GRIFTON ITEMS.

GRIFTON, N. C. March 13, 1901.
George Sumrell drove over from Kinston and returned yesterday.

H. A. Timberlake, of Greenville, came in on the freight yesterday and left for Kinston on the evening train.

Jos. L. Keene, Jr., went to Kinston Monday.

W. H. Taylor returned to Kinston Tuesday.

Miss Annie Pittman returned from Baltimore Friday, where she went to purchase millinery goods for Mrs. Lula Bruton, of Kinston.

Miss Clara Gardner returned from Kinston yesterday where she has been on a visit to friends and relatives.

Mrs. Gertrude Bland is at Baltimore purchasing spring and summer millinery goods.

J. Quinerly, of Kinston, arrived here yesterday and spent the night.

Miss Julia McCotter is visiting at Kinston.

Miss Sallie Patrick, of near Grifton, and Mr. Samuel Ippock, of Craven, were married Tuesday at 3 o'clock. They left immediately for their future home in Craven.

Died.

On the morning of February 24, 1901, the angel of death called at the home of Mr. Henry S. Tyson, near Falkland, and took from it one of its brightest and most beloved ones—John H. Tyson—A young man of eighteen. John was Mr. Tyson's eldest son.

In his home he was always a kind, dutiful, loving and obedient son.

The voices of all who knew him well were, "he was a model young man."

In September, 1900, he entered the Farmville High School, where he stayed until he was forced to his bed. While in school his kind and jovial manner made for him a warm, steadfast friend of every boy and girl there, while his studiousness won the highest regard of all his teachers, and a school record well worthy of mention. It seems hard for him to have been cut down in the bloom of youth, but God saw fit to lead him into a new world and a better life. The bereaved ones have much sympathy from John's friends. T.

Bachelor quarters are only worth 25 cents.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., March 13.

King Grip has about disappeared from among us and blessed health again reigns supreme. If the Winter Heat, better known as small-pox by those who profess to know, don't assail us, we shall be for a while at least content. Save vaccination fee anyhow.

1000 good lightwood cart hubs wanted by the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

The manner in which the young gentlemen of the Vance Literary Society, who participated in the debate last Friday evening acquitted themselves is spoken of in very high terms. Each and every one of them did exceedingly well. This society reflects great credit upon our school and should be most heartily encouraged by all our people. It is both beneficial and interesting and adds much to the social entertainment of the place. From just such material as compose this society we had a Demosthenes, a Cicero, one Webster, Clay, Calhoun and a host of others who electrified the whole world and left behind them a name that will shine as illustrious and great so long as history shall exist, and who knows that what from among these young men one or more will rise to attain a prominence that will place them in the ranks equal to the greatest and most learned. Man can make of himself what he will.

Misses Annie Stox, Bessie Nichols, Hattie Nichols and Minnie Cox left on the train Saturday evening for Ayden to spend Sunday and returned Monday morning.

Rev. J. K. Faulkner returned Monday morning after being away about a week.

Josh Manning went down the road Saturday evening and returned Monday. His trip was one of business, strictly.

10,000 good second growth white oak spokes wanted by the A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

W. C. Vincent left yesterday morning for Macon, Ga., to take a course in the Georgia-Alabama Business College. Bill is an energetic young man and we bespeak for him much success.

John Flanagan, of Greenville, spent part of yesterday here on business.

John Brooks, of Grifton, came up yesterday and remained only a short while.

Mrs. Mary Smith has gone to visit friends near her old home.

G. W. Parker yesterday closed out his entire stock of merchandise to A. D. Cox.

A. G. Cox still pays the highest cash price for cotton seed.

Andy Greene, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Cox, has been very sick for the past few days. We are glad the little fellow is much better now.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1st, 1901.

Charlotte keeps on coming to the front. Two of her policemen captured a fat possum right in the city the other morning.

The article taken from the Charlotte Observer concerning water supply and fire protection will give Greenville people something to think about. The opportunity is near at hand for our people to do something towards providing the town with these great needs. One object of the bond issue to be voted on at the election to be held on the second Tuesday in next month is to provide a water supply for the town, and no citizen who is at all mindful of our needs in this particular should have the slightest opposition to the bonds. Greenville has suffered immensely in the past through failure to have a water supply, and when the opportunity comes to provide this we should take advantage of it. Work and vote for the bonds.

