Washington Letter

Special Correspondence from the Capital of the Nation.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8, 1902.

There is much satisfaction among the democrats in Washington over the failure of Representative Taylor, of Michigan, to promote a contest of the election of Representative Carter Glass, of the Sixth Virginia district. In connection with this failure, there is considerable unwritten history. The contest was intended to involve the constitutions of all those states which have adopted laws which virtually exclude the negro vote. Mr. Taylor, who has to rely largely on the negro vote for his support at home, saw an opportunity to further his own ends and the cause of the Crumpacker resolution and seized it. His resolutions was referred to Committee on elections No. 1 and there met its Waterloo. There is a growing sentiment among those northern republicans who are not dependent on negro votes for election to congress, that the southern states had better be left to work out their own salvation and the other members of the committee refused to champion the cause of Mr. Taylor. The action is of national significance, for the reason that it is a forerunner of the defeat that awaits any attempt of Judge Crumpacker to call up his resolution. It is also known that Representative Cannon is hostile to interference with the southern states. He has said that "the republicans never attempted to interfere with the southern voting laws without going down to defeat" and it is believed that there is little likelihood of interference while he is speaker.

With the singular unanimity democrats and republicans of the House are working on the anti-trust bill. Representative Richardson states that the democrats will cheerfully support any sensible anti-trust measure on the floor of the House, sinking party advantage in the cause of the whole people. Representative Littlefield's bill is being made the foundation for the measure which the Judiciary committee will report to the House and there is some prospect of a favorable report before the holiday recess. The bill provides for that publicity which the president has pronounced so essential and imposes a tax of one per cent. on all stock of corporations having a capital stock in excess of $500,000 which is not actually paid up.

Whether the republicans are actually awakened to the necessity of anti-trust legislation, or whether they regard it as one of two evils, the other of which is tariff revision which the leaders so strenuously oppose, or whether there is an understanding by which the House will pass anti-trust legislation and the Senate bury the bill, the democratic leaders have not yet determined, but whatever may be the intention of the republicans, the democrats will do all in their power to promote legislation so essential to the welfare of the people.

As might have been expected, Senator Beveridge, after his territorial junket, reported a substitute for the Omnibus territorial bill which provides for the admission of Oklahoma alone, it being tacitly admitted that the reason for refusing admission to the other two applicants is not their unpreparedness but the fear that they may add democratic strength in the Senate. Senator Quay, who is the champion of the territories on the republican side of the Chamber, is being attacked from all quarters and it is doubtless true that a brother of Senator Penrose who owns the major portion of the stock in the Commonwealth mine in Arizona, would be materially benefited by the admission of that territory to statehood. Senator Quay admits having written a letter stating that it would be better for the territories to return republican majorities at the last election in order that the support of the democratic senators might be insured in the present fight. A further provision of the substitute bill adds Indian Territory to Oklahoma which will certainly make a democratic state if that feature of the measure is retained. The fight promises to be sharp all the week but the friends of the territories are much discouraged.

The plans of Secretary Root, looking to the furtherance of the military establishment of the country, are progressing and it is now expected that two bills in which the secretary is directly interested, will become laws during this session. One, the Military Organization bill, passed the House last session and has now been favorably reported by the Senate Committee. It provides for the reorganization of the militia on lines similar to those of the regular army, the organization of a reserve force of enlisted men and a reserve force of officers who have qualified to take command. The other bill is the Army reorganization bill which provides for the reorganization of the army and the establishment of a general staff to take the place of the general commanding the army. It has been introduced in both Chambers. If the bill passes General Miles, by its provisions, will be the first chief of staff.

JEALOUS, ONE SHOT, MURDER.

The Ball Pierced His Heart Resulting in Instant Death of Victim—South Carolinian.

Bob Mitchell, colored, was shot and instantly killed last night by John Right, also colored, about 11:35 o'clock in a Third street house on what is popularly known as "Long Branch."

Right used a 32-calibre revolver and shot one time, shooting Mitchell through the heart instantly killing him. The men had been quarrelling about a woman. They had been engaged in a wordy war for some moments previous to the shooting, and without any warning Right suddenly drew the pistol and shot his victim dead.

The shooting occurred at the home of Amanda Southern and Lucy Williams, two notorious denizens of "Long Branch" and just behind the American Tobacco Co.'s factory. Mary Coleman, is the woman above referred to as the cause of the trouble, and is said to be one of the worst colored characters in Winston.

