AN EPIDEMIC

Among the Horses in Hyde County.

FAIRFIELD, N. C. Aug. 19 1901.
EDITOR REFLECTOR:

About a month ago horses in this county began to die. At first the people were not seriously alarmed. Everybody supposed that it was staggers, and that there would be only a few cases. There have been a few cases of staggers here every year since the county was settled. But this year the disease spread with alarming rapidity, and the symptoms indicated that it was not staggers among the horses. The disease is exceedingly fatal. Horses live from twelve hours to five days. Most of them die in about thirty hours. Some of them have paroxisms in which they seem to suffer intensely. Others are more quiet, and after they fall down remain in a stupor, as if they were asleep, with now and then a rousing spell. Several horses have been dissected and in every case the lungs have been congested, and in some cases almost decayed. If only one lung is involved the horse will probably live four or five days. So far all medical treatment has failed absolutely. No one seems to know what the disease is or what causes it. It is evidently contagious, and the whole atmosphere seems to be full of it. Horses that are in a healthy and vigorous condition seem to resist it more stubbornly.

Pamlico, the lower part of Beaufort and Tyrrell counties are also infected with this scourge. Not very many mules, so far, have died. But about 200 horses have died already in this county, and the disease does not seem to have abated in the least. More new cases are reported today than I have heard of during any one day before.

Very few horses that have been properly cared for have died. New oats and oat straw are said to contain a specific poison to horses this season. Do not let horses eat anything green while wet with dew. Don't give them surface water to drink. Don't feed new oats or oat straw to them. Keep them out of the hot sun as much as possible and keep them dry. Do not feed anything to them that has been cut and cured this season. Do not feed very heavy on anything. Keep the stalls and stables in a clean sanitary condition. Attention to these things is said to be the best preventative to keep horses from becoming infected.

If you want to use drugs, give your horse 60 grains of Quinine per day, 20 grains at a time, give him a tablespoonful each of Sulphur and Salt-Peter every other day, but do not let him have any cold water for a half day afterwards. You may give him an ounce of Asafoedita three times a week. A solution of Carbolic acid will be good to disinfect your stable with—sprinkle the walls and floor with it. Some tar and kerosene oil in equal parts will be good. But keep your stall filled with the odor of the Carbolic acid.

Then if your horse gets sick and begins to walk around in a circle or lean against something and hold the head down, and you can hear a rough heavy breathing in one or both lungs (if in both lungs he will try to put his head between his fore feet) and the horse has high fever it will be useless to doctor him at all. Before he gets too weak to walk lead him out to a good burial ground where the drainings will not soak through the earth or run into water that anything else has to drink, and soon as he is dead bury him deep under the earth. R. D. CARROLL.

P. S.—I thought, perhaps, the people in Pitt ought to know these things and be on the lookout for any sickness among their horses. It is a very grave and serious matter here. $15,000 will not replace the horses that have already died in this county during the past month. And at the present death rate there will scarcely be a horse left in the county by the 15th of September. R. D. C.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1901.

It takes long years of hard labor for any man to build himself up, but when he takes a notion to go down he only has to turn loose and the job is complete.—Lexington Dispatch.

"While the rest of the country is complaining of the mosquitos," says The New York Tribune, "Council Bluffs, Iowa, has its quarrel with ants. Great armies of these insects began burrowing into the sand beneath the bricks, and removed so much of it to other and unknown quarters that the city engineer was called in to repair the damages. One street was made unfit for travel for several blocks."

The captain of an ocean steamer is often warned of the proximity of icebergs by the men in the engine room. When a ship enters water considerably colder than that through which it had been going its propeller runs faster; and as such water surrounds icebergs for many miles the engineers know that when the propeller's action is greatly accelerated without any increase of the steam power icebergs may be expected.

Uncle Sam's Salary List.

According to the latest official list there are 19,445 public functionaries of various kinds and degrees employed in Washington City conducting numerous departments and bureaus of the Federal Government. These are the civilians appointees in the executive departments and do not include Senators and Representatives and several hundred employes of the houses who vibrate between the capital and their homes in other parts of the country. Nor does this aggregate include 350 or 400 army and navy officers, active and retired, who form a large permanent colony, and the monthly compensation of these 19,446 civilian employes amounts to $1,635,708.81. Therefore the aggregate sum in salaries annually paid out in Washington by the Government distributing clerks reaches the enormous total of $19,628,502.72. Besides, probably not less than $3,000,000 additional goes to the Senators and Congressmen and their subordinates and perhaps $1,250,000 more to the army and navy officials, most of whom are of high rank with large pay, there being constantly in Washington not less than sixty generals and admirals active and retired. These totals form a grand aggregate of $23,878,050.72 annually paid out in Washington in the single item in salaries.

"You don't have to play checkers to get a checkered career," declares the Manayunk Philosopher

A Scheme to Deport the Negro.

