Appeal of an Editor.

Bring us taters, sweet or Irish; bring us chickens, young or old; bring us eggs; or pork, or sorghum; bring us silver, bring us gold; bring us copper, bring us greenbacks; bring us fodder, corn or hay; bring us fruit of all descriptions, bring us cornmeal any day. Bring us beans, or oats, or pumpkins; bring us butter, lard or flower; or anything that is good to stay our hunger even an hour. For the larder's getting empty, and the cash is running low; and our paper bills must soon be met, for the paper's got to go. Our store bills must be settled, and the kids must go to school; and our trousers seem more threadbare as the weather 'gins to cool. So bring us anything you have to eat, or trade, or wear; or pay a bill, or go on trade, or help to put us square. We need your kind assistance to help to pull us through, until the railroad 'gins to build, for till then we'll feel quite blue. The times are dull and we are short, and need a little raise; so come to our assistance and you'll receive the praise. So pay for advertising, subscriptions and the like; and keep the enterprise from want, and going on a strike. We'll raise our voice and howl for you, and sing your praises long if you'll only hustle in the grub and bring it good and strong.—Dodd City, (Ark.) Appeal.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1902.

What do these people who are agitating the dog tax matter want—more money or fewer dogs?—Durham Herald.

Both.

If the North Carolina exhibition at St. Louis wants to make itself famous let the managers send up a few photographs of Dickinson avenue as an illustration of a Tar Heel turnpike in its palmy days.

A stranger striking this town just after a big shower would be hard to convince that any sort of an effort looking toward street improvements here had ever had to buck up against an injunction.

The action of the Board of Aldermen in providing for the extension of the city limits was the right thing to do, but the Aldermen should have gone further and taken in our suburb, Kinston.

Mr. Roosevelt may be a little slow in finding out just what Mr. Pritchard is driving at, but if he doesn't learn all about it in the long run a whole lot of editorial space will have been used up to mighty little purpose.

Between the people who read the president's message for what they could get out of it and those who read it for what they could get into it, Sam Lloyd will have a good chance to work out a Chinese puzzle that will take the conceit out of the fellow who solved the famous "15."

Postmaster Vick may be all that the president requires for the eligibility of a colored man to office. His character, ability, and service to the party may entitle him to political recognition and as much pie as the appetite of the average politician requires to keep its owner in serviceable trim. In all of which we fail to discover anything against the reasons why he should not be postmaster at Wilson.

If there is any consolation yet to come to the colored voters among Senator Pritchard's erstwhile enthusiastic constituency, surely it will be to learn why they were excluded from the maneuvers of the "lilly white" campaign. If it was not on account of color the poor fellows will have to rummage amongst the musty left-overs and odds and ends of republican parliamentary chicanery a long time to discover an explanation that will not disfigure the situation.

Recommendations by Corporation Commission.

Hon. Franklin McNeill, Chairman of the North Carolina Corporation Commission and State Tax Commission, gave to the press yesterday a synopsis of the recommendations which the Commission will make to the next General Assembly as embraced in their forthcoming biennial report. The recommendations given out are principally with regard to changes in the tax rate and the system generally. The Commission will recommend the increase of personal property exemptions from $25 to $300, and that the law be changed so that the poll tax for State and county purposes shall not exceed $2 per capita, and that no poll tax shall be levied for municipal purposes.

Another important recommendation is that the rate of taxation for State and county purposes combined be limited to 66 2-3 cents on the $100 valuation, and that the municipal tax rate be so limited that the combined rate of State, county and municipal tax shall not exceed $1 on the $100 valuation.

There will also be a recommendation that there be no ad valorem tax for State and pension purposes, and in lieu thereof a tax be levied on monies, franchises, inheritances and some business licenses, such, for instance, as the liquor traffic.

There will be a further recommendation that the taxes for revenue to support the schools and for county and municipal purposes be derived from a general property tax and that the tax now levied on trades and professions and business licenses be divided between the counties and municipalities.—Raleigh Post.

Teachers' Association.

I wish again to urge upon the teachers of the county the necessity of attending the Teachers' Association. Next Saturday, Dec. 13, is the time for the meeting, and I would like to see every teacher in the county present. When we met last it was a very rainy day and yet we had a good number present and one of the best meetings I ever attended. You can't afford to miss these meetings and if you have any interest in your work and expect to remain in the teaching business you will attend.

We shall expect you all next Saturday. Get here if you can by 10 o'clock. W. H. RAGSDALE, County Supt. Schools.

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of croup is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the rough cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. This remedy is used by many thousands of mothers and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

When a man gets full it is a good time to get his bust measure.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful house wife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

Truth lies at the bottom of a well, but the angler never goes there to fish.

A Cold Wave.

A forecast of a sudden change in the weather serves notice that a hoarse voice and a heavy cough may invade the sanctity of health in your own home. Cautious people have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure always at hand. E. H. Wise, Madison, Ga., writes: "I am indebted to One Minute Cough Cure for my present good health, and probably my life." It cures Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and all Throat and Lung troubles. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes the mucous membranes and strengthens the lungs.

Many a man's downfall can be traced to the loss of his balance in a bank.

What's in a Name.

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for piles. For Blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. J. L. Wooten.

To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion, try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. There are people in this community who need just such a medicine. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville. Every box warranted.

THE QUEEN OF SPICES

CINNAMON, DELICIOUS AND SUGARY, AROMATIC AND PUNGENT.

The Discovery of Its Valuable Properties Antedates Recorded History. Something of Its Uses and the Way in Which It is Produced.

