

We Beg Your Pardon

We have an apology to make in connection with our goods but its on the score of prices. They are so low we feel almost ashamed to quote them. Come let us whisper the prices in your ear. They are so low you cannot hear them from the outside. Few pieces of New White Goods just arrived.

Yours to please,

BE SURE To visit our store.

The backward season has been worrying the white goods manufacturers. We said to one, cut the price and we will take the goods. We knew warm weather would come. Now white goods play a prominent part in this store.

Passing of the Populist Leaders.

When one begins to look around for the men conspicuous in the Populist party six years ago, or when that party was at high tide, he realizes how effectually Populism has been swallowed up by the Democracy. Peffer, one of the first Populist Senators, is as completely out of sight as if he were dead. Bloody Bridle Waite is equally unable to escape from oblivion. Allen is no longer a Senator. Kyle and Stewart have returned to the Republican fold. Marion Butler, perhaps the shrewdest politician in the lot, who at 32 years of age had revolutionized the politics of his State and won a seat in the United States Senate, in the quiet of a country newspaper office is fully reconciled to prosperity, and announces that he is at peace with all the world, including the Democratic and Republican politicians. Tom Watson finds more peace and prosperity and more enduring fame as a historian. Towne has gone into business as the head of a big corporation. Pettigrew won several hundred thousand dollars on the stock market, and, according to late reports, is to be made president of the Great Northern Railroad by his friend, James J. Hill.

But Mr. Bryan, alone in his glory, stands on the burning deck, from whence all but him had fled. —Louisville Post.

The Bride at Last Said "Obey."

In telling about "Some People I Have Married," in The Ladies' Home Journal for June, the Rev. D. M. Steele says: "Being an Episcopalian I always use the formal printed service of the Prayer-Book. In this the greatest stickler is 'obey' One day a couple came to me, bringing as witnesses the parents of both bride and groom. Everything proceeded smoothly to the point 'love, honor and obey,' when the bride refused to say the last. I repeated it and waived. Again she refused, and I shut up my book. Then there was a scene. They talked it over, and the more seriously they argued and discussed the more stubbornly she refused. The parents became angry, the groom excited, and the bride hysterical. To humor her he joined in the request to leave it out. But I liked the fellow and decided that a little sternness from me in the present might be a favor to him in the future. So I told them I had no authority to change it and would not do so. I tried to show the foolishness of her objection, but it was no use. Finally, I said to him: 'Well, this household must have a head somewhere. I will leave it out for her if you will say it.' Then it was his time to refuse, which he did. He gathered up his hat and started for the door when, presto change! she sprang after him, led him back by the hand, looked meekly up at him and said it."

A Kentucky Judge has decided that a man who invited a number of ladies with whom he was not acquainted to take a drink with him was not guilty of insulting conduct. It was pointed out that in Kentucky it has long been held that to invite a male stranger to drink is simply a courtesy of the country, and the Judge's ruling seems to be that Kentucky courtesy knows no limitation of sex.

A Newspaper's Enemies.

The newspaper that makes no enemies isn't worth the paper on which it is printed. Every day there is published something in a real newspaper which some one for their own personal reasons would like to have left out. A newspaper may have a warm friend, a person who has been a friend for years, it may have done him 99 favors, but let it fail to do him the one hundredth, or let it say something which he thinks contrary to his interest, or tell the truth about him when he doesn't want the truth told, and that person becomes an enemy. He is quick to forget the past, but he is very bitter about the present.—Knoxville Sentinel.

It seems that one enterprising gentleman of bent inclinations has been along the route of the Wilmington & Weldon road and pushed a new scheme on the ever-willing-to-be-touched truckers. This time it was "bona fide." He bought up all the berries on hand and in sight for several days to come paid for them in advance with checks dated a week ahead and had shipments made to a number of different points. Those who got in the swim went around proudly exhibiting their new deals, backed up by checks and swelled so their suspender buttons simply groaned. Since the shipments the groans have distributed from top of head to soles of feet, and calomel jalap (not mint and julep) has had a push sale. The checks were "N. G." and there's no telling whether the buyer or consignees have removed.—Raleigh Post.

In the drama of life the clerk plays a counterpart. It's peculiar that the gilded youth never shines.

