1,900 Per Cent. Dividend.

New York, July 31.—The Evening Post says today that the extra dividend declared recently by the First National Bank before taking over the National Bank of the Republic was 1,900 per cent. on the old capital stock of $500,000. This dividend was more than large enough to enable the stockholders to pay for their share of the new stock to be issued on the increase of the bank's capital to $10,000,000, without the outlay of other cash.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

What it Accomplished and the Results to Follow.

CASTORIA, N. C., July 31, 1901.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:

The recent joint institute at Winterville for the teachers of Pitt and Greene counties marks an epoch in institute work for North Carolina. Viewed as an experiment its great measure of success warrants the belief that the day has passed when it was considered sufficient to have delivered a series of lectures for a week and call it an "institute." Three years experience as County Superintendent of Education has brought home to me very forcibly the fact that to be productive of any real and lasting benefit, a teacher's institute must, under existing conditions, provide something more than a rich and tempting array of lectures and addresses—must in short give each teacher something to carry home with him, something to use as well as teach him how to use it. I use the term "under existing conditions," advisedly, for unfortunately we have never been able to pay our teachers such salaries as would justify them in seeking elsewhere that training which is essential to success in the school-room. Hence the necessity of starting at the beginning.

This condition of affairs is by no means peculiar to Pitt and Greene counties, for indeed the assembly at Winterville was strikingly above the average in intelligence, but the sooner it is realized that such conditions exist at all, the better it will be for the teachers themselves as well as for the half a million school children of North Carolina who must look to them for guidance and training.

The results of this judicious combining of the theoretical and the practical can not yet be estimated in its fullest extent. It must be looked for in the wider field of their usefulness; in the broader, more thorough and more liberal training which our teachers will be able to give; and in the fastening of the educational spirit of their communities in which they must by nature be a power either for good or for evil. The immediate results are evident in the increased confidence with which the teachers underwent the examination—the bug bear of a teacher's life.

On the whole, while it must be borne in mind that the institute just closed was more or less an experiment, and can at best be considered only as a step in the right direction, we have every reason to believe that it will be justified by its results—an impetus to education along the proper lines, more efficient work in the school-room.

That so much was accomplished is due in great part to the teachers themselves, and to the spirit which they brought to their work—without which all effort must have proved unsuccessful. To the Superintendents who had the courage to undertake and the will to carry out, is due the credit of successful pioneers in this line of work.

Very respectfully,
FRED L. CARR.

Found An Alligator.

Today two colored boys captured a small alligator in the branch just east of town. There is no telling where the alligator came from unless it is the one that got away from Mr. E. A. Nichols sometime ago. He had one that came from Florida and it escaped.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 2, 1901.

TAXES AND TAXES.

The Aldermen Make a Levy—Other Business of the Board.

The Board of Aldermen held their regular monthly meeting Thursday night with all the members present at the beginning of the session, but as they continued at work until midnight three asked to be excused before the end came, leaving only a quorum to finish up.

J. L. Sugg, Alderman elect for the Fifth ward, took the oath and entered upon the duties of the office.

The election of an assistant police was taken up as unfinished business. One ballot was taken resulting in a tie between A. A. Forbes, Jr., and B. B. Dudley, each receiving four votes, when the matter was again postponed until the next regular meeting.

The Chief of Police was granted ten days further time to prepare the inventory of property belonging to the town.

The election of Chief and Assistant Chief of the Fire Department was deferred until next meeting.

Petitions from J. C. Taylor & Co. and W. W. Thomas to be allowed to carry on a market business at places outside of the market house, were referred to the Market Committee for report at next meeting.

The Tax Collector, Chief, Assistant and Special Police made their reports of collections during the past month.

The Tax Collector presented a list of persons who had failed to list their taxes, and he was authorized to list all delinquents upon their paying him the usual fee therefor.

J. N. Hart, Treasurer-elect, was given until next meeting to file his official bond.

The Tax Collector was instructed to pay all orders issued at this meeting out of funds in his hands, so that persons holding the orders would not have to wait until the Treasurer qualifies.

When the levying of taxes was taken up there was warm discussion, but it was mainly one-sided, at least one against the house, as Alderman Hooker stood alone for a reduction. The levy was made as follows:

For general purposes—60 cents on the $100 valuation and $1.80 on the poll.

For interest on bonds—42 cents on the $100 valuation and $1.26 on the poll.

For graded school—10 cents on the $100 and 30 cents on the poll. This makes a total tax of $1.12 on the $100 valuation and $3.36 on the poll.

Slot machines were permitted to be placed in the town and a license tax on each machine was levied at $33.33 per year or part of a year.

