ENDORSED MR. WALKER.

The following letter has been issued by the Committee of the Charlotte Bar having in charge the candidacy of Mr. P. D. Walker for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

"Upon the announcement of Judge W. A. Hoke that he would not allow his name to be considered for the place of Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, the members of the Charlotte Bar met, and unanimously endorsed Mr. Platt D. Walker, of Charlotte, for this honorable and exalted position. A committee was appointed to present the name of Mr. Walker to the prominent lawyers throughout the State, and the numerous responses received have expressed the highest approval of the action of the Charlotte Bar, and pledged their earnest support in behalf of Mr. Walker, and withal denoted the high and universal esteem in which he is held by his professional brethren.

"Feeling, however, that the question as to who shall constitute the Court of last resort—of final judgement upon the rights of the person and the property of the citizens of our State—is one of no less importance to the layman than to the lawyer, we take this time and method to acquaint the people of the State as to what has been said and done in Mr. Walker's behalf, and to bespeak for him the support and influence of the Democratic voters throughout the State.

"To those who are acquainted with Mr. Walker we need not speak of his fitness for this high and responsible office, but to those who do not know him, besides our own testimony as to his high character, his integrity and ability, we desire to quote the words of one high in the councils of the Democratic party, and a lawyer of great renown and learning, who says of Mr. Walker: 'I do not know of any man in the State for whom I have a greater respect. He is eminently fitted for the place, and shall receive my cordial support. He is under no obligations to me for supporting him, but the State is under obligations to him for serving,' and it is such a man and such men, that the people of North Carolina want and demand for their Supreme Court."

Respectfully submitted, H. C. Jones, T. C. Guthrie, J. D. McCall, T. L. Kirkpatrick, A. B. Justice, Plummer Stewart, Lotte W. Humphrey, C. D. Bennette, T. W. Hawkins, F. I. Osborne, J. B. Spence, H. N. Pharr, Heriot Clarkson, G. F. Bason, Thos. W. Alexander, F. M. Shannouhouse, C. H. Duls, F. R. McNinch, Brevard Nixon, Hugh, W. Harris, Geo. E. Wilson, Chase Brenizer, Jas. A. Bell, D. A. Tedder.

Preparing Glue For Ready Use.
To any quantity of glue use common whisky instead of water. Put both together in a bottle, cork it tight and set it by for three or four days, when it will be fit for use without the application of heat. Glue thus prepared will keep for years and is at all times fit for use, except in very cold weather, when it should be set in warm water before using. To obviate the difficulty of the stopper getting tight by the glue drying in the mouth of the vessel use a tin vessel with the cover fitting tight on the outside to prevent the escape of the spirit by evaporation. A strong solution of isinglass made in the same manner is an excellent cement for leather.

Wingless Birds.
The kiwi is the sole remnant of the wonderful race of wingless birds that once roamed all over New Zealand, the gigantic skeletons of some of which have been found in such numbers that almost every museum in the world possesses one or more of them.
The kiwi is about the size of a partridge, has a rather long neck and a curious bill about four inches in length. Its wings are quite undeveloped, and its feathers have a sort of unfinished character, which may be supposed to represent nature's early efforts in that direction, before the close, rich plumage of the modern bird was "evolved."
Wanting the means of flight, the kiwi has been almost exterminated, and with it also have gone or nearly gone all the other feathered denizens of the woods. The invasion of their haunts by the white man has been their destruction.

You Cannot Drown an Ant.
It is a singular fact, recently demonstrated by experiments made by French scientists, that you cannot drown an ant. The purpose of the experiments was to determine how long insects would be able to resist asphyxiation after they had been submerged in water.
An ant immersed in water doubles itself up and becomes absolutely inert, but upon being restored to the air comes to life in a period varying with the length of its immersion. After a ducking of six or eight hours it requires half an hour to come to and three-quarters of an hour to recover when the submersion has been continuous for twenty-four hours.

