Greenville Bar Adopt Resolutions on His Death.

At the adjourned meeting of the Greenville Bar held in the Court House, the committee on resolutions, Messrs. Swift Galloway, F. G. James, J. L. Fleming, H. W. Whedbee and W. F. Harding submitted the following report:

At an adjourned meeting of the members (resident and visiting) of the Greenville Bar, held on the 21st day of September, 1901, their committee, appointed to adopt a testimonial of respect to the memory of their deceased friend and brother, Mills R. Eure, Esq., respectfully submit the following:

Mills R. Eure, a member of the Greenville Bar, departed this life on Tuesday morning, the 17th day of September, 1901, in the 30th year of his age. He was born and reared in Gatesville, N. C., and was the son of Hon. Mills L. Eure and Susan Roberts Eure. He was carefully educated in excellent schools, and was graduated at the University of North Carolina, and at that institution he was prepared for admission to the practice of the law. After entering upon his profession he was, in 1892, elected by the people of his native county to a seat in the House of Representatives of our State, in which body, while he was the youngest, he was one of the most useful and popular of its members, and gave high promise of a bright future.

In 1898 his uncle, General W. P. Roberts, having been appointed by President Cleveland as Consul at Victoria, B. C., selected Mr. Eure as his Secretary, who discharged the duties of this position with great fidelity and acceptability.

In 1898 Mr. Eure removed to this town where, as a partner of Donnell Gilliam, Esq., he established himself in the practice of the law, in which he continued to the time of his death. Here, as in his native home, his attractive qualities of head and heart won to him the affection and esteem of the entire community. Bright and strong in intellect; brave and chivalrous in spirit; affectionate and confiding in his disposition; gentle, modest and unassuming in his manners; open, frank, sincere and generous and the very soul of honor in his every impulse, act and dealing; and warm and loyal in his friendships, he is sincerely mourned by us, his brethren, and will be sadly missed by all who had the good fortune to know him well. Nature and training worked admirably in harmony to mould in him a beautiful character, and to make him, as he was, one of God's noblemen. Truthfully it can be said of him,

"None knew him but to love him
None name him but to praise."

His brethren here assembled desire to give expression to the sense of their great loss in his untimely death. Therefore resolve,

1st. That in the death of our friend and brother we feel that a great personal affliction has befallen each and all of us.

2nd. That the memory of our personal relation and our daily association with him will always be cherished, and will abide with us through life.

3rd. That our warmest sympathies are extended to his afflicted relatives in their great bereavement.

4th. That each of us will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

5th. That these proceedings and resolutions, with permission of the Presiding Judge, be enrolled among the records of the Superior Court of Pitt county, on a page specially set apart for that purpose.

6th. That copies of the resolutions and the proceedings of the Bar be sent to his father, sister and other immediate relatives, and that a copy be furnished to each of the town papers with a request for publication.

Very touching and eloquent eulogies of our deceased friend and brother were delivered by Capt. Swift Galloway, W. F. Harding, L. I. Moore, Col. Harry Skinner, Judge A. M. Moore, Ex-Gov. Jarvis, J. L. Fleming and Harry W. Whedbee. Court having reassembled the Chairman A. L. Blow in a few feeling remarks, presented this report to His Honor, Judge Allen, who happily responded in a few remarks, and directed the enrollment on the records of this court.

A. L. BLOW,
Chairman.

The New President.

We are asked, is President Roosevelt really a man of ability? Our answer was, He is beyond doubt such a man. He has written two or three books, and at least two are of literary value and cleverness. His "Life of Thomas Hart Benton," a native of North Carolina who was born some two miles from the historic town of Hillsboro, in Orange county, and attend the University of North Carolina, and his work on "Oliver Cromwell" have been well praised in the north. He is much of a speaker with versatility aggressiveness, intense earnestness and much resource as his extraordinary campaign last year established. How much of political wisdom and sagacity he possesses we will not here undertake to say. —Wilmington Messenger.

NEWS FROM COLORADO.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., Sept. 15
EDITOR REFLECTOR:

I take the privilege of sending you a few items from Colorado.

A lady in Colorado Springs yesterday made the remark that she wished she was dead and buried. Ten minutes afterwards her horse ran away and killed her instantly.

A frightful gas explosion occurred in the coal mine of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co., yesterday evening. Three men were taken out at the entrance of the tunnel so mangled as to be unrecognizable. It is thought that a hundred, or at least seventy-five, are shut up underground.

In the procession that followed at the funeral of W. B. Squires, at Victor today, the horses attached to a two seated carriage in which three members of the O. E. S. were driving, ran away. The driver was thrown out. The horses ran down a very steep hill and sprang into a ditch five feet across. Mrs. May Wood got an awful hole knocked in her head, her arm broken, besides other injuries. It is not thought she can live. Another lady received cuts and bruises.

An Englishman was killed in the shaft of the Elkton gold mine in Cripple Creek on Saturday. It was the last week he intended to take before going back to England this week to live on his earnings. He has worked here some time.

There was a heavy frost here Sunday night.

The Chef at a hotel at Manitau makes an omelet of one egg for fifty people. The egg is an ostrich egg and comes from Manitau ostrich farm.

Democrats here and in Colorado Springs will hold their primaries next Saturday evening. Nineteen delegates will be sent to the county convention of the 24th in Colorado Springs.

Several lots were sold in Arndale, a new town in Colorado, with chances on a lovely home all complete. The home was won by Mr. C. H. Bass, a young man just started in life.

The Chicago capitalists are making arrangements to build a canning factory at Palisades Grand Junction, Colorado. They are asking the people to help put up the building and take stock in the factory.

