FOR THE CHILDREN

A Rabbit's Shrewdness.

While riding up some steep bluffs on the plains of Colorado near the foothills of the Rocky mountains one day a few years ago my attention was attracted by the unusual behavior of a golden eagle which suddenly pounced down from the sky and disappeared. Almost immediately it reappeared, only to swoop downward and vanish as before.

Spurring my horse to the top of the bluff, I saw before me a level tableland several hundred yards in extent flanked upon its farther side by a deep and tortuous ravine. The tableland was entirely devoid of vegetation or cover of any sort. Not so much as a clump of cactus or a bunch of soapweed relieved the monotony of its level.

About 50 yards away toward the ravine lay an object almost the color of the prairie itself which at first I thought was a stone, but which on a second look I discovered to be a jack rabbit. He was squatting down, his long ears folded back along his body, motionless. The mystery of the eagle's queer movements was revealed. It intended to dine on rabbit meat.

My horse had hardly come to a stop when the eagle, apparently oblivious of my presence, swooped fiercely down upon its prey. The rabbit passively awaited the onslaught. Straight as a falling shell the great bird pounced down. It was almost on the rabbit and seemed about to seize him when suddenly the long ears unfolded and a streak of gray flashed upward through the air. It was a tremendous leap, five feet at the very least, and so correctly timed that the huge bulk of the eagle swept on beneath him, and he dropped back unharmed. The rabbit instantly darted at full speed toward the ravine. He ran 25 or 30 yards before the eagle was able to turn and renew the attack.

The rabbit was apparently watching every move of his enemy, for at the very instant the eagle made toward him he stepped and, squatting down as before, again awaited the foe.

As the eagle swept downward for the second time I saw that it would pass far enough above the rabbit to seize him should he attempt to leap upward, as before. But the rabbit instantly divined the eagle's purpose, and this time, merely flattening himself against the earth, the bird passed above him. Again the rabbit darted toward the ravine and again at the proper moment stopped to await the onslaught.

Time after time this was repeated, always with the result that the rabbit kept unharmed and gradually approached the ravine. At last, with one final dash, he sprang over the precipitous side of the ravine and disappeared.

The great bird, balked of its prey, hung disappointed over the ravine for a moment and then circled majestically skyward.

The contest had lasted for nearly half an hour. During that time had the rabbit once yielded to panic or had he in one instance failed to foresee the eagle's method of attack he would have paid the penalty with his life.—Youth's Companion.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1901.

Duel of Negro Women.

Drake Schneider and Kip Harris, negroes, played craps in a saloon at Ninety seventh street and Third avenue, yesterday afternoon and Schneider won all the other's money.

Finally one of the women proposed that they go out on the sidewalk and settle the dispute between themselves, the men to abide by the result.

Then at a signal from one of their companions they began a combat that the spectators seemed to enjoy.

The Wilson girl broke the ring, ran up the street, borrowed five cents and got away on a Second avenue down-town car.

It was after all this had happened that Policeman Barrett and Detective Dixon of the East 104th street station ran up and picked up the the unconscious woman on the sidewalk.

The police arrested the two men as witnesses. It was necessary to wash off the sidewalk with a hose.

Is not this a pretty spectacle to take place in a city like New York if it had occurred in Africa there might have been some excuse for it.

Poisonous Reptiles and Insect Stings and bites cured quickly and surely by the prompt use of Perry Davis Pain-Killer.

The Greenville Light Infantry will leave next Monday for the encampment at Waightsville.

we find what our public school teachers need. There are times that teachers should say they didn't know, but here is the chance to get definite information.

He wanted North Carolina to know what is being done here so that other counties may follow the example as this is the first 4 week institute in North Carolina.

The day is coming when the country boy will have the same chance as the one in the city. In every village there will be a graded school and country boys will be brought in.

He preferred to speak of the school law as it was generally looked upon as of about as much value as a last years bird's nest.

In the school law there is not much pay to officers but a penalty. A boy being asked what his father gave him for cutting wood said, nothing, but if he didn't cut it he would give him something.

A large per cent of the white children in Pitt county were not in school last year, but the negroes are going. He had known them to go with nothing but four green apples in their dinner buckets.

Massachusetts early took a stand for education, and today can boast of her billions of dollars, but if North Carolina would educate she would outstrip her by far.

A rose hid away in a crevice in a rock wasted its life for others. Set not your hearts on high ambitions, but strive to do well.

An important feature of the new school law is that of circulating libraries. The State will soon be ready to furnish her part of the money to start six libraries in each county.

Gen. Toon received the closest attention from start to finish and well the teachers might listen to one who has spent so much of his life in the cause of education.

Once he answered his country's call and marshalled his regiment on the field of battle in defense of our loved southland and did his part gallantly, but today he fills a far higher position and marshalls the teachers of the State who are to shape and mold its future destiny of our State. We appreciated very much his statement that our work was the first of its kind in the State and the hope expressed that it would spread and revolutionize institute work in the State.

We know that there is some poor teaching done in North Carolina, but the poorest teacher in the State is not doing as poor work as is found in many institutes.

After Gen. Toon's speech a general reception was given and all of the teachers met him. Another enjoyable feature was the music furnished by the Winterville string band with Miss Calliss at the piano, also a very laughable song by Prof. McWhorter.

