

RICKS & WILKINSON

Great Cut in Prices of High Class Wash Dress Fabrics and Silks

Although most houses wait until the end of the season to make reduction, it has never been our policy to do so. We put a time limit on goods, and if not sold within that period, they must go. This week we offer among other great values many of our finest novelties at prices far below cost of importation, an opportunity customers can thoroughly appreciate with the season all before them.

All of our White Goods, Lawns, Dimities, Silks, Chiffons, Mercerized Gingham, Piques, in white and figured, have been reduced 25 per cent.

Also 10,000 yards Challeys and Scotch Lawns 4 1/2 yard. Fine sheer quality, pin dots, rosebud all over effects, fancy stripes and figures, white and tinted, full assortment. Lot not broken. (This quality elsewhere 7c yd.)

"One Minute Cough Cure beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles," says D. Scott Currin of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attacks that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. John L. Wooten.

Excursion to Norfolk.

Attention is called to the advertisement of excursion to be run from Kinston to Norfolk by the Baptist and Christian Sunday schools of Kinston on Thursday, 17th. This excursion will give seven hours in Norfolk and return the same day. It will be a delightful trip. The train will pass Greenville at 7 o'clock.

A thoughtful reader of newspapers will be struck with the change that has taken place in the treatment of hangings. A few years ago an execution was regarded as great news event and papers all over the country wanted some account of the "taking off." Now a hanging attracts no attention outside of the State in which it takes place, unless it is a case of national interest. If public taste has improved it is a cause for congratulation, but if hangings are so much more common now than they were as to cease to be news it is a woeful condition. Indeed a lynching now is barely noticed when a few years ago such an occurrence was the subject of editorial comment all over the country. It cannot be that human life is regarded more lightly, hence we must think that most readers have less interest in such details than formerly. Raleigh Times.

Acts Immediately.

Colds are sometimes more troublesome in summer than in winter. It's so hard to keep from adding to them while cooling off after exercise. One Minute Cough Cure cures at once. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Sure cure for coughs, colds, croup, throat and lung troubles, Jno. L. Wooten.

Educational Power of the Press.

The tendency of the press of the day, excepting a few sensational newspapers of the larger cities of the country, is to educate the people against a fondness for the sensational. The tone of the press is more refined than it was a few years back. The daily papers, especially those in this part of the country, have ceased to try to gain popularity by pandering to an abnormal craving for sensational news. Murders, suicides and other horrible crimes are now published with as little detail as possible. All the horrible circumstances surrounding these crimes are cut out and the papers content themselves with the bare recital of the facts.

The newspapers are educators in this respect, as they are in many others, and while we believe they have accomplished much good along this line, there is still much for them to do. The public masses still crave for the sensational, for that which is gruesome and horrible.—Wilmington Messenger.

"This is a pretty live town, isn't it?" remarked the Eastern tourist. "You bet it is," replied the native. "We've got the biggest cemetery in Arizona, an' it's still a-growin'."

Spring Fever.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. Atorpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Everly, Moundsville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." John L. Wooten.

MONDAY, JULY 14, 1902.

While in New York, last Friday, Mr. Chas. G. Latta, of Raleigh, was struck by a street car and his skull fractured. He has since been in a critical condition.

Talk about warm or long conventions, that of the seventh Congressional district, held at Monroe last week was one of them. It took 1208 ballots to make a nomination. The victory went to Mr. R. N. Page, of Montgomery, on that ballot. Another candidate, Mr. Blair, came within a fraction of a vote to receiving the nomination on one ballot.

Twin Curses of Civilization.

The Richmond Dispatch devotes nearly a column of editorial space to a discussion of collars and cuffs, based upon returns to the Census Office. It finds that up to seventy-five years ago collars and cuffs were non-detachable from the shirt and that about that time the wife of a blacksmith of Troy, N. Y., made the first separate collar, which she chopped out with a pair of scissors. The idea struck the Reverend Ebenezer Brown, a Methodist preacher who had retired from the ministry and was keeping a store, and he began to manufacture detachable collars in commercial quantities. The business prospered and there are now in the country fifty-seven establishments which manufacture collars and cuffs and the annual value of their product is $15,769,317. Our contemporary pursues the subject entertainingly through all the ramifications of paper collars, a product of the civil war, and celluloid collars, which are of a later date, and ends by pronouncing a well-deserved curse upon the inventor of both collar and cuff, of the latter of which it says that it is "the evolution of the laced sleeves our ancestors wore in the days of periwigs and harpsicords and knickerbockers and minuets." To this curse we cordially subscribe. A murrain on the tribes of the Troy blacksmith and the Reverend Brown—drot him! But for him we might never have been introduced to these evidences of modern civilization. But there were others, unknown, whose memories deserve to be yet more odious. If it had not been for those enemies of the race who first conceived the idea of coats and breeches, we might all be going around, this July weather, with nothing on except a cotton shirt reaching the ground and secured at the neck with a draw-string.—Charlotte Observer.