The dead man lay on the porch of the Williams Southern house when the reporter of the Journal arrived and was in charge of officers.

The relatives of the murdered man were summoned and upon their arrival the remains were removed to an undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Right, the man who did the shooting, hails from South Carolina, and after committing the deed made good his escape. He is said to have a rather bad reputation at his old home.—Winston Journal.

A SAD ACCIDENT.

A Little Girl Burned to Death.

This afternoon, at Mr. M. G. Moye's, about five miles from Greenville, little Mamie Goodrich, the six year old daughter of Mrs. Mollie Goodrich, of Goose Nest, was burned to death. Mamie and two younger children were alone at the time, and it is supposed the girl's clothes caught from a fire in the kitchen. One of the other children gave the alarm but help arrived too late to save the child's life. Her clothes and hair were burned off.

MICE IN HER HAT.

A Great Commotion When Brood Spread Through the Car.

Newark, Dec. 8.—A woman who thought she would wear her last winter's hat just one more season caused ructions the other day in a Clinton avenue trolley car. Before starting downtown for her shopping she went to the attic and dragged out the old hat and put it on without a close inspection. Then she boarded the car in which there was nothing left but standing room. All the passengers except Sergt. Brown of the Fourth street police and a small boy were women. And of course they all spotted the newcomer's hat and knew its vintage at a glance.

"She's a parlor trick lady," suddenly exclaimed the small boy to his mother. "She can move her bonnet without shaking her head."

The bonnet was surely wabbling a little and there was also an uncanny upward movement. The boy's mother called the attention of her neighbors to the moving hat and the word passed down the line of seat, so everybody was more or less prepared when the real calamity came. That was when the passenger suspected of being a parlor trick lady felt something herself and began to wriggle. A moment later she shrieked and then she threw last winter's hat on the floor of the car, thereby releasing five small, but very lively mice, that had been born in the hat and might have been raised in it if the woman hadn't tried to make it do for two winters.

There were twenty women in the car and no two of them wore the same color or design in stockings, as Sergt. Brown discovered when they all jumped upon the seats and began to scream. He had half a mind to call out the reserves, but the car was going too fast to get help then, so the sergeant fell to alone to slaughter the mice and save the women. He killed four of the beast on the floor of the car and caught the fifth as it was shaken down on a seat, from an elevation to which it had climbed, and despatched it with his club.

The woman who had caused the excitement left the car at the next corner and was last seen going into a millinery store.—Greensboro Telegram.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1902.

Norfolk is to have a police-woman. That's good. Those Norfolk cops won't be any the worse for a chaperon.

Senator Pritchard is not getting the negro Vick out of the Wilson postoffice as fast as might have been supposed. Vick has good backing, while the charge has been made that the white man whom the senator is pushing for the place is connected with a barroom.

What a stimulus to trade is discovered in the fact that the cost of living has fallen off one per cent since the first of November. You may now buy for 99 cents what then cost an even dollar. Just think of the consequences when the bargain combination of those 9's comes to the knowledge of our women folk.

The female crank who in Chicago gave a $200 dinner on Thanksgiving day to a collection of dogs and cats, says the more she saw of dogs the less she thought of men, says the Wilmington Star.

This good woman seems to have run across the saying, "The more I see of men, the better I like dogs." But the $200 dinner to the canines and the cats may have been original with her.

If prospective presidents could foresee what they will be up against, advantage taken of some neglected opportunities would help them a great deal at times. Suppose, for instance, Mr. Roosevelt had hibernated down here in North Carolina after that strenuous summer in Cuba, his present strained relations with Senator Pritchard might have been avoided, not to speak of the frequent necessity of conferring with Booker.

A white man named Joe Mitchell of High Point, got on the boss drunk of the season Saturday night. He became crazed for the time being, burned up $500 which he had been saving through several years, smashed his furniture with an axe, set the house on fire and played the mischief generally. When he sobered he did not remember a thing he had done while drunk. Yet there are people who want whiskey to stay in the reach of such men.

The hookworm is said to have come over from Cuba. If the reptile is all he is cracked up to be Cuba's riddance of the Spaniard and yellow fever are very small affairs beside the hookworm affliction. One can readily understand, too, that neither Spain nor the United States could have conducted affairs satisfactorily to a people with hookworms in the stomach. And now the thing has gotten a hold in this country.

