Confetti and Serpentes.

Pretty girls, gay young men, merchants, farmers, and everybody who has got the price of railroad fare will be in Wilmington during the Carnival.

Reduced rates to one first class fare for round trip to Wilmington for the week guarantees that the Knights of Pythias and the Merchants Fall Festival will draw the largest crowd that has ever been in Wilmington.

The merchants of Wilmington have given generously to the Finance Committee the sum of $2,000, which is being expended for fire works, advertisement, and free street amusements to please the people as well as to entertain them during Carnival week.

Do your voting early Tuesday morning and board the train for Wilmington so as to be in town in order to hear the election returns as well as take in the Carnival, throw confetti and see the pretty girls blow serpentes out of their pretty teeth.

There will be over twenty five big shows distributed all over town and the price of a single ticket admission will not be over 10 cts. for any show. $2.50 will do the business and take in all the shows and see such sight as you never saw before.

The Red Dome is the biggest show of its kind that ever came South. The streets of India which was all the rage at the World's Fair and Buffalo Exposition will be in its glory. The biggest elephant now in America will be on exhibition, there will be camels and jacks for all those who desire fastidious riding and those who cannot stand the jar can amuse themselves by throwing confetti.

The cape you ring the cane you get, the cane committee guarantee you a liberal rebate on all over one dozen canes you secure. Mt. Pelee is the biggest free attraction ever given in North Carolina. The fireworks alone in this attraction are worth $1,000, to be given in the middle of Cape Fear river and will be the greatest spectacular scene ever witnessed in the Southern States.

Pans destruction of Pompeii is said to be the only thing equal to this gorgeous attraction. It is realistic, thrilling and gorgeous beyond description. 100 men and women will be required to assist in this gorgeous scenic display of the recent destruction of St. Pierre.

Remember that no one can vote in the approaching election unless they register on or before the 25th of this month.

THE STATE PRESS

News and Opinions.

"The nigger is out" say some indifferent Democrats, "and it don't make much difference whether we vote or not." Doesn't it? Who put him out? Are you going back on your friends of former campaigns? How long will the "nigger" stay out if the Radicals win this election?—Winston Journal.

The abuse of power obtained by combination will do more to further socialism than all the things that can or will be said by the dreamers. When it is discovered that this is the only way out the people will not be slow in accepting it.—Durham Herald.

The fire alarm sounded last night about 9:30 o'clock, and it was discovered that fire was at Mr. Randolph Mead's tobacco factory. A pile of wood lying near the boiler had caught fire, and was burning when discovered by a colored man who works at Mr. L. P. Tapp's warehouse, close by. Although no damage was done, it threatened to be a very destructive fire, as a strong north wind was blowing, which might have caused the burning of the whole of the north-eastern portion of town, as tall wooden buildings abound in that vicinity. The danger was happily averted by prompt response to the fire alarm.—Kinston Free Press.

DEMOCRATIC STATE TICKET.

Read It Carefully Before You Vote.

Below are the names that appear upon the Democratic State ticket that will be voted on the 4th of November. When you go to vote read your ticket carefully and see that every one of these names are on it. There is reason to fear that bogus tickets will be circulated on election day and every Democrat should be careful not to vote one with a wrong name on it.

His Clothes Seem

Part of Him.

This is the remark that is so often made about the man wearing a suit bought here. It's the utter absence of the ready-made look that does the business. The new swaggar cut garments in the latest fabrics are here.

Suitings this season are handsome but not loud in style. Our suits are equal to any high price, tailor-made garments. Every one bears the stamp of merit, and, remember, we guarantee every garment from stuff to to stitches. May we suit you this season? Our prices wont prevent our doing so.

WHITSETT ITEMS.

WHITSETT ITEMS N. C., Oct 15.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

Thinking that it would not be anything amiss to send a few items from here, from a Pitt county boy, to an interested reader of THE REFLECTOR, I send the following.

Pitt is represented by five boys this year, A. O. and E. L. Clark, Walter Dixon, S. C. Wooten and H. E. Tripp.

New students arrive daily. We are sure that the enrollment will be over 300 this school year. We have students from several states, and one full blooded Cuban. He could not speak a word of English when he arrived, but he can talk very well now.

Rev. J. D. Brown gave the school a good lecture a few days ago. Prof. E. G. Wilson gave a lecture to the Y. M. C. A. recently.

The school is sad over the death of one of our brightest boys, Guy Lowe, which occurred on the 27th of Sept. at his home one mile from Whitsett.

The State fair will be well represented by the Whitsett boys, I think.