Cinnamon is in itself unquestionably the most delicious of all spices, being sugary as well as aromatic and pungent. Many thousands of pounds are consumed annually in every civilized country, and it is also highly appreciated by even semi-civilized and barbarous nations where culinary art and medicine have as yet made little progress.

Its uses in sweet cookery are innumerable. There are very few fruits which are not improved in preserves, pickles and pastries by the addition of more or less of this delicate bark. It is an essential flavoring in all spice cakes and in many varieties of pies and puddings. In chocolate, confectionery, candies, cordials and liqueurs cinnamon contributes an incomparable flavor.

Its medicinal value is well known as an antispasmodic and carminative and tonic. Its use is recommended as a preventive and remedy for cholera, and in seasons when stomach troubles prevail cinnamon drops are recommended as the most wholesome form of candy for children.

The discovery of the valuable properties of cinnamon antedates recorded history, as it is mentioned in the Bible, in the book of Exodus, as one of the ingredients of the sacred oil with which the priests were anointed. So highly was the sweet bark esteemed by the ancients that even a small piece was considered a fit gift for a king. It is always mentioned as an especially choice substance by Greek writers previous to the Christian era. It is said that the Arab traders, who first brought it to Egypt and western Asia, surrounded its history and production with special tales of mystery and magic.

The cinnamon tree is a member of the laurel family, which in the tropics is represented by a large number of aromatic and medicinal trees and shrubs.

There are several closely allied cinnamon trees, but the finest bark is produced from a species native to the island of Ceylon, distinguished by botanists as Cinnamomum zeylanicum. In a state of nature this grows to be a tree from twenty to thirty feet in height, with rather large, oval, entire margined leaves and yellowish flowers succeeded by small, brown drupes resembling acorns in shape. The grayish brown bark is internally of an orange color, which changes upon drying to the characteristic brown which is the recognized name of a particular shade. Almost every part of the tree yields some choice substance and is especially rich in oil. The roots yield camphor and the leaves an oil resembling the oil of cloves and often substituted for it, while from the fruit a substance called cinnamon suet is manufactured, which is highly fragrant and from which in former times candles for the exclusive use of the king were made.

In the latter part of the eighteenth century, while England was for a time in possession of the spice islands, cinnamon plants were among the choice products that were imported into various other tropical regions, including the West Indies, where in Cuba and several other islands it has become a considerable article of commerce. Under cultivation it is not allowed to grow into a tree, as the richest bark is taken from shoots of from two to four years' growth. The young tree is, therefore, cut and shoots from the root are encouraged to grow. The majority of these are cut when about ten feet in height and the bark is detached in ten or twelve inch lengths. After lying in bundles for a few days the bark is scraped by hand, both outside and in, until reduced to a thin sheet. These sheets are then made up into composite "quills" by placing the narrower and shorter pieces inside and rolling tightly, forming firm rods, which after further drying are made into bundles weighing about eighty pounds and wrapped for shipping. Grocers divide, assort and very neatly combine portions of these quills into small packets for the convenience of their customers.

The oil of cinnamon is made by grinding the coarser pieces of the bark and soaking them for two or three days in sea water, followed by the process of distilling. Two oils, one heavier and the other lighter than water, are the product, both possessing similar properties. The color varies from cherry red to pale yellow, the latter being preferred by most purchasers.

The work of distilling is light, and an oil equal to the best Ceylonese is now produced in Trinidad and various other localities in Cuba and other West India islands.

As cinnamon commands a good price and its uses are continually multiplying, there is every inducement for extending the area of its cultivation, both in the eastern and western hemispheres.—St. Louis Republic.

A Crisis Met Half Way.

There were strict orders in the Philippines regarding looting, and one day a lieutenant's suspicions were aroused by a private whom he saw peering eagerly under the piazza of a house on the outskirts of Manila, writes Dixie Wolcott in Harper's Magazine.

"What are you doing there?" he demanded in his gruffest tones.

"Why, sir," said the soldier, saluting, "I'm only trying to catch a chicken which I've just bought."

Lieutenant K. stooped and caught sight of a fine pair of fowls.

MISS SARAH FINLEY,

Vice-President of the Palmetto Club, Memphis, Tenn.

WINE OF CARDUI is a thoroughly scientific and modern remedy, meeting the needs of the modern woman in the modern way—without the torture of an operation. Wine of Cardui has cured them in the privacy of their homes and it has found a place in the hearts of American women and restores health in an incredibly short period. I have taken great interest in this medicine for the past two years, since it brought health and strength to me. I have also recommended it to a number of my friends and they who have used it speak of it in the highest terms and I feel that it is praise well bestowed.

following praise on Wine of Cardui:
"Among the numerous medicines placed before suffering women for their relief none can touch McElree's Wine of Cardui. It towers above them all as a reliable female remedy. It simply drives pain and disease away and restores health in an incredibly short period. I have taken great interest in this medicine for the past two years, since it brought health and strength to me. I have also recommended it to a number of my friends and they who have used it speak of it in the highest terms and I feel that it is praise well bestowed."

If you are suffering from female weakness Wine of Cardui is the medicine you need. You can have health the same as Miss Finley if you will take the Wine of Cardui treatment. If you need advice further than the complete directions given on the bottle, address The Ladies Advisory Department, Chattanooga Med. Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

H. L. Hamilton informs us that his entire garden fence was blown down by the strong wind Thursday night. We reminded him that that was the fruits of not using wire fence. Co., besides making garden fence any height also make any height and style of farm fence and are offering some special prices along now too. Remember this fence never blows down or burles up.
