt County to visit each and every family in the town and see that this order is carried into effect.

I shall see that this ordinance is strictly enforced and carried out to the letter, and to this end all citizens of the town are asked to comply with its requirements.

J. G. MOYE, Mayor. Greenville, N. C., March 7, 1901.

When "Ads" Impress.

A Boston advertiser who has used nearly all of the various forms of publicity told a Boston Herald interviewer recently that he now relies mainly on newspaper advertising. "Other advertising makes no permanent impression on me; but when I take up a newspaper it is for the purpose of learning something and my mind is in a state to receive impressions. If I remember an advertisement I can be sure it was in a newspaper that I had read it."—Philadelphia Record.

SEEN AND HEARD IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, N. C., March, 4.

The firm of Carter & Taylor, has dissolved. D. M. Carter continues the business at the old stand.

The snow was easily eight inches on an average.

We had, Feb. 26th, a primary to ascertain if a majority of the white voters desired a dispensary or no. There was perhaps a dozen votes against, the opponents did not vote, we desire to emphasize that fact, lest some one should be led into the error of supposing that we are all dispensary men. When the Legislature adjourns and we have no dispensary, we will know that the opponents are not dead nor sleeping.

The popular agent of the A. C. L., Mr. Barnes, who has been and is yet seriously ill, is improving.

Mrs. Betts (nee Latham) is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Latham.

Mrs. J. D. Meyers died on the 2nd inst. after a long illness, she was buried today.

Fish and oysters are scarce, oysters are high, higher, highest, 60 cents per bushel, 25 cents the quart.

If wedding bells ring out soon, it will cause no surprise, for widowers usually get there.

Some one has put up a job on King's Weekly, concerning the notable citizen of Pantego, the man who has had six wives, been the father of 40 children, etc. Since we have known the place (near 50 years) he has not been there.

A small sized scrap on Sunday night on Main street made it interesting for the Mayor on Monday.
