THE NEGRO IN THE SOUTH.

The Memphis Commercial-Appeal advocates the dispersion and distribution of the negro population throughout the country instead of congestion in the South. "If we can get two-thirds of the negro population to scatter itself uniformly over the North, East and West," says that paper, "the negro problem will be solved." Commenting upon which The New York Sun says:

When, however, negro emigration from the South is attempted on any considerable scale there arises at once bitter protest, if not forcible opposition, on the practical ground that it reduces injuriously the Southern labor supply. On the other hand, as the consequences of a recent attempt to import negro laborers from the South for an Illinois manufacturing company proved. North labor resents not less violently the introduction of such competition.

If, then, the negro problem is ever to be solved in the way the Memphis paper advises, it will have to be by a slow and long process of individual migration to the South as well as from it, and of whites on the one side and blacks on the other. The extensive diversion of the stream of foreign immigration from the North to the South would settle the problem.

The South has need for all the labor supply it has. Instead of its having any to spare, whether black or white, we read daily complaints in Southern newspapers of an insufficiency of labor.

There is much truth in this comment and it is just as well to say so candidly. Everybody curses Cuffe and wishes he might migrate, but some years ago when there was an influx of negro laborers from the State the Legislature of North Carolina passed a law to stop it and did stop it. Other Southern States have, we believe adopted similar legislation, and, looking at both sides of the question, it would appear that if the negro is to get away from the South he will have to sneak out, and if he gets into the North as a laborer or workman he will have to sneak in. The idea of a foreign population coming into the South to supplant the negroes as farm laborers is an iridescent dream. The foreigners come to this country but they do not come South. If the South had to take them as they came it is perhaps as well that they do not come, for while many of them are good many of them are bad. The principal difficulty of the present situation is the disposition of the negroes to quit the farms and mass themselves in the towns and cities, where they live largely in idleness and yet more largely in vice. If those of their race who have influence with them—their preachers, lawyers, doctors and others to whom they look up, and the white politicians of the Republican party, to which they belong—would induce them to quit the squalor and crime of the cities and towns, and return to the soil, where they naturally belong, they would confer a blessing upon the negroes themselves and do a great service to the farmers who need their labor, and thus confer benefit upon both races and increase the productive capacity of the section as a whole. But negro labor is the natural labor of the South, especially the Southern cotton fields, and though it is far from ideal it will have to be taken as people take each other in marriage: for better or for worse; for all the indications are that it will continue for many years the sole dependence of the agricultural community. — Charlotte Observer.

Scholarship for North Carolina Teachers.

The Messenger is requested to announce that Messrs. Rockefeller, Mabody, Macy and Brown have established in the Teachers' College of Columbia University several special scholarships are of the annual value of $500 each, an amount deemed sufficient to pay all necessary expenses for a year of resident study in Columbia University. The committee to nominate the holder of this scholarship consists of Dr. C. D. McIver, president of the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, and Dr. F. P. Venable, of the University of North Carolina. They can be communicated with by teachers who desire to make application for a scholarship.—Wilmington Messenger.

Will Not Have Justice Done Him Until After He is Dead.

The historian of the present, or the next generation, is not likely to accord Gen. Ransom his proper place in history. It was so with his great kinsman, Nathaniel Macon, whom we regard as, perhaps, the greatest statesman North Carolina has produced.

After serving his State and country for nearly a quarter of a century with distinguished ability in the highest legislative body in the world Gen. Ransom retired to private life, on his farm, in debt and comparatively a poor man; while many other, in like condition when they entered, and with the same opportunity, became millionaires. This speaks volumes for Gen. Ransom's honesty and devotion to duty. Since his retirement to private life he is rapidly accumulating a fortune by farming, and at a time of great agricultural depression. He is now the largest cotton farmer in the State.—Roanoke-Chowan Times.

MONDAY, AUGUST 12, 1901.

