OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 13.

According to the exact provisions and language of section 77 of the new Revenue Act, last Saturday was the limit fixed for the thousands of merchants of North Carolina to make their purchase tax returns to the Clerks of the County Boards of Commissioners (the Registers of Deeds) of their respective counties, in order to avoid penalty prescribed.

However, as a large percentage of them have failed to do so, and as there is no disposition on the part of officials to make the new law more stringent and burdensome than is necessary, additional time will be extended those who will at once manifest a disposition to comply with it, and send in their returns without further delay.

UNPOPULAR AND BURDENSOME LAW

This course on the part of our merchants is the best they can pursue at present. The new law is burdensome, not to say oppressive, it is true, and that it is very unpopular is apparent to all. But it is the law, nevertheless, and therefore must be complied with. When the next Legislature meets, one year hence, a more satisfactory act may be secured.

Up to the assembling of the Legislature of 1899 the purchase tax levied upon the merchants for a number of years past was considered onerous, and so the General Assembly of 1899 reached a compromise and the purchase and privilege tax act was passed (chap. 11, Acts 1899), based on amount invested in business—the privilege tax to be in addition to the ad valorem tax on all the property of the merchant—and this law was regarded as settling a long-vevexed controversy.

But only two years later the Legislature of 1901 came along, and not only did away with that very satisfactory act, but went a bow-shot further than the old purchase tax law, and put into the Revenue Act the present section which is so much complained of already.

This new law not only levies an ad valorem tax on all property of the merchant, but also levies a tax on every dealer (regardless of the amount of stock he carries or the extent of his business) of $1 for State and $1 for the county; and on top of this levies a tax on all the sales a merchant makes—thus requiring him to pay a tax on his supposed profits. He may never collect some of his debts, but under this law he is actually made to pay a tax on the amounts he loses by his creditors.

Superior Court.

MONDAY, JANUARY 13, 1901.

Court is in session with Judge F. D. Winston presiding. The people of Pitt county are glad to have him hold court, for he is a good Judge and has business dispatched rapidly.

The Crosey case at Elizabeth City has developed new features. Since the finding of the body the committee of citizens who were prosecuting the search has published a card giving detailed matter of their labors.

The charge of Judge F. D. Winston to the grand jury at the opening of the present term of Superior court, was the best ever delivered from the Bench in Pitt county, and we are glad so many people were present to hear it.

He began by speaking of the powers and duties vested in such a body of inquest, and the manner in which they are selected for this capacity. He said he had no doubt there were men in this and other counties who were not fit to serve on a grand jury; that it is the duty of the Commissions of a county in revising the jury lists to eliminate all who never felt sufficient interest in their State to bear their just portion of taxation, therefore he took it for granted that all before him were tax payers and competent men.

Of the condition of public roads he said free labor will never make good roads. When the people become willing to tax themselves for this purpose they will have good roads.

Upon the laws affecting the home circle he referred to the alarming increase of divorces. Going back to the days of the Romans and Teutons he referred eloquent-so well kept. All human law is founded on Divine law. The Ten Commandments embrace every law found in any law book. The laws of right and wrong remain the same as when they were handed down to Moses on Mount Sanai.

In speaking of the crime that causes lynchings he said men rarely take the law into their own hands when the law provides adequate punishment to fit the crime. Let the law be sufficient and the people will be satisfied to let it take its course.

He paid a splendid tribute to the public school system of the State and said education had gotten beyond a luxury and had now become an absolute necessity. The man who fails to be able to read and write will have to content himself in taking the lowest positions in life.

Referring to the stock law, he spoke of a number of citizens in the lower section of this county having come together and taxed themselves to establish the stock law in their territory, and an attempted boycott that has developed.

He read an anonymous letter received by a laborer in that territory warning him to move out of it. Judge Winston said he saw no use in denouncing the writer of such a letter as he would be too cowardly to resent it. Nor would he from the Bench advise that such a man ought to be taken out at night by an outraged community and struck thirty-nine lashes.

