Wealthy Woman Weds a Tar Heel.

Goldsboro, March 12.—J. W. Williamson, of Mount Olive, and Mrs. P. S. Carllis, of California, if not already man and wife, are to wed very soon. Williamson, having done two years service in the Philippine Islands, returning to his home, stopped some weeks in California where Mrs. Carllis became infatuated with him. Williamson, a few weeks since, came to Mount Olive, to be followed later by the widow to claim him as her own. Since Saturday the couple have been guests at the Kenon Hotel, this city. Yesterday they telegraphed Williamson's parents at Mount Olive that they were married here. Today the couple boarded the west-bound train for some point in Colorado. Mrs. Carllis says they will stop en route tomorrow and be married.

The woman is reported to be quite wealthy, owning a large estate in California and a profitable mining interest in Colorado. She seems to have plenty of cash and is paying all expenses. She is a woman of culture. With her is her child, a little boy about 8 years old. The little fellow is very bright and talks quite freely. His mother claims that Mr. Carllis is dead, but the child says his father is alive and resides at Cape Nome. The woman claims that her love for Williamson is heaven-born and that she cannot live without him and she is amply able to provide for him. Williamson is about 25 years of age. The woman is older.

The document is printed in book form, and covers seventy-nine pages of small print. It will require 100 pages of record and three days work to record the mortgage, and the fee will be $50.

Military Company.

A regular meeting of Greenville Light Infantry Friday afternoon at 2:30. Every member must be present. R. L. CARR, Capt.

Keep Your Money At Home.

In Modes and Fabrics for March, issued for dealers in millinery, there is taken for the text of an editorial one of Aesop's fables that tells of a dog crossing a stream with a piece of meat. He saw its shadow in the stream and thinking it larger than the one he already had, plunged in after it. Result: the loss of that which he already had. The following application is then made.

"If the money which is yearly expended in the purchasing of merchandise for home consumption, is retained at home and put back into circulation through the business firms of our city, many satisfactory results can be obtained.

"For instance, there is not a merchant of our place who has not exercised the greatest care in choosing his stock of goods to meet the demands of every consumer among the people from whom he draws his patronage. Suppose, then, one of these patrons of his store chances to read an alluring announcement from a dealer in some distant city. This patron drops the choice the home merchant has bought for her use, and sends her money away, chasing shadows in the stream of a far off market.

"What is the result? The lady is disappointed in her purchase. The merchant at home from whom she should have bought, is left with his goods on hand, and the money which should have been retained at home to encourage home industry, to beautify our parks and improve our city's streets, has gone to do the same good deeds in another place."

Blizzard in the West.

St. Paul, Minn., March 12.—Special dispatches report a bad blizzard raging throughout a portion of the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. In Northern Wisconsin a heavy snow is falling which is drifting badly and blocking roads. The temperature has fallen fifty degrees. Twelve inches of snow has fallen at Rice Lake, Minn. At Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, street cars are tied up and railway trains delayed by the snow.

Railroad officials are of the opinion that lots of people would like free transportation to heaven.

A Missouri editor, going away, left a minister in charge of his paper. A day or two later a letter from a "way-back" subscriber came, which read, "You know very well I paid my subscription the last time I was in Lexington. If I get any more letters I will come down and maul h—l out of you." The minister answered: "I have been trying to maul that thing out of the editor for 10 years, and if your really come down and maul it out of him, then, my dear sir, I have 20 members of my church you can operate on."—Ex.

THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1901.

There was a squally time in the Senate Wednesday afternoon. While one bill was under discussion, Senator Gudger, of Buncombe used language in criticising the committee that was deemed too personal and objectional.

Former President Benjamin Harrison died of pneumonia, Wednesday afternoon, at his home in Indianapolis. He was about 68 years old, had been much in public life, and in his death the country loses one of its foremost men.

How The Money Flies.

It will be remembered what a howl was raised over the extravagance of the congress which first touched the billion dollar mark with its appropriations.

But the billion dollar congress has been made to appear almost parsimonious by the unbridled extravagance of the congress which went out of existence yesterday.

It boomed out of sight so far past the billion dollar point that it reached about a billion and a half.

At its first session its appropriations amounted to $710,150,862, and at its second session it authorized expenditures amounting to $750,000,000.

This terrific raid upon the treasury is not only defended by leading Republicans, but they go to the extent of speaking contemptuously of the billion dollar congress as fit only for our parochial days.

They are already laying schemes to make the next congress even more extravagant than the one lately deceased. On their programme are such additional items as a ship subsidy bill, a Pacific cable bill and others that will involve a total expenditure of several hundred million dollars.

The Republican party seems ambitious to give the country a two billion dollar congress.—Atlanta Journal.

No, Maude, dear, chickens are not sold in "shoo" stores. Quit your fooling!

The easiest way for a promoter to get money back of him is to lean against a bank.

WORKING FOR HIS STATE.

W. E. Porter Wishes to Have It Well Represented at Buffalo.

Each county in North Carolina should vie with the rest in making preparations for a display of their products at the Pan-American Exposition. The Exposition authorities will have prepared a very large bound book, which will be put in a prominent place for the purpose of giving every province, county or territory of each country or state the privilege of entering therein descriptions of geographical position and the adaptability of soil, climatic advantages, water, water power, timber, important rivers traversing territory, and manufactures.

