Rev. Irl R. Hicks is not Dead.

Notwithstanding a widely current rumor that the Rev. Irl R. Hicks was dead, he never was in better health, and never did a harder and more successful year's work than that just closing. He has just completed his large and splendid Almanac for 1902 and, with his staff of able helpers, has brought his journal, Word and Works, justly forward into international reputation. For a quarter of a century Mr. Hicks has grown in reputation and usefulness as the people's astronomer, and forecaster of storms and the character of coming seasons. Never were his weather forecasts so sought after as now, his timely warning of a serious drouth this year having saved the people from loss and suffering. Millions of bushels of wheat were harvested through his advice to plant crops that would mature early. The American people will certainly stand by Prof. Hicks, when it costs them so little and the benefits are so great. His fine Almanac of 200 pages is only 25c, and his splendid family journal is only one dollar a year including the Almanac. You can get THE EASTERN REFLECTOR and Word and Works a year, and the Almanac, all for $1.75.

Why Do a Horse Give Up After a Second Attempt?

An exchange, whose question box has been asked why dogs always turn around before lying down and why ducks walk behind each other in a string instead of abreast, fires back the question as to why a horse, when wallowing, always fail to roll over on the second attempt. It says that it is an invariable rule that a horse rolls over at the first attempt or quits trying with the third effort. Sometimes, it says, he rolls over the first time and is then satisfied. But if he does not he invariably makes the second attempt and invariably fails, and is then equally certain to make the third attempt. This time he sometimes succeeds and sometimes does not. If he goes over all right, but if he fails at the third attempt, he is certain to quit trying for that occasion.—Monroe Journal.

If to be saved from defeat is the only point to be considered by Democrats the shortest cut to such saving would be for all hands to renounce everything that has been, is or will be Democratic and "jine" the Radicals. Fortunately for the country, however, Clay's sentiment still lives: "It is better to be right than to be President." It is better to contend for Democratic principles and lose than to renounce those principles and win, and this we may be able to do. At any rate, we believe this is the thing for the party to be found trying to do, at all times, and under all circumstances.—Winston Sentinel.

Hon. J. R. Young, Insurance Commissioner, is sending out posters calling the attention of officers and all citizens of the State generally to the law requiring that all fires be investigated by the chief of the fire department or the fire committee in the cities and towns of the State, and that the result of such investigation be reported to the commissioner at Raleigh.

Our $15.00 Suits are so good that we say to you, buy one and you will get the $15.00 back if you don't like the suit.

If we make any sort of mistake, bring the suit back and let us make it right.

Call it our generosity, call it your generosity, call it fairness, call it anything you like.

But do it.

By the way, $15.00 is the place where we can put the most value into our suits. Why?—that's a long story.

The suits tell it.

We do what we say we do.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1901.

If Pritchard lands Skinner in the District Attorney's office for Eastern Carolina there is going to be a row in the camp of the white Republicans of that section and they will have a score against the Senator. We think they will have just cause for indignation. Some how we can't get away from and do not care to get away from the idea that the horse that plows the corn is entitled to the fodder.—Winston Sentinel.

Hush, man! Skinner has not done anything else but plow corn for the Republicans ever since he left the Democratic party. True part of the time he had a Populist flag stuck in the bridle, but the plowing was all in the same field.

In some towns of this State the pernicious slot machines which were prohibited by the last Legislature through the work of Senator Broughton are still being conducted. They are certainly as clear a violation of the law as any species of gambling can be. The Greenville REFLECTOR states they are running at full blast in that town. Why, then, are not the town officers liable under the Aycock anti gambling law?—Raleigh Times.

Every Monday every police officer in the town goes before the Mayor and makes oath that he knows of no gambling going on in the town, notwithstanding the numerous bar rooms in which these slot machines are in almost constant operation.

So much discussion this early again calls up the fact that elections are too frequent. The people do not have time to settle down from one campaign before the politicians and candidates begin stirring them up for another. The country would be better with a good long rest from political excitement.

Mess. Job Phillips and son, Moses, who were put in jail for refusing to pay costs in the superior court, made arrangements yesterday for the payment of the costs, and were liberated. These parties refused to pay the town dog tax, and when tried before the mayor the case went against them they appealed from his decision. The superior court sustained the decision of the lower court and costs fell on Mr. Phillips and his son.—Kinston Free Press.

The latest fad with the New York 400 is the "sun parlor." It is a good scheme, and the advantage is that a man who can't afford a sun parlor in the house can have one out in the yard.

Hot Water Remedy.

Tired women who retire at night with the feeling that they are so tired that sleep is impossible, should try the hot water remedy: Remove your clothing and bathe your face, temples and wrists with water as hot as it can be borne. In many cases restful sleep will follow when it will not with any other method.

A rest of even fifteen or twenty minutes to a tired woman in the middle of the day will do more than three times this resting space at the end of the day, when the muscles and nerves are almost beyond resting. Even if you have only fifteen minutes, loosen your clothes and bathe your neck, temples and face in hot water, or cold water, if that is more grateful to the nerves, and lie down to the pleasant dreams which are almost sure to come after the hot water treatment. A glass of hot water with a few drops of lemon juice and a little sugar is a soothing drink which French women take at their midday rest. Tea is too much of a nerve stimulant, unless it is very weak. Some women find a glass of hot milk both food and drink at their rest hour.

