OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 16.

Well, Christmas is so near at hand that everybody seems to be "feeling it in their bones," consequently the spirit of good cheer already prevades the atmosphere. Your correspondent wishes you, Mr. Editor, and all your readers a most "merry Christmas and a happy New Year"—and "may you all," as old Rip would say, "live long and prosper."

MUSTER-ROLL OF NORTH CAROLINA CONFEDERATES.

It is stated that Senator Simmons may to-morrow introduce a bill in Congress to permit the copying of the muster roll of the North Carolina Confederate soldiers now in the Pension Office of the Government at Washington, if Secretary Hitchcock decides that it cannot be done lawfully without such a course being resorted to. Mr. Simmons has also asked permission to have copied the first census of North Carolina, taken in 1790, at which time only the heads of the families were enumerated. But we had over 30,000 of them then.

NEW DEPARTURE BY GOVERNOR AYCOCK.

For the first time in this State Governor Aycock issued a special order to the Penitentiary authorities to receive a prisoner (a bartender named Gay, who murdered his employer at Wilson) threatened with lynching last Thursday night. And again the Governor is right. This is the course that should have been taken heretofore instead of lodging such prisoners in the jail of this (Wake) county. Indeed, in the opinion of this writer and many wiser men, all executions in this State should take place within the walls of the State Prison. It may come to that yet.

The "gold brick" criminals from Greensboro have been brought to this prison, but the authorities want to keep a sharp and quick eye on those fellows if they are to be held. Less shrewd ones have gotten away from there "in a walk," in the days ago.

MAN'S INHUMANITY TO MAN.

Superintendent McKee of the Central Hospital for the Insane, located at Raleigh, last week made his annual report to the Directors of that institution, showing 420 patients then in the hospital, 252 being females and 168 males, with 71 applications on file and the rejection of 26 of these, owing to the lack of room; 98 were discharged as cured and the percentage of deaths was 7. Additional facilities, in the shape of rooms, etc., have been needed at this hospital for several years, and it is to be hoped that the next Legislature will provide Superintendent McKee with them. The charitable institutions of North Carolina should be properly provided for; the people should demand of the men they send to the Legislature that they do this charitable work for the unfortunate and stricken sons and daughters of their State—and, if necessary, make them pledge themselves to do it before they are elected. The late Dr. Kirby did more, as Superintendent of this institution, than any of his predecessors, and he is followed by a worthy successor, who is devoting his energies, backed by a valuable experience in his profession, to his new work. But no workman can do his best or accomplish the highest results unless provided with proper and adequate tools—and it is the State's business to provide them in this case.

Our $15.00 Suits are so good that we say to you, buy one and you will get the $15.00 back if you don't like the suit.

If we make any sort of mistake, bring the suit back and let us make it right.

Call it our generosity, call it your generosity, call it fairness, call it anything you like.

But do it.

By the way, $15.00 is the place where we can put the most value into our suits. Why—that's a long story.

The suits tell it.

We do what we say we do.

FRANK WILSON,
The King Clothier.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1901.

JOLLY OLD UNCLE JOSH.

HIS GREAT GENEROSITY TOWARDS HIS NEWLY-MARRIED NIECE.

A Realistic Romance of Greenville in Which a Number of Prominent Business Men Take a Conspicuous Part.

[Copyrighted by the Author.]

"Miss Summers—Polly—I—I—er—dare I—." But the speaker took a header over bashfulness, only to hear a sweet:

"Yes, Charley."

"Can I aspire to—er—to—that is—."

Again a lapse into silence, followed by an encouraging:

"Yes, Charley."

"Oh, if I might only hope to er—to—."

Another failure of language. It was seemingly a hopeless case, and might have been, only for a demure:

"Charley, I have said 'yes' twice, and if you mean it, I mean it, too, and—."

And to this day the young man will insist that he popped the question.

All this happened away "down East," and it wasn't long before there was a wedding. Not much longer before there came a letter from Polly's uncle, Josh, down here in the Old North State, who wrote effusively of her exhibition of what he called "grit," and he proposed that if the young people would locate at Greenville he would start them up in life as a wedding gift, and at the same time give them a lot of good practical advice. Of course they accepted, and were bidding their friends adieu.