To Tour the Mountains on Foot.

Walter H. Page, Esq., the accomplished editor of The World's Work, formerly of The Forum and Atlantic Monthly, has organized a party to walk through the most romantic parts of the mountains of North Carolina this summer. The expedition is to be in charge of his brothers, Messrs. Henry and Junius Page, of Aberdeen, North Carolina. The party consists of Mr. Walter Page's two sons, Ralph, now at Harvard University, and five other Harvard students, and Arthur, a younger son, who is going to a technical school in Lawrenceville, N. Y., and three classmates. An old darkey, "Uncle Isaac," an ex-slave in the Page family, will drive a pair of strong mules to a wagon, which is to contain tents, provisions, etc. A negro local chef will accompany them. The party, fifteen in number, will go by rail to some town at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountains and then tramp for thirty days, taking in Asheville, Hot Springs, Rutherfordton, Chimney Rock, Blowing Rock, Linville and other points full of similar interest and beauty. Mr. Page expects to get great benefit from this vacation spent among the splendid mountains in the isothermal belt of his native State. The university boys, too, will enjoy every minute of the jaunt and return to their studies with renewed vigor.—Ex.

Judge Danforth, of the Supreme Court of Maine, in sentencing a defaulting bank cashier the other day had this to say of the convicted man's former employers: "I wish that the law permitted me to send with the accused every one of the bank directors who, through a long term of years, expected you to do your work, live respectably, bring up a large family and be honest—all on a salary of $600 a year."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27. If the members of the Naval Board of Awards wish to increase the number of those who believe official history to consist largely of plain everyday lying, done to boost the record of the whilom favorites of the powers that be, they are on the right track; but if Mr. McKinley and Secretary Long wish to do so, either can head off the perpetuation of a historic lie by this Board.

An amusing scene took place in the Washington police court, in connection with the arraignment of a negro for the theft of a game rooster. The prisoner said: 'Judge, I jes' seen dat chicken on de sidewalk, an' de chicken acted kinder friendly. I'se fond ob game chickens wherever I sees dem, an' I had dat chicken in my arms rubbing' it down an' admirin' it when dis heah policeman come up an' sez, 'Wher did you git dat chicken Den he run me in. I had no mo' 'tention ob takin' dat chicken dan a saint in heben.' The judge accepted the plea, but in discharging the prisoner, amid the grins of those present, he said; 'I would advise you the next time you meet a chicken to take the other side of the street.'

How soldiers, even those of the regular army regard service in the Philippines, is unmistakably shown by a bit of official correspondence just made public by the War Department. A number of regulars now in the Philippines, whose terms of enlistment will shortly expire, informed their officers that they would re-enlist, if assured that they would be allowed to return to the United States when the organizations to which they belong were ordered home, and that assurance has been given in a letter from the Adjutant General's office, showing that the War Department has full knowledge of the discontent of the men with service in the Philippines. Aginaldo has been promised by Gen. MacArthur that he would be allowed to visit the United States in the fall if the War Department did not object. The War Department will take the matter under consideration, and conditions in the Philippines will determine its final action.

Ex Senator Mitchell, of Wisconsin, who has just returned from a sojourn of two years in Europe, has not changed his mind against annexation of foreign territory. He said: 'I am as thoroughly opposed as ever to annexing people without their consent. I do not find such power given specifically in the Constitution, and without the power specifically indicated, I do not think we can do it. In addition to that I do not see either political or business sense in annexing the Philippine islands.'

Future Democratic Policies.

Senator Simmons, in his interview published yesterday, conceded that the silver issue has been relegated. It cannot be told as yet, he says, what shape questions growing out of our foreign policy will take, but it is manifest to him that the tariff is again coming to the front as a live issue, and with that so adjusted as to give us access to foreign markets ocean carrying will become profitable. He opposes subsidies and foreign conquests as a means of trade expansion. As to the latter it may be said that the United States are already in possession of Porto Rico and the Philippine archipelago, and whatever any of us may think of it, is going to remain in possession. We may register our kicks but they will do no good, and the only practical question relating to these new possessions is as to the form of government to be given them. We think that Mr. Simmons is quite correct in his general positions, and he might have added—what he doubtless overlooked—that one of the issues which the Democratic party should raise in the next campaign is the wasteful extravagance in public affairs. There will be issues in abundance for it to fight on next year and in 1904, and we are gratified to see so large a sentiment among its leaders in favor of the abandonment of discredited and reactionary theories and to find them turning their faces to the morning.—Charlotte Observer.

