STATE NEWS.

Happenings In North Carolina.

Four cottages and a store in East Durham were destroyed by fire Saturday.

The Mecklenburg county farmer who shot and killed a negro while the latter was stealing his water-melons, was tried at Charlotte last week and convicted of manslaughter.

The Queen City Guards, of Charlotte, have been disbanded for failure to observe the state guard regulations. The company had failed to have the proper percent of members present at inspection.

A Vile Slander Upon the South.

You may take the prettiest sylvan picture on earth, with green woods, laughing waters, waving fields, cosy cottage, and the speaking quietude of calm summer nights,—you'll always find some brindle, braying jackass to disturb it. In the solemn hush of the great sorrow, when the life of our leader hung "like a star trembling between two worlds," no more fervent prayer ascended to Heaven than from the South: when he died the sorrow of the South was more genuine because her people are more sincere. Yet hardly have the funeral bells quit tolling, when the hungry hyenas of hate and political rancor begin anew their fiendish attack upon the South. Echoing the utterance of the saddle-colored statesman of Tuskegee, a number of blatant asses from the North are charging that the assassination sprang from Southern lynchings. Old Judge Lewis with as much slop in his speech as the reporters found in his eyes, goes out of his way to speak of the dangerous sentiment in favor of lynching in "some parts of our country," and retails a bald-faced lie about a negro being lynched in the South because "he had insulted a white man." If anarchy is the child of lynch law, why in thunder is it that anarchy is found only in the North? It is much nearer the truth to say that anarchy is the legitimate child of that financial brigandage and that spirit of skepticism which prevail in the North, and which happily have little following in the sweet South.—Morganton Herald.

A theatre man in Chicago treated the police to a performance a few days ago that almost took the breath away from them. He permitted them to shackle his wrists, his feet and his arms with their best shackles, lock them and put the keys in their pockets. They shut the door, left him alone and inside of a minute he walked out amongst them and left the handcuffs and shackles lying on the floor. Now they are trying to find out how he did it, but he will not tell.

The announcement that H. P. Cheatham, the colored North Carolinian who was appointed Register of Deeds for the District of Columbia, is to be reappointed by President Roosevelt is evidence that the new president is to continue McKinley's policies to the extent at least of standing in with Senator Pritchard.—Winston Journal.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1901.

Sunday evening after dark a guard at the grave of the late President McKinley was attacked. It is thought to be an attempt to blow up the tomb.

Yes, the war in the Philippines has been reported at an end many times. Yet there continue to come reports of disastrous fighting. On the morning of September 28th, in the island of Samar, while Co. C. 9th Regt. of United States were breakfasting, they were attacked by an overwhelming force of insurgents and almost annihilated. Of the 72 men in the regiment only 24 escaped. Verily, this country has worse than an elephant on its hands in the Philippines.

Admiral Dewey's refusal to receive unseal representing Rear Admiral Sampson at the court of inquiry was eminently proper. While issues of the controversy are really between Schley and Sampson, technically, only the Navy Department and Rear Admiral Schley are partes to the investigation now in progress. Sampson has no night there unless he chooses to appear as a witness.

Earl Li Hung Chang has once more recovered. Now that there is a growing prospect of comparatively friendly relations between China and the powers, he feels almost convalescent. When matters looked dark and threatening, the earl was scarcely expected to recover. Bret Harte knew his individual when he wrote that "For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain, the heathen Chinese is peculiar." Earl Li is a superb diplomat, but he has all the characteristics of his race, nevertheless.

An Ohio man is to plant a colony in Beaufort county, this State, not far from Washington. His name is Marvin, and he is from near Findlay, Ohio. He has bought several thousand acres of land on Blount's Creek, and has at once begun to develop it. Report has it that he will build a hotel there, and that from 100 to 125 families will move from Ohio to settle. A large saw mill and lumber plant will be put up at once. Such colonists as this is what North Carolina needs. The success of the colony at Chadburn, and the settlement at Southern Pines is evidence that other such places would not only pay good dividends to promoters, but would give the colonists pleasant homes and good incomes. This is the kind of immigration we need. We can well afford to do without the foreign kind.—Raleigh Times.

While organized labor lost a fortune in its battle with the Steel Trust, Mr. Morgan's combine has not suffered materially, if reports from the headquarters of that concern are to be relied upon. It is semi-officially stated that the net earnings of the United States Steel Corporation during the past six months have amounted to $54,000,000 and that a dividend will soon be declared on both classes of stock issued by the company. When a trust has grown so powerful that it can inflict an almost fatal blow upon a great branch of union labor and make half a hundred millions at the same time, the situation has become serious and Americans will appreciate the gravity of the political problem involving this phase of capitalistic economy. Unless decisive steps are taken to regulate the evil, the octopus will have, within the next decade, so involved the working classes in its far-reaching tentacles that the feudal system will seem a veritable elysium by comparison.

Writing an "Ad."

An experienced advertiser suggests to the man who has trouble in getting up an advertisement: "Write a letter to a distant friend telling him about your store, your goods, prices, etc. Then have it printed as a newspaper advertisement." This is only another way of saying that the merchant should talk in his advertisement just as he would talk to a prospective customer. Every storekeeper can give reasons why people should buy at his place, and to do this in plain words is to make a "fetching" advertisement.—Philadelphia Record.