The article printed in another column about the celebration by the Crescent Democratic Club, of Baltimore, at which were read letters from ex-President Cleveland and Hon. D. B. Hill, affords some interesting reading. In these times when Republican extravagance is running rampant in all departments of the government the great minds of the country are doing some thinking, and the suggestions thrown out by these two leaders of thought are worthy of consideration. That something ought to be done to check the profligate extravagance of the present administration goes without saying. We believe there exists enough anti-Republican sentiment in the country, if it could be united on the right platform, to wrench the government from the hands of those who by their present corruption and extravagance seem bent upon its destruction. The Hanna-McKinley regime present good opportunities for Democratic triumph if proper advantage is taken to bring it about.

STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC TALK.

Baltimore March 11.—The Crescent Democratic Club, one of the leading political organizations of this city, celebrated its twentieth anniversary tonight, by listening to addresses on Democracy delivered by leading local speakers. The occasion was rendered more than ordinarily interesting by the receipt of letters from Grover Cleveland and David B. Hill.

Mr. Cleveland says: "All the political signs of the times indicate most impressively the necessity of increased activity and aggressiveness in the ranks of Democracy. There were days when Democratic principles advocated in Democratic fashion gave guarantee of Democratic supremacy—or at least, strength and influence in our nation's counsels. Why should there not be a return of those days?"

"The answer to this question is not found in less applicability than formerly of Democratic doctrine to present conditions. On the contrary, there never was a time when they were more needed to care evils which afflict our body politics; and there was never a time when our countrymen would be more willing to accept Democracy as they once knew it, as a safeguard against existing and threatened ills. I am convinced, however, that if our party is to gain its old prestige and become a strong and vigorous organization, feared by its enemies and inspiring the active devotion of its rank and file, it must first of all things itself become truly, honestly and consistently Democratic."

Ex-Senator's Hill's letter is as follows: "You ask me in case of my inability to be present, to express a few thoughts appropriate to the occasion, and I cheerfully comply with your request. A Democratic club which has maintained its existence for twenty-nine years, steadfastly devoted to Jeffersonian ideas of government, is entitled to the congratulations of all good citizens. There is need everywhere of such organizations unselfishly devoted to the public welfare, zealous for the triumph of our party upon right principles and opposed to corruption wherever it may be found, whether inside or outside of party lines. In this time of dire defeat, when the shouts of the victorious hosts of plutocracy, commercialism and imperialism at their recent inaugural festivities at the national capitol are still ringing in our ears, we should remember that the darkest hour is oftentimes just before the dawn of day.

"I am sure that a majority of the American electorate will not be satisfied with the continued rule of radicalism, extravagance and corruption. But we must not deceive ourselves. The people will not restore the Democratic party to power unless they are satisfied that we will give them better government. The people want a safe and conservative administration of public affairs. There must be no question of our intention to fearlessly maintain the national credit under any and all circumstances. We must not permit our opponents to place us in a false position as the enemies of public order. Labor and capital should be equally respected, but neither should be unnecessarily assailed. Opposition to dangerous corporate combinations should not be allowed to degenerate into indiscriminate attacks upon chartered rights. We should conciliate rather than antagonize the great business interests of the country and it could easily be accomplished without the surrender of a single essential party principle.

"We must realize the fact that a great political party should not be organized on narrow lines, but should be composed of all classes of good citizens, regardless of their pecuniary situations, occupations or other conditions who think substantially alike on important questions of governmental policy. Permit me to suggest to party friends that recriminations on account of present conditions are utterly useless. Let us instead look to the future with confidence, hope and courage.

"The Democratic party has survived a whole century of political vicissitudes, and if wise counsels shall hereafter prevail, as I firmly believe they will, the new century will soon witness a reunited and victorious party again in ascendancy in the affairs of our beloved country."

Painfully Hurt.

