Winterville Department.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Dec. 17.

A noted man once said, "You can fool all the people a part of the time and a part of the people all the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time." Our motto is not to fool any of the people any of the time. Feel proud of this record in the past and are demonstrating the same every day at our factories, where we are turning off the following articles continually:—"Tar Heel" and "Oak A" wagons, carts of all kinds, all the wire fencing our machines can make running steadily, Ecopic back bands, Improved cart saddles, coffins &c. Besides the above, cotton planters, tobacco flues and Handy trucks are an important item in their season, also Fertilizer Distributors. When selling you an article not guaranteed we tell you the plain facts in the case. When we guarantee an article we do it with a vim and have never failed to back up same when called on.

A. G. Cox Mfg. Co.

G. A. Kittrell left for Buffalo, N. Y., this morning on business.

Mrs. Fanny Tyson has several thousand fine cabbage plants for sale.

A certain party in town had a cow to get hung on his yard picket walling the other day. When relating the occurrence he remarked that he could not see what in the world the cow wanted in his yard as there was no green stuff in it. He was promptly reminded that there might have been in the house. He declared that he was not home at the time and turned off.

It is a pity that such a fine business as shipping holly must be confined to a week or two prior to the holidays.

B. F. Manning is now occupying the Mack Bryan house, Mr. Bryan

the new Dr. Cox dwelling, J. A. Manning (the Worthington house on railroad, and Mr. Edwards, from Greene county, the Hamilton house on corner. Mr. Edwards has moved his family here to get the advantage of the High School. Prof. J. B. Carlyle, of Wake Forest college, will lecture in the chapel of the Winterville High School Thursday night. The public cordially invited. Those who heard him before know what to expect. It will be a treat.

Crawford-Cary.

License have been issued for the marriage of Mr. Fred Crawford and Miss Elvina Cary, of the Frog Level neighborhood. The interesting event takes place today.

Trying to Stop the Trouble.

Sickness of the boys and having to make some changes among carriers has been causing much trouble lately in having THE REFLECTOR delivered regularly and promptly around town. We are doing our best to correct these troubles so that no subscriber will miss a paper.

Better Than a Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on the affected parts, is better than a plaster for a lame back and for pains in the side or chest. Pain Balm has no superior as a liniment for the relief of deep seated, muscular and rheumatic pains. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

When you want groceries go to Jesse Starkeys.

Many smokers are saying they get no better 5 cent cigar anywhere than "The Reflector," and for a twofer "Havana Crook" just leads the procession. These brands found only at Reflector Book Store

If its groceries you'd better try the Mack Bryan house, Mr. Bryan

North State News

The Blades Lumber company, of New Bern, has been chartered by the state, capital $150,000.

The state charters the Eli Gurganus mercantile company of Williamston, capital, $25,000.

Eleven thousand, eight hundred and sixty Confederate veterans in North Carolina have received pensions amounting in the aggregate to $200,000 this year.

The Proximity Mills of Greensboro have reduced the number of hours to constitute a weeks work to 60. This is virtually an increase of 10 per cent. in wages.

Only $5,000 of the money secured by the Amos Owens Cherry Tree Co. has been refunded, and unless the remaining $7,500 is forthcoming this week the defendants will go to jail. It is said that the balance due is not in sight.

An innovation recently introduced in the county public schools, which has proved immensely popular, is the employment of a teacher to instruct the pupils in vocal music. The county board of education first employed a man as an experiment. The results were so satisfactory in a number of ways that the County Teachers' Association memorialized the board to continue his services for the full length of the term which has been done. The vocal instructor visits each school in the county at stated intervals each week, and the effect has been not only the training of the voices of the pupils, but it has interested the parents of the children in their schools and has wonderfully increased the average attendance.—Wilmington Correspondence Charlotte Observer.

If North Carolina elects progressive legislators she will soon cease to be known elsewhere as the "Rip Van Winkle" State. Her rank in manufacturing and various agricultural products has given her an excellent reputation. She has kept business men; let her statesmen prove their equal.—Winston Sentinel.

Mayors Court.

The following cases have been disposed of by Mayor Whedbee since last report.

Henry Davis, riotous and disorderly conduct, fined $2 and cost, $4.30.

John A. McNair, drunk and disorderly, fined $1 and cost, $3.20.

