THE GRADED SCHOOL BILL

Section 11. That the proceeds of the sale of the Bonds provided in this Act shall be used exclusively for the erection and equipment of suitable buildings for the Graded Schools for the whites and such enlargement and equipment of the colored school building as may be necessary and said buildings shall be constructed and equipped and said fund expended under sole direction of said Board of Trustees of said Graded Schools. And to this end it shall be the duty of said Board of Trustees to determine the location and character of the building of the white Graded School and the needed enlargement if any of the building for the colored Graded School. But if the said Board shall deem it better to select another location for the colored Graded School the said Board is hereby fully authorized and empowered to purchase a site therefor and erect and equip the necessary buildings thereon. And it shall be the duty of said Board as soon as possible after the ratification of this Act by the qualified voters of the Town of Greenville to determine said location and to proceed as speedily as possible with the erection and enlargement of the buildings for said School. The said Board may have said Buildings erected and enlarged by contract or in such other way as they may deem best and it shall be the duty of the Treasurer of said town to pay for same out of proceeds of the sale of said bonds upon the order of the Board of Trustees signed and counter-signed in such manner and under such rules and regulations as they may prescribe. But said Board of Trustees shall keep a record which shall show in detail the manner in which the said fund has been expended by them. The Town Treasurer shall also keep a separate account of his receipts and disbursements of this fund and he shall make a report to the Board of Aldermen from time to time of his dealings therewith and he shall be allowed as his compensation in receiving and paying out this fund two and a half per cent. commission on his disbursements.

Section 12. That all children within the corporate limits of said town as now constituted or as they may hereafter be extended who are entitled to attend the Public Schools shall be admitted into said Graded Schools free of charge provided always that the whites shall attend the schools provided for them and the blacks the schools provided for them. Provided further that the Board of Trustees shall have power to admit the children to either of said schools who reside outside of the corporate limits of said town upon such terms as they may deem fair and just.

Section 13. That the corporate limits of said town shall constitute a school district for each race but the Trustees of the Graded School and the persons charged by Law with the duties of locating and managing the various school districts in the County of Pitt may extend the boundary of the Graded School District so as to take in territory and people not included within the corporate limits of said town. And the Board of Trustees may enter into negotiations with the School Committee of the district in which the said Graded

Schools are situated and the County Board of Education looking to acquiring the title to the lauds and the school building for the whites and for the colored races belonging to said School Committee on such terms as may be agreed upon and the sale of those buildings and the investment of the proceeds in the Graded School buildings for each race respectively. And the said Board of Trustees shall have full power and authority to receive, use or hold any donations, gifts, devices and bequests made for either or both of said Graded Schools.

Section 14. That portion of the public money belonging to the common school fund which would properly belong to that portion of the Greenville district which is embraced in the Graded School territory shall be appropriated to the Graded Schools herein established and shall be made over to the Treasurer of the Town of Greenville and shall be used by him for the support of said Graded Schools and for no other purpose and shall be reported and accounted for as other monies belonging to said Graded Schools.

Section 15. That Chapter 497 of the Public Laws of 1901 being an Act entitled "An Act to establish Graded Schools in the Town of Greenville, N. C." and every part thereof is hereby repealed.

Section 16. That this act shall be in force from and after its ratification.

AYDEN, N. C. Jan. 24, 1903. EDITOR REFLECTOR:

I notice what you have to say about parents of Confederate soldiers, and I give you the names of the following in my knowledge:

Mrs. Susan A. Jackson, at Winterville; Edward Carman, Sr., Ayden; Jerry Worthington, Chocod; Mrs. Theophilus Bland, Contentnea; Mrs. Polly Smith, Mrs. Betsy Barber and Mrs. Sallie Stocks, Winterville. I think all of these had sons in the Confederate army.

J. A. HARRINGTON

[Our Winterville correspondent furnishes some names that can be added to this list, and Mrs. B. H. Hearne sends us the name of Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, mother of Messrs. G. L. and L. C. Moore, who had three sons in the war.—Mr. Samuel Brown, of Bethel, had two sons that were soldiers.—THE REFLECTOR.]

Three Found Guilty.

