New White Goods Welcome.

Color is eliminated from the card today. White goods first in store displays as they will be in your thoughts, we trust. Ten years ago—yes, four or five years, even—who would have dreamed of the beauty to be brought out in fabric art without a touch from rainbow tints? Pure white, but so varied have been the dreams of designers, so cleverly have loom wizards wrought, that there is hardly a limit to variety. White has only been thought of as a repellent for summer's heat. The sheerest effects have been sought, but now however white fabrics—cheviots madras and piques are brought out in rich style assortment. White has overstepped the limits of summer months and hereafter will be an all the year round factor

THE PRESIDENT AT CHARLESTON.

North Carolina Also There in Force.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE:

Charleston, S. C., April 8.—President Roosevelt is now the guest of Charleston, and the city is in holiday attire in honor of his presence. His special train arrived near the city early this morning where the Presidential party left the train and boarded the revenue cutter Algonquin which was in waiting for them. The cutter made the run down the river passing the city about 11 o'clock. There were several war vessels in the harbor and as the President's boat passed both these and the land batteries fired salutes. The President visited the forts and come unto the city about 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was given a great ovation along the crowded streets as he drove to his hotel.

Governor Aycock, of North Carolina, also arrived in the city this afternoon on a special train. He was met at the depot by the North Carolina troops who had preceded him and was escorted to his hotel. Both the Governor and President Roosevelt will participate in the exercises at the exposition grounds tomorrow. North Carolina will have a prominent part in the parade.

This being North Carolina week here there are thousands of people from the Old North State in Charleston. The editors of the Stat. are also here in large numbers, many of them accompanied by their wives or daughters. The editors will have their special day at the exposition on Thursday.

Greenville and Pitt county are well represented in Charleston and we are all taking in plenty of sight seeing. Besides the exposition, in itself a great attraction, there are many points of historic interest in and about the city, and all of them are visited.

T. M. Hooker, one of the Greenville, representatives, was "touched" on the train enroute here last night, a slick pickpocket getting his diamond shirt stud. A Ward of Bethel, was also relieved of his pocket book and railroad ticket. As the editors do not wear diamonds and are not burdened with cash, they do not offer an inviting field to the slick fingered crowd.

The exposition is a great success both in exhibits and attendance. This is the best week since the big fair started, which shows that North Carolina is doing her part by her sister State. North Carolina has a fine exhibit of which every one in the State may feel proud.

Drowned in Water 10 Inches Deep.

Newton, April 8.—Yesterday an old lady, Susan Sigman, living three or four miles west of this place, was found in a small creek, her head in water about ten inches deep. Some one working near heard strange noise and on investigation found the old lady almost drowned. On being taken from the water or soon after she spoke a few words—said something about so much trouble and asked for her son—but died shortly afterward. It is supposed to be a case of suicide. The coroner held an inquest today and the evidence was about as above stated.

Distinguished Arrivals.

We refer to the arrival of our Smart Spring Suits. They are here—just landed, and we want you to see them. The more particular you are about your clothes, the more you will enjoy looking at these masterpieces of the Tailor's Art. Every detail in cut, in making and trimming show plainly the excellence of our Spring Suits. Our prices will at once convince you that we a fair house to do business with. We begin the good work at $.... for a splendid wool suit, and give you

THURSDAY, APRIL 10, 1902.

Mississippi, it is announced, has appropriated $250,000 for an exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition. Missouri has appropriated $1,000,000, Illinois $250,000 and Arkansas $250,000.

Heretofore Vermont has had a sort of monopoly of the sugar business, but an Ohio farmer has been making some experiments with the sap of sweet apple trees and declares that maple sugar can't hold a candle to his apple tree sugar. And he gets more of it, too.—Wilmington Star.

The Philadelphia Times wants some authority to determine the sex of the United States, whether they are "she" or "it." The Savannah News suggests that it would be anomalous "to call Uncle Sam she," and thinks it would be better, the way things are going to call him "It," with a capital I.—Charleston News and Courier.

President Roosevelt was unfortunate in having to pass through North Carolina in the night time. We hope he may so arrange his return trip as to permit him to spend a day in this State and travel across it from East to West so as to get something of an intelligent view of the industrial activity of our people in every section. He cannot familiarize himself too thoroughly with the strenuousness of the good people of this part of the great country of which he is the Chief Executive.—Raleigh Post.

"The newspapers of the country," says the Chatanooga Times, "are not saying much about him, but somehow or other there are lots of Democrats who have their eyes on Mr. William C. Whitney, of New York." How the Times learned the fact it does not say. It adds, however: "If the party is to amount to anything more than a mere obstruction, it must again become what it was under Jefferson and his successors, an aggressive, fearless advocate of those principles and policies that constituted its creed, when it, for forty-six years, held the reins of government."—Charleston News and Courier.

It may be more blessed to give than to receive, but it is less trouble to do neither.

Ancestors are not absolutely necessary. Adam managed to struggle along without any.

The kick against the raise in insurance rates is not confined to the South, it appears, and the claim of 40 per cent charges for "expenses" of the companies is not allowed as an obviously reasonable one. The Savannah Press quoting an article, which we have not seen, says: "Evidence accumulates that the fire insurance companies are exacting an outrageous tribute from the people, says the Philadelphia Times. Complaints are not confined to Philadelphia, says the Times, and there is general conviction that the business is at present conducted on an extravagant plan. Those who mismanage their affairs have no right to recoup themselves by reprisals upon the public, and the present raid by the underwriters plainly resolves itself into a scheme to perpetuate improper methods in the administration of a great business which is of intimate concern to the community. A margin of 40 per cent in the management of any business is exorbitant, the Times thinks, and in one of the character of fire insurance, where no allowances are to be made for deterioration of plant, bad debts, or cost of handling the product, it is out of the bounds of reason. These profits serve to maintain an expensive system which does not prevail in any other branch of finance or

Strenuous Publishing.

The business methods of publishers came up for discussion at a recent literary gathering. William Dean Howells and Mark Twain were present.

"The spirit of the age is strenuous," said Mr. Howells. "And in order not to be behind the times the publishers modify the verbiage of the circus poster with scant politeness."

"They do," assented the humorist. "My publisher speaks of advertising my next book as a story by Mark Twain with no further comment. But he shan't make a holy show of me with his vulgar advertising simplicity. I shall insist upon a street parade at the very least, because I am a modest man and dislike to be made conspicuous."

Attempted to Rob Bank.

Persons who came in last night on the A. & Y. train reported a daring attempt by colored men to rob the bank at Sanford, N. C., Sunday night. He was shot in the leg so badly that amputation was necessary.