There is an excellent outlook for all of the Cripple Creek mines. More and more gold is found every week. The Jack Pot mine is producing $10,000 per month. M. F. TURNAGE.

In this iconoclastic age boodle has taken the place of brain, and mammon is substituted for merit.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 23.

There is some shifting around in newspaper circles in Raleigh this week. F. L. Merritt, Managing Editor of the News and Observer, goes to Norfolk, where he takes a like position on the Virginian Pilot. Tom Pence, who has been City Editor of the Morning Post since it began business (and a cracking good one he has made), transfers the scene of his activities across the street and becomes Managing Editor of the News and Observer. Mr. Wm. Aiken of Asheville, where he was connected with the Citizen for a number of years, comes to Raleigh to fill up the gap in the Post's force.

GOVERNOR AYCOCK ON INSURANCE.

Governor Aycock is a great believer in life insurance—the right sort. The best companies are selling it nowadays on such advantageous terms that it is almost like putting out your money on interest to take out some of the forms of policies some of them are writing. I have been shown, for instance, the following figures, that demonstrate the fact that Governor Aycock, who is carrying a policy for $2,000 in the Northwestern (of which Mr. T. A. Cary of Richmond is General Agent for Virginia and North Carolina), is getting his insurance at half cost this year, and if the cash dividend lick is kept up he will be drawing more insurance interest on his policy than his premium amounts to. Ten years ago, or in 1890, he took out a "participating" policy in the Northwestern for $2,000, the annual premium being $97.78. After the second year he began to draw cash dividends. But instead of accepting the same in cash, as a deduction from his annual premium, he has let the value of the dividend each year be added to his policy, and here is the result: Beginning with 1893, his cash dividend has been each year respectively as follows: $15.26, $17.96, $18.90, $46.17, $21.10, $21.71, $22.08, $23.14. The additions to the value of his policy have been during the same period of 8 years, respectively: $46, $53, $54, $113, $58, $58, $58, $59. This year the amount will be larger still. His original insurance of $2,000 has grown to over $2,500 (while the premium remains the same, of course), and he has there fore had ten years of insurance in one of the best companies in the world at an average cost of about $50 a year.

Jackie's Lesson.

It was Jackie's birthday, and he was 6 years old. In the evening his Uncle Fred, who was a soldier, came up into the nursery to play with him and Bobbie, much to their delight.

"I mean to be a soldier one day," said Jackie during the game.

"Ah, my little man, you've a lot of lessons to learn first of all," replied Uncle Fred, with a smile.

"Come, Master Jack, it's bedtime," said nurse.

"I'm not coming yet, nurse," said Jackie, crossly. "Can't you see I'm busy?"

"Do you know, my boy, that the first lesson a soldier has to learn is to obey?" said Uncle Fred gravely.

Jackie thought a minute, and then, like a good little boy, he put away his playthings and said, "Good night."

An Eagle That Flies in a City.

A handsome bald eagle spends two or three hours every morning catching fish at a place within the city limits in plain view of the passengers on a trolley car line. He perches on an oak tree near the shore of a lake in which carp and catfish are plentiful. When his "eagle eye" spies a fish in the shallow water near the shore, down he swoops and, seizing the fish in his talons, flies back to the tree, where he eats, and then watches for another victim. The bird of freedom has chosen the position well, as the tree is on the extreme end of a long peninsula which no one can approach without being visible for half a mile.—Portland Oregonian.

Expensive Livers.

Apropos of Pierre Lorillard's repeated assertion that no gentleman can live well on an income of less than "$1,000 a day and expenses," a Union club associate says: "There are today in New York at least a dozen men whose living expenses exceed those of Pierre Lorillard at the time he made the remark, a score of years ago. Europe has had several spendthrifts, not on the 'Jubilee Juggins' or 'Little Sugar Bowl' type, but of good social position, who have thrown away their principal and income at that rate within the decade. Now, as if to prove that Mr. Lorillard was not far out of the way in his estimate, comes the staid and conservative London Spectator with an article published before poor Pierre's death trying to show that a man cannot possibly live well in a good social position on a yearly income of less than 50,000 pounds. The very wealthy seem to be coming around to Lorillard's estimate, particularly in America."—New York Times.

Bridgemen Are Rovers.

Speaking of American bridge builders, in an article relating to structural iron workers, a writer in Leslie's Monthly says:

"It is now here, a thousand miles away tomorrow, with these men. Their trade makes them rovers, going wherever a great job may be. At this moment they are in Philadelphia, now in a town on a Canadian river, in camp far in the thinly settled parts of the southwest, even abroad. In New York today there are some men who have only recently returned from India. A gang came back from Egypt a few months ago, having performed a notable exploit in bridging the Nile. There are American iron men down in Cuba, and contracts have been signed for over a score of bridges in south Africa, all to be done by Americans, to be started when the Boer war has run its course."

Tumblebugs as Barometers.

Country folk are firmly of the opinion that the tumblebug (Geotrupes stercorarius) is an excellent barometer and that it takes flight only when a season of fair weather is coming. M. Fabre, a French naturalist, has investigated the question thoroughly and has come to the conclusion that this insect is, in fact, more sensitive than the best barometers and that it can veritably be used to predict fine weather. It is to changes of electric tension that the insect is sensitive. Whether the American variety is likely to be useful in weather prediction is respectfully referred to our weather bureau for investigation.

Arizona Tree Jewels.

The petrified forests of Arizona were recently examined anew under the direction of the general land office. The silicified logs lie in the greatest abundance within an area of eight square miles in Apache county. In some places they lie more thickly than they could have stood while living as trees, and it is thought that they must have been carried there by swift currents of water in the mesozoic age. Some of the agatized wood was examined with a microscope and was found to resemble the araucarian pine of the southern hemisphere.