The Hardy-Allen-Forbes shooting scrape trial ended Friday, the jury finding a verdict of not guilty as to Hardy and guilty as to both the Allens and Forbes. The three convicted were fined $100 each and costs. They gave notice of appeal to Supreme court.

THE WISE MAN

THE FOOLISH MAN

Chases up some "Bargain Store" or "Bargain Sale," thinking he will save 50c. or so on a pair of Shoes. What does he get? Well, it's hard to tell—gets the poorest of Shoes—gets an ill-fitting Shoe—gets every thing but what he wants—gets mad and declares he'll never do it again. And he won't. Reader, remember the parable.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 24, 1903.

WHEREFORE?

Adjutant General Royster has been notified that the Dick National Guard or militia bill has passed the United States senate, it having already passed the house. He said that within three or four days a call would be issued for all officers of the state guard to meet in convention at Raleigh to make arrangements for carrying out the provisions of the bill, which places all of the companies of the North Carolina state guard under the care of the United States government. According to the provisions of this bill the government will have authority to call out the state troops in case of any national trouble the same as it now exercises over the regular army. This is for a period of any nine months' service.—Lexington Dispatch.

This is certainly news to us, and we would like to know how and when and where the United States government derived the power to take the state guard of North Carolina under its care. If this means anything it means that the state guard becomes a part of the regular army of the United States, subject to call to duty in suppressing strikes, riots &c. Now what business would North Carolina guardsmen have in Chicago shooting down Haymarket rioters or in Homestead pouring hot lead into Hungarian miners? None at all, we say—and we further rise to remark that the state guard of North Carolina ought not to be subject to duty outside the state, unless each member assents for himself alone and joins the regular army. When trouble is on hand North Carolinians can be found without blowing bugles and sounding war-drums. In time of peace we'll attend to our own business.

The record of South Carolina's daily newspapers is not at all of a Sunday school character. The editor of the Charleston News and Courier was shot and killed in 1891, in 1902 the editor of the Greenville News was assaulted by a member of the state dispensary board, and now the editor of the Columbia State has been murdered. These are the three leading dailies of the state, and this succession of editorial disasters gives rise to the question, did not these editors go too far in epithet and abuse?

Wonder if Booker Washington, or some other big gentleman of color, has a son whom the president could invite around to the White House to see his daughter. As Teddy is showing such great admiration of the negro might it not be in just as good taste for him to have one for a son-in-law as it is to give receptions to them?

Our old college chump, Senor Aguinaldo, asks Uncle Sam for a few millions with which to develop his country. Is Aggie in raving for a professorship among North Carolina republicans?

Since the report of the registrar of Boston has shown that thirty-five or forty white women married negroes in that city during the past year, it would seem that President did not go far wrong when he appointed the negro Lewis to an important office in Boston, the city of beans, culture and miscegenation.

We are bound to admire the nerve of Attorney General Knox, even if we are inclined to think he is a rascal. He is now asking Congress to appropriate five million dollars with which to employ counsel to do the trust busting the attorney general gets paid to do but doesn't.

We'll have to admit that the lawyers know more about the legality of the Wilcox decision than we do, and our opinion on the same isn't worth a plugged dime. If Wilcox gets a new trial we'll give our readers the news; otherwise we are done with it.

If Jim Tillman had been put in jail when he was put in office perhaps there would be one more South Carolina editor this side of the golden gates.

We fail to see anything of promise in the publicity end of the anti-trust measure passed by congress. A few public hangings would have more effect.

The saddest words that tongue or pen e'er shaped in prose or rhyme are not the things that might have been, but these: "I haven't time."

It is said that the president is planning a long trip. There are at least a dozen people who won't insist upon his hurrying back home.

If the thing keeps up Venezuela will eventually get the sympathy of the civilized world—and that's about all she will get.

The Asheville Citizen asks, "Can the Democrats win in 1904?" They can, if Teddy keeps on assisting.

The legislature wasn't at all bashful in telling the Southern railway what it was going to do about it.

Good evening. Has anyone voted for you for senator this evening?

Perhaps when the petitions are in it will be seen how the representative people of this town stand upon temperance legislation. Opinions often mean nothing but facts are hard to get around.—Durham Herald.

A REAL HEROINE

[Original.]