Town Democratic Primaries.

The democratic voters of the town of Greenville are requested to meet in their respective wards, at places designated below, on Friday evening, May 31st, at 8:30 o'clock, (except Fifth Ward) for the purpose of nominating candidates for Aldermen to be voted for in the election to be held on the 3rd day of June.

- First Ward—in the old Mayor's office on Second street.
Second Ward—in the Mayor's office on Fourth street.
Third Ward—in the Court House.
Fourth Ward—in the Star Warehouse.
Fifth Ward—in J. L. Sugg's office on Third street at 5 o'clock P. M.

Merry Milk Maids.

We hear there is talk of again giving the opera "Merry Milk Maids" that was very successful presented here in the old opera house a number of years ago. Those who remember it will be delighted to witness it again.

Father's Credit Given to Son.

Yes, printers make mistakes sometimes, and unlike those made by other professions they are not easily hid, for the cold type always give them away. It was Mr. E. G. Flanagan who got the diploma at Wilson for embalming, and not his little son as it appeared in yesterday's REFLECTOR. The wrong item got the last sentence added in revising the proof, that was all. But the boy is fine enough to have a diploma, just the same.

Base Ball.

Monday's games of ball put Wilmington in the lead again and dropped Raleigh down to third place with Newport News second. Raleigh lost a game in Norfolk and Wilmington won in Richmond. The following games were played:

At Norfolk: Raleigh 0, Norfolk 2.

At Newport News: Portsmouth 1, Newport News 5.

At Richmond: Wilmington 13, Richmond 4.

Fourth of July.

It has been suggested that Greenville get back to the old custom and have a real stirring 4th of July celebration this year. Why not? We have the finest band in the State, we have a good military company, we have large fraternal organizations, and all might unite together and form a parade that would do the the town credit. Then we might get some great speaker, Governor Aycock, for instance, to come and address the gathering. Let's have it and invite everybody in reach to come to see us that day. The time to start is right now, as there is no time to spare in making preparation.

Mrs. Smith Dead.

Mrs. Sarah Smith, wife of Mr. J. L. Smith, of Beaver Dam township, who was so terribly burned some days ago, died Saturday night, and was buried Sunday. There is no telling what agony she suffered, and death could only have been a relief to her.

Needs New Railing.

People traveling on the north side of the river say a portion of the railing to the bridge at the Carney crossing of Grindle creek is gone, making it dangerous if a horse should get frightened on the bridge. No doubt the County Commissioners will order it looked after at their next meeting.

North Carolina is considerably fewer feet above the sea level than it was a week ago, and the land that departed for parts unknown contained the choice product of fertilizer companies, part of Neill's cotton estimate and the wheat and corn that would have been marketed at high prices in South Carolina during the next political campaign. Only an expanse of dirty water, the bullfrogs and clay are left. The water will go and only the green bullfrogs and the red clay will remain. 'Tis a dismal thing—this land-slipping or stealing away; and, speaking in all seriousness, the scientific man, as well as the farmer, is now confronted with an agricultural problem that is new and vital.—Charlotte Observer.

Going! Going! Gone!!

Going!

to advertise sometime in the future will not bring business to you today.

Going!!

to wait until times get better means the missing of many dollars that would come to you now for the asking.

Gone!!!

will be your opportunities if you neglect this important matter and let your more enterprising competitor get ahead of you and stay ahead. Don't wait.

The easiest, quickest and best way to sell anything is to advertise it in THE REFLECTOR. Such an advertisement goes straight to the people, they learn what you have to sell and you reap the benefit.

We have just purchased a large supply of bright and attractive cuts to illustrate REFLECTOR advertisements, and you are at liberty to use them. If you don't know just what you want to say, we will help you get up your advertisement. That is our business, to help you talk to the people.

The cost of an advertisement in THE REFLECTOR is the easiest part.