Think of that, will you. Did you think we were bad off with the 17 year locust and the kissing bug? Did you imagine the cabbage snake was the worst thing? They were not even fore-runners to a hookworm. No indeed. It is to be hoped that the government will take such measures as will cut the career of the hookworm short on this side of the water.

THE STATE PRESS

News and Opinions.

We do not believe the legislature too cowardly to consider the dog question. It is the business of the legislature to give the people the kind of legislation they want and the people directly interested seem to prefer dogs to sheep.—Durham Herald.

The movement which was begun in 1901 to change the date of the presidential inauguration from March 4 to the last Thursday in April will be revived at the present session of Congress and the House committee has promised to act upon it. It is intimated that the measure may be opposed by some Congressmen for fear that the proposed change of date might also necessitate the extension of the sessions of Congress into early spring. The severe weather which is usually experienced in Washington about the first of March is urged as the reason for the change and were there none other, this would be sufficient, but it is not probable that there will be any definite action in the matter in the near future. It is hard to cut loose from old traditions or to break off from an old habit.—Charlotte Observer.

Col. Mosby, Government land agent, denies that he said certain things about the Nebraska Senators, attributed to him. The ordinary federal office holder runs up against something that may give him trouble when he crowds on the heels of "Senatorial dignity."—Wilmington Star.

Knoxville, Tenn., December 5.—D. G. Alexander, a drummer for a Winston-Salem tobacco firm, is dying at the Knoxville City Hospital from knife wounds inflicted on him yesterday. Lucile Wetmore is charged with having assaulted him. Alexander is registered at the Imperial Hotel from Norfolk but has been unconscious since he was found, and additional details cannot be learned. He is evidently cultured and refined, and the affair, which is shrouded in mystery, seems to have resulted from the jealousy of the woman.—Greensboro Telegram.

A Family Relic.

The Philadelphia Record reports the finding of the following health rules written in an old family Bible by the great grand mother of the Bible's present owner:

"A stick of brimstone worn in the pocket is good for them as has cramps.

"A loadstone put in the place where the pain is, is beautiful for the Rheumatiz.

"A basin of water gruel, with half a quart of old rum in it, with lots of brown sugar is good for Cold in Head.

"If you have hiccups, pinch one of your wrists while you count 60 or get somebody to skare you and make you jumpe.

"The earache—put onion in ear after it is well roasted

"The consumption—eat as many peanuts as possible before going to bed."—Winston Sentinel

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of croup is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the rough cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. This remedy is used by many thousands of mothers and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

Fame is a glorious thing, but a small regular income is much more satisfactory to the average man.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful house wife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

When a woman wants to say anything mean pertaining to men in general she says they are all alike.

A Cold Wave.

A forecast of a sudden change in the weather serves notice that a hoarse voice and a heavy cough may invade the sanctity of health in your own home. Cautious people have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure always at hand. E. H. Wise, Madison, Ga., writes: "I am indebted to One Minute Cough Cure for my present good health, and probably my life." It cures Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and all Throat and Lung troubles. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes the mucous membranes and strengthens the lungs.

When a man begins to go down hill he meets a lot of people with their noses turned up.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

Digests all classes of food, tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs. Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, and makes rich red blood, health and strength. Kodol rebuilds wornout tissues, purifies, strengthens and sweetens the stomach. Gov. G. W. Atkinson, of W. Va., says: "I have used a number of bottles of Kodol and have found it to be a very effective and, indeed, a powerful remedy for stomach ailments. I recommend it to my friends." J. L. Wooten.

It is so natural for a girl to be coquettish that when she is trying to kiss a man she pretends to be fighting against it.

To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion, try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. Seitz, of Detroit, Mich., says, "They restored my appetite when impaired, relieved me of a bloated feeling and caused a pleasant and satisfactory movement of the bowels." There are people in this community who need just such a medicine. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville. Every box warranted.

The harder a woman chases a man the harder she has to.

What's in a Name.

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for piles. For Blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. J. L. Wooten.

STEERAGE PASSENGERS.

Immigrants For America Are Looked Upon as Cargo.

One of the biggest liners sailing out of France, with 800 steerage passengers aboard, was selected for observing the manner of handling, steerage passengers bound for America.