William Edwin Hall, of New York, will lecture here to the school soon.

The Star circle gave a delightful entertainment on Saturday night Oct. 11, and the Dialectic Society will also give one on the night of the 18th.

The Y. M. C. A. here is in a most flourishing condition, nearly every young man in school is a member.

E. L. Gulley, of Goldsboro, entered school here the past week.

Rev. N. W. Rowe, of Thomasville, has been here assisting Rev. J. D. Andrews in a series of meetings the past week.

Once:

No one who has had reasonable opportunities for observation can fail to be impressed with the numberless and great resources upon which rest the prospects of a magnificent future for North Carolina. More favorable indications unite toward the realization of that future than it is possible for many sections to hope for. Our location, soil, climate, mineral wealth, water power, the character of our population, are all propitious. There is no reason now, if there ever was any, why the young man of this State should go west, south or north to grow up with the country. He will never have a better opportunity to grow up with a country than by staying right at home. If he does that, the only danger will be that the country will outgrow him. He will have to hustle to keep up.

Twice:

Every community should take stock of its opportunities. Greenville is well favored. The development in recent years has been somewhat onesided but in taking advantage of the opportunity to become one of the first tobacco markets in the State, some oversights in other lines are not surprising. It is easily seen, how ever, that the town has not sufficiently urged and encouraged several industries that would harmonize with local conditions and further the interests of the community. This is a matter for an organization of the business men of the town. Have we a Board of Trade, or something similar? There was a Chamber of Commerce some years ago. What are we doing to keep up with the procession, gentlemen?

Three times:

In this connection, it is in order to note whether sufficient interest is being shown in certain improvements that are absolutely essential to the progress of Greenville. If public sentiment is not alive to the importance of this matter it should be enlightened and enlivened. Shake it up on these streets, give it a bath in some sidewalk pool, and rub it down with a slice of the midnight blackness that envelops Greenville when the lamp lighter has made his round. Some day, it may not be in your day, public sentiment may give us a graded school.

Winterville Department.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C. Oct. 15, 1902.

William Harrison, colored, a tenant on Mr. Rowan Cooper's farm, made this year on 10 acres of land 9 five hundred pound bales of cotton. He used only 100 pounds of phosphate and 100 pounds fertilizer. This, added to the old fashion way of manuring, not only made Harrison a good cotton crop, but he also has corn, fodder and peas sufficient to supply his demand for another year. This was a one horse crop. You may try your new fangled notions and your hifalutin ideas, but the old fashion way is the best. We can't improve on our daddies.

Five wagon loads of girls and boys went from here to the association last Sunday.

A gentleman came in Monday and bought 100 yards wire fencing at 10 cents per yard, nearly paying for it all in five cent pieces. It was only a little pile of nicks.

The scenery in the Baptist church here Sunday afternoons and evenings is certainly very attractive, especially just in front of the pulpit.

Miss Sadie Little will commence teaching school at Macedonia next Monday. She will be sadly missed while away.

It is fashionable to make pendulums out of one's arms.

There was an old woman who lived in her shoe, she had so many children she did not know what to do. If she had bought a "Tar Heel wagon" and put them on the road her life would have been blessed, no matter how heavy the load. For further particulars address A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

Mr. Mac Smith, wife and two children, of Vanceboro, came up Monday evening to visit the parents of Mrs. Smith. During the night Mr. Smith and both the children were taken with chills, one of the latter dying before day. He and the other child are now critically ill. They have the deepest sympathy of our community.

R. G. Chapman is attending court this week as a juror.

Misses Mattie Meeks and Rosa Cannon are visiting Mrs. W. A. Dail.

Notice.

There will soon be a change in the firm of the John Flanagan Buggy Co., and all persons indebted to us are requested to settle at once. By so doing you will save us trouble and yourself cost.

Natural Anxiety.
Mothers regard approaching winter with uneasiness, children take cold so easily. No disease costs more little lives than croup. Its attack is so sudden that the sufferer is often beyond human aid before the doctor arrives. Such cases yield readily to One Minute Cough Cure. Liquidifies the mucus, allays inflammation, removes danger. Absolutely safe. Acts immediately. Cures coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, all throat and lung trouble. F. S. McMahon, Hampton, Ga.: "A bad cold rendered me voiceless just before an oratorical contest. I intended to withdraw but took One Minute Cough Cure. It restored my voice in time to win the medal." Jno. L. Wooten.

The great secret of success in life is to be ready when your opportunity comes.—Lord Beaconsfield.

