SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 28, 1901.

Mayor Powell, of Raleigh, was assaulted Tuesday night by a Mr. Battle. The case was heard Thursday before Judge Robinson, who was holding court in Raleigh at the time, and he sentenced Mr. Battle to the roads for sixty days. An appeal was taken to the Supreme court on the ground that the punishment was excessive. Battle had appeared before the Mayor for disorderly conduct and took offense at the disposition of the case. An assault upon an officer in the discharge of his duties is a grave offense, which Judge Robinson recognized when Mr. Battle was taken before on this charge.

The Merchant's Carnival.

This unique entertainment under the auspices of the Daughters of the Confederacy took place in the opera house Friday night. The audience was not large, but those present were much amused at the snappy rhymes in which the different lines of trade were presented. Most of the entertainment was advertising in rhyme or living picture the different business houses of the town. There were also violin solos by Misses Bessie Patrick and Della Forbes, and vocal solos by Mrs. Bellamy Harris and Miss Sallie Cotten, with Miss Mary Moye accompanist, that were hugely enjoyed and responded to with encores.

The net proceeds of the entertainment was $56.

Miss Lizzie Jones represented THE REFLECTOR and recited the following in praise of the paper:

"Black, white and read all over, You can guess me, I am sure, For a saying was never truer, I'm THE REFLECTOR in clover. I greet you every evening, uncomplaining, Rain or shine I come to you And tell the news, every word true, The latest and best ascertaining. I am nearly twenty years old, I travel far and am gladly hailed, In over twenty states my semi-weekly is mailed, I'm a number one paper. Behold!

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.

Theodore Roosevelt had scarcely seated himself in the Presidential chair before he was besieged by men who devote a large share of their time to seeking offices for their friends and adherents. Close upon the heels of congratulations and pledges of hearty support have come importunities for the designation of this or that man for this or that position in the public service. And, though he has not yet been Chief Magistrate for two weeks, Mr. Roosevelt finds that questions of policy are accumulating at a rate that promises to make them mountainous by the time Congress is ready to begin its season of legislation.

Despite the tragic changes at Washington, interest in Democratic presidential possibilities for 1904 has not been even temporarily eliminated. It is a significant fact Republican leaders who drop into the Capital from time to time—and they are coming now in droves—discuss the matter with quite as much speculative energy as their opponents. Democrats are silent but confident. They know that the crisis will bring the man. A great party is never without a conspicuous champion, and there is such a quantity of good Democratic timber to be brought into requisition when the time arrives that the future may be considered with equanimity.

Among the well known representatives of the party, who are now here, the question of candidates is being confidentially considered. There is no need of heralding names at this early day, but the disciples of Jackson and Jefferson may rest assured that the hour will bring the leader and that the competitors for the high honor are sufficiently numerous and capable to guarantee a choice that will mean a united battle front and a brave fight for victory.

Although handicapped by the sudden death of his chief advocate, Rear Admiral Schley will continue to press for vindication before the naval court of inquiry with the determination that characterized his engagement with the Spanish fleet off the coast of Cuba. During the past few days considerable testimony, pro and con, has been adduced, but none to weaken the belief that Schley performed his duty and even triumphed over the limitations that confronted him in the way of red tape strung out from bureaus, at Washington.

The acknowledgment of a Navy Department witness that the government charts concerning the detailed movements of the squadron are inaccurate and practically worthless was a strong point in favor of the popular admiral. The counsel for the victor of Santiago succeeded in scoring another bulls eye yesterday when they forced into evidence a message from Sampson, instructing Schley to remain at Cienfuegos, during the blockade and to ignore the orders of the Navy Department if they interfered with necessary operations. Schley's attorneys base their case largely upon this and believe that in itself it is sufficient to prove that their client did disobey orders as alleged by those jealous of his fame. They contend that in the pursuit and defeat of the Spanish fleet he acted according to the demands of the situation and the instructions of his superior officer, who did not happen to be within hailing distance when the Americans reduced Cervera's ships to junk.

Admiral Schley has received from all parts of the country sympathetic telegrams concerning the death of his leading defender, coupled with the advice to fight on. While Schley is by nature a last ditch man, the knowledge that the American people are following his case closely and with responsive sympathy has served to encourage both the Admiral and his energetic attorneys.