What can we do with the negro? is what nearly every one is saying. The problem can be solved, greatly to the benefit of the negro and to the satisfaction of all others. First, the United States will be called upon to make certain concessions, then the States, then the citizens. The United States can cede for this purpose an island of the Philippine group of sufficient size, also transportation. Almost the first question that would be asked would be, who will furnish the money to defray expenses? That is the least of the problems, in my estimation. I believe that $20,000,000 could be raised in three months, and the same amount each year for five years from the same source. Then each county and State could well afford to contribute the amount each year that the average for the past five years has cost it for negro criminals. Every white working man in the United States, and especially in the South, would be only too glad to contribute a dollar per year for five years and many would give five times as much. Nearly every servant girl in the United States would do the same thing. Millions of people in all walks of life would contribute liberally for such a purpose. All church and school buildings belonging absolutely to the negro people can be sold and that added. Raising the funds to free this country of the negro would be much easier than one would suppose on first thought. How many women in Charlotte would today sell her pet poodle, parrot, canary, or even the clothes from off her back, if by so doing she could walk the streets of this most beautiful city with no fear of the black brutes? and the conditions which exist here exist in every city, especially in the South. A system of laws that I can draw an outline of can be put in operation that will give each of the colonists a chance to make a good living, and more, and that will compel each one to earn his or her own living or not live, as they wish. The system will preclude the possibility of stealing with any show of selling the articles stolen. As to stealing money, it would be out of the question, and if the thief did steal money he would have no use for it. Should this come before the public many will say what fool wrote that? It could never be done. But I wish to state emphatically that if all who are interested will do their duty it can be done, and in five years not a negro will remain in this country, and the most of them will be more than pleased to go; that is, the self sustaining and better element.

E. LEMUEL TREKYR, in the Charlotte Observer.

The Thing To Do, Brethren.

Six years ago Thomasville was as dead as a door nail. The streets looked like lanes through a farm, and there was an air of thriftlessness and indifference throughout the community that was disheartening. The town had only one manufactory of any importance. By and by others were projected. Things began to stir, and men picked up their feet as they walked, and quit lying around the streets. Today there are a dozen or fifteen splendid plants, all prosperous, there is a thriving bank handling lots of money, a graded school is to open next month, and instead of a sleepy, pokey village we have a hustling town giving its rivals a lively race. The workmen are going to put their children in school and support their families instead of compelling their families to support them.

It looks like Munford is getting in enough goods to open another store besides filling the big store he is in. But he says he is getting the goods to sell and not to keep, and is going to hustle them off.

Madam Elrado will be in Greenville only today and tomorrow. She has had a nice patronage here and wishes to thank all who have called for her to read their palm. If you have not seen her be sure that you call before she leaves.

Erroneous Views of Duty.

There is a very large amount of claptrap about the duty of the United States to see that the shackles are stricken from all people. The first duty is to attend to its own affairs. Our miserable row with Spain came about by the continuous claptrap alluded to. By that war we have incurred a debt of untold millions in the way of pensions and other results, besides having expanded our territory in remote quarters of the earth, something which was not to be avoided as a logical result of our love of claptrap.—Dallas News.

North Carolina must spell up. It stands "Z" in the alphabet of states in education. It is rather a shock than otherwise and it is hard to get used to it. Here is the list. Read and groan:

North Carolina, 23.0; Louisiana, 20.3; South Carolina, 18.1; Alabama, 18.4; Tennessee, 18.0; Georgia, 16.5; Arkansas, 16.6; Virginia, 14.0; Mississippi, 11.9; Florida, 11.3.

We can see no cure now but plenty of money, better schools and a law compelling attendance. A State great in everything else almost should not covet to be great in ignorance, in illiteracy.—Wilmington Messenger.

PERSONAL NOTES.

People Looking For Cooler Places.

Rev. F. H. Harding went to Washington today.

E. T. Forbes came in this morning from New Bern.

W. H. Ragsdale returned this morning from Beaufort.

Rev. F. A. Bishop left this morning for Hyde county.

Harry Skinner Jr., left this morning for Washington City.

Miss Jessie Lee Sugg came over this morning from Kinston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. House left this morning to attend the exposition at Buffalo.

Mrs. Sol. Mason, of Durham, who has been visiting Miss Martha O'Hagan, returned home today.

Mr. J. A. Dupree's condition continues to grow worse. He was thought to be dying this afternoon.

Capt G. D. Hawks has returned from his vacation and was back in charge of the passenger train Thursday evening.

Fine Sale.

Mr. Calvin Mills, a large farmer of Black Jack, says the Greenville Warehouse made the best sale Thursday that he ever saw a warehouse make. Mr. Mills makes good tobacco and he is a judge of when it brings good prices.

Big Sale Every Day.

Any warehouse can have a large break on first sale, but it takes the last sale to show how the farmers esteem a warehouse. The Greenville Warehouse had last sale to day, and yet the house was nearly full. The Greenville gets such good prices that the farmers conclude it will pay them to wait even until the last sale. So the Greenville has a big sale every day.

School Teachers.

As the time is now approaching when the school committees of the different townships of the county elect teachers, we think that it is not amiss to give an extract from the new school law about the employment of teachers. It is as follows: "School committee shall meet at convenient times and places for the employment of teachers for the public schools, and no teachers shall be employed by any committee except at a regularly called meeting of such committee, due notice of said meeting having been given at three public places by the committee."

Result of Not Advertising.

The editor of THE REFLECTOR is in receipt of the following letter, addressed to him personally. We omit names.

Aug. 22, 1901.

DEAR SIR:

I have been informed that your town is now without a dentist. Will you please be so kind as to let me know if this is true. Thanking you in advance, I am
Yours truly,

THE REFLECTOR believes it a duty every professional man and every business man owes himself and the public to have his name, if only a card stating his business, appear regularly in his town papers. People outside of a town look to the town papers to see what the town has, and when they fail to see a business or profession not represented they naturally come to the conclusion expressed by the writer of the above letter.