An Ohio farmer who had been taking honey from his hives for twenty-five years without making apologies or getting stung, was stung a few days ago nearly to death. Perhaps he wore a Panama hat, and the bees didn't recognize him.—Wilmington Star.

"Home Nursing."

We have before us a copy of a new publication, entitled "Home Nursing." The object of the book is to give practical instructions how to take care of the sick by the inexperienced. In training schools for nurses, instructions are of course given in all matters of this kind, but let any woman ask herself, "Could I give a bath to a person in bed without wetting the clothing, or change the undersheet while the bed was occupied?" and she will smile at the seeming impossibility; yet when she is shown, she will wonder why she did not discover the right way herself.

In this little book practical instructions are given for the performance of all necessary offices pertaining to the sick. The knowledge of any of them is not taken for granted, and the writer has tried to do it in such a plain, simple manner that no one need mistake the easiest way.

A sample copy of this valuable book can be had upon application to the publishers, Davis & Lawrence Co., 64 Grand St., New York City, enclosing to them 5c in stamps or coin to pay the expense of mailing and stating the name of this paper.

Valuation in Railroads.

Raleigh, N. C. July 12.—The North Carolina Corporation Commission certified to the State auditor today the increased tax valuation of railroads operating in the State; the increases being occasioned by improvements and extensions during the past year. The report shows an increase from $42,475,651.11, in 1901, to $42,483,366.98, giving a total again of $150,715.57. The valuation for 1902 is as follows: Atlantic Coast Line, $13,978,440.50; Southern Railway, $15,825,677.50; Seaboard Air Line, $8,712,728.72; miscellaneous roads, $2,966,520.27. Total, $42,483,366.98.

How Miss Martha Explained the Telephone to Her Understudy.

Mis' Marthy, our ponderous colored cook and general factotum, had viewed the installation of the telephone in the dining room with many misgivings, much muttering to herself and many dubious shakes of the head. Old fashioned methods were more to her liking, and she looked upon all innovations as dangerous experiments and "triflin'."

It was a "four party" telephone, and after it had been attached to the wall and tested by repeated conversations the nominal mistress of the house decided she would pay the additional rental and have one of the general line instruments. Mis' Marthy watched the expert unscrew the transmitter box and depart, which feat being accomplished without the house falling down or any other disaster following the perilous "triflin'," she waddled to the kitchen to supervise the work of Lisbeth, her understudy, a negro girl of fourteen, whose chief characteristic was curiosity.

"Wha' dey alls doin', Mis' Marthy?"

"Hit's de tellyfoam. Hurry up an' peel dem ar taters."

"Whaffo' dey gwine to have a tellyfoam?"

"Hit's to talk in. Doan bother me no mo'."

"How dem folks gwine hear 'em, Mis' Marthy?"

"Yo' is sho'ly cur'ous. Mis' Blanche, she done talk a lot o' foolishness in dat ar box—I done heard her p'tendin' lak she talkin' to Mis' Selby 'way down on Deahbohn street—den de tectricity in dat ar box hear w'at she say, an' dat man gwine take dat box down to Mis' Selby, an' w'en she open hit she gwine hear w'at Mis' Blanche say. Go on now an' peel dem ar taters. Ize suttinly s'prised at yo' ignunce!"—National Magazine.

A Real Friend

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oaks, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheerfully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid. John L. Wooten.

A Law For Husbands.

At Uelzen, in Luneburg, the authorities have passed a law which is more popular with the fair than the sterner sex. Husbands must be home by 11 o'clock. A fine equal to 10 shillings is the penalty for infringing this regulation, half of which goes to the person—presumably the wife—who brings and proves the accusation.

Dear M—ly has gone,

For his presence was cheerful and gay;

If he don't I'll be durn.
If I don't hope he'll stay away.

Wild Hog Captured.

On Friday Gus Forbes captured a wild hog in the pocosin about 5 miles from town. He was out hunting when his dogs jumped something and he thought they were running a fox, and following the chase he soon came upon the dogs with the hog at bay. The hog put up a big fight and once Gus had to climb a tree to escape an attack. While the dogs had had the hog down Gus slipped out of the tree and with a club struck the hog a blow on the head that stunned him. Before the animal could recover Gus had him securely tied and took him home alive. The hog has dangerous looking tusks.
