'NEATH A BELL

Whichard-Dey Wedding a Picturesque Event.

A brilliant chrysanthemum wedding was celebrated at the residence of the bride, No. 312 Bute street, at 7:30 o'clock last night, when Miss Annie Wortham Dey, the fascinating and accomplished daughter of Mr and Mrs. George W. Dey, became the bride of Mr. Claude Linden Whichard, of Whichard, N. C.

The decorations were in pine and holly, with white and yellow chrysanthemums. In the centre of the double parlors was a beautiful floral portiere made of ivy and white ribbon, from which was suspended a wedding bell, under which the bridal party passed to an altar made of white crepon, with pedestals at each end brilliantly illuminated with crystal candelabra, where the marriage rite was performed by Rev. Dr. J. J. Taylor, of the Freeman Street Baptist church, the bride being given away by her father.

The beautiful ceremony was witnessed by many guests.

The bride was attired in crepe dechine over white taffeta, and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums tied with white meline.

Miss Mary, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore yellow pineapple tissue, trimmed in yellow satin ribbon, and carried yellow chrysanthemums tied with yellow meline.

The best man was Mr. H. Walter Whichard, brother of the groom.

The ushers were Judge B. D. White, Messrs. C. C. Cobb, W. E. Cobb, Calvert R. Dey and William M. Dey, brothers of the bride, and Mr. H. G. Avery.

The ribbon girls were little Misses Mary Elizabeth Frances and Susan Adams.

A splendid reception was held in the dining room, in the centre of which was the table representing the bridal bouquet, with a miniature wedding bell suspended from the electric chandelier.

There was a fine display of bridal presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Whichard left last night on a bridal tour.

Among those present at the wedding from away were Mrs. W. R. Whichard, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Whichard, Jr., of Whichard, N. C., and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Whichard, of Greenville, N. C. Norfolk Virginia-Pilot 15th.

Making Nice Goods.

Mr. W. S. Atkins, Superintendent of the Greenville Knitting Mills, presented the editor with two suits of splendid underwear made at the mills. They are now turning out beautiful work and find ready sales for all they can make. This is an enterprise of which our people ought to be proud and encourage in every way possible.

Warehouse in Danville Burned.

Today Mr. J. N. Gorman received a telegram from Danville that Brown's tobacco warehouse had been destroyed by fire. About 800 hogheads of bright-tobacco were burned in the building.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1901.

A Pleasing Improvement.

For a few weeks the passenger train on the Scotland Neck road has been burning coal, and it is a pleasing improvement. The train makes much better time and the service is much more satisfactory to the public. Passengers who come from other sections often grumble and make unfavorable remarks about having to wait at wood piles while the wood is tossed across a ditch and then to the train.

The truth is, this is an important line of railroad and is entitled to good service in the entire equipment. It makes a poor impression for old and untidy cars to run in at Weldon. They make a bad comparison with the trains that run on the main line. The best of cars, the best of service every way would be a good advertisement both for the railroad company and the section of country through which the road runs. And the public will appreciate attention of the authorities to these matters.—Scotland Neck Commonwealth.

All along the line the improvements made by the railroad people are observed with pleasure. While the new passenger coaches promised have not been put on yet, they are expected soon and will add more cause for appreciation. They are sorely needed.

There are yet some changes in connections that ought to be made. It has been noticed lately, and much complained of, that the passenger train comes in from a half to an hour late every evening, and notwithstanding changes have been made in the A. & N. C. road with a view of connection at Kinston with trains on this branch of the Coast Line, the connection is missed every day through the failure of the Coast Line train to reach Kinston on time. A representative of THE REFLECTOR while returning from up the road Thursday, took occasion to observe closely with a view of ascertaining the cause of delay. It was found that the train from Weldon to Kinston, being equipped with a coal-burning engine, makes its schedule promptly as far as Parmele and reaches the junction on time, but there a serious delay comes in while waiting for the train from Rocky Mount to Plymouth. This latter train has a dilapidated wood-burning engine and makes such time as it can. Our representative was on this train between Tarboro and Parmele and noticed how slow it run. A horse with an ordinary gait could have made the distance from Conetoe to Bethel quicker than this train covered it. The question was asked why the train run so slow, and the answer was that they had an old engine with green wood to burn and it was impossible to keep up steam. Once the train actually made a stop several minutes to get up steam. This is a lamentable condition for a train carrying mail and passengers on a busy road.

