YOU know our policy concerning the cleaning up of seasonable merchandise in its season. To make thorough work of a clearance sale every item must suffer the severest cuts. Not an item in this store that has not suffered with the "price knife." If you will take the time to make a careful investigation the economy of buying now will impress itself upon you.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., Feb. 4.

Mrs. S. R. Dawson, widow of the late Council Dawson, near Littlefield, died at her home here Monday. She was the daughter of Mrs. Mary (Aunt Polly) Smith and sister to Mrs. Dr. Cox, Mrs. J. D. Cox, Mrs. J. R. Johnson and Mrs. Evelyn Cox, of this place. Her death is greatly lamented here as well as in her old neighborhood, where she still lives on in the memory of her neighbors. A nobler, truer, hearted and more Christian-like woman never lived, ever ready to lend a helping hand to the needy or to speak a word of comfort to the distressed. She told her people not to weep for her, as she was prepared to go. Truly the death of such a one is blessed. The remains were taken to the family burying ground by Undertaker Webb's hearse, from Kinston, Tuesday accompanied by friends and relatives. A large crowd of neighborhood people had assembled to witness the interment of the one so dear to them. Short services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Cox, of Greenville. Mrs. Dawson leaves a family of three boys and five girls, one of whom is Mrs. C. A. Davis of Enreka, N. C. Dr. Walter Dawson, of Grifton, is one of the boys.

Quite a number of young people attended the dedication of Reedy Branch church near here Sunday. Dedicatory sermon was preached by Pro. Peeden, of Free Will Baptist Seminary, of Ayden. D. S. Chapman and J. C. Galloway went to Kinston Monday night. Mr. Galloway went to have his ears treated. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Davis, of Enreka, came Monday night to be present at the burial of Mrs. Dawson.

Hon. A. L. Blow was shaking hands with friends here Saturday. To say Mrs. Bettie Britt & Co. the fashionable milliners of Winterville, have by far the most exquisite and beautiful line of millinery, ladies' hats, ladies' torchons, baby caps and everything so necessary to captivate and delight the taste and admiration of all the ladies is beyond question. 'Tis only to see to realize how fortunate are the people of Winterville in having such a delightful firm in their midst. To call and see is to be convinced and when once convinced you will ever afterward give to this most charming firm your entire future patronage. Be sure and call or else you will ever have cause for regret. We know, because, well, we are not a lady, but 'tis certainly a treat to visit their store.

Fred Buhmann and Miss Myrtle Moon, of Ayden, were in town Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Butts and children, of Chockwinity, arrived Monday night and were present at the burial of Mrs. Dawson who was a sister of Mrs. Butts.

Dr. Dawson, of Grifton, arrived Sunday night and was with his mother at the time of her death.

J. B. Cherry, treasurer and C. O'H. Laughinghouse, superintendent of health, filed their monthly reports.

J. A. Harrington tendered his bond as standard keeper, which was accepted.

It was ordered that one-half the expense of digging a well on court house square be borne by the county.

Lauds of Joshua Tripp, Greenville township, were reduced in value from $436 to $109.

Stuart Knox, Abram Haddock and J. S. Ross were released from poll tax for 1902.

Henry Hyman, Harriet Gardner, Nancy Cox, Henry James, John Braxton and Nelia Mangum were added to the pauper list.

A request was ordered sent to Senator A. L. Blow to have a bill passed giving the Board power to sell any portion of the land belonging to the county known as the lands used for the county home.

The Good Citizen.

One of the best definitions of the good citizen we have seen was given by one of the students of the State Normal. It is a good thing to paste in one's hat. Here it is.

"My idea of a good citizen is one who earns his living and labors for the support of those dependent upon him; who obeys the laws of his state and country, and who studies those laws with a view to improving them; he must love his country, and serve it in time of peace, and in time of war he must be willing to give his life in its defense; he should pay his taxes cheerfully and should not complain if called upon occasionally to make a voluntary contribution to a torch-light procession or a tree barbecue."

Dr. J. R. Campbell had a case of spontaneous combustion in his coat pocket Tuesday afternoon.