John A. McNair, drunk and disorderly, fined $2 and cost, $4.20.

B. T. Anderson and Manasses Forbes, riotous and disorderly conduct, fined $3 and cost, $5.55 each.

Jack Bryant and Luther Neal, riotous and disorderly conduct, Neal fined 1 penny and cost, $4.21.

Will Owens, using vulgar and profane language on street, fined 1 penny and cost, $2.76.

Asking Better Service.

Strong petitions from Greenville, Winterville, Ayden and Grifton have been sent to the officials of the Atlantic Coast Line asking for an improvement of transportation facilities on this branch of their road, as suggested in THE REFLECTOR a few weeks ago. The suggestion is made that double trains be put on, having one train to come down from Weldon in the morning and return in the evening.

We have just opened the prettiest and most useful line of goods in silver, china, pictures &c that we have ever shown, see them before they are picked over.

RIOT AT FARMVILLE

Bad Negro Scrapper Resisted Arrest.

A General Mix-up With Shot Guns and Revolvers Makes Things Lively for a While.

The arrival of a posse with two tied and bloody negroes from Farmville this afternoon is one development of a riot at Farmville this morning.

Geo. Joyner, colored, had engaged in an affray with Buck Uggwell, a white man, in Farmville Tuesday. He had brought a double barrel gun with him, and unless officer Belcher attempted to arrest the negro the latter resisted, fired once at Belcher, hitting him with two shot in the leg. Belcher returned the fire with a revolver, striking the negro in the thigh. Joyner was arrested, tried, and bound over to the Superior court. He was kept in the lockup Tuesday night. This morning, just as a guard were about to leave for Greenville to turn Joyner over to the sheriff, a brother of George rushed up and interfered with the proceedings, declaring that his brother should not go to jail. The immediate consequences was a general mixup between the whites and the blacks, involving about everybody it is said that had been attracted to that part of town. No shots were fired, but such substantial arguments as were thought appropriate for the occasion soon resulted in a victory for the officers, and the two negroes were brought here and jailed about 2:30 this afternoon.

Attention, Firemen.

There will be a meeting of Hope Fire Company tonight at Hyman's Gallery, at 7:30 o'clock. Every member should be present.

R. HYMAN.

A Tempest in a Teapot.

Does it ever occur to our city fathers that about the only ordinance to which any attention is paid is the arresting of drunken or disorderly persons after traps being set to catch the same unfortunate? Not a merchant is fined for emptying his store of loads of paper and every other kind of truck that can accumulate in a store. No man is interfered with for brutally beating a horse or overloading one. It's enough to make one's blood boil with indignation to behold the skeletons driven in this town. The only wonder is that the buzzards do not attack them. This seems to be nobody's business, and yet it is as great a violation of the law as drunkenness and a more inhuman and horrible violation of the law of love, when we remember that God is the source of all life and His creatures are entitled to our kindness. A colored man in town drives a poor animal whose side is, or was, raw from the rubbing of the trace chain, and many more such sights are to be seen about the tobacco factories and warehouses. Such things should be unknown in a civilized community. Why have ordinances when they are regarded no more than if they had never existed? Why not practice more Christianity and talk less pious cant?

An Elegant Overcoat

Every good dresser appreciates an elegant Overcoat. The Overcoat is always in evidence at this season of the year. You admire some Overcoats while you never have a second glance for others. The coats you do admire have a certain snap about them—they are swell, swagger, smart. It's just such coats that we want to show you. They're here—some long, some medium length, all are elegant and aristocratic. Prices not too high for elegance. Come, see at any rate.

MRS. T. J. JARVIS, Pres.

MRS. J. L. WOOTEN, Sec.

All are cordially invited to examine Mrs. Higgs' holiday display. Be sure to call before making your Xmas purchases. Store open at night.

Peace in Washington.

We are always glad to note peace in the family, and it is a pleasure to announce that the church trouble at Washington over the appointments by the recent conference has been amicably adjusted. Presiding Elder F. A. Bishop tells us the church at Washington has acquiesced in the work of the conference and Bishop Smith has announced that all appointments will stand as at first made. The Washington brethren have reconsidered their former action, taken no doubt on the spur of the moment, in refusing to have any pastor other than Rev. Mr. Beaman, and have written another letter to Rev. Mr. Thompson, whom the conference appointed to that town, assuring him that he shall receive the most cordial and hearty welcome.

