MR. WATSON IN GREENVILLE.

In 1863 I paid a visit in a public capacity several thousand strong, to the then village of Greenville, on my way to Washington to give attention to a body of blue coated visitors who had unceremoniously taken possession of that town. I come today as a private citizen to exchange views with you, to remind you of important matters and I find the village of Greenville an enterprising city, and evidently destined in the future to be the great commercial metropolis of this section. On every hand in 1863, when as a boy soldier I marched through your county, I saw distress, desolation, death, war. Today as I rode here from Kinston I have found on every hand what looks like a very paradise of luxuriant crops and progressive, intelligent people. It does not seem to me there can be a more favored agricultural region on the face of the earth than this that I have feasted my eyes on, as I came over to pay you a friendly visit. (Applause.)

Why, Pitt county, in its production of bright tobacco alone, I find in the census agricultural reports from Washington headed the list of all sections on earth by a total of 1,843,136 pounds tobacco raised on these magnificent Pitt county farm lands alone, and from the looks of these in front of me I should say you are not behind the procession in raising fine men, fine Democratic men, thank God. (Great Applause.)

And I shall never forget the kind hearted citizenry of Pitt county, for when I camped in the suburbs of your town in 1863, a sick, fevered soldier boy, tramping back, foot sore and weary, from Washington to Kinston, the kind attention of your people, men, women and children, and the medical, neighborly, sweet hearted attentions of a physician here, Dr. William Brown, will always remain alive in my grateful memory, and to others of the weary but brave soldier boy's who were soaced by your kindness and cured by his splendid service. (Great applause.)

Mr. Watson then cursorily discussed the Phillippine question, and kindred subjects growing out of the Spanish war, saying that the United States was not and should not be a conquering nation, and any tendencies of the Republican party's policies in the direction of centralization or imperialism, would be resisted to the death by Democratic advocates of the fundamental principles of home rule as the basic principle of a true republican form of government.

The speaker then gave a short, clear exposition of the tariff question, showing how its iniquities as fostered by the republican party had been so unjust to the agricultural as well as the independent manufacturing interests of the whole section; that even in strong republican States like Iowa, there was such a division in party ranks as to force speaker Henderson to retire from the race and find room for a republican candidate who was now making tariff speeches exactly in line with the contention of the Democratic party for years and years. (Applause.) The truth is, said he, the prospects for Democratic success in the next presidential election is brighter today than it has been at any time within the last eight years.

The speaker complimented the county on the report he had received of the absence of so called independentism in Pitt county, and recited the efforts being made by republicans, in every section of the State, to stir up strife among democrats, by seducing from the regular and only safe path of party regularity good men, who were being used as clubs to break the back of the democratic party, and thus make a return of the old gang to the flesh pots of political corruption possible at the expense of the true welfare of the commonwealth. Mr. Watson declared that he believed no man should arrogate to himself superiority over the combined wisdom of a majority of his party or of his church, and illustrated it by saying, that when the Mormon missionaries came in the west, the recruits they shipped to Salt Lake City were of souls made better or deluded by being so independent, they had refused to conduct themselves according to the rules or tenets of the church organization to which they belonged. And observation teaches us that when a man gets so independent that his party is not good enough, and he is above right, the end of that man is always political unrest and dissatisfaction, if he is honest, and if he is dishonest in his professions of independence, he invariably lands openly in the ranks of the enemy, (applause.)

Discussing the race question, Mr. Watson showed that from the earliest dawn of history the African had proven unfit to govern any country, or himself, and in the north now, in states like Ohio, where they were educated, they were giving the republican party trouble from the fact that, holding the balance of power, they were beginning to offer their votes to the highest bidder, and, said he, amid the volley of applause, you younger men here will live to see the day when from all over this country will come a spontaneous, irresistible demand for the repeal of the XIV and XV amendments to the Federal constitution.