Judge Winston spoke of the alarming tendency of the people to gambling in its various forms. Under this head he mentioned slot machines, and said any machine where the return is not positively and absolutely known before a coin is placed in it is a gambling machine, and any person brought before him for operating such a machine would be attended to.

On the subject of obscene literature the Judge said in his opinion the most damaging influence upon boys at this time is the obscene books and papers in circulation. He would not give one column in THE REFLECTOR for a year's reading in the yellow journals of the day, the former upholding that which is moral and virtuous while the latter teem with all that is vile and vicious.

As to the evil of public drunkenness he said laws will not cure evils or destroy them, but he was glad that in enlightened communities this evil was growing less. If the best people of a community want liquor sold there it will be sold, while if they do not want it sold it will not be. Large corporations and important business institutions refusing to employ any but sober men was having a wholesome effect.

Of the condition of public roads he said free labor will never make good roads. When the people become willing to tax themselves for this purpose they will have good roads.

Upon the laws affecting the home circle he referred to the alarming increase of divorces. Going back to the days of the Romans and Teutons he referred eloquent-

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES? ALL CASES OF DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable. HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY. F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS: Baltimore, Md., March 30, 1901. Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

ly to the sphere woman had occupied as wife and mother in the different, and his tribute to woman was surpassingly beautiful. Before closing Judge Winston also paid a high and deserved compliment to the Solicitor and officers of Pitt county for their efficiency. Of course THE REFLECTOR can only give points here and there from Judge Winston's excellent charge. There was no phase of law to which it was needed to call attention that be overlooked. It was elaborate, couched in choicest language, and delivered in a manner that held the closest attention of all present.

Mostly the Common Ordinary Sort. That a man lets liquor ruin him is no indication that a strong and a bright mind has been ruined. We know that temperance lecturers are always declaring that the brightest minds have been ruined by the demon, strong drink, but it is not a fact. Liquor has done enough to condemn it and put every right thinking man against it without charging it with the destruction of brilliant minds. Liquor has destroyed many mighty common, ordinary minds, but the brilliant minds destroyed by it are few indeed.—Monroe Enquirer.

ORIGINAL OBSERVATIONS

Made By The Orange, Virginia, Observer

In the drama of life the devil is often the stage prompter. Love laden glances are the wireless messages from the heart. A dress does not make a woman, but it very often breaks a man. The axle-grease on your elbows is no sign that you are not lazy. Students who attend the school of experience have no football team. When the doctors disagree the patient has a fighting chance for his life. How can a bride be expected to show self-possession when she is being given away?

NEW YEAR SUNSHINE.

The S. S. Society meet at the home of Mrs. Wiley Brown Jan. 10th, 1902.

True it is that cheerfulness is riches that cannot be taxed. We began the new year with a bountiful supply. Roll call and minutes read by our Sunshine secretary, whose name is no misnomer. She gets so much sunshine out of life that I catch myself almost envying her. Quite a good attendance. Then each member selected a night for nursing the sick, which was almost unnecessary as all reported in splendid health. Enveloped as we are in sunshine we can only reflect the good and bright, but cannot be harmed by the foes without, as our invalids have reported in splendid health since uniting with sunshine. Three members were appointed to draft a Constitution and By-laws for the government of the society.

The fun began by the distribution of nut conundrums. One goes from one to another soliciting answers which are very amusing. Miss Jarvis was the successful competitor of the prize in the shadow pictures. The novelty of the affair in having the recipient find their presents was exceedingly enjoyable. Miss Flanagan found a book, "God and The Man," Miss Sheppard a bisque figure, Miss Jarvis a Japanese pin tray. Then there is the "passing on" of kind words and deeds that makes up most of our sunshine and love, for without love no one can be rich, with it no one can be poor. The evening passed so swiftly and charmingly. There was such wit and good humor that we reluctantly bade our kind hostess good night.

At Home.

During the coming year I will, as heretofore, carry the most attractive line of goods to be found anywhere and ask for a continuance of your patronage.

Yours to serve,
