A NOVEL SCHEME.

For Higher Education in the Public Schools Comes From Rowan.

The school committee of Mt. Ulla township, Rowan county, have decided upon a novel experiment in public school work.

At a recent meeting of that committee it was decided that it would be wise to establish a high school, centrally located in the township, for the instruction of the more advanced public school children.

This idea was crystalized at a meeting of the committee and a number of educators, who will endeavor to establish in each township, or suitable-sized territory in the rural districts, where the funds will justify, a high school to be supported in part or whole, as the case may be, where the more advanced grades of pupils may be the better classed and taught than in the primary free schools. The idea met with hearty endorsement and was referred to the county school committee with the request that it be carried out in Mt. Ulla township next year.

This matter has been brought before General Toon, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, by Prof. J. K. Goodman, member of the Rowan county board of education.

The resolutions adopted by the Mt. Ulla committee are as follows:

Whereas, In our system of common schools it appears that the prevailing tendency is for more money and longer schools terms, and,

Whereas, The four months term now had are amply sufficient for the grade of work usually done, and as long a term as those for whom it is specially designed can afford to attend, and,

Whereas, It is evident that the secondary or higher education is sadly neglected in rural or country districts, and experience and observation prove that attempts to combine it with the primary free school proper have, in most cases, fell short of producing satisfactory results. And,

Whereas, All are taxed alike for school purposes, and the funds available are in excess of the necessary requirements for primary schools, and the more advanced pupils have not under the present system the benefits which they deserve, there fore be it

Resolved, 1st. That in view of the foregoing, for the best interests of common school education in general, and of the rural districts in particular, that we are in favor of establishing a central high school in each township, (or convenient sized territory), for the special benefit of pupils of such advanced grades as it is not practical to teach in said primary schools.

Resolved, 2nd. That we would favor such apportionment of school funds as would run the now primary schools not over four months in the year, and the excess to go to said central high school as a nucleus for its support in part, or whole, as the case may be.

Resolved, 3rd. That a copy of this paper be submitted to County Board of Education of Rowan county, with request to consider this matter, and if the way be clear, make the "experiment," if such it be, in Mount Ulla township the present school year. (Signed by committeemen.)

IRISH POTATOES.

The papers have a lot to say about the scarcity and high price of Irish potatoes this year. The drought in the Middle West and West has cut the crop short and the almost incredible statement is made that potatoes which generally sell in the larger cities for about $1.50 a barrel are now worth $4 to $5 a barrel. We of the country can scarcely conceive to what an extent Irish potatoes figure as an article of diet in the cities. In the hotels and cafes they are far more popular than bread, the place of which they take, and a meal without them is not thought of. It is so with the people in all the walks of life. They are as staple as any other product of the soil—wheat, corn, cotton or tobacco; they always command a good price, with comparatively little work in planting or cultivating they grow well in North Carolina, producing enormously to the acre; the digging of them does not cost like harvesting and threshing wheat, pulling corn, picking cotton or cutting and curing tobacco; the proceeds from the sale of the product of an acre in potatoes far out-run those from an acre in any other of the crops named. It has been often wondered why the North Carolina farmers do not raise them more extensively for market. We are not advising them on the subject for they are supposed to know their own business, and certainly they are already too much advised by people who know much less than they do. The reason is perhaps the difficulty in saving the crop after it is dug. Of course there is some good reason and there may be several, and The Observer suggests that some intelligent farmer or trucker could write an interesting newspaper article on the subject.—Charlotte Observer.

MONDAY, AUGUST 19, 1901.

The Sheriff and Superior Court Clerk give notice that all jurors summoned for the regular September term of Pitt Superior court need not attend, as a new jury will be drawn for the special term that will begin on the third Monday, 16th. All persons who were bound over to the regular term, and all witnesses are ordered to appear at the special term. Everybody interested should give particular attention to this.

Rev. H. M. Eure, pastor of the Methodist church, in his sermon Sunday morning warned parents against slot machines. He said they were dangerous to the boys of the community, and unless the evil was removed the consequences could not be foretold. He told of the President of a liquor association who stated in an address that their business would decrease unless a thirst for drink was created among the boys, and that nickels and dimes invested in treating boys now would bring dollars to the pockets of the rumseller in future. By comparison Mr. Eure said these slot machines would entice boys to places of both gambling and drinking, making the evil two-fold. The reference in his sermon was timely and has put some people to thinking.

According to present outlook, all canned vegetables will be high, or at least command profitable prices, next winter and spring. Not only should canning establishments bear this in mind, but every family should adopt methods for putting up vegetables and such fruits as can be had. The consumption of fruits and vegetables, fresh, canned or preserved, is rapidly growing, and that of meats in a measure decreasing. This is well, for the health of the consumers. Therefore, such fruits and vegetables as our farmers and truck-gardeners may not be able to sell fresh should be canned or preserved as far as may be. It will save as well as fetch money to the family and add to the general health.—Raleigh Post.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Special Correspondent of Reflector. RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 19.

The new school text-book incident has been closed at last and on Saturday Superintendent of Instruction Toon sent out the formal letter to the county boards of education giving instruction as to their use, exclusively, in the free public schools for the next five years.

Senator Pritchard and Congressman Pou, of the Raleigh (Fourth) District have secured establishment of nineteen free rural mail delivery routes in this district, the Senator to have the naming of ten and the Congressman nine of the carriers.

This is a great convenience to the country people, and every county in the State should urge its Representative in Congress to secure the establishment of as many of these routes as possible. And it may be added, that the more miles of "good roads" the counties have worked the more rural deliveries they will secure.

THE FARMERS ALLIANCE.

The State organization of the Farmers' Alliance held its annual meeting last week at Hillsboro. Capt. W. B. Fleming of Warren was elected President of the Alliance; T. P. Johnson of Rowan, Vice-President; T. B. Parker of Hillsboro, Secretary and Treasurer and Business Agent; J. W. Denmark of Raleigh, Chairman Executive Committee.

A resolution was adopted denouncing the "fertilizer trust," except the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company, and advising farmers to buy as little manipulated guano as possible, and to make their own fertilizers from the raw materials.

EPIDEMIC AMONG FARM HORSES.

A terrible epidemic among horses in certain portions of portions of eastern North Carolina is reported. In Hyde county alone over 200 are dead from "staggers" and fever and as many more are sick. The fever which kills them is brought on by mosquito bites (these little pests infecting the country in unusual numbers this summer), and a formula for preventing the fever is now being sent out to farmers by the Agricultural Department here. Dr. Petty, a capable veterinarian, says that the best prescription for this is quinine given internally and an external application of kerosene oil and creolin solution twice a day. Only last year's grain and forage should be fed to such animals.

MINOR MATTERS OF MOMENT.

Preparations are being made to care for a larger number of dependent old soldiers at the Confederate Home here, and about November 1st a number of additional inmates can be received. There is not room for as many as 100 at present. The contract was let last week for a new $4,500 dormitory building, which, with the new hospital building now in use, will make a great improvement at the Home.

MINOR MATTERS.

At the encampment and annual meeting of the Confederate Veterans last week, at Wrightsville, General Ransom delivered an address and the following officers were elected: Commander, General J. S. Carr; Brigadier Generals, John G. Hall, W. L. London, J. M. Ray, F. M. Parker, for the first, second, third and fourth Brigades, respectively. The next meeting will be held at Greensboro, August 20, 1902.

The North Carolina Knights of Honor, at the meeting of the Grand Lodge at Wrightsville last Friday, elected J. B. Whitaker, Past Grand Dictator; K. R. Jones, Dictator; N. D. Fetzer, Vice-Dictator;