The speaker, in discussing the question of negro education, said that he believed and almost, all white men believed that they should be given what was best for them, a fair rudimentary education. By an experience of thirty years, which told them that after the three r's were passed, and a negro learned to conjugate a latin verb, ever after he would refuse to conjugate a cotton stalk. Since the amendment was adopted, the negro had improved greatly, and under the fostering care of democratic economy, he was more industrious and satisfied, and politics would get out of his head after a while and he would become a helpful, valuable citizen in the sphere God had intended him, subject to, but not on terms of social or political equality with, the great Anglo-Saxon race.

He, then referring to the question of education, said that if the recent dictum of the Supreme Court in a case sent up from Greenville, that the public monies should be divided equally per capita among the black and the white children, should prove to be the law, its effect would be to give a negro child eight months education, and a white child four months education on account of the cheaper means of existence for a negro. When this comes to pass, don't you see that the ranks of those who are now demanding an amendment appropriating only negro taxes to negro schools will be greatly strengthened, until out of desperation, those of us who favor a fair and proper education for their race, will be overwhelmed and what he now has will be denied him. My position on that question is that of the democratic platform, which calls

His Clothes Seem Part of Him.

This is the remark that is so often made about the man wearing a suit bought here. It's the utter absence of the ready-made look that does the business. The new swagger cut garments in the latest fabrics are here.

Suitings this season are handsome but not loud in style. Our suits are equal to any high price, tailor-made garments. Every one bears the stamp of merit, and, remember, we guarantee every garment from stuff to to stitches. May we suit you this season? Our prices wont prevent our doing so.

Frank Wilson, The King Clothier.

for an amendment, if the Supreme Courts dictum becomes law, that will not require the distribution of the school fund equally per capita. I stand also in my construction of the constitution on that question, with the Attorney General and the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and I repeat, that if the Supreme Court over rules that construction, an amendment correction it will become imperative, to protect the negro in the chance he already has of a division of the whole fund, (Great applause.)

Mr. Watson next discussed the great trust question, and explained how the great combinations of capital were fast proving a menace to the industrial development of the country, as they had already been detrimental to its agricultural and mercantile interests. He was especially forciful along this line, and gave Senator Pritchard's argument some heavy charges which provoked great applause.

He concluded in a fine appeal to democrats to stand together, to go to the polls and register and to be careful that division among democrats of the east, should not encourage the negro to again enter politics, for the purpose of enabling republican leaders to feast and fatten on the calamities of the State.

If New Bern has kicked up any fuss about the smallpox, it hasn't been heard outside the corporate limits.

It may be observed that with all the whacks at the coal situation, it remained for Morgan to make the bull bellow.

With the street car strike in New Orleans off, and the coal strike settled, we can now turn our attention to the cabbage snake.

The season for open air bathing is practically over, gentlemen. The swimming hole at the corner of Fourth and Main streets no longer serves a useful purpose. As an ornament to the town it always was a failure. An effort to have the water drained off and the hole filled up would hardly be enjoined. Is there any reason?

Under the recent Constitutional amendment, if you desire to be entered on the permanent registration roll, be sure to register before October 25th.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Care of the Range.
There is a great difference between the ranges of today and those which were used a generation ago and which had to be "blackened" at stated intervals to be kept in order. A great many of the cooking stoves of today with polished tops need only to be washed off with soap and water. Still, the majority in practical use are blackened or, what is much more objectionable, enameled. The last device, enameling, seems to have been invented merely to conceal grease and other stains. Good housekeepers have long ago learned that no stove or gas range can be kept clean unless it is washed with soap and water and scraped before it is polished. When grease is spilled on the stove and is rubbed off quickly with a hard cotton cloth, it soon disappears, and if the stove is hot it is not necessary to wash it off. A few drops of kerosene put on the cloth will often remove an obstinate grease spot.

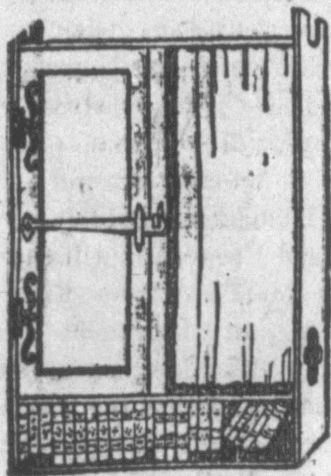

It is difficult to get coal that does not clinker. These clinkers may be easily removed by putting an oyster shell occasionally in the stove when the fire is burning brightly. The fumes arising from the oyster shell clean off the bricks.—New York Tribune.