If there is time, it is an excellent plan to take your rest hour after dinner, and follow the sleep of fifteen or twenty minutes by a pleasant sponge bath, putting on a fresh set of clothes for the afternoon work. Few appreciate how much of a rest it is to put on fresh clothes in the afternoon.—Chattanooga Times.

Over a Million Acres of Prairie Dogs.

A report has been made by the special agent appointed by Gov. Stanley to gather statistics on the subject of prairie dogs in Kansas. In the sixty-seven counties covered by the report it is shown that 1,224,854 acres of land are occupied by prairie dog towns. Logan county heads the list with 236,640 acres, Finney county has 212,160 and Gove 211,960. The other counties run from 8,000 to 70,000 acres. In the extreme western part of the State nearly all of the pasture land is held by prairie dogs. The general estimate of damage to this pasture by the animals is 50 per cent., though many farmers think it is greater. One farmer in Wallace county says that his cattle will not eat grass on that part of his range occupied by prairie dogs. A ranchman in Logan county says he is only able to pasture 500 head of cattle on the same range where he pastured 1,000 head ten years ago, when the prairie dogs were not so numerous. Experts at the Agricultural College are trying to devise some method for exterminating the prairie dogs, but up to this time little has come of their experiments. The pest is rapidly increasing.—St. Louis Globe Dem.

Just as long as there is a tariff duty on certain articles just so long will certain men add that amount to the price of their products and thus force the consumer at home to pay that much more than he should pay. The men who profit and grow unto millions by virtue of this system want it left severely alone. Those who understand this plan of robbery and see that they are being robbed every day, are demanding a change, while many who have never understood this monstrous and most diabolical thing are still standing by the very men who take bread from their children's mouths.—Lexington Dispatch.

Our army and navy officers are in favor of dispensing with the sword which has become more ornamental than useful.

FOR HARNESS and Saddle Sores Mexican Mustang Liniment is just what you need. It takes effect at once, and you will be astonished to see how quickly it heals sores.

It's this way:

You can burn yourself with Fire, with Powder, etc., or you can scald yourself with Steam or Hot Water, but there is only one proper way to cure a burn or scald and that is by using Mexican Mustang Liniment.

It gives immediate relief. Get a piece of soft old linen cloth, saturate it with this liniment and bind loosely upon the wound. You can have no adequate idea what an excellent remedy this is for a burn until you have tried it.

A FOWL TIP. If you have a bird afflicted with Roup or any other poultry disease use Mexican Mustang Liniment. It is called a STANDARD remedy by poultry breeders.

If merit and fitness shall be made the test of advancement in the army and navy instead of seniority or the number of gray hairs in the chin whiskers of staff officials there will be a grand upsetting and overturn of precedents, but the young men who shall fit themselves for service of the country on sea and land will have something to fight for and live for.—Philadelphia Record.

A clever little woman in town says she belongs to seven church societies and has no time for Jack pots—Charlotte News.

A Mr. Robinson, of Catawba county, was passing through the door with a gun in his hand. The hammer struck against the door causing the gun to discharge, the load killing his wife who was sitting at the sewing machine.

Came to Life After the Funeral.

Decatur, Ala., Nov. 20.—James Wynn, an Oxford blacksmith, narrowly escaped being buried alive today. After the funeral services, the casket was opened at the grave, when the body was seen to move. The casket was hurried back to the home of Wynn, where he revived and is now under treatment. Wynn had been pronounced dead by physicians and he lay apparently dead for two nights and a day.

Making Trade Active.

An observing student of advertising asserts that it has become a recognized principle with progressive and enterprising advertisers that all seasons are seasonable. "More and more there is a tendency not to let up at any time, but to keep everlastingly at it, year in and year out." It has been learned that it is within the power of the business men of every community to transform a period of comparative stagnation into an era of profitable activity.—Philadelphia Record.

The Gold Medal!

It will be pleasing information for wearers of Queen Quality Shoes to learn that their favorite footwear won the Gold Medal at the Pan-American Exposition.

Queen Quality

Shoes for Women

had previously won the distinction of being the most famous shoes in the world and of having the largest sale.

The immense volume of patronage bestowed on these shoes has undoubtedly been due to a number of things—the beautiful leathers, handsome models, great variety of styles, shapes to suit all types of feet, and the fact that the price was $2 less than that demanded for similar values, but chiefly because of their Wonderful Fitting Qualities. It is the combination of Ease and Elegance that has earned the Queen Quality success and that constitutes this triumph of shoe-making. From the daintiest dress creation to the most sturdy boot for Oxfords $2.50 storm wear.

THE UP-TO-DATE BARBER SHOP.

We are now down near Five Points and have a very nice neat place. Come give us a trial, we think we can please you. DAVIS & MOYE.

Had you stopped to think how many people could be called honest and retain their good name as an honest man if you would strain a point and pay a dollar you owe. He could go and pay some other fellow the dollar he owes, and this one could do likewise, and on and on, until 25 people could get paid off with the same dollar, if the first would only put the thing in motion. Suppose you try this plan and see if it does not work out well.—Ex.

The suggestion coming from the latest big railroad combine that the owners of the properties would be willing to sell them to the government is a thing the people may as well begin to think about. When the stocks have absorbed all the water they will hold the next step may be to sell the roads to the government for the simple reason that a government bond is safer than a railroad bond.—Atlanta Constitution.