Chicago Glee Club.

This splendid attraction will appear at the opera house on Saturday, January, for the benefit of the Methodist church. The program will be of a very refined nature, consisting of songs, recitations, etc. There will be nothing in it whatever to which the slightest objection can be raised. Remember the date and watch for further announcements.

Bernard to Succeed Spears.

Hon. Claude M. Bernard, ex-district attorney of the eastern district of North Carolina, is reported to be a candidate for the position of assistant district attorney.

Since Col. Harry Skinner received the appointment of district attorney, there has been more or less talk of the removal of Mr. Oscar J. Spears as assistant district attorney. This has been revived with vigor since the news came from Washington that Judge Purnell had virtually requested Mr. Spears' removal. Mr. J. A. Giles of Chatham, Judge E. W. Timberlake and George Butler are mentioned as candidates for the place now held by Mr. Spears. The same special said that Mr. Claude M. Bernard was in Washington, but disclaimed having a hatchet under his coat. He said he was there solely on professional business. When Mr. Bernard left Raleigh for Washington he said he was going to attend Congressman Blackburn's marriage.—Morning Post.

"OH! WHAT MUST IT BE TO BE THERE."

In certain sections of the United States there are numbers of sincere but misguided and overzealous souls whose sensitive, merciful natures are continually shocked and pained by reports of philanthropic fanatics who have wasted a lot of valuable time investigating the subject of child labor in the South. The soil and air upon which these people seem to thrive best is that of New England, which is best known in history as the place where the good pilgrim fathers used to burn eccentric folks called witches for the love and glory of God. Whether these people have inherited the habit of meddling with the affairs of the South, or whether these fits of righteousness are the results of a moving spirit, is not for us to say, since no man is commissioned to keep the conscience of another. But to judge from the thundered classics that find their way down South from Boston and other unimportant sea-ports, the chief recreation of the New Englanders of today has not changed one iota from that of their fathers.

That these people haven't the shadow of an excuse for meddling with the social or economic affairs of the South reasonable people must admit. The last doesn't apply to New Englanders themselves, however. That's not the way of the animal.

For more than 400 years—ever since Columbus didn't discover America, in fact, New England has been regulating its own affairs without the slightest interference from the South. When New England wanted to burn witches we didn't send superannuated old fogies and bespectacled old maids up there to investigate and recommend legislation to Congress. When New England thought it best for the advancement of culture and the soul's salvation to operate cotton mills and shoe factories with foreign labor, often poorly paid and housed, we didn't think it was any of our business to kick.

Things have changed up there, however. The South has been doing some hustling on its own account, and New England is no longer getting the world and a border around it. Wherein the philanthropic germ sweeps down upon the rock-ribbed farms of New England, and a great and mighty howl goes up to high heaven because there are children employed in the factories of the South.

The souls of the dead and gone abolitionists writhe and groan even in paradise, as they chant "What Must it be to be There."

Venezuela may be small, but she is causing a big stir among the other nations of the globe.

President Roosevelt takes the hit in his teeth sometimes. "Love and Life," a master painting by Watts which was exhibited at the World's Fair and excited great admiration, was at the close of the fair presented to the government and consigned to the White House. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union made such criticism on the picture because of its nude character that President Cleveland, in deference to the onslaught, had it removed to Corcoran Art Gallery in 1895. But President Roosevelt has decided to have the painting back in the White House, criticism or no criticism, and has given it the place of honor in the State dining room. Teddy has a will of his own and asserts it when occasion arises.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, of Virginia, while in New York the other day, was reported as saying he "did not predict a war within a year, but that it might come at any time, and that he considered it was the duty of the country to maintain a strong navy to be ready for any emergency." The recent troubles in Venezuela may bring on strife between the nations and verify General Lee's utterance.

Senator Pritchard has declared himself in favor of reducing Southern representation in republican national conventions, but says he does not favor reducing the Southern representation in Congress, as it would not be constitutional.

The Virginia Legislature has passed a bill appropriating $50,000 to make a state exhibit at the St. Louis exposition. The coming North Carolina Legislature will no doubt provide for making an exhibit for this state.

The Chicago man who discovered seven new poisons is a hopeless case. If he has tried all the old ones the latest additions will hardly create any commotion in his interior economy.