We can see at once the great good that might be accomplished, at small cost for our different sections of the state, in presenting the advantages and resources of North Carolina. We could truthfully say that our state possesses a variety of soils, productions and climatic advantages not possessed by many other countries.

We would first present to the reader the adaptability of our soils for the different crops and products. Reference could be made to the western portion of our state and its suitability for all kinds of grasses, grains, stock raising, etc.; the Piedmont section for tobacco, cotton and all the different cereals; and the eastern section for turpentine, rice, lumber, manufactures and fisheries. We would thus present to a very large clientele our various advantages and enterprises, thereby encouraging the most desirable class of immigration to our state.

I have had the pleasure of being in the city of Buffalo for some time, and have been in close touch with the Pan-American officials. I find that they are exerting every effort within their power to make this Exposition a grand success. Every official is a man of the highest character and ability and of high social standing, and not one stone will be left unturned to make the Exposition what it purports to be—a great and grand Exposition.

W. E. PORTER, Vice President for North Carolina, Pan-American Exposition.

One Thousand Million Stamps.

The government will print one thousand million of the Pan-American postage stamps, in two colors. They will be oblong, and on the one cent stamp will be an engraving of a large steamship. On the two cent stamps a railroad train will appear coming nearly head-on. On the four cent stamp will be the picture of an automobile.

The rose was an emblem of immortality among the Syrians, and the Chinese planted it over graves.

Exposition Postoffice.

The United States government post-office department will occupy a larger space at the Pan-American Exposition than was ever before devoted to it at an exposition. The methods of mail transportation will be fully illustrated, and a postoffice equipped with all the latest devices used in the larger post-offices in the United States will be a feature of the exhibit.

Mr. Reynolds' Proposition.

Some time ago Mr. R. J. Reynolds, the well known tobacco manufacturer, donated $1,000 to erect a technological and industrial school in the Baptist Orphanage, Thomasville, as a memorial to Mr. J. H. Mills, founder of the orphanage, provided Dr. Boone, the present Superintendent, would raise $4,000. Dr. Boone jumped at the offer and he got so close to it that he went to work on a $5,000 industrial school, and it is nearly completed. In fact the building is up and the machinery is being installed, so it will not be long before the boys will be learning trades, as wood workers, machinists, etc.—Winston Sentinel.

Don'ts.

Don't look for angels hereabouts until we are more fitted for such company men will be men.

Don't mould your life after another's pattern. An act that is mean or vulgar is not changed by the mere accident of birth.

Don't fail to render tribute to Caesar, but be not deaf to the creditors of lesser note.

Don't mistake flattery for admiration. Men whose regard is valuable never offer gentlewomen such brassy tribute.

Don't under-rate beauty; neither over rate it. It is a magnet at first, but has small power to hold, unless it is brainy beauty.

Don't be a prude. Modesty in woman is the Unmatchable Jewel—but prudery is to modesty as red glass to a ruby.

Don't pose. A woman who poses is dreaded by sincere men and shunned by all women. Be natural, but cultivate nature to its highest altitude.

Don't confuse truth with candor. Truth is a mirror, but candor is a microscope through which all blemishes are manifolded.

Don't be ashamed to stand for good principles though your hearers laugh or sneer; if you live up to your creeds you will be respected.

Don't be narrow. Women of the best impulses lose many opportunities to do noble work through ultra-narrow views of things and persons.

Don't refrain from praise where merit deserves it. No one is the worse for encouragement, and many talented beings have died unknown, lacking it.

Masonic Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mr. J. B. Johnson took place Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. F. H. Harding conducting the services in the Episcopal church. Mr. Johnson was buried with Masonic honors, more than forty Masons attending and performing their last rites at the grave. The service was very impressive.

Killed a Buck and Lost Him.

Mr. D. E. Whichard, of Whichard, was in town Wednesday afternoon. He told us that late the previous afternoon, Tuesday, he was at Sheppard's mill pond hunting wild ducks. While anchored out in a canoe waiting for the ducks to come along, a large buck crossing the pond swam within a few yards of him. He fired on the deer and killed it, but it sank in about eight feet of water and could not be found. Pity to have killed such fine game and then lost it.

Going to Kinston.

The Osceola Band will go to Kinston on the 27th instant to give a concert there. The band is now practicing every night on a select program for the occasion. We can promise the Kinston people in advance that they will have the opportunity of hearing one of the best bands in North Carolina. In fact, if the claim was made that the Osceola was the best band in the State, we do not believe the claim could be refuted by another. To vary the program of the concert several ladies will accompany the band and render vocal selections. A treat is in store for our neighbors.

President McKinley has been more or less pestered during his term of office by the visits of some indiscreet clergymen, who have sought to improve each shining hour by delivering homilies upon the grave responsibilities and duties of the nation's Chief Executive. One day, according to a Washington man's story, he received courteously a clergyman who had been brought in to him. Finally he said: "I am now ready to hear what you have to say." "Oh, bless you, sir," said the visitor, "I have nothing especially to say. I merely called to pay my respects to you, and, as one of the million, to assure you of my hearty sympathy and support." "My dear sir," said the President, rising promptly, his face showing instant relief, and with both hands grasping that of his visitor, "I am very glad to see you. I am very glad to see you, indeed! I thought you had come to preach to me."

Several unique bills were introduced in the Wisconsin Legislature recently. The queerest was that fathered by Mr. Young, of Eau Claire, which provides that after January 1, 1904, railway companies shall equip their trains with "devices that will keep them on the track after derailment."