After an absence of three months during which he made an investigating tour of the Philippines, Adjutant-General Corbin has returned to his desk at Washington. In presenting his views as to conditions in the archipelago, he is very optimistic, but certain of the statements made by him indicate that there is a long and thorny path before the American authorities in the islands ere the Filipinos can be completely subdued and peaceful conditions established. General Corbin acknowledges that outside of the Island of Luzon there is a great deal of trouble, necessitating military operations on a considerable scale. He also admits that it will be a full year before the army can be safely reduced to 25,000 men and that number of troops must be retained in the islands for a long period, "for moral effect." In addition, he states that from $600,000 to $700,000 will be required to provide permanent quarters for the soldiers who are to terminate the revolutionary habits of the natives.

Thursday, Sept. 26, 1901

On the above named date we will hold our regular Fall and Winter opening. We will have on display the most magnificent line of new and high class goods it has ever been our pleasure to show. Here you will find the newest ideas in Styles, Colors and Weaves. We cordially invite you to attend.

J. B. Gherry & Co.

PERSONAL NOTES.

Those Who are Passing This Way.

B. W. Moseley went to Conetoe today.

Rev. F. A. Bishop went to Tarboro today.

Miss Lizzie Blow left this morning for Greensboro.

Miss Mamie Bernard left this morning for Tarboro.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Ward left this morning for Wilson.

J. B. Higgs returned Friday evening from a trip to Bethel.

F. G. James and Harry Skinner returned this morning from New Bern.

Mrs. P. M. Johnson and children have returned from a visit to Henderson.

Miss Bertha Bunn, of Henderson, is visiting her sister, Mrs. P. M. Johnson.

Miss Maud Evans came home from Goldsboro, Friday evening, to visit her mother.

Mrs. H. C. Deal and daughter, Miss Blanche, of Roanoke, Va., are visiting Mrs. E. M. Cheek.

B. D. Liles returned Friday evening from Tarboro, bringing Mrs. Liles with him to make their home here.

Continued.

The injunction case against the town of Greenville before Judge H. R. Bryan, at New Bern, on Friday, was continued to October 16th, during the sitting of the Superior court here.

A Big Concert Band.

Culhane Chace & Westons Minstrels will give their band concert and parade at 2:30 P. M. on Monday Sept 30th. It will be a rare treat to lovers of good music. They will also give an open air concert in front of the Opera House at 7:30 P. M.

Numerous Mails.

People not familiar with work around the postoffice have no idea of the number of mails that come and go daily from Greenville. Postmaster J. J. Perkins says that on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays he dispatches and receives 21 different mails, and on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays 19 mails are handled. These mails and other business around the office make a large amount of work to be done.

For Supreme Court Judge.

While other men are being spoken of, his friends take pleasure in presenting the name of E. F. Aydlette, Esq., of this City, as one of the best to select as a Judge of the Supreme Court. Mr. Aydlette is one of the leading lawyers of the State and a Christian gentleman besides, and would fill the position with dignity and honor. —Elizabeth City Fisherman and Farmer.

An Old Well Caves In.

This morning there was a large cave in the sidewalk on the Third street side of THE REFLECTOR building, due to the heavy rain. The size and shape of the cave recalled to the memory of the older citizens of the town that years ago a public well was there and was long since filled up. Several in looking at the hole spoke about the well supplying water for the old Court House that then stood out in Evans street and for the old jail that used to be on the lot now occupied by the Rialto block of which THE REFLECTOR building is the corner.

The fly season is on the wane, whereat the bald-headed man rejoiceth.

FOR SALE ONLY BY

If you put a sign on the fence or tree or side of the house people must go to it to read it, hence few read it.

SEND YOUR SIGN TO

the people by putting it in

THE REFLECTOR

and you will see the difference. THE REFLECTOR goes to the people and carries your sign with it, and they all read it.

Advertising

in THE REFLECTOR will bring you success. Don't lag behind in the race, but let the people know what you are here for.

The easiest, quickest and best way to sell anything is to advertise it in THE REFLECTOR. Such an advertisement goes straight to the people, they learn what you have to sell and you reap the benefit.

We have just purchased a large supply of bright and attractive cuts to illustrate REFLECTOR advertisements, and you are at liberty to use them. If you don't know just what you want to say, we will help you get up your advertisement. That is our business, to help you talk to the people.

The cost of an advertisement in THE REFLECTOR is the easiest part.