Do Good—It Pays.
A Chicago man has observed that, "Good deeds are better than real estate deeds—some of the latter are worthless. Act kindly and gently, show sympathy and lend a helping hand. You cannot possibly lose by it." Most men appreciate a kind word and encouragement more than substantial help. There are persons in this community who might truthfully say: "My good friend, cheer up. A few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will rid you of your cold, and there is no danger whatever from pneumonia when you use that medicine. It always cures. I know it for it has helped me out many a time." Sold at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

The Worst Form.
Multitudes are singing the praises of Kodol, the new discovery which is making so many sick people well and weak people strong by digesting what they eat, by cleansing and sweetening the stomach and by transforming their food into the kind of pure, rich, red blood that makes you feel good all over. Mrs. Cranfill, of Troy, I. T., writes: For a number of years I was troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia which grew into the worst form. Finally I was induced to use Kodol and after using four bottles I am entirely cured. I heartily recommend Kodol to all sufferers of indigestion and dyspepsia. Take a dose after meals. It digests what you eat. Jno. L. Wooten.

Gained Forty Pounds in Thirty Days.
For several months our younger brother had been troubled with indigestion. He tried several remedies but got no benefit from them. We purchased some of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and he commenced taking them. Inside of thirty days he had gained forty pounds in flesh. He is now fully recovered. We have a good trade on the Tablets.—HOLLEY BROS., Merchants, Long Branch, Mo. For sale at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

He Learned a Great Truth.
It is said of John Wesley that he once said to Mistress Wesley: "why do you tell that child the same thing over and over again?" "John Wesley, because once telling is not enough." It is for the same reason that you are told again and again that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cures colds and grip; that it counteracts any tendency of these diseases to result in pneumonia, and that it is pleasant and safe to take. Ran a Ten Penny Nail Through His Hand.

While opening a box, J. C. Mount, of Three Mile Bay, N. Y., ran a ten penny nail through the fleshy part of his hand. "I thought at once of all the pain and soreness this would cause me," he says, "and immediately applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and occasionally afterwards. To my surprise it removed all pain and soreness and the injured parts were soon healed." For sale at Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, N. C.; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville, N. C.

Forty Years' Torture.

To be relieved from a torturing disease after 40 years' torture might cause the gratitude of anyone. That is what DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve did for C. Haney, Geneva, O. He says: "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me of piles after I had suffered 40 years." Cures cuts, burns, wound, skin diseases. Beware of counterfeits. Jno. L. Wooten.

Plowing Under Green Crops.
In the report of the Farmers Institute of Ontario Duncan Anderson writes of "Green Crops as Fertilizers." He says he has two farms, one of them being a mile or more from where he lives. It is too far to haul manure, so he has found it necessary to sow green crops to be plowed in for cultivation. Clover has proved most satisfactory, although if a catch of it is not secured it will be valuable. The value of clover as a green manure is shown by the fact that a fair crop gathers in its stalks, leaves and roots, per acre, 133 pounds of nitrogen, 115 of potash and 46 of phosphoric acid. With nitrogen worth 10 cents a pound, the money value is great. It may not be practical to lose a crop in order to gain the fertilization, but in some instances it has proved well to do so, the succeeding wheat crop bringing in far more than the clover crop and smaller wheat crop could have done. An average crop of clover, however, which has been made into hay, will leave between ten and eleven tons of root growth per acre, which will benefit the soil almost immeasurably. The fertilizing effect of the broad leaves shading the surface of the soil adds to the usefulness of the clover. No rotation can be complete unless clover is prominent in it. It cleans the soil as well as enriches it. It is best to sow the clover seed in front of the drill instead of behind it. If sown behind the drill, the seed will, for the most part, fall in the same tracks as the oats or barley, which, being stronger, will sap up the fertility. Air and sunlight and a deep root are needed for a good catch, with strength to resist the fall drought.

A Growsome Souvenir.
Curious are the manifestations of the souvenir microbe. A business man of New York wears on his watch chain a locket in which are a common button and two slivers of wood. The wood was cut from the floor on which President McKinley stood when he was shot, and the button was cut from the waistcoat of one of the men who helped overpower the assassin. This would seem to be the limit in souvenir collecting.—New York Press.

Ohio's Centenary.
The one hundredth anniversary of the admission of Ohio to statehood will be celebrated on March 1, 1903, the State Archaeological and Historical society having decided that that is the proper day to observe. As a matter of fact, March 1, 1803, was the date of the assent of the first Ohio legislature, but the formal act of admission of Ohio to the Union was proclaimed on Feb. 19, 1803.—New York Tribune.