Baked Peaches.

We have always despised clingstone peaches in spite of the delicious flavor possessed by many of these varieties, but they are troublesome to cut up and embarrassingly awkward to eat out of the hand. They are excellent, however, for baking, and this is the method: Wipe the fruit well with a soft cloth, so as to rub off the fuzz without bruising, and pack into a stone jar, filling about two-thirds full and scattering a little sugar among them. Cover with cold water and place the jar in the oven, baking the peaches slowly until they are tender and transparent, but not broken. It will take from two to three hours, according to heat of oven and size of peaches. The flavor is retained in full. Pears, either peeled or unpeeled, are excellent baked in the same way. If a little cinnamon bark is added to the sirup, pears of the commoner grades acquire a superior flavor. The long cooking turns pears a pleasing deep red.—Rural New Yorker.

For Books and Things.

A place to put books and a place to keep bats, golf clubs, lacrosse sticks and other things that are always around is a convenient possession. Here is a solution of the problem: The case shown should be about 5 feet

A HANDY CASE.

6 inches high and 3 feet wide. The shelf across the top would hold a number of books, and underneath are two beautiful tuckaway places. If, my friend, you are a college boy, the curtain could be of your college colors, the rest of the case stained a becoming color. The door is fastened by a big wooden latch, and a pair of iron hinges would add very much to the style of the bookcase.

Broiled Chicken.

Choose for broiling chickens weighing from one and a half to two pounds. Split them down the back and remove the wings and legs. Cut some thin slices of nice salt pork into narrow strips and place over and under the chickens in the pan; also small bits of butter, salt and pepper to taste. Cover closely and steam in their own juice until sufficiently tender, being careful that the oven is not hot enough to burn the butter gravy in the pan. Baste once and remove from the pan, dredge lightly with flour and broil long enough to brown nicely. Add to the gravy in the pan one tablespoonful of butter and the same of flour, stir until brown and add some hot water, boil to the desired thickness, add a half cupful of cream and pour over chicken.

Thoroughly Wash Provisions.

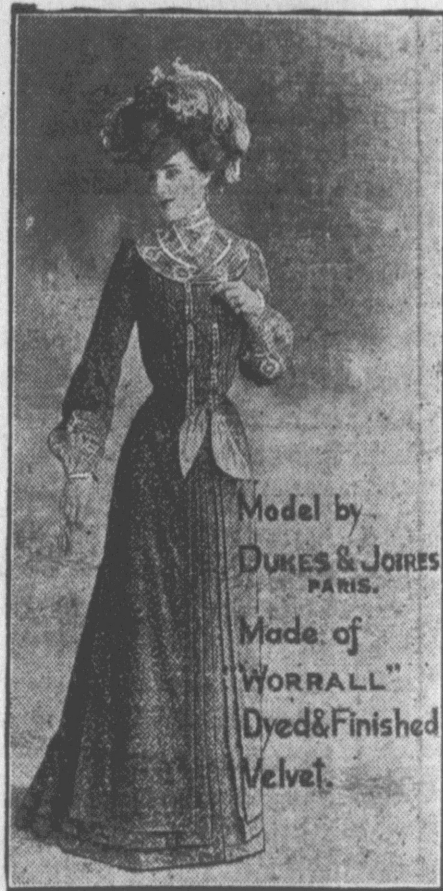

Too much care cannot be taken of the housewife in seeing that all the provisions that come from exposed positions in the market are thoroughly washed. This is a particular in which women fastidious in other matters are often lax. All fruit and vegetables which are not to be denuded of their skins should have a thorough bath. No one who has seen bananas, for example, unloaded on the pier ever eats one without first washing it. Berries, currants, grapes, etc., not only gather the dust to which they are in greater or less degree exposed and bear the contamination of pickers' hands, but are liable to have been treated with insecticides which are of a poisonous nature to man as well as bugs.

Sweeping Carpets and Rugs.