On Tuesday Miss Lizzie Jones sustained a very painful injury by accidentally spraining one of her ankles. She was passing through the porch at her home and making a misstep wrenched the ankle so that she fell to the floor. The accident caused her much pain and will prevent her from walking for some days. Her friends sympathize with her and hope she may recover as rapidly as possible.

Died.

On Wednesday morning, March 6th, "the insatiate archer" visited the happy home of Mr. Thomas B. King, near Farmville, and took from him his beautiful young wife, Nannie. She was 23 years old, and was married in February 1898. She was in the bloom of womanhood, and her unexpected death was quite a shock to her relatives and friends. She leaves two sweet children, the youngest five weeks old.

Their wide circle of friends deeply sympathize with the bereaved young husband. May God who is able, give him strength to overcome his untold grief. W.

"Bucket Toters."

The making of the children of a family the sole bread-winners is said to be a growing evil among a certain class in our city. It is said that many rural Micawbers, hearing of the wages that may be earned by children in many of our manufactories have moved their families to town for the purpose of setting the children to work and leading a life of repose supported by their earnings, and confining their own labors to the carrying of dinner to the boys and girls at work, thus acquiring the sobriquet of "bucket toters."

This is a real evil. It is not simply a question of child labor but one of adult worthlessness.

Such people deserve contempt and social ostracism from their fellows and associates, and we trust they may receive it from the respectable and industrious factory operatives of the city. We trust, too, that they will receive no encouragement from employers. The city can not afford to build up a retired or leisure class in this fashion.—Danville Free Press.

1,000,000 WOMEN RELIEVED

Reports received show that Wine of Cardui has brought permanent relief to 1,000,000 suffering women in the last few years. Because of Wine of Cardui, thousands of sufferers, seemingly on the way to premature graves, are now healthy women taking an active interest in the duties of life. Mrs. Mitchell was declining in health when Wine of Cardui "performed a miraculous cure" in her case. She suffered terribly with the agonies of falling of the womb, leucorrhoea and profuse menstruation. The weekly appearance of the menses for two months sapped her vitality until she was little better than a physical wreck. Her nervous system gave way under the terrible pain and aggravation. Then came the trial of Wine of Cardui and the cure. Mrs. Mitchell's experience ought to commend Wine of Cardui to suffering women in words of burning eloquence. The Wine is within the reach of all. Woman who try it are relieved. You can get as much benefit as Mrs. Mitchell received. Ask your druggist for Wine of Cardui. Send to the laboratory for the medicine if he tenders you a substitute.

WINE OF CARDUI

South Gaston, N. C., May 22, 1892.

Wine of Cardui and Theford's Black-Draught have performed a miraculous cure in my case. I have been a great sufferer from falling of the womb and leucorrhoea, and my menses came every week for two months and became very painful. I was in a bad condition. My husband induced me to try Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught, and now I have no pain. The leucorrhoea has disappeared and now I am in perfect health. Mrs. WILLIE MITCHELL.

Water Supply—Fire Protection.

The water supply is a continuing problem for many of the towns and cities of the country. We had supposed that Asheville was well fixed in this particular, but it seems not, for a special from that town to the Observer a few days ago told of a scheme on foot there to supply it with water by gravity instead of pumping. Week before last Atlanta had a fire which involved quite a number of houses before it could be checked and the explanation given for the spread of the flames is that the water supply is entirely inadequate and the mains too small. The chief of the fire department says he is limited to six streams, no matter how fierce the fire or how great the danger of conflagration. The New York Journal of Commerce, discussing these facts, says the lesson of the Atlanta fire should not be wasted on other cities, and that New York itself seems to prefer spending its money in other directions rather than afford proper fire protection to the congested business districts, which could be done by installing pipe lines from the river front. "Philadelphia," it continues, "which is in greater danger of a sweeping conflagration than any other city in the United States, is lazily arranging for merely partial supply for the imperilled part of the city."

Surely a city owes no higher duty to its people than that of furnishing them with abundant water, both for domestic purposes and fire protection; but if the great city of New York, on an island and surrounded by water, and the great city of Philadelphia, washed by the Schuylkill and Delaware, fail in this, what can be expected of smaller communities remote from large sources of supply?—Charlotte Observer.