LEGEND OF A LAKE
In a lonely glen in Scotland surrounded by lofty mountains and miles from any habitation lies a small loch, or tarn, around which tradition has cast a legend. Years and years ago, when the turbulent state of Scotland rendered life and property insecure, a large amount of treasure was supposed to have been thrown into the loch, there to escape detection and to await the return of peaceful times to enable it to be recovered. It had been thrown into its hiding place in the night by those who possessed it, and the secret had been solemnly sworn to on the naked blade of a dirk, an old form of highland oath, held to be binding and sacred. By different routes in the lone hours of night the holders of the secret assembled on the shores of this highland tarn and vainly tried to reach the bottom. The loch yielded nothing save now the almost certain fact that it was unfathomable. Years rolled away, and no further attempts were made, since, dispirited, they agreed to abandon the hopeless task of trying to fathom Lochan Kin Dhoan, as they then styled it. Subsequently, however, to their last failure an incident occurred that in that age of superstition cast around the loch the weird belief that it was haunted. In a baronial keep lived a chief in all the rude pomp of feudal pride. His lady had died and left an only daughter, who, now grown up to womanhood, presided over the household. Her father's temper was haughty and imperious, and he ruled every one around him with stern sway. As was the custom in those days, he had long been in enmity with a neighboring chief. But love laughs at highland pride as well as at locksmiths. His neighbor had a son, who became enamored of the maiden. But how was the fatal gulf of feudal strife to be bridged? Time went on. Stolen interviews when by accident they met or when her father was absent were all that the young hearts could glean from the stern face of both the parents till, unable to bear the long, weary weeks that occasionally prevented their meetings, the young chieftain determined to beard the lion in his den and demand the hand of his daughter. Accompanied by an escort, he arrived before the drawbridge and demanded an interview with the chief. The interview over, the young chieftain, with a heavy heart, recrossed that drawbridge and doffed his bonnet to a fair form on the battlements. It was some time before they again met. The chief had used harsh words and harsh measures to his daughter, but "love will find out the way," and at the next meeting of the lovers they had arranged to elope. The strong power of woman's love nerved her for the deed. The heartless home she was about to leave seemed to palliate the act. The temporary absence of the old chief afforded opportunity. On a dark November evening about two hours after sunset a horse bearing the young chieftain and his intended bride was wending its way with difficulty along the rugged mountain path amid the darkness when the sound of horses' hoofs was heard. To turn was to encounter foes behind as well as in front, if foes they were, as doubtless the flight of the lady had been discovered at the castle. Besides the nature of the ground and darkness rendered flight hopeless. To move a little to the side and quietly await the chance of being passed in the darkness was all that now remained to the youthful lovers. The night had hitherto been dark, but still. The wind was now sweeping over the bleak moor and hurrying the black clouds across the sky with increasing violence. The young chief felt the fair hand that held his girdle tighten as the sound of the horses' hoofs was heard, but no scream, no signs of fear. All had as yet gone well, when a gleam of moonlight lit up the scene and revealed a party of horsemen scarce thirty yards distant. There was no time for deliberation. The young chieftain dashed his spurs to his horse, and with a bound the noble animal was crossing the now moonlit moor at full speed, hotly pursued by the chief and his party. "Capture, but don't fire!" was the brief command. At first the lovers outstripped their pursuers, but the double burden began to tell on the young chieftain's horse, and the distance between lessened. The chief was gaining on them at every stride, and the pale moon still shone on the scene. Suddenly, as if the earth had opened at their feet, over the precipice that overhangs the Lochan Kin Dhoan leaped the horse and his riders. An exclamation of horror, a wild yell of agony came from the chief as he beheld this fatal leap. A dull, heavy splash in the deep, dark water beneath was all that responded. From that hour it was shunned as a fatal spot. The story of the treasure had been handed down from father to son, and a party of stout hearts again resolved to brave the dangers that surrounded the scene of the hidden gold. A night was fixed, but scarce had the task begun ere an arm, the hand holding a naked dirk, is said to have risen from the water and an unearthly voice to have ejaculated, "Forbear!"

A New Attraction.
A man who had been hired to write a circus announcement suddenly found himself at a loss for a fresh adjective. "See here," he said to his employer, "I don't know what to say about this panther. Have you got a thesaurus?" The manager of the circus looked at him with suspicion. "No, sir, I have not," he said, "and I don't think I shall do anything about getting one this year. I never heard of Barnum's having one either, and he had a good show. Where are they raised any way, I'd like to know?"—London Family Herald.