The death of the Mad Mullah is reported but Great Britain is too busy abiding by the Monroe doctrine to give the old lunatic a ceremonious planting.

Whatever illusions the children may have the man who pays the money for Santa Claus, gifts isn't apt to be under any hallucinations.

Argentina and Chile are extending sympathy to Venezuela. That's about all the available assets Argentina and Chile have, anyway.

How to Prevent Croup.

It will be good news to the mothers of small children to learn that croup can be prevented. The first sign of croup is hoarseness. A day or two before the attack the child becomes hoarse. This is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the rough cough appears, and it will dispel all symptoms of croup. In this way all danger and anxiety may be avoided. This remedy is used by many thousands of mothers and has never been known to fail. It is, in fact, the only remedy that can always be depended upon and that is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

The first fall hurts, the others harden.

A Cold Wave.

A forecast of a sudden change in the weather serves notice that a hoarse voice and a heavy cough may invade the sanctity of health in your own home. Cautious people have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure always at hand. E. H. Wise, Madison, Ga., writes: "I am indebted to One Minute Cough Cure for my present good health, and probably my life." It cures Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and all Throat and Lung troubles. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes the mucous membranes and strengthens the lungs.

Love me, love my cooking is the axiom of bridehood.

A Timely Suggestion.

This is the season of the year when the prudent and careful house wife replenishes her supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is certain to be needed before the winter is over, and results are much more prompt and satisfactory when it is kept at hand and given as soon as the cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system. In almost every instance a severe cold may be warded off by taking this remedy freely as soon as the first indication of the cold appears. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains no harmful substance. It is pleasant to take—both adults and children like it. Buy it and you will get the best. It always cures. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

How much evil there is in the world depends on how much evil we are determined to find.

To improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion, try a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Mr. J. H. Seitz, of Detroit, Mich., says, "They restored my appetite when impaired, relieved me of a bloated feeling and caused a pleasant and satisfactory movement of the bowels." There are people in this community who need just such a medicine. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville. Every box warranted.

A tiny child's hand may lead a strong man where no brute force can drive or drag him.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

Digests all classes of food, tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs. Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, and makes rich red blood, health and strength. Kodol rebuilds wornout tissues, purifies, strengthens and sweetens the stomach. Gov. G. W. Atkinson, of W. Va., says: I have used a number of bottles of Kodol and have found it to be a very effective and, indeed, a powerful remedy for stomach ailments. I recommend it to my friends. J. L. Wooten.

What's in a Name.

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for piles, Pro Blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases. DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's the genuine. J. L. Wooten.

"AFTER SCHOOL, AFTER COLLEGE"

[Original.]

She knew that she was a foundling; that she was far above the old woman whose cows she milked and whose chores she did. To know this she had but to look in the glass and see the shapely figure, the refined features. Only the hands, that were being turned from their fine molding by labor showed that she was not living in her proper station.

The farm was worked to supply the table of a rich man. In summer he, with his family, occupied the great house down by the water, so shut in by tall hedges that the vulgar could not look in to envy the comforts of those it inclosed. He drove occasionally to the farm to inspect his vegetable gardens or his cows or his chickens, and sometimes brought his son, a boy of fifteen, who would talk to the foundling while she milked the cows or wiped the dishes.

Then the boy began to take his father's orders to the farm, riding a small thoroughbred mare, and would always spend more time with the foundling than with the farmer.

"What shall we do, wife?" said the latter one day when the boy had been talking to the girl out in the arbor. "When his people find it out, they will blame us. We shall lose our home and our means of living."

"We must get rid of her." They were too late. Already the boy, too young to realize the wrong he was doing, had told the girl that "after school, after college," he would come to the farm and take her away. It seemed a long while to her to wait, to work at menial duties for which she had an inherited aversion, but in woman there is patience, and she did not complain. She never doubted that when all was ready he would come for her. She did not know that preparations were being made to send her where he might not find her, where her work would be harder than ever.

The next spring when Horace Brayton came to the country he found her gone. In an agony he begged the farmer's wife to tell him where, but she would not. "You'll forget it all in time," she said. "It's not for you, a wealthy gentleman's son, to be keeping company with a little working girl, and a foundling at that." Horace went away with the first great pain his young heart had ever known.