A Baby in a Molasses Barrel.

At Hendersonville Saturday we heard a most horrible tale, which we were assured upon the highest authority was absolutely true. It seems that a merchant doing business near that town, recently received a barrel of syrup. After selling several gallons from the barrel the syrup would not flow through the faucet. In order to discover the cause, the merchant knocked the head out of the barrel and found in it the dead body of a baby.—Lincoln Journal.

Thus far Mr. Roosevelt is practically an unknown quantity even among the leaders of the party that placed him second to Mr. McKinley at the last Republican national convention. It is expected however, that within the coming two months the new President will be compelled to declare himself on the leading issues of the hour. Whether he will prove to be more subservient than even Mr. Hanna had hoped for is a matter of interesting speculation at the present time.

An aggregation of capital is necessary and has always been necessary for the promotion of business enterprises of magnitude, but there is a limit to concentration beyond which there is certainly disaster. Just at the present time American statesmen have an arduous and imperative duty in locating the danger line.—Winston Journal.

Governor Stanley, of Kansas, has withdrawn his offer to give silver cups to all triplets born in that State during his administration. After having purchased twenty sets of cups he decided that he would have to call a halt owing to the expense of the scheme.

The flower of the family is often the latest to rise.

SALE OF TOWN LOT.

By virtue of decree of the Superior Court of Pitt county, made on the 2nd day of September 1901, in a certain special proceeding therein pending, entitled F. G. James versus Beverly Brothers guardian and others, I will, on Monday October 7th, 1901, before the court house door in Greenville, sell at public sale to the highest bidder for cash, the certain lot or parcel of land situated in the town of Greenville and described as follows: "Known in the plot of said town as part of lot 41, bounded on the North by second street, on the East by Green street, on the South by the lot formerly owned and used as Baptist parsonage and on the West by the Pearce lot, and being the home place of the late Jesse D. Williamson, containing one fourth of an acre more or less. This the 4th day of September, 1901. ALEX. L. BLOW, Commissioner.

JESSE H. STARKEY,

ON FIVE POINTS.

The man who keeps the BEST GROCERIES to be found in town. Everything in the way of family supplies at lowest prices. Butter and cheese kept on ice.

Arrested for improper use of the mails, H. G. Westall, Asheville, N. C., confessed that he had forged 60 or 70 checks.

Science has never discovered a means of shutting up the man with his first baby.

The punt of the pigskin resounds through the land with a dull, sickening thud.

Some people are so puffed up with pride that they can scarcely contain themselves.

The fellow who never has anything of importance to say always manages to say it.

"Ads" Help Salesmen.

"The cheapest salesman," says Printers' Ink, "is an advertisement in a good daily newspaper." Such an advertisement, frequently changed in form and phrase and persistently published, is also the best possible aid to salesmen in the field.—Philadelphia Record.

Collision.

Monday afternoon while the minstrel parade was going through Evans street a dray collided with Mr. James Harrington and knocked him down, but fortunately did not hurt him much. It was purely an accident, as both Mr. Harrington and the driver of the dray were looking at the parade and did not see each other.

Justice First.

There is no objection to a McKinley monument in the South, but it strikes us that our first duty in the monument line is to heed the appeals that have been coming to us for years from the women of the South for donations to the Jeff Davis monument fund. Mr. McKinley's memory will not suffer for the lack of monuments. Let us "be just before we are generous." If we can be both just and generous, so much the better.—Twin-City Sentinel.

Drug Stores Run by Women.

There are two drug stores in Moore county run by ladies—at Southern Pines and Pinebluff. The one at Southern Pines is owned and run by the Misses Johnson, who were born and reared in this county. They are practical business-like women and have made a success of their business. Their drug store is neat, clean and attractive. The one at Pinebluff is run by Miss Elizabeth Packard, a Northern lady.—Sanford Express.

HER PRAYER BOOK.

"Have you forgotten your prayer book?" is the question of the day in Berlin and is asked almost invariably by acquaintances of the sterner sex when they chance to meet.

It originated in this way: A lady who had been making purchases in a confectioner's store inadvertently left her prayer book on the counter. An employee picked it up to see whether it contained the name and address of the owner. To his astonishment he found that the "prayer book" was in reality a box ingeniously divided into two compartments. One contained chocolate bonbons, the other brandy. The knob of the bogus clasp served as a stopper to the bottle side of the contrivance.

A few moments later a servant in livery hurried in and asked for the "prayer book." He refused to give the name of the lady who had sent him for it, saying she desired to preserve her incognito.

The incident got noised abroad, found its way into print, and all Berlin began asking the question which has now outgrown its humor and become a popular nuisance.—New York Times.

Lost Four Legs.

A young British officer in South Africa recently wrote home to his father: "Dear father: Kindly send me $50 at once. Lost another leg in a stiff engagement and am in hospital without means." The answer was: "My dear son: As this is the fourth leg you have lost, according to your letters, you ought to be accustomed to it by this time. Try to wobble along on any others you may have left."