If the heroine of a story could be transformed into a real person, her life would have in it an important element of happiness. Such cases, vice versa, have occurred—that is, a woman who has shown herself heroic has lived to an old age in the enjoyment of her honors.

During the American Revolution a small palisade fort erected on the site of the present city of Wheeling was the center of a small settlement. The dwelling of Colonel Ebenezer Lane stood about 200 feet from the palisade, and in it were kept many of the supplies of the fort. One morning—it was Sept. 1, 1777—a man rode up to the place, threw himself from his horse and excitedly announced that one Simon Girty, with a large number of savages, was advancing to its capture. This man Girty was descended from the lowest order of people, his father having been an outlaw and his mother a disgrace to her sex. Simon had inherited the worst proclivities of both. Captured by the Indians when a boy, he had become one of them, and their savage practices were as natural to him as if he had been born an Indian. Such was the man who was advancing at the head of several hundred red men to murder the men, women and children within the palisade. The place was made ready for defense, and Colonel Lane's house, occupying a favorable position for resistance, was made a part of the inclosure to be defended. There were but a dozen men to protect the women and children who were huddled together in the palisade, expecting the worst possible fate.

The party came up, and Girty demanded the surrender of the fort, which was of course refused. Then commenced a fire from besieged and besiegers which was kept up till night, when it ceased. At midnight the negro cook Sam, seeing a flicker of light through a crevice in the palisade, looked for the cause and saw an Indian outside attempting to fire the palisade. Sam shot the man dead and averted the danger.

The next morning the attack was renewed with a hollow log bound with chains for a cannon, but the log burst at the first discharge and killed several of the besiegers. Enraged at the failure, Girty attempted to carry the fort by storm, but the rifles within were true, and he lost many men without accomplishing his object.

It was now discovered that the supply of powder in the fort was about exhausted. There was a keg in the Lane house, but to procure it some one must go nearly 200 feet and return with it exposed to the fire of the Indians. The commander called for a volunteer to make the attempt, an attempt that would almost surely result in death. Every man in the fort volunteered.

Among the women was a delicate girl, Elizabeth Lane—she was nicknamed Patty—who had recently returned from school in Philadelphia. From the refining influences of a school in what was then the first city in the land she had been transported to a wilderness and now was confronted with savage warfare. There is but one position in which we can imagine such a girl under such circumstances, and that is pale and trembling, eagerly scrutinizing the expressions of those defending her to learn if there is any hope. Patty Lane was the very counterpart of this. She stepped forward as a volunteer, a volunteer to run a gantlet of bullets that would bring almost certain death. Not only did she volunteer, but pleaded to be allowed to go, arguing that the men were all needed for the defense of the lives of the women and children; that not a man's life should be risked in this way, but the life of a woman, who was not fit for harder service. If she were killed, she would not be missed.

It was not only the offer that was surprising, but the Spartan arguments by which it was supported. The men all knew that they were true. Reluctantly the commander gave his consent. Patty, kneeling for a moment in prayer, arose and, saluting forth, with the feetness of a fawn cleared the space between the fort and the house before the savages noticed her or had recovered from their surprise. Not a shot was fired at her. Placing the powder in a tablecloth and tying it about her waist, she started on her return trip.

This return was a very different matter from the going. The savages had been warned and were on the alert. Besides, the bundle she carried was sure evidence that she was transporting some article contraband of war. Patty ran as rapidly as she could impeded by her burden. Scarcely had she started when a bullet sang by her, then another and another. It was like shooting a bird on the wing. The few seconds during which she was exposed to fire were terribly long to those who were watching her from the fort. There was every chance that she would not make the goal. Half, three-quarters, seven-eighths of the distance was covered, yet she ran. Was she struck and ready to fall the moment she arrived, or was she still unscathed? There was no time to answer, for with the feetness of a bird she covered the last dozen yards and landed her precious burden behind the palisades.

Then it was discovered that not a bullet had touched her.

Armed with the ammunition she brought, the whites fought on till success arrived, and the lives of all were saved.

Patty Lane passed a lifetime as a heroine in her home on the banks of the Ohio river near the place where she had shown the mettle there in her and adored by all who knew her.

THE LOVELIEST GIRL IMAGINABLE

[Original.]