Again, after the train coming this way had finally got away from Parmele, it was subjected to a still further delay by being sidetracked some time in the woods to wait for a log train to come and pass. We are entirely ignorant of railroad management, but it strikes us that sidetracking a busy mail and passenger train for a log train is a poor arrangement.

It is to be hoped that the railroad officials will take note of these troubles and remedy them speedily. The business given the Coast Line in this section is certainly enough to justify them giving the people good equipment and prompt service.

Some Good Advice on Keeping Positions.

You can hold your position if you fit yourself to its mold so as to fill ever crevice. Be like a cake. At first it is a soft, spongy dough, and is poured into a mold which it but half fills. As it bakes, it rises, and crowds every dent in the mold. Not contented, it bulges over the top; it makes a cake larger than the mold will hold. So, young man and young woman, be larger than your mold. After you have filled every crease and crevice of your position, work out at the top. It is the largest cake that brings the most money.

Always keep your promises. Your employer will never ask you to do more than is possible. Remember that an unfulfilled promise is as bad as an untruth. Live within your means. Never let a month pass that you do not put something in the bank. Saving is the first great basic principle in the foundation of success. Dress neatly and plainly, for an employer marks a man as fool who appears himself with extravagance and glaring colors. Never try to win the favor of your employer by slandering your fellow workers. Slander always sticks. Show kindness to your fellow employees, but do not let it be forced kindness, for that deserves no thanks. Resolve slowly and act quickly. Remember it is better to be alone than in bad company, that you cannot give your employer or yourself full value, if you try to work after a night of dissipation; that silence, like cleanliness, is akin to Godliness, and that a clean conscience gives sound sleep and good digestion, and clothes one in an impregnable coat of mail.—From "How to Get and Keep a Position," by James J. Hill, in December "Success."

In the State of Tuscataro, Mexico, they have struck on the plan of teaching language by machinery. One of the colleges has purchased a lot of English and French phonographs for the students to practice with.—Wilmington Star.

Degeneracy of the Republican Party.

The Republican party is a remarkable example of the frailty to which all humanity, parties and men, are liable. Who except the most cynical would have forecast in the party of 1860 the party of 1900? Who except the most cynical would have forecast in the party of Greeley, Garrison and Phillips the party of Hanna, Platt and Quay? The Republican party of 1860, however mistaken in its methods and fanatical in the feats it attempted, was a party which made its first appeal to the people on the ground of morality. The Republican party of 1860 preached principle and believed in the reality of right. To the Republican party of 1900 right is but an unsubstantial shadow, morality but a speculation of philosophy which has no particular bearing upon every-day life, and principle has no place in practical politics.—Houston Post.

Daughters of The Confederacy.

Mrs. Chas. O'Hagan Laughinghouse was again the charming hostess at a reception given to the Daughters of The Confederacy on Thursday afternoon. The meeting was one of unusual interest both in the reports of the delegates (Mrs. Grimes to the State convention at Charlotte and Mrs. Skinner to the National convention at Wilmington).

A new course of work will be taken up for the following year, a part being the histories of the men for whom the various Chapters—thirty in all—are named.

The officers for another year were also elected and are as follows:

- Mrs. T. J. Jarvis, President.
- Mrs. W. H. Grimes, First Vice President.
- Mrs. F. G. James, Second Vice President.
- Mrs. J. L. Wooten, Recording Secretary.
- Mrs. F. C. Harding, Historian.

Child Dangerously Hurt.