It is said that there is not now a negro magistrate in the State. If this be true, it is the first time since Reconstruction days, and the Democratic party is entitled to this credit.

Morganton housekeepers are having a great deal of trouble with the "colored ladies" who have been doing the cooking and laundry work. Many families find themselves without servants, and cannot get them for love or money.

So long as the courts wait weeks and sometimes even months before they bring before the bar the fiend who has debauched some helpless women men will continue to appeal to the shot gun and the rope for vengeance.

The Greenville REFLECTOR asks what words The Observer would use instead of "Mr. Smith, of near Smithville"—suggesting that it may be bad grammar but expressing the opinion that there is worse.

Lewis Council, the negro in jail at Fayetteville convicted of rape and who was to have been hanged today has, for the fourth time, secured a postponement of the day of his execution, and is now likely to secure a new trial, if he does not escape the gallows altogether.

Governor Aycock, after twice respiting Council and exhausting every means to allow the convict and his friends to prove his innocence, could not bring himself to believe he should commute the sentence to imprisonment, and recently gave out the ultimatum that, so far as he was concerned, the negro must hang on August 12.

Council gets his respite through the judicial act of Justice Douglass, of the Supreme Court, who, upon the application of Attorney E. K. Bryan (employed by certain white citizens of Fayetteville who believe in Council's innocence), has ordered the case docketed for a re-hearing in the Supreme Court—where he was recently denied a new trial—thus overturning all precedent in that Court, which has never before allowed a re-hearing in a criminal case.

A NICE SOURCE OF REVENUE. The Insurance Department, created less than three years ago, is now proving to be a source of much revenue to the State treasury, greater than was expected and at a time when it is most needed to meet the increased expenses of the State government, because of the large appropriation for public schools, the charitable institutions and Confederate veterans' pensions.

Commissioner Young will, on account of the return of such companies, be able to pay into the State treasury from $100,000 to $125,000 as the result of this year's business. And now we are all wondering how we ever got along without an Insurance Department and this $100,000 a year of revenue collected through it.

No doubt one of the causes of party disruption and demoralization now as always heretofore is the adoption in conventions of platforms contrary to the views of the people and then persistently applying the lash to secure their acceptance. Thousands yield reluctantly, thousands do not yield at all, thousands go into other parties instead and thousand acquiesce with a sort of indifference.

Died.

Ronald Williams, aged nearly 15 years, and son of Mrs. E. M. Williams, of Baltimore, died at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. W. F. Burch.

Ronald was deaf and dumb, but a remarkably bright boy. He was born in Greenville, his mother moving to Baltimore some years ago. He loved to visit here and came in June to see his sister, Mrs. Burch.

Just four weeks ago he was taken with typhoid fever. His mother came last week to be at his bedside, and she and other members of the family have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

The interment will take place at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning in Cherry Hill cemetery.

READ THIS.

To Whom it May Concern.

Having qualified as cotton weigher for the town of Greenville, by filing my bond and oath with the County Commissioners as required by law, I hereby give notice that the statute provides, that any person other than the aforesaid cotton weigher who shall weigh any bale of cotton offered for sale in said town of Greenville, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punished within the discretion of the court. No yard having been provided, as is usually the custom of towns or board's of trade in such cases, and it devolving upon me to supply one, I hereby designate, appoint, and constitute the platform at the wharf of the Old Dominion Steam Ship Company, the cotton-yard for the town of Greenville until one is offered which is in the opinion of the weigher more convenient.

The law provides that the weigher shall receive as compensation for his services, ten cents for each bale weighed, five cents to be paid by buyer and five cents by the seller. Each buyer shall retain from the price of said cotton five cents to be paid to weigher as seller's part of compensation due weigher.

I have purchased a pair of Fairbanks scales with solid pair brass poises costing $67.75 and I believe first class in every respect.

I shall, so far as in my power, do equal justice to all.

Very respectfully,

W. L. BROWN.
