THE S. S. SOCIETY.

To Mrs. J. J. Perkins we are indebted for the organization of the Sunshine Sisterhood, a society which has for its chief object, as its name implies, the scattering of sunshine into the homes of those of our members, to whom physical suffering has entered unbidden, and also to minister to their bodily wants.

Our object in meeting together from time to time is to enjoy the sweet solace of gleaning new ideas and thoughts, and of thoroughly enjoying ourselves, so that we may be the better equipped for the duties which may await us.

On the evening of the 2nd the society met at the residence of Mrs. J. J. Perkins. After the usual business of the hour, pleasure unalloyed held sway.

First on the program was a literary observation table, prepared by the hostess. This was enjoyed immensely, each one striving to surpass the other in guessing the titles of books and botanical names that the objects represented. Miss Lina Sheppard was the successful competitor of that prize and looked charming as she would pass back and forth from the table, in that graceful style peculiarly her own, to inscribe her answers.

The next thing presented for our entertainment was the author conundrum. This prize was won by Miss Bessie Jarvis, and the sweet surprised look that played upon her face as she was informed of her success, was most bewitching.

The marriage of the flowers was both unique and fascinating. The prize for this was also won by Miss Sheppard, the champion of the evening.

The geographical match game, which was next presented for our enjoyment, was very exciting and caused unbounded merriment.

The packing of my sister's trunk was next on the program and Miss Blanche Flanagan, with her usual grace, was the last one to give up the contest, as she was the only one that left out nothing necessary for the journey.

At half past 9 o'clock we were invited into the dining room, where a most elegant supper was served by our much loved hostess, who left not a stone unturned, as is her usual custom, to give pleasure to those around her.

At a late hour the crowd began to disperse, but were loth to do so, as pleasure ran so high, and it was with reluctance we bade each other good-night. REPORTER.

Not Going to Ayden.

The advance agents returned from Ayden this morning and report that it is impossible to secure a building in that town for the Old Maids' Convention, which was to convene there on Friday night, so they have concluded to hold their second session in Greenville again Friday night, by special request, at the opera house, so as to give those wishing to attend a good opportunity to do so, as well as those who attended before another chance and an opportunity to change a life of "single cussedness to married blessedness."

As a further inducement they have made the price of admission 15 cents for adults, children 10 cents and reserved seats 25 cents. Reserved seats on sale at Burch's.

Our $15.00 Suits are so good that we say to you, buy one and you will get the $15.00 back if you don't like the suit.

If we make any sort of mistake, bring the suit back and let us make it right.

Call it our generosity, call it your generosity, call it fairness, call it anything you like.

But do it.

By the way, $15.00 is the place where we can put the most value into our suits. Why?—that's a long story.

The suits tell it.

We do what we say we do.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1901.

VICTIMS OF FAKIRS.

Pickpockets, hotel thieves, dwelling house robbers, bank embezzlers, "comeons" and bunco steers of all sorts and degrees of professional skill are making things lively these days, not only in New York, but in other parts of the country.

On Thursday two Southerners came to town. They thought they knew something of New York and were on their guard but of course they couldn't refuse to be friendly to "one of their townsmen" whom they met on Broadway, and why should they hesitate to be friendly, also, toward that gentleman's companion? Their amiability cost them just $1,360.

On the same day a visitor from the West became so thoroughly convinced of the uprightness and good intentions of a man he met here and who described himself as a relative of a bank president in the other man's town, that the Westerner permitted his new acquaintance to escort him to the Park Bank, where he desired to have some drafts cashed.

An account of all the other robberies and attempts at robbery which occurred during the week would make a long chapter.

Will our good friends from the country, who come here once or twice a year, or perhaps once in ten years, ever learn that New York is not the place for them to make chance acquaintances? Will they ever understand that, whether the affable stranger they meet here wears a silk hat or a slouch hat or a derby, whether he is dressed like a tramp or like a clergyman, whether he is old, young or middle aged, or is bewhiskered or smooth shaven, they should give him a wide berth?

Lee Pope accidentally shot and killed Frank Kendall Sunday evening in the Shelby telephone exchange. They are white boys about eighteen years of age and boon companions.

The point was made in a letter from the superintendent of public schools in Buncombe county as to whether cities must pay their pro rata part of the expenses of the county superintendent and county board of education.

There is a vigorous protest to the Governor against his pardoning J. B. Price, who was convicted at Newbern of false pretense. Many crimes are laid at Price's door, said to have been committed in Pitt and Beaufort counties.

There are forty-two States in the Union where women practice law and yet a cranky old Maryland judge declared that they shouldn't do any courting in his domain.

Don't fail to attend the Old Maids' Convention that will be held here Friday night.

Is Coeducation a Failure?

Has coeducation a bad effect upon the manners of girls? It improves those of boys, so it is said; but that improvement may be bought at too high a cost. A lecturer on the subject says that "that bloom" is rubbed off when the sexes are permitted to mingle freely. There is perhaps some truth in this. A rigorous division between them is doubtless deplorable. But between that and daily association in school a medium course is possible. Such association, according to more than one person with experience on the point, implies the familiarity that breeds contempt. Even the refining influence upon boys may be exaggerated. There was a time when doubts upon this subject were less generally expressed than at present—when it was supposed to be settled for good and all. But if it is clear from much recent discussion that such a conclusion was premature.—Providence Journal.

Services in Christian Church Tonight.

The Lord willing Elder S. J. Halstead will preach again tonight in the Christian Church at 7:30 o'clock. Subject, "The Devil, where he is, where from, his age, who he is, how much longer before he is confined and about when he will reach his everlasting home." Let all the people come.

Won't Somebody Head Us?

It is said that the trusts are paving the way for government ownership and socialism. Far-seeing statesmen, not caring to concede this, predict a monetary collapse that will be of stupendous and appalling magnitude. Untold millions of trust stocks are now held by city banks as collateral security for loans; experienced financiers foresee a day when in a monetary stringency these stocks will be thrown upon an excited market; almost any mind can comprehend the result—widespread ruin and bankruptcy, in which the trusts will be destroyed. On the other hand, successful combinations will become so oppressive, so restrictive of natural trade, that the government will have to interfere as other governments in all history have had to do. The Roman republic, the most colossal of ancient governments, was destroyed by convulsions that followed the same struggle. Is it a fact that we are repeating, not making history?—Winston Journal.

FLANAGAN COFFIN CO.

Undertakers & Embalmers,
E. G. FLANAGAN, Manager.

Mr. Flanagan, the manager of this company, has diplomas for embalming from the Renouard Training School for Embalmers, of New York, and the Clark School, of Cincinnati, and has also stood the examination and obtained license from the North Carolina State Board of Embalmers. Has also taken special courses in disinfecting and sanitation.

We keep on hand at all times a complete line of varnished, cloth covered and metallic coffins and caskets.

Mr. Flanagan's services in embalming can be had by undertakers of neighboring towns whenever desired.

NOTICE.

As I am now in the hospital in Baltimore for the purpose of undergoing an operation, I have placed my books and accounts in the hands of my brother, Mr. Wiley Brown, at the store of Greene & Brown, and given him full authority to collect and receipt for same. I earnestly ask those indebted to me to call on him and settle as early as possible.
