RICKS & WILKINSON.

TO GROW LUCERN.

Select a lot that is not too rolling so that the water will run off before it soaks in, far enough from the house and barn that chickens will not find it. An orchard will not suit. The plant cannot stand shade.

Stubble land, where you have cut wheat will answer, provided you cut 30 bushels per acre.

An old garden or Irish potato patch is best. Turn the land at once, light to kill all grain that may be left on the land, then make a good seed bed twelve to eighteen inches. After breaking the land, put on at rate of 25 wagon loads of stable manure per acre and cut it in with dis charrow. Any clods that may be left can be broken with a drag, stone beat is best. Let the land lie until all seeds from manure come up, then harrow until all is killed. Take a drill in 200 pounds acid, 400 pounds kainit, 200 pounds amoniated guano (blood goods). Get 15 pounds of good seed from a reliable seedman.

Fifteen pounds of seed last year cost $2.25. Sow broadcast evenly best to sow both ways. This immediately after you have put the acid, etc. Cover with drag, remove all stones, and your work is done. The seeding should be done between 20th of August and 20th of September; if later it is liable to be killed with winter. Should this happen plant in spring on Irish potatoes and try it again.

One acre in Lucern sown as per direction, will feed eight horses from September 10 all summer, without any corn. Feed it green, cut twice a week and spread in barn. If you wish to make hay, cut after dew is off and cock up as fast as cut, and use hay caps if you have them. A few hours of hot sun burns it brown, then it is not good feed. One sowing will last 10 to 25 years, the only thing that will kill it is blue grass or sedge grass. It will not stand tramping, don't tie your "old cow on it," unless you wish to ruin it.

When the crown root is bruised it will die. If weeds come up in spring mow them off close always mow close, a scythe is better than a machine.

I have stocks of 25 years old just as strong as ever. When you wish from any cause to change your land, you will find it much improved. I sowed one acre September, 1900, and from April to this time I have not given my mules and buggy horse any corn at all.

The Westernmen feed their stock on Lucern and ship their corn down South.

Thus we make cotton to buy Western corn. One acre in Lucern is worth as much for feed as ten acres of any other plant, and absolutely no expense after sowing.

Very respectfully.

Leaving Off The Worry Part.

There are numerous vexations during the summer months and every real trouble can be more than trebly increased by worrying over it.

It is a stale, and generally worthless admonition, that of saying "don't worry about it," yet this advice can be given without any idea except that of giving positive comfort in its acceptance.

No doubt the day's heat is accentuated by the oft repeated greeting, "is it hot enough for you." No aggravation need be aroused by this salutation, rather there is the humorous reply, which leaves both sides in better humor.

It is the weather grumbler who aggravates this topic of conversation, and makes it inane and bordering on the idiotic.

There is a weather philosophy which can be cultivated, and as Becky Sharp said, "we never get what we want, or want what we get." So what is the use of treating our good natures harshly by worrying about something that will not please, no matter in what shape it comes, hot or cold, rain or shine. There is no good reason why the weather as a topic of conversation should be barred. For all ages it has served its good purpose in respect and only in its foolish stage can it be named as beyond good taste, and its mention be worthy of social ostracism.

Naturally there must be cranks on "weather bureau weather," who will pore over the daily record and compare today with every day of the same date for years past.

And then there is the daily forecast of weather which serves its purpose with those who must have each forecast come out correctly, or else there will be an unlimited amount of worry, largely conversational and visited upon innocent persons.

But through it all the weather, per se should not worry any person needlessly. There must be the physical discomforts due to extremes of temperature, and yet there is no need of worrying over these, but simply exercising care when the changes of weather may be met and not prove of any positive discomfort, or cause of worry. —New Bern Journal.

YANCEYVILLE NEWS.

YANCEYVILLE, N. C. Aug. 6th.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

I want to tell you that our town is just beginning to rouse itself. It is one of the oldest in the State and purely aristocratic. Also it was once full of wealth, but since the monstrous ravages of the Civil War it has gradually declined until it is like an old maid in her dotage. Once upon a time it was a large tobacco market, but when Danville got the railroad instead of Yanceyville, the latter seemed to decline altogether. It is real sad to look upon such fallen greatness. But the old spirit of progress is not all dead. A good school and trolley line from Danville, Va., will set everything apace again.

The scenery about Yanceyville is beautiful; the atmosphere pure and the people hospitable and jolly. Let us hope for progress.

Our school begins Sept. 2nd. All seem to be thoroughly interested, and will make it a grand success. Mr. J. F. Stokes, of your county, has taken charge of the school, and is now up here hard at work in the school's interest. No doubt he will succeed. More about it later. H. F.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1901.

The Durham Recorder sends out a handsome industrial edition gotten up in magazine form. It is a gem.

For committing an assault upon a woman a negro was taken by a mob and burned at the stake, near Enterprise, Ala. The mob was composed of five hundred whites and blacks.

Some slick robbers dug under a vault of a smelting works in California, cut through the floor and stole gold bars valued at $280,000. A reward of $5,000 has been offered for their capture.

Need Of Good Mothers.

Marriage is becoming a merchandise, clubs are substituted for homes, wives are becoming society ladies, children are unavoidable nuisances and destruction of life a habit. The few children who enter the homes are turned over to milkbottles and nurses in babyhood to public schools in childhood, fashionable colleges in youth, are given over to society, dress and amusement in young womanhood. Instead of reading the Bible and saying their prayers at night the girls plait their hair in shucks for bangs and the boys plait their toes for toothpick shoes and both go to sleep with a dime novel under their pillow and a fifteen cent head on top of it.