* * * * *

Early yesterday morning a travel stained party arrived at Greenville. Our friend, Uncle Josh, was in charge and he led straightway to a hotel. "The Hotel Bertha," said he, "is a typical Southern hotel of the best class. I have known C. C. Vines, the proprietor, for years and he is mine host after mine own heart. A thorough business man, endowed with that delightful intuition that makes a guest feel at home, comfortable, contented, and in mighty good luck. The house is one of convenience; the apartments are well furnished; the cuisine all that a superior chef and unlimited orders on the market can make it. I have engaged rooms here for you to occupy until your own house is in readiness.

"I have already provided you with a cage for your bird," said Uncle Josh, "and now the first thing we'll look after will be the furnishings for it." Hereupon Polly energetically declared that she had heard so much about A. H. Taft & Co., the up-to-date furniture dealers, that she had decided to go there. The result was that they were ushered into such a bewildering display that the girl was at first at a loss how to select. But she soon yielded to the seductiveness of a magnificent mahogany parlor suite, a bed-room set in oak, golden oak finish, that would have done credit to old Antiquity herself. To this she added a dining-room set with all accessories, also carpets, rugs and matting, and didn't forget a most convenient and ornamental writing desk for "Hubby" Charles.

"A pretty good start," said the old man, "and now we'll go to the establishment of Barker & Hart." Polly's housewifely instincts had full play in marvels of kitchen apparatus. Every possible piece of kitchen furniture, from a tin dipper to a cooking range is here in all styles and variety. If Polly fails to accomplish wonders in the culinary art, it will not be for want of superior cooking utensils, for she purchased an up-to-date Garland steel range with all equipments needed in a well-regulated kitchen. After Polly had finished her purchases Uncle Josh talked with Mr. Hart about builders material, paints, glass, etc., farming implements, guns and ammunition, and general hardware, in which this firm leads.

Passing down Evans street Uncle Josh cried: "Halt!" as the party came in front of Bryan & Nichols' drug store. "Walk right in," "Why, Uncle, we're not sick, and—" "Guess I know that, but I suspect it won't be long before this young man begins to take an interest in matters of paragonic and—" "U-n-c-l-e!" "Well, go in anyway; Polly may find some toilet articles she wants." Sure enough before leaving she was loaded down with combs, brushes, face powders and ounces upon ounces of fine imported perfumes. "Don't forget," added Uncle Josh, "to come here with your prescriptions as this firm has a competent pharmacist and uses pure and wholesome drugs." Polly made various purchases in leather goods and fancy holiday novelties, while Charley treated himself to cigars, tobacco and a fine meerschaum pipe. Their hot drinks came very refreshing before leaving.

"Let's see—I promised you a gold watch, didn't I," queried Uncle Josh of Polly; "and E. E. Griffin's jewelry store is the very place to get one cheap." Thereupon the old man gallantly acquitted himself of the promise and then directed Polly's attention to the superior stock of silverware for Christmas presents carried by this house. "There is no other such house in town," said the old man, "and I will guarantee the quality to be the very best. Pick out your family clock while here," he added, "Mr. Griffin carries a magnificent line; and, Charles, if that old 'turnip' of yours breaks down bear in mind he can fix her up as good a new."

At this point, somewhat to the confusion of Charles, the old man indulged in a half serious criticism of his personal appearance. "You are decidedly off style for a townsman," said he, "and we'd better go to Frank Wilson the 'King Clothier.' After Charles had fitted himself in a suit Uncle Josh declared: "Now you look like a newly-married man." Before leaving, having found goods and prices irresistible, Charles also invested in a complete outfit of gents' furnishings, from the late style hat and high grade shoes, to a dozen shirts. Having heard so much of his famous 'Dutchess Trousers,' he purchased a pair. Upon leaving Polly remarked about the handsome window display, which was supplemented by Uncle Josh that there is nothing like it in town.

"Oh, say, Uncle," exclaimed

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable. HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours

F. A. WERMAN, 730 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation. Examination and advice free. YOU CAN CURE YOURSELF AT HOME at a nominal cost. INTERNATIONAL AURAL CLINIC, 596 LA SALLE ST. CHICAGO, ILL.