"So you're going to be married?"
"Indeed, I am, to the loveliest girl imaginable."
"H'm! I've heard that before. All my friends have married the loveliest girls imaginable. Who is she?"
"Kate Ward."

"Kate Ward!" Then, after a pause, "Are you her first love?"
"Well, no, not exactly. There was a fellow—she met several years ago—a measly sort of chap, I fancy—who was so desperately in love with her that she took pity on him and engaged herself to him. It was broken off, however."
"Did you get all this information from her?"

"By no means. She simply told me that she had been engaged. My information came from her cousin, Anita Griffith."
"Anita Griffith?"
"You seem surprised. Do you know her?"

"Yes—no. Did she give you the name of your fiancée's break with—the other fellow?"
"Well, yes. Anita was indirectly mixed up in the matter. Young Steve Griffith was led into gambling by the other fellow, as you call him, and fled."
"Indeed?"

"I judge from the way you take the information that you know something about the affair yourself."

"I know that Steve Griffith is a little villain, always gambling, always borrowing. In other words, he is a dead-beat."

"Of course all this is nothing to me. Kate was in duty bound to tell me she had been engaged. The cause of the break was another matter."

"Surely you are not concerned in that."

"Besides, I was myself engaged before."

"To whom?"

"Anita Griffith."

"Pshaw! And that is how you got this story. Was she, too, 'the loveliest girl imaginable'?"

"Well, to tell the truth, I was much pleased with Anita, but I knew all the while she cared nothing for me, and that cools a fellow off after awhile."

"Oh, yes; it cools him off, decidedly, or sets him on fire. But how did this change from one girl to the other come about?"

"It was this way: Anita introduced me to Kate, and when she found I fancied her she nobly left Kate the field. When I asked Kate to marry me and she told me that she had been engaged, I was troubled, for I feared that she loved the fellow and was going to marry me only because I was a good match financially. I confided in Anita, who put me in possession of the facts."

"She was very kind to you."

"Yes. Not many a girl would have acted so disinterestedly with a man to whom she had been engaged."

"Did it ever occur to you that she might have had a motive?"

"What motive could she have possibly had?"

"The other fellow."

"You mean that she wanted to get him for herself?"

"That's what has occurred to me."

"If you knew her, you would not have so had an opinion of her."

"I do know her."

"What? You know her—intimately?"

"Very intimately. I am her affianced husband."

"What—you? You the man she was in love with all the while? My dear fellow, I congratulate you on being engaged to 'the loveliest woman imaginable.'"

"Thank you." And the speaker arose and left the room. That evening, by special appointment, Miss Katherine Ward received him in the small parlor, having given orders that she was at home to no one else, not even her fiancée.

"Pardon this intrusion," he said; "but, as I wrote in my note requesting an interview, I have discovered certain reasons for your action in breaking with me."

"Not through me. I was pledged to secrecy and kept my promise."

"The story that I drew young Steve Griffith into gambling and fled him is false."

"I had the word of the girl to whom you are now engaged."

"I will not accuse her. I presume her brother lied to her to account for money he made away with."

A pallor slowly spread over the girl's face.

"To prove what I say, here is a letter written by Steve Griffith an hour ago denying the whole story."

"I don't want to see it. It is too late. We are both engaged."

"I am not. My engagement was broken this afternoon."

"On what ground?"

"Well, since I must tell all or nothing, the man who has supplanted me with you innocently told me a story proving conclusively that the woman to whom I was engaged had caused the breach between you and me. As soon as I knew the facts I broke my engagement. You are the woman I love and would marry. If not you, I will die unwedded."

Six months later.

"I congratulate you on your engagement to your former fiancée, Miss Ward."

"Thank you very much—to 'the loveliest girl imaginable.' May I congratulate you on your engagement to your former fiancée, Miss Griffith? She, too, is the loveliest."

"Rats! Don't give me any of that. All women are 'the loveliest,' etc., but give me bachelorhood."

Don't Worry.
This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is something over which you have no control it is obvious that worrying will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act. When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

Some people are very liberal minded—they are always giving their friends a pie e.

Croup.

