OUR RALEIGH LETTER.

Special Correspondent of Reflector.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 10.

The organization here of a North Carolina "Anti-Saloon League" last Friday marked a distinct step toward the revival of temperance work in this State, which has been allowed to remain in a state of innocuous disuetude of late.

Old John Barley is unquestionably the most dangerous and merciless foe of good morals and Christian civilization that the people of this country have to contend with—and the hardest of all to conquer and subdue. Indeed, it would seem that no adequate remedy has yet been devised to suppress the traffic and intemperate indulgence in intoxicating liquors.

The advocates of Prohibition and active Christian people (whether in the church or not) will tell you that it is a mighty low standard of morals or religion that will put a monetary price on wrecked homes, destitute and naked and worse than widowed wives and orphaned children and damned souls.

That is the sentiment and the "argument" the anti-saloon league must face and meet and answer before they can close many of the saloons. And they will find many "professing Christians" and "church members" in the opposition crowd, too.

This Doctor Will be Vivisected After Death.

Brooklyn, Feb. 7.—Dr. Everson, Dean of Dushwick Hospital, confirmed the report by the medical staff of that institution, that they had decided to accept the offer of Dr. James Russell, one of the best known practitioners in Brooklyn, to submit himself for vivisection in the cause of science.

FIRE IN WASHINGTON.

A. C. L. Freight Station and Some Stores Destroyed.

Just before six o'clock, Saturday evening, Mayor W. H. Long received a telephone message from the Mayor of Washington, stating that a terrible fire was raging there which threatened the destruction of the business portion of the town, and asking that assistance be sent from Greenville.

A few taps of the fire alarm were given to call the company together and they at once made preparation to go to the assistance of our neighbors. The steamer was taken out to the depot, and the railroad officials, having no engine nearer, had issued orders for the engine of the passenger train to return here from Kingston to take our company to Washington, but before the engine could come another message was received from Washington that the fire was under control.

Sunday a representative of THE REFLECTOR went to Washington to get as full detail as possible of the fire. It originated about 5:30 p. m. from a defective flue in the Atlantic Coast Line freight station situated between Main street and the river and extending to the wharf. C. F. Bland the assistant agent, was in the office at work and saw the flames burst through the ceiling into the office. The flames spread rapidly through the building, and such a high wind was blowing that by the time the fire department could get to work the fire was beyond their control.

The Old Dominion Steamship Co's. warehouse and office was just across the dock west of the A. C. L. building. This was in great danger but was saved by hard work and the wind blowing in nearly the opposite direction.

The Western Union telegraph office was in the brick building on the corner of Main street exactly in front of the A. C. L. warehouse. The occupants of this were routed, but the building was saved and Manager Hoeft moved back and got to work as quickly as possible.

The fire spread eastward destroying the wholesale grocery store of the E. Peterson Co., Dr. D. T. Tayloe's drug store, Dudley's bar, S. R. Fowle & Son's naval stores warehouse, and damaging the store occupied by H. Susman. Several boats laying around the wharf narrowly escaped.

A fortunate change in the direction of the wind from northwest to north blew the flames towards the river, which enabled the firemen to check it from going further down Main street.

When one of the walls of the Peterson store fell it caught Ed. Reed, colored, who was a member of the Salamander Fire Company, and crushed him to death instantly. His body was horribly mangled.

The loss of the Atlantic Coast Line is estimated at $50,000, supposed to be covered by insurance though amount could not be learned.

The loss of the E. Peterson Co. is estimated at $25,000 with only $8,000 insurance. This firm was burned out in 1899 when the big fire burned so much of Water and Market streets.

Miss Margaret Hoyt, who owned the Peterson building, loss $5,000, insurance $1,000.

S. R. Fowle & Son's loss $4,000,

He Keeps Going.

The Washington Messenger reports an insolent tramp going from house to house and insulting ladies. He was arrested, escorted to the town limits and told to move on. No doubt this is the same hobo who was run out of Greenville, a few days ago, as he left in the direction of Washington. The Tarboro Southerner reported one previously in that town that was probably the same fellow and came here from Tarboro.

Foolish Spite Work.