Many fine carpets are prematurely worn out by injudicious sweeping. Before sweeping an expensive carpet the floors should be thickly strewn with tea leaves, which attract the dust. Tea leaves may be used also with advantage upon rugs and short piled carpets. In sweeping thick piled floor coverings such as Axminster and Turkish carpets the broom should always brush the way of the pile. This simple precaution will keep the carpet for years, while with careless sweeping dust will enter the carpet and soon spoil it.

Natural Anxety.

Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. It's attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquefies the mucus; allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. E. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." Jno. L. Wooten.

Some people have more money than brains and are not considered wealthy either.

Do Good—It Pays.

A Chicago man has observed that "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. You cannot possibly lose by it." Most men appreciate a kind word and encouragement more than substantial help. There are persons in this community who might truthfully say: "My good friend, cheer up. A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will rid you of your cold, and there is no danger whatever from pneumonia when you use that medicine. It always cures. I know it for it has helped me out many a time." Sold at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

Courting couples will have a freeze out this winter on account of the scarcity of coal.

The Worst Form.

Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers of indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. Jno. L. Wooten.

The only people who never grow old at their lot are those who occupy a lot in the cemetery.

Gained Forty Pounds in Thirty Days.

For several months our younger brother had been troubled with indigestion. He tried several remedies but got no benefit from them. We purchased some of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and he commenced taking them. Inside of thirty days he had gained forty pounds in flesh. He is now fully recovered. We have a good trade on the Tablets. —HOLLEY BROS., Merchants, Long Branch, Mo. For sale at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

Many a good man has strayed into a crooked path by following the direction of a corkscrew.

He Learned a Great Truth.

It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley: "Why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" "John Wesley, because once telling is not enough." It is for the same reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds and grip; that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. For sale at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

It is shrewdly surmised that the rich man Dives was a coal baron—he had plenty of fire, you remember.

Ran a Ten Penny Nail Through His Hand.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount, of Three Mile Bay, N. Y., ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me," he says, "and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

Believe that you can make your life all over again, and that it is worth your while to try it.

Forty Years' Torture.

To be relieved from a torturing disease after 40 years' torture might well cause the gratitude of anyone. That is what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve did for C. Haney, Geneva, O. He says: "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of piles after I had suffered 40 years." Cures cuts, burns, wounds, skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. Jno. L. Wooten.

HADLEY-FORBES.

A Beautiful Morning Marriage.

This morning the Methodist church was the scene of one of the most beautiful marriages ever solemnized in Greenville—that of Mr. George B. W. Hadley, of La Grange, to Miss Clara Bruce Forbes. The whole chancel was a mass of palms, ferns, chrysanthemums in pink and white. Over each aisle was an arch draped in tulle and smilax, and from the centre one was suspended an exquisite wedding bell of pure white chrysanthemums; over all was the soft glow of myriads of candles greatly enhancing the beauty of the scene. Promptly at 7:30 to the thrilling strains of Lohengrin's march, played by Mrs. J. B. Cherry, the bridal party preceded by the ushers, Messrs. Mark Quinerly, Haywood Dail, Joe Moye and Dr. E. A. Moye, entered in the following order: From the left aisle Miss Mamie Hines with Clarence Jones, Miss Mary Moye with Dr. Greene, Miss Beattie Patrick with Robert Jeffress; from the right Miss Nannie Cox with W. E. Hooker, Miss Lizzie Jones with Emmet Wooten, Miss Elizabeth Laughinghouse with Charles Stuart Carr. The bridesmaids were handsomely gowned in white cloth, with black picture hats, and carried pink chrysanthemums. Then followed the dame of honor, Mrs. Mark Quinerly, in lawn taffeta with LaFrance roses. The maid of honor, Miss Winnifred Skinner, pink cloth appliqued in ecru with bridesmaid roses. The bride, beautifully attired in a going-away gown of blue and carrying a shower bouquet of bride roses, entered from the left aisle on the arm of her brother, Mr. Charles Forbes. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Kirby Sutton. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. H. M. Eure. Then to the peals of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party left the church followed by the best wishes and congratulations of a host of friends. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hadley left for an extended tour north.