Cuckoo.
When grandpa's clock should strike the hour,
It's just as funny, but it's true,
Out pops the cutest little bird
And shakes his wings and says "Cuckoo!"
You don't see cuckoo very much,
'Cause two little doors hide him from you,
But when the clock points to the hour
He pops right out and says "Cuckoo!"
I watched him close the other day,
'Cause grandpa says he ain't alive,
I don't see why, for he can count;
He cuckoo'd every time for five.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.
F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:
Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.
About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.
I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.
I then saw your advertisement, accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,

His Commission.
When Coronet Joyce, one of Cromwell's men, went to Holmby to remove King Charles I. to safer quarters, there being a plot among Presbyterians to kidnap him, he took along 500 troopers. When Charles stepped out of his house, he was confronted by this considerable force. The king at once asked whether Joyce had any commission for what he was doing. "Here," replied Joyce, turning in his saddle as he spoke and pointing to the soldiers he headed, "is my commission. It is behind me." "It is a fair commission," replied King Charles, "and as well written as I have seen a commission in my life."

Stevenson's Cue Work.
A story of Robert Louis Stevenson is told as follows by an acquaintance: "Once only do I remember seeing him play a game of billiards, and a truly remarkable performance it was. He played with all the fire and dramatic intensity

HE PLAYED WITH FIRE AND DRAMATIC INTENSITY.
that he was apt to put into things. The balls flew wildly about on or off the table as the case might be, but seldom indeed ever threatened a pocket or got within a hand's breadth of a cannon. 'What a fine thing a game of billiards is,' he remarked to the astonished onlookers, 'once a year or so!'

Willie Wasn't Sure.
Teacher—Willie, please give me the definition of a dillygon's sist.
Willie—Teacher, dillygon's sist is a dillygon's sist.

The Gastonia Gazette gives some good advice in the following: Pay your current local accounts promptly. Don't make your business neighbors earn their money a second time walking after it. It isn't courteous. It doesn't strengthen pleasant business relations. Pay promptly. It promotes feelings; it puts money in circulation, and makes times better generally.

The Philadelphia Record says: The best new year resolution which a man can make, the one which will relieve him of trouble and help others, is to start the year with clean books. The new year should be a time for squaring accounts, and he who begins the labors of another year, owing no man, saves much trouble and lays the foundation of his success for the coming year.

Nothing Small About Him.

The Richmond Dispatch pays the following compliment to our representative Hon. John H. Small: "It is said of Congressman Small, of North Carolina, who is an old newspaper man, that he has never forgotten his newspaper training, and from force of habit notes the important happenings of each day's session of the House. He makes it a rule, too, to answer every letter he receives the day he receives it—a most excellent thing in a Congressman or any other public personage. We are not particularly well acquainted with Mr. Small, but we know this, that in spite of his name, there is nothing small about him."

The damage by recent floods to the State Farm in Halifax county will reach $20,000, it is stated, the dykes having been again swept away.

A MEAN LOOKING LETTER-HEAD

Has lost many a dollar for business men. If a man is judged by the coat he wears, he is also judged by the letter-head he uses. An artistic, nicely printed letter head may be looked on as a good investment.

It will be done right. The price for doing it will be right, too.

Editors' Day Named.

The editors are going to Charleston.

North Carolina week at the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition, which begins on April 7, is going to be a week of events for the State, as special days are being arranged.

A special day for the editors of the State has been named by Governor Aycock. This was done yesterday when Mr. H. B. Varner, Commissioner of Labor and Printing, and editor of the Davidson Dispatch, presented the matter to him.

The Governor named Thursday, April 10th, as "Editors' Day," and Mr. Varner at once wrote to Mr. J. B. Sherrill, of Concord, secretary of the North Carolina Press Association, informing him of the special day and suggesting that steps be taken to have the Press Association take hold of the matter and arrange to have all the newspaper men possible in Charleston on Thursday, April 10th.

There is no doubt that the press of the State will take hold of the matter, and that April 10th will be one of the greatest of all the great days of "North Carolina Week" in Charleston.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Work has commenced on J. L. Fleming's new house on the Clark lot, corner Greene and Third streets.
