THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

What it Accomplished and the Results to Follow.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. Aug. 5.

EDITOR REFLECTOR.

It is with pleasure that I join with those who are giving their opinions of the institute recently held at Winterville. I think I have attended every institute held in the county since the civil war, and I am sure that this has benefited the teachers, and through them the children of the county, more than all the former ones combined. Everything was carried on in perfect order, without a rough place, from the Superintendents down to the kind and orderly water carrier.

The Superintendents have made in this institute a lasting monument to themselves. It will be said, in years to come when this work has grown to vast proportions, that Profs. Ragsdale and Davis were the founders. Their names will go down in history. The masterly manner in which they conducted it was enthusiastically carried out by the Professors and they, in turn, were encouraged by the strict attention and earnest efforts of the teachers to learn.

I have never seen more faithful teaching or studying done in any school. I don't think there could have been made a better selection of Professors, to visit their rooms during recitation was a treat.

Prof. Coon, with his phonicis and reading, teaching them with all the energy he was master of, How to Teach. Prof. Carr was deep and logical in his mathematical statements, always able to give the whys and wherefores, which is so essential in this branch.

Prof. McWhorter, was highly entertaining in his talks on grammar, giving them fine illustrations and diagrams, and would you believe it, some good old fashion parsing, which I greatly enjoyed.

Prof. Lineberry was a success as a teacher of civil government, and physiology. He showed by his calm and selfpossessed manner that he knew what he was talking about, and he that he had the ability to impart it to others.

The high first grade certificates given by Prof. Ragsdale to Misses Cora and Ethel Carrol, former pupils of Prof. Lineberry, is a positive declaration of his ability as a teacher. I consider it the strongest advertisement that can be placed before the public. I will say to my friends in this county, who would have their children under a good teacher, and surrounded by good moral influence, send them to Prof. G. E. Lineberry, at Winterville. They will not regret it.

Mr. A. G. Cox deserves the thanks of every one who feels benefited by the institute; for it was by his untiring efforts that it was made so pleasant and comfortable.

MARY SMITH.

[Perhaps the writer of the above will be more readily recognized by our readers if we call her by her most familiar name—Mrs. Polly Smith. Her opinion of the institute is surely the most valuable yet given, as no one is more capable of judging. Mrs. Smith is more than eighty years old and has devoted her life to educational work. Besides rearing and educating a large family of her own, she taught nearly every one for miles around her, and in the southern section of the county more people owe their education to her than to any one else.—ED.]

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 3.

Intelligent observers just from Cuba report business in a bad way all over the island, owing to the uncertainty of the future. Merchants are afraid to invest any more capital until they know more about what the Cuban government is to be, and they are usually careful in selling goods on credit. The worst part of the business is that there is no hope for any change for the better in the near future, as the shortest estimate of the time that will be required to establish a Cuban government is eight months from the date upon which Gen. Wood issues the orders for holding the two elections that will be necessary, and Gen. Wood is now in this country, or rather in the waters adjacent hereto on board a government vessel, which he is using as his private yacht, and the orders will not be issued until he returns to Havana, which he says will be in about three weeks.

Agents of Hawaiian sugar planters are in Washington trying to find out if they can legally import Filipinos or Chinese from the Philippines to work on their plantations. They attempted, through third parties, to get an opinion from the Commissioner General of Immigration on the matter, but he declined to express one, saying that it was not his business to decide questions until they came before him officially. He did, however, incidentally express the opinion that if the Hawaiian sugar planters would pay sufficient wages that they could get all the laborers they wanted, from the Southern States—laborers who would make ideal hands on sugar plantations. But that is just what these planters do not wish to do. Many of them have grown rich by importing coolie labor from Japan, a practice that had to be stopped when Hawaii was annexed to the U. S., and it is that class of labor they wish to get from the Philippines, because of its cheapness, both in wages and keep.

Rear Admiral Crowninshield, Chief of the Bureau of Navigation, popularly known as the "Bureau of Fabrication" because of its method of attacking Admiral Schley, took advantage of his being acting Secretary of the Navy between the departure of Secretary Long and the arrival of Assistant Secretary Hackett to make a showing of animosity toward Schley which was as small as it was disgusting, by issuing an order forbidding employes of the Navy Department to assist Capt. Parker, assistant counsel for Schley, who is examining the records to prepare data in Schley's behalf, to be brought before the Court of Inquiry.