An ancient proverb warns every man of the folly of "cutting off his nose to spite his face," and some of the old books have pictures illustrating the adage. But the best illustration to be found anywhere is that given by the Monroe Journal in the paragraph quoted herewith. Of all that engage in spite work, surely the man it describes is the most foolish. We must confess, however, that his tribe is rather large, and this picture is worth preserving:

"I'll not send my children, that's all." Thus, some times, right here in Union county, does an angry parent finish a controversy over local school matters. He has not been able to have his way, or thinks that he has been treated unjustly. Maybe he has been, maybe not. Whether he has or not, he is going to have revenge. Upon whom? the teacher? the committee? his neighbor? No; bless your soul, none of these. But upon his own children, innocent and helpless. He will, to gratify his own feelings, deprive his children of their birthright, rob them in their innocence and helplessness. He keeps them at home. The neighbors' children go and get benefit of the school, which goes on just the same as if this man were not putting. He has spited nobody. But he has cheated his confiding children who are dependent upon him. Ever think of that?—Progressive Framers.

Those Who are Passing This Way.

W. J. Rollins went to Mt. Oliv today.

Ray Tyson left this morning for Baltimore.

Rev. D. W. Davis went to Washington this morning.

S. W. Norris returned Saturday evening from Raleigh.

B. J. Pulley left this morning for Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Miss Louise Latham has returned from a visit to Plymouth.

Rev. F. H. Harding returned this morning from Grifton.

Dr. J. E. Nobles returned Saturday evening from Philadelphia.

Mrs. Alice Harner and Littleson, Alexander, returned this morning from a visit to Lenoir county.

Mrs. and Mrs. L. B. Barnhill, of Parmele, are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Daniel.

District Attorney Harry Skinner returned Saturday evening from Raleigh where he had been to take the oath of office.

A. R. Forbes, J. B. Anderson and J. M. Taft went to Washington Sunday to see what damage the fire had done.

Mrs. Mary O'Hagan and daughter, Miss Louise, of Pennsylvania, who have been visiting Mrs. J. J. Laughinghouse, returned home today.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dudley, of Washington, came in Saturday evening to visit relatives. Learning of the fire there and that his place of business was among those destroyed, Mr. Dudley returned to Washington through the country.

Eight to Nothing.

Saturday, cold as it was, Alderman E. B. Ficklen took a friend from Virginia out in the country for a hunt. We learn that eight birds were bagged, of which the Alderman did not bring down a single one, though a half interest was claimed in one at which both shot near the same time.

A Lady with Nerve.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. L. I. Moore was out driving alone. Some one driving rapidly by her caused her horse to jump off in a run. She was unable to hold the horse down, but with remarkable presence of mind, and without getting the least frightened, she kept the horse in the middle of the road and let him run until he tired of the fun, calling to all whom she was about to meet or pass to keep out of the way. No damage was done.

S. C. Hamilton, Jr., Dead.

THE REFLECTOR has received a copy of the Biddeford, Me., Record, dated Feb 5th, that contains an announcement of the death of Mr. S. C. Hamilton, Jr. He died on the 4th inst., in a New York hospital where he had gone for treatment, having for sometime previous been in poor health. Some years ago, Mr. Hamilton was a citizen of Greenville, and was a member of the firm of Hines & Hamilton who owned the large lumber plant located near the depot that was destroyed by fire in the spring of 1895. While living here he was also a member of the City Council for one year. He had many warm friends in Greenville who learn of his death with sorrow.

Beauty is Health.

Walnut Lake, Ark., June 8, 1900.
I thank you for the benefit I received from your advice and the Wine of Cardui. I took in my terrible condition. My life was no pleasure to me at all and I was of no use to anybody. After receiving your advice and medicine I commenced taking it and began immediately to improve. The pains left me and the menses, which came at the correct time, continued three days. I have gained strength and my weight has increased. My husband says the medicine has made me better looking than ever before.
Mrs. LIZZIE MANNELL.

Womanly health means bright eyes, rosy cheeks, clear complexion and elasticity of form. This is the youth unmeasured by years—the beauty of perfect womanhood. Beautiful women are happier and get more out of life than their sisters whose faces indicate suffering. Wine of Cardui made Mrs. Mannel "better looking" and infinitely happier because it cured her of those terrible pains. But she is no exception.

WINE OF CARDUI

Is giving thousands of women health, beauty and freedom from the dragging pains which made their lives so miserable. Wan faces, haggard eyes and emaciated forms are the results of suffering. What suffering can compare with the torture of irregular menstruation, leucorrhoea and falling of the womb! Beauty flees quickly before the ravages of such disease. The sharp pains of falling of the womb deepen the crow tracks in the face. Menstrual irregularities rob the eye of its fire and the complexion of its transparency. Leucorrhoea drains the body of its strength, but Wine of Cardui restores the natural beauty, brightens the eye, clears the complexion, rounds out the figure and brings back the vigor of health. Every druggist in this city handles $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.