The foundling had become a kitchen-maid in the city. When she left the farm, she took with her a baby's dress with the letters "A. T." embroidered on it in silk. This was the only hope she had—that some time this dress would be the link to a different life. One day her hope was fulfilled. A carriage resplendent with its trappings and the livery of its coachman and footman drove up to the house. A lady came up the steps, and the foundling knew that the dream of her life was realized. After an interview between the lady and the mistress of the house the foundling was sent for. She took with her the baby dress. When the lady saw it and the embroidered letters, she folded a daughter in her arms and wept.

Six years later Alice Townsend, the foundling, remembered her farm chores only as a nightmare, her boy lover as a delightful dream. She had spoken to her mother of the family of the rich man who owned the farm, but had been informed that they were not in the gilded circle. "We," she said, "have the blood of all the Howards in our veins, besides boundless inherited wealth. They made their money in rags and paper."

Alice made her debut in society. She was the success of the season. In the cotton she was loaded with favors. Men with fortunes, men with prospective fortunes, vied with one another for the prize of her hand. She listened to none of them. She was thinking of the words "after school, after college, I will come for you." One June morning she took up a paper and read the names of the graduating class at a prominent university. His name was among them.

Horace Brayton went from college straight to the country home of his father. The newly opened foliage, the sweet smelling country, the balmy June days, were in contrast with his feelings. He strolled away from the house in the twilight, passed under an arch cut in the hedge and went to the farm. He did not enter by the gate, but climbed the fence in rear of the house, then made his way to an apple tree under which he had promised the foundling to return for her. He could plainly see a window where he used to watch for her. Oh, that they might again be children and she would come out to meet him!

He fancied he saw a figure where she used to stand to watch for him. No; it must be fancy, for on looking a second time it had gone. A rear door by the wellhouse opened, the door through which she used to come to him, and a woman emerged, a maid perhaps that the farmer's wife had got to help her. The figure came straight on, and in a moment a vision of loveliness stood before him.

"You are?"
 "The foundling."
 "Can I be dreaming?"
 "No. You promised 'after school, after college,' you would come and relieve me of my drudgery. I wished to know if you would keep your promise."

"But this transformation?"
 "There is no transformation except in my dress and surroundings. I am the same."

Society was much surprised the next winter at the announcement of an engagement between the aristocratic Miss Townsend and the son of old Brayton, the "ragman." F. A. MITCHEL.

MISS IDA M. SNYDER,

Treasurer of the Brooklyn East End Art Club.

MENSTRUAL irregularities are generally the beginning of a woman's troubles. With the vitality at a low ebb, the blood weakened, the digestion disordered, she goes about pale-faced, hollow-eyed and haggard, a pitious contrast to the blooming health of her former self. But over 1,000,000 women have found health again by taking Wine of Cardui. As a regulator of the menstrual periods Wine of Cardui has never been known to fail. It has seldom failed to restore perfect health, even in the most persistent and aggravated case of weakness.

to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would use more intelligence in the matter of medicines, observing results, they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElee's Wine of Cardui and I tried it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

You may secure the same relief as Miss Snyder, if you take Wine of Cardui as she took it. Theford's Black-Draught is the companion medicine of Wine of Cardui and it is a liver and bowel regulator which assists greatly in effecting a cure. If you take these medicines according to directions, the relief and cure is simple. Some cases are cured quickly and others take longer because the disease has run longer. Remember how Miss Snyder took Wine of Cardui and has health. The same medicines are offered you to-day.

ABUSING THEIR PRIVILEGE.

Violating the Law With Pop Crackers.

The boys with pop crackers gave the policemen something of a race Tuesday night. This goes to show how nonappreciative the boys are of anything done for their pleasure. At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen the boys sent up a petition to be allowed to shoot pop crackers Christmas. They came very near not being allowed to do so—in fact their request was at first tabled, but later reconsidered and the permission given under the direction of the mayor. Instead of waiting for the time when the mayor shall open the privilege to them, the boys take advantage of their first chance to get pop crackers and begin violating the law. This is naughty in the boys and will make it harder for them to get the privilege of using fire works in the future. If they abuse their privilege now, after coming so near to losing it, they can only blame themselves if it is denied them hereafter. After the interest taken in their petition by the Aldermen it was hoped they would keep within bounds of the law and not shoot fireworks until Mayor Whedbee advised them they could do so.