The tax of $2 per head heretofore levied on dogs was reduced to $1.

Alderman Ficklen, who had permitted his team to do some emergency hauling, was excused from paying any dray license tax.

The Street Committee was instructed to investigate the matter of a railroad side track being put in Eleventh street, permission for which the Board gave at its first meeting.

Restaurant licenses were granted to B. F. Gwaltney, W. C. Hines, S. W. Watkins, Stanley Hopkins and C. C. Forbes & J. K. Carnegie.

Application of B. F. Jolley for restaurant license was refused.

A. J. Griffin tendered his resignation as Chief of the Fire Department which was accepted.

Accounts were allowed amounting to $302.24.

The Board then adjourned to hold a special meeting on Thursday, August 8th, at 4 p. m.

Associate Justice Brewer, of the United States Supreme Court, expressed the conviction in an address at Milwaukee that the day is coming when war will be no more and universal peace will reign 'as surely as a supreme Being rules over the destinies of nations.' This may be so. We would like to feel that it was. While we sometimes doubt that human nature is black with only a few white spots, still we fear that it is still black enough to prevent the 'lamb from lying down with the lion' for sometime to come. Man cannot be depended upon where self interest is involved. When there is nothing to conquer, when men are made over and that after a different model, or perhaps nearer like the pattern after which we are now supposed to be fashioned, that time may come. But as long as we are, there will continue to be wars and rumors of war.—Stateville Landmark.

State Auditor Dixon to-day wrote all the sheriffs in the State a very important letter, telling them that the new revenue law requires that on the first day of each month they shall send to the State Auditor a statement of all the State taxes they collected during the preceding month and that they shall by the 10th of the month send such taxes to the State Treasurer. This does not mean merely privilege taxes, says the Auditor. It means all State taxes. Some sheriffs have construed it to mean merely privilege taxes, while others have made the payments to the county commissioners, but payments must be made directly to the State Treasurer. Not half a dozen sheriffs have so far complied with this law.—Raleigh Cor. Charlotte Observer.

A queer will case has just been decided by the Courts in Minnesota. The witnesses to the instrument had stepped through a doorway into a room adjoining that in which the testator lay at the time of the signing of the will, and had affixed their signatures at a table about ten feet from the testator, but just out of his sight. It was testified, however that he was sitting on the side of his bed at the time, and could have seen the witnesses by stepping forward two or three feet. The attestation and subscription of the will under these circumstances were sustained.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Miss Gould Exhausted.
Miss Helen Gould's recent physical breakdown was due to the performance of the many duties she took upon herself in connection with charitable works. Of course it is understood that other troubles added to the nervous strain placed upon Miss Gould, and it was not a surprise to her physician when her nerves gave way. She was greatly disturbed by the notoriety that attached to her name through the affairs of the Count de Castellane. Another cause of distress to her was the break with her favorite brother, Howard, after his marriage.

Pat Sheedy, Who Knows.

When Mr. Patrick Sheedy is not in New York, he may sometimes be seen in London, relates the London Daily Mail. At other times he may be in Paris or, should the croupier not have cried "rien ne va plus," in Monte Carlo or Ostend. In the winter season, when the English climate is bad for his chest, he may also be met at times in Cairo. He is a perfect cosmopolitan, a perfect man of the world and the most entertaining of conversationalists.

He has a never failing flow of admirable moral sentiments, which accord well with his benevolent and simple aspect. Once he engaged with a young gentleman of large means, newly acquired, in a disputation concerning the spelling of a certain word in Webster's dictionary. From argument they got to betting, and by increasing stakes to heavy betting. When the dictionary was produced and the wager decided, Mr. Sheedy was found, to the young gentleman's great surprise, to be the winner. As he pocketed the wad of notes which the loser handed over to him he is said to have offered his opponent this piece of philosophic consolation:

"Well," said he, "after all, money is not everything in this world. It is knowledge that counts, and now you know something that you did not know before."

Took the Hair Apparent For a "Newsy."

When England's heir apparent, the Duke of Cornwall and York, was doing his sea service, he was stationed some time at Halifax, and he used to run out into the surrounding country on little expeditions. He was returning on one occasion by train when Senator Thomas A. Temple encountered him. The senator espied the prince sitting in the smoker surrounded by a pile of newspapers and wearing his undress naval uniform, the cap of which bore some resemblance to that worn by the uniformed train boy. "Here, boy," called the senator sharply, "give me a paper." The young prince looked up and quietly handed the lawmaker one of his papers. The senator fished out two of the cumbersome Canadian coppers and held them out. The prince took them gravely and laid them on the seat beside him. The senator's confusion can be imagined when, a few hours later, he learned the identity of the "newsboy."
