THE TEACHER AS A MISSIONARY.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

I have often seen metaphorical allusions applied to different vocations, but it has often been a puzzle to me to apply a worthy figuration to the pedagogue. But considering the needs of our public schools and the conditions attending the same, I would treat of the school teacher in this article as a missionary. Not a missionary who goes forth to labor in fields of barbarity and savagery, but one who is to go forth into the rural districts and gather the children into the school room.

I consider it the bounden duty of every teacher in the county to work in their respective districts as missionaries to the cause of education. Go to the parents of the children and plead with them, beg them, explain the doctrine of education. Let us be inspired with the mighty work we are undertaking. I know not the experience of others, but I find myself that one word with "ma" is worth two with "pa." A woman's ear is never closed to the words concerning the welfare of her children. Show to the mother the importance of her children attending school, plead with her in their behalf, and I am convinced that if such is done the attendance of our public schools will show a decided increase.

The teachers of our land hold in their hands the destiny of the nation. The farmer tills the soil and sees the fields grow green in the spring and their verdure vanish in the fall; he rears the stalk of corn and sees it die down in the autumn; the physician treats his patient and sees him recover or pass away in death; the attorney pleads his cause in the court and hears it decided; the merchant deals in worldly goods and sees them devoured on the morrow; but the school teacher deals in humane souls to pass on, on, through eternity and forever.

Let one child grow up in ignorance and he stands for a lifetime a living monument to the shameful neglect and carelessness of his parents or teacher, or both. To the teacher I will say let it never be said that from your neglect one child has grown up in ignorance in this great and grand old county of Pitt.

Let the parents join the teachers in their work and hand in hand the beacon light from old Pitt will beam throughout her sister counties.
W. F. EVANS.

Died.

Mrs. Jackie Ann Elizabeth Joyner, widow of the late Mr. Blaney Joyner, died Tuesday at her home near Farmville, in her 67th year.

Mrs. Joyner was a sister of Rev. B. H. Hearne, of Greenville, and Mr. R. M. Hearne, of Washington. She leaves no children. In her death one of our best women passes away.

It is important that those who go on excursions for pleasure or health should make some provisions against the attacks of bowel disease, which not only cause them great inconvenience, but are sometimes fatal in their results. A bottle of Perry Davis' Pain-Killer is, we have found, a most effectual remedy against such attacks. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. Price 25c and 50c.

Punishing The Town.

A Pittsburg dispatch published yesterday announced that the U. S. Steel Corporation had issued premeptory orders for the immediate dismantling of the Dewees Wood plant at McKeesport, in Pennsylvania which had been in operation for forty years.

When workmen displease a Trust and show an assertive disposition, they are blacklisted in the establishments controlled by that Trust, and are thus punished.

But this last move of the U. S. Steel Corporation caps the climax, in this despotic pronouncement to dismantle works which had been in operation for forty years, to punish the people of the town for daring to sympathize with the strikers.

The power that robs industry of what it has won is a thief.

England Was Ready To Help Us.

New York, Aug. 11.—Chaplain H. Jones, U. S. N., spoke to-night in the Church of the Strangers, this city, on "The Life and Work of a Chaplain of the Navy."

"Though not being a lover of war, I think that many of us have learned to thank God that the conflict with Spain was forced upon us. It was to show the world what we are. We can also thank Him for the love of England in that matter, for although we knew of England's friendship, perhaps you have no idea of the extent of her friendship or her love.

DUBLE MURDER.

Two Men Kill Each Other.

The report reached Greenville this morning that a double murder had occurred near Gardner's Cross Roads, in Swift Creek township. We could not learn full particulars of it, but gather the following from the reports:

Messrs. William Gardner and Mack Dixon were neighbors living near Gardner's. They had a falling out over some small matter and on Tuesday evening got into an attraction. Gardner drew a pistol and shot three balls into Dixon's stomach, when Dixon knocked Gardner down, took the pistol away from him and shot the two remaining balls into Gardner's body. Both men died of the pistol wounds.

FOR MOTHERS.

The period immediately following child-birth is fraught with many dangers. The strength has been used in the painful ordeal through which the mother has passed and she finds herself helpless and weakened. Many mothers, like Mrs. Ford, date the beginning of their illness from the birth of their child. Indeed the frequent spectacle of a healthy young woman becoming a chronic invalid after motherhood is one of the tragedies of life. All this is unnecessary, when Wine of Cardui is obtainable. It rehabilitates the shattered nervous system, strengthens the organs and ligaments, and re-establishes a healthy, natural condition, saving years of chronic sickness and suffering. Wine of Cardui taken just before confinement will render the ordeal comparatively painless. It will re-enforce and strengthen the organs for their work. For every trying crisis in a woman's life, Wine of Cardui is the medicine to take. Ask your druggist for Wine of Cardui and take no substitute. If one is offered send $1.00 for a bottle to the Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn.

WINE OF CARDUI

Clarkson, Ark., July 20, 1899.
After my baby was born I took the whites and falling of the womb, and was in a very dangerous condition. I read one of your home treatment books, and commenced to treat myself with Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught. I am thankful for what the medicine did for me, and I am now in better health than I have been for a long time.
Mrs. MARGARET FORD.

THE NOTED PALMIST.

Again in Greenville for a Few Days.

Madam Elrado, the famous palmist who has traveled extensively and is known the country over, arrived in Greenville this morning and will spend a few days here. She was in Greenville just a year and a half ago, and is well remembered by many of our people whose palms she read during that visit.

Madam Elrado is not a fortune teller, but a palmist, who by reading the lines in the hand is able to recall the past and unfold much of the future to the person whose palm she reads. Palmistry is a science which but few people master, yet Madam Elrado has mastered it to an unusual degree. She has made it a life study and her experience and knowledge of the science enables her to tell many wonderful things. Instances are on record where she made marvelous predictions that subsequent events fully verified. For instance, while in Kinston last year she told a young man on Saturday evening that the church he attended next day would be burned. This became true, many people here being familiar with the circumstances. She told another man that he would ruin himself and family if he did not stop drinking whiskey; the man at once took treatment for drunkenness and has since kept strictly sober.

Madam Elrado can foretell business troubles or fortunes, the happiness or unhappiness of matrimonial prospects, the safety of a contemplated journey, the success of a prospective enterprise, warn you of threatened danger or misfortune, and other things about the future that will be valuable to know in advance. She has enabled people to make successful investments or to avoid disaster as the case might be.

Madam Elrado charges 50 cents for each person whose palm she reads, and she will read the palm of any one who will call on her. She has rooms at the Hunter house, where she will be pleased to have you call on her. See her while you have the opportunity. She will stay only a few days.

If she read your palm on her previous visit it is no reason she should not read it again. A year brings about many changes and a new reading of your palm may be worth much to you.

Arrested and Taken Back.

Tuesday evening Chief of Police J. T. Smith arrested a young man named Thos. H. Leitch, who came here from Petersburg, having been advised by the Chief of Police of that city to look out for him. It is reported that there are some very serious charges against the young man. Chief Smith left with him this morning.