The old daddy is up to his chin in business and the mother, in name, up to her eyes in society and the children are wallowing in idleness and the whole thing is hurried toward the grate where humanity runs out. They have not sense enough to be good. The brains have all run down in their feet and hands and all they can do is to play progressive euchre and dance.

A few first class mothers would head off this whole gang and turn all our duds and dudeens into men and women. I have no objection to woman suffrage, but the woman who raises four boys for God and the right multiplies her vote by four. I am in favor of a woman being anything she wants except the father of a family of children, but my judgment is that the biggest thing a woman can be is a first class wife and mother.

REV. SAM JONES.

A correspondent of The Lewiston (Me.) Journal suggests that some enterprising individual could make a small fortune by starting an angleworm farm in Maine. In the height of the season at Rangeley these worms sell at $1 a quart, and the supply is never equal to the demand.

POETIC JUSTICE.

A Jersey man who went out for a pleasure drive with his sweetheart not long ago received a needed though rather severe lesson on the necessity of being humane to animals in this day and generation. It was a very hot day, and when the drive was about half over the horse became balky. The driver thereupon lost his temper and gave the animal an unmerciful beating. Then the trouble began. A constable saw him and promptly arrested him for cruelty to animals. He was unable to pay the money, and his companion settled the business for him. Then she went home and wrote him a note, and this was what it said:

"When a man will so brutally beat a horse and so easily lose his temper, a woman marrying him would take the chance of the same treatment."

And the rest of the note released him from the engagement.

Most people will be of the opinion that the young lady in question did exactly what was right, and that she was fortunate in discovering the disposition of her fiancé before instead of after marriage. Insensibility to the pain of another is not a trait which is particularly desirable in either a husband or a wife. While, of course, it is not to be inferred that every man who will beat his horse will also beat his wife, cruelty to animals so vitiates the moral nature that those perceptions upon which a sense of justice depends are blunted. The intimacy of marriage is so close that happiness can only exist where there is mutual forbearance, together with a certain sensitiveness to the feelings of others. The man who does not possess this sensitiveness may not be actually cruel to either wife or children, so far as physical maltreatment is concerned, but he will say and do things which are quite as brutal as a blow with a whip would be. There are a dozen considerations which are likely to restrain him from wife beating—the opinion of his neighbors, custom, fear that his wife may invoke the law, fear of retaliation by her relatives, or merely the fact that it is not usual for American husbands to express their sentiments in that way. But if his nature is essentially cruel he will find ways to torture those dependent upon him which are worse than physical pain. The true test of a man's character is not to be found in his actions when he is restrained by public sentiment or fear of consequences. He is his real self when he is free to act, to indulge meanness, or passion, or cruelty, toward some creature which cannot retaliate and has no means of defence. The Jerseyman who is the unenviable hero of the incident above recorded was subjected to this test, and apparently he failed. He may have had an idea that by his lack of consideration for his horse he was showing a manly and stern strength of character which would impress the girl in the seat beside him. Some men have an idea that women rather admire those who are capable of cruelty. These men are trying to fit sixteenth century ideas into twentieth century civilization. It cannot be done. It is true that women admire a brave man, and often the man in question is a soldier or a hunter, but there is a very fine distinction between the brave man and the man who is ever ready to inflict pain. What the modern girl sees to admire in the soldier is not his willingness to shoot other men, but his readiness to be shot himself; not his murderous impulses, but his sacrifice of personal safety. The kind of women who would like a man better after see-

"Ads" Impress People.

How deep an impression is made on the public by persistent advertisers may be judged from the report of an "Advertisement Ball" held in Melbourne, Australia, last winter for the benefit of a children's hospital. The great ball room was crowded with ladies and gentlemen, each of whom represented a well known advertised article. The net profit of the affair was $5000.—Philadelphia Record.

Fine Oats.

Today Mr. W. J. Wyatt, of Winterville, sent THE REFLECTOR a sample of oats that he has just harvested. The oats are of the "Virginia Turf" variety and the yield was 50 bushels to one seeded.

Referred to the Wives.

We thought we would not tell it, but it is too good to keep. A squad of married men were standing on the postoffice corner discussing the early mails now coming in the evening, when three of them complained that the mail getting here before supper gave them no excuse for coming down town at night.

Some Northern speculators are said to be buying up the State's old special tax bonds, which were repudiated many years ago. The principal and interest on them amount to about $80,000,000 and will never be paid as long as Democrats govern the State. They were illegally issued by the Republican Legislature of 1868 and 1869.—Chatham Record.

Bryan Favors Fusion.

Lincoln, Neb., August 7.—Meetings were held tonight by the Democratic, Populist and Free Silver Republican State Central Committees, and fusion of the three parties was practically agreed upon, the State conventions of all being fixed for September 17th, at Lincoln. W. J. Bryan addressed Democratic and Populist Committees and expressed himself strongly in favor of fusion.

Private Secretary Pearsall says the good effect of the new pardon rules is already apparent. The other day one Mehagan, under sentence at Tarboro, applied for a pardon. Notice of the application was published, as required. Today the Governor was notified by a prominent citizen that the latter desired to be heard in opposition to the granting of a pardon, and was also informed that there was no reason why a pardon should be issued. Mehagan was a defendant in a notable case, being convicted of embezzlement. The case went to the Supreme Court of the United States, which sustained the State courts.—Raleigh Cor. Charlotte Observer.