Wasted Time.

The time wasted in waiting for other people would have sufficed to make any one of us learned in some science or some foreign tongue. Perhaps we have laid down some arguent work to meet an engagement, only to find that the one whom we are to meet has failed to come or to come at the appointed time. Waiting for meals, delayed trains and cars, for attention and change in stores—these and many other time wasting annoyances belong to busy town life rather than to the rural life, which we are taught in books to associate with carelessness in regard to the value of time. Amusing as these intervals of idleness must often be, it is a pity to make them worse by impatience. Accepted as inevitable, they may often be of use in securing us brief intervals of refreshing quiet in the strain of a busy day. Sometimes they are of use in observation, study or meditation. At the worst, they ought to confirm us in the purpose never to levy upon others an unwilling tax of time by our careless or self-indulgent tardiness. —Congregationalist.

Women Who Work

Nine out of ten women are afflicted with some of the common ailments known as female diseases. Among women whose employment requires them to stand on their feet or sit in the same position all day, not one in twenty-five escape these troubles. The average feminine constitution cannot, unaided, withstand the strain to which steady, trying work subjects them. The organs of womanhood are so delicate and finely adjusted that the inevitable result of constant standing, lifting, stooping or straining is displacement of vital parts. The disorder is usually slight at first, but soon develops into irregular or painful menstruation, leucorrhoea or falling of the womb. Wine of Cardui is the right remedy for female weakness. As such it is offered to you. Wine of Cardui will not perform miracles, but it will, if taken as directed, insure painless and regular operation of the menstrual function. It will drive out every trace of leucorrhoea, and will so strengthen the ligaments that falling of the womb will be an impossibility. Don't you think it would pay you to try a medicine with such a record as that? You can get a $1 bottle of Wine of Cardui at any drug store and use it in the privacy of your home.

WINE OF CARDUI

Townsend, Ga., May 18, 1899.

I have been in bad health with falling of the womb, weak back, nervousness and heart palpitation. At monthly periods I would be in bed suffering great pain. Lately I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Theford's Black-Draught, and they have brought me wonderful relief. I have no pain, and do not stop work at the monthly period.

WINTERVILLE DEPARTMENT.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE AND OTHER NEWS.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., July 17.
Winterville just at this time is the most enviable place imaginable. Every morning and evening our streets are thoroughly crowded with the most pretty girls one ever saw, and the sweetest to-be-sure. July, here, is a lovely month.

Thus far the features of the teachers institute have been of a very interesting nature, everyone seems to enjoy themselves and spend a delightful time. The closing exercises are looked for with grave apprehensions and many misgivings by some who anticipate an examination too rigid for a happy termination of their own interest. That teachers should be of a higher standard is readily admitted and the disposition manifested by those in charge of the institute certainly points to an indication of the fact that no pains will be spared to bring about such a result.

Miss Anna Ree Kittrell, who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Janie Kittrell, left here for her home Tuesday.

A. D. Cox, who is merchandising in Ayden, came home Sunday and is now confined at his home with typhoid fever. We sincerely hope it will prove not to be serious.

J. H. Cobb, of Standard, was here a short while yesterday.

H. M. Hardee, of Norfolk, spent Monday here.

Jack Peebles, of Greenville, was here a short while Monday.

Hunsucker Carriage Co. have a few special nice buggies on hand. Come prepared to take one home with you.

When you pass this way and wish your horse fed or wish to hire a horse to ride out, call at Hunsucker's feed and livery stables.

Help furnished to house your tobacco. We have a full line of tobacco trucks to sell. They save at least two laborers. Better come at once. You will need them next week to help you when you can't get hands. A. G. Cox MFG. Co.

The teachers and people of the town were very glad to have State Superintendent General T. F. Toon here Tuesday night and although much fatigued from travel and loss of sleep yet he made a very fine speech. Once in England's history there lay great danger across the channel in the form of the great French Gen. Napoleon, but there now lies greater danger from ignorance and no channel intervening. He had heard this institute highly praised in Raleigh and on the train but half had not been told. He was glad to speak to people of Pitt county, which furnished the first blood at Bethel and last to lay down arms at Appomattox. There is a change coming when seven eights of teachers will be women and men will enter the work for life, but women may find a higher calling in making homes.

At one time institute work was done by having a few lectures suited to University work but here

If you put a sign on the fence or tree or side of the house people must go to it to read it, hence few read it.

SEND YOUR SIGN TO

the people by putting it in

THE REFLECTOR

and you will see the difference. THE REFLECTOR goes to the people and carries your sign with it, and they all read it.

Advertising

in THE REFLECTOR will bring you success. Don't lag behind in the race, but let the people know what you are here for.

The easiest, quickest and best way to sell anything is to advertise it in THE REFLECTOR. Such an advertisement goes straight to the people, they learn what you have to sell and you reap the benefit.

We have just purchased a large supply of bright and attractive cuts to illustrate REFLECTOR advertisements, and you are at liberty to use them. If you don't know just what you want to say, we will help you get up your advertisement. That is our business, to help you talk to the people.

The cost of an advertisement in THE REFLECTOR is the easiest part.