The peculiar cough which indicates croup, is usually well known to the mothers of croupy children. No time should be lost in the treatment of it, and for this purpose no medicine has received more universal approval than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Do not waste valuable time in experimenting with untried remedies, no matter how highly they may be recommended, but give this medicine as directed and all symptoms of croup will quickly disappear. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

You can give a Chinese laundry man a dirty cuff without fear of having it resented.

"The nicest and pleasantest medicine I have used for indigestion constipation is Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets," says Melard F. Craig, of Middlegrove, N. Y. "They work like a charm and do not gripe or have any unpleasant effect." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

The man who suspicions evil and wrong doing in others thus correctly tells on himself.

Unconscious From Croup.

During a sudden and terrible attack of croup our little girl was unconscious from strangulation, says A. L. Spafford, postmaster, Chester, Mich., and a dose of One Minute Cough Cure was administered and repeated often. It reduced the swelling and inflammation, cut the mucous and shortly the child was resting easy and speedily recovered. It cures Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, and all Throat and Lung troubles. One Minute Cough Cure lingers in the throat and chest and enables the lungs to contribute pure, health giving oxygen to the blood. Jno. L. Wooten.

Some men are like needles—they go through a great deal of work, but they have to be pushed.

One Hundred Dollars A Box.

Is the value H. A. Tizdale, Summerton, S. C., places on DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. He says: "I had the piles for 20 years. I tried many doctors and medicines, but all failed except DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cured me." It is a combination of the healing properties of Witch Hazel with antiseptics and emollients; relieves and permanently cures blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, sores, cuts, bruises, eczema, salt rheum and all skin diseases. Jno. L. Wooten.

An exchange says there are 50,000 muscles in an elephant's trunk. It was evidently packed by a woman.

A Scientific Discovery.

Kodol does for the stomach that which it is unable to do for itself, even when but slightly disordered or over-loaded. Kodol supplies the natural juices of digestion and does the work of the stomach, while the inflamed muscles of that organ are allowed to rest and heal. Kodol digests what you eat and enables the stomach and digestive organs to transform all food into rich, red blood. Jno. L. Wooten.

The crowned heads of every nation. The rich men, poor men and misers.

All join in paying tribute to DeWitt's Little Early Risers. H. Williams, San Antonio, Tex., writes: Little Early Riser Pills are the best ever used in my family. I unhesitatingly recommend them to everybody. They cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Torpid Liver, Jaundice, Malaria and all other liver troubles. Jno. L. Wooten.

MISS FAY LEE,
President of the Shakespearian Club, Kansas City.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you', but there is much more in my heart for you."

nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 608 1/2 North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.

BEARING-DOWN pains are the worst that women know. If you are suffering from this trouble you need not be uncertain about it. The pains in the abdomen and back that feel as if heavy weights were pulling down on the nerves of the stomach are "bearing-down pains". They may not be particularly severe at present but they are growing worse. That headache which nearly drives you distracted now is caused by the terrible

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Jan. 24.

Noticing O. L. Joyner's article in the REFLECTOR referring to Judge Ferguson's inquiry as to how many were still living in Pitt county whose sons fought in the civil war and giving a few names, we would like to add three others. Mrs. Susan Jackson of this place, mother of Mr. A. G. Cox, also Mr. Green Letchworth of Contentnea and old man Jerry Worthington, of Chicod.

At the home of Mrs. Fanny Tyson Thursday evening, 21st. inst. Mr. Rudolph Croom, of Kinston and Miss Bessie Nichols were united in marriage, J. M. Blow, J. P. performing the ceremony. After a bounteous supper the bridal couple left on the evening train for Kinston where they will make their future home. Mr. Croom is to be congratulated on his good fortune and all wish Miss Bessie the very happiest and most pleasant of lives. The Editor's Song.

How dear to my heart is the steady subscriber

Who pays in advance at the birth of each year—

Who lays down the dollar and offers it gladly.

And casts around the office a halo of cheer;

Who never says, "Stop it; I cannot afford it!"

Or "I'm getting more papers now than I can read!"

But always say, "Send it; the family likes it—"

In fact, we think it is a household need."

How welcome he is when he steps in the sanctum—

How he makes our heart throb! How he makes our eyes dance!

We outwardly thank him—we inwardly bless him—

The steady subscriber who pays in advance.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Ferguson Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's PainBalm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep, which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.