A firm conclusion reached after the experience of that trip is that an immigrant of this class has to put up with much unnecessarily unpleasant treatment—first, simply because he is an immigrant and therefore in judgment meriting it, and, secondly, because, being what he is, he has not yet learned to protect himself. The picture conjured up by the term "immigrant" in the minds of those who have their care on route is not at all the color of the vision that arises before us with the word. Here in America we have a notion of a band of earnest and, it may be, if we are uncharitable, worn and unwashed men and women with families, though the family and the washing are really outside for the moment, hurrying from hard conditions of life—scent, underpaid labor, ignorance, oppression, misrule—pressing on to what they must conceive to be a bright land of promise or they would not be rushing here; to a glorious young country, where all men are free and equal and all that sort of thing. But the man who has to see that these immigrants are given food and bunk and that they do not fall sick below has no such fancies. His sympathy, he will tell you, is not for the immigrants, but for the country that is to get them.

Those in charge of the immigrant from southern Europe will tell you that he is not a desirable creature. They have handled many, many thousands of his kind, and they should know something of him now. The company transports him, it is true, but as to that, he is freight, freight of good profit. The company would take freight to the highest degree distasteful if so be the rates were paid. Indeed, yes, it is a business. There is a large profit in the immigrant—oh, yes—but as a fellow passenger he is—oh, well, repulsive, repugnant or whatever you say in your language.—James B. Connolly in Scribner's.

CAUGHT IN HIS OWN TRAP.

A German Hotel Keeper's Opinions on Hethedded Peoples.

"I think that the Americans are altogether too quick to pick a quarrel," said a German hotel keeper in Harlem who had just had a petty tussle in putting out an unwelcome customer.

"They are not to be compared with the French," said an American lawyer who happened to drop in. "Why, you know about those French apprentices, how they are always ready to fight and often lose their lives over a few words."

"I've heard about these apprentices," said the German. "We have them in our country. They roam around the country. But what of that?"

"Yes," was the answer. "A party of them, with a leader and representing some craft, will, for instance, meet another party of apprentices. They are organized into different societies, each intensely jealous of the other, and if two such bands are different societies there is a fight in an instant. First the leaders come to blows, and then the melee becomes general. They fight with fists and sticks until the road is littered with the wounded and sometimes the dead."

The German, not to be outdone by the French, said before he had thought twice: "That's nothing. Why, our students in the universities have fights. They belong to different societies and fight with sabers. Because of some little insult often one will have his head fairly cut open."

"And yet you complain about the Americans!" said the lawyer as he laughed to see how the German had stepped into his own trap.—New York Tribune.

A True Friend.

It takes a great soul to be a true friend—a large, catholic, steadfast and loving spirit. One must forgive much, forget much, forbear much. It costs to be a friend or to have a friend. There is nothing else in life except motherhood that costs so much. It not only costs time, affection, strength, patience, love—sometimes a man must even lay down his life for his friends. There is no true friendship without self abnegation, self sacrifice.

Born With Them.

"Mamma," said the little girl, her eyes wide with excitement. "I do believe the minister told a story!" "Why, the idea!" said her mother. "You don't know what you are saying." "But I do, mamma. I heard papa ask him how long he had worn whiskers, and he said he had worn them all his life."

A Synonym.

"What? Fifty cents a box for those pills?" cried the customer. "Why, it's robbery." "I wouldn't say that," returned the druggist coolly.

"No." "No. Since pills are under discussion, I'd try to be humorous and call it 'pillage.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Visits, but Doesn't Put Up There. "My boy Josh writes me that he is stoppin' at the best hotels," remarked Mrs. Corntoesel. "Is he a commercial traveler?" "No. He's drivin' a transfer wagon."—Washington Star.

When Dame Fortune goes calling, she utterly disregards "at home" days.—Chicago News.

Slow Starvation

is the fate of sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion. If your food remains undigested it can't build up the body. In fact, it does actual damage by decaying in the stomach and poisoning the system.

KODOL Digests What You Eat.

Kodol is the sensible remedy. By digesting what you eat it strengthens the body and at the same time rests the stomach. This rest soon restores perfect health. Cathartics and stimulants only reach the symptoms. Kodol cures. It is Nature's tonic.

Five years ago a disease the doctors called dyspepsia took such a hold on me that I could scarcely go. I took quantities of peppin and other medicines, but nothing helped me. As a drowning man grasps at a straw I grabbed at Kodol. I felt an improvement at once, and after a few bottles am sound and well. GEORGE H. HANCOCK, Attorney-at-Law, Nocona, Tex.