Polly, "where can I get a stylish hat? The one I have is hardly suitable, I must admit." "Let's go a few doors south and we'll visit Mrs. M. D. Higgs. You can get what you want there, the latest styles and lowest prices being her motto. Miss Bessie Jarvis, trimmer, has the experience which guarantees that when you have purchased of them you have a thing at the lowest possible price and a satisfaction of knowing that your work has been done by competent artists." Mrs. Higgs' handsome pictures and many fancy articles for holiday presents was also commented upon, and Polly made many beautiful selections for her new home.

Having heard so much of W. B. Wilson, the merchandise broker, Uncle Josh requested to pay him a visit. "Wilson does a reliable commission business" brought in Uncle Josh, "he sells Armour's world-renowned English cured 'Star' hams and shoulders—the only genuine English cured goods on the market. In flour his brands 'can't be beat' for fine biscuits. He represents the Voigt Milling Co. in their four famous brands—'Gilt Edge,' 'Snow Drift,' 'Royal' and 'Calla Lily.' 'His Henry L. Hobarts & Co's molasses was sampled and found to be of superior drip. Charley being somewhat of a judge of fine cigars, pronounced 'Golden Seal' manufactured by C. C. Isaacs & Son, Baltimore, as the smoke of his delight, and as for chewing tobacco showed his appreciation by leaving an order for several boxes of 'Black Maria,' manufactured by Taylor Bros., of Winston. "Don't forget" added Uncle Josh, "that Mr. Wilson also sells the famous Vermont Butter, made by Russell, Crego & Co., New York."

At this juncture the old man waxed philosophical. "Never neglect your larder," said he. "That important adjunct to housekeeping controls masculine temper. To that end you must patronize a grocer on whom you can depend for honest goods. Through a long term of years I have found L. M. Savage, the railroad grocer, perfectly reliable. You will find them trying to please dealers, always full stocked with every possible thing in groceries, fresh and first-class—no shelf worn goods there. A good provider always buys his food there because, he not only gets the best of every thing, but the best value for the money. The longer people trade with L. M. Savage the better they are satisfied.

Their next point of interest was the wholesale grocery establishment of the Greenville Supply Co. Never before had Uncle Josh seen so much goods in the grocery line under one roof, as is carried by this exclusive grocery wholesale firm, and the old man becoming interested in the vast shipments made that day elicited the information that this firm does an extensive business in eight surrounding counties, traveled regularly by two salesmen. "Their prices will easily compare with the largest concerns in the North and West," broke in Uncle Josh, "besides the Greenville Supply Co. are in a position to save their customer the freight in every instance." Charley, who was an attentive listener to these comments, investigated their price list and found Uncle Josh's remarks verified.

"All these manifold bargains remind me," remarked Uncle Josh, as they reached Evans street again heavily loaded up, "I must go across to the Bank of Greenville and get another check-book. Come with me and get acquainted with R. L. Davis, the president, and J. L. Little, the cashier, for of course you will do business with them and it is always more pleasant to be personally acquainted with the people you do business with. The bank is as solid as the base of the universe, and has a strong working capital. You will find them ever ready to extend any accommodations compatible with business principles.

"Now," said Uncle Josh, "suppose we take a rest for the remainder of the evening, and tomorrow morning we will get an early breakfast and continue our rounds." They all agreed, and Uncle Josh, true to his good country habits, soon after supper had retired and was sleeping as soundly as if in his own bed at home. "Dear old man he is," quoth Polly, as she and Charley were talking over the events of the day.

AYDEN NOTES.

AYDEN, N. C. Dec. 17, 1901. Joseph Cobb spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents at Standard.

Several of our people went out in the country to church Sunday afternoon.

Miss Nelie Joyner spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives at Smith Hotel.

Mills Smith came down Saturday afternoon to visit relatives at Smith Hotel. He returned Sunday afternoon.

We were greatly disappointed at not having any services in any of the churches here Sunday.

Miss Lula Patrick gave a party at her home Friday night in honor of her guest, Miss Lucy Johnson. All who were present expressed themselves as having spent a very pleasant evening.

J. L. Smith spent Friday night with his brother, J. T. Smith.

Miss Nancy Coward went to Greenville yesterday morning to spend sometime with relatives there. Her friends here hope her stay will be short.

Xmas will soon be here and we hope Santa Claus will visit all the children and give them a merry Christmas. Of course all we "grown folks" can have a merry time without him.