He was going about from place to place vaccinating people in Newton. He used a rag saturated with alcohol, with which he wiped his instrument. It was raining at the time and the chemical action set up by the contact of water and alcohol caused the combustion. When he discovered the fire the rag was completely charred and the coat pocket about burned out. —Newton Enterprise.

FRANK WILSON,
The King Clothier.

A Large and Last Deal in Greenville.

Messrs Elliott Bros., of Baltimore, have, through their agent and attorney, W. H. Long, sold out the last of the large amount of property, consisting of stores, residential property &c., owned by them in Greenville, the last deal being made to Mr. C. T. Munford, the progressive young merchant and business man of the town of Greenville.

Messrs. Elliott Bros. were once the largest property owners of the town, and the largest tax payers of the county, owning much valuable property in the county outside of the town. They have been well known to the entire county and have done a great deal for the citizenship of Pitt county in a financial way. It is to be deeply regretted that they have ceased to be directly identified with Greenville. Much good has been derived by their being largely interested in the town and they have been liberal contributors to any movement for the progress and betterment of the town and people's interest, never having encouraged any one in the conducting of obnoxious or offensive vocations by renting property for such purposes, to wit: Barrooms, gaming or theatre amusements. They have, by their strict adherence to sound moral business principles, endeared themselves to the best class of citizenship of the town and county; aided as they have been in the conduct of their affairs by that able, efficient, and eminently just and prompt agent and attorney, Mr. W. H. Long, whose watchfulness has been without a parallel and whose correctness never disputed. Indeed it is to be regretted that they should not feel the special interest of helping to push the town along in the stride it is making to a higher development and prosperity. They have many friends who will long remember them in kindness.

Notice.

All those who had part in the play "Under the Southern Cross" that was presented last week, are requested to meet Mrs. T. J. Jarvis at Hotel Macon, Wednesday night, 4th.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 4, 1903.

A Philadelphia victim of the tea habit is described in Good Health, as follows: This young man visits Chinatown regularly, and drinks the special tea which is brewed there at 25 cents a bowl. He will put away, in an evening, fifteen or twenty bowls, becoming finally as boisterous and silly as though he had put away as many cocktails, though he will not stagger. He says he remembers nothing after the ninth or tenth bowl.

We wish to state that all a man's boisterousness will have to happen in about 9 seconds if he is so unwise as to select Philadelphia's "Chinatown" for the scene of his hilarity. Chinatown is full of policemen, day and night, and the very first yawp from a habitue of the Mongolian tenderloin brings a small army of blue coats upon him. Never was there a more unhealthy place for a man to "get gay."

These are the government's charges against the postmaster at Morehead City.

"Filthiness of postmaster and his office; tampering with mails; uncivil to patrons in violation of section 273 postal laws."

Be he republican or democrat we hope the charges are false, and if they are false, that the slandered official will institute a damage suit that will go deep into the pocket of Uncle Sam.

From one point of view President Roosevelt ought to be eternally grateful to the negroes. When the Kough Riding Teddy made that fool "charge" up San Juan hill it was the 10th regiment, composed of negroes, who rushed in and saved his bacon. If that negro regiment had been behind time Teddy would now be sleeping 'neath the daisies.

If the senators and representatives who lend their votes and influence against the London bill have dreams of brass bands playing "See the Conquering Hero Comes" when they return from Raleigh, we are sorry for the way their feelings are doomed to be hurt.

Just when we thought our troubles were over Senator Wellington comes along and introduces a bill in Congress prohibiting the holding of fortunes exceeding ten millions. We'll have to bury some of it, or call in our poor relations.

The western candidate for state senator who bought a $10 suit of clothes in anticipation of his election ought to have known that though clothes sometime make the man, they never make a senator.

We learn that the sultan of Morocco has achieved a great victory over his opponents, but the dispatch failed to state what game they were playing.

The arsenal of riot guns just installed by the Richmond police department is not calculated to make Jim Hayes' sleep any sweeter.

A newspaper article is headed "Soft Coal Dealers." That's a new variety. Coal dealers are a hard lot these days.

We hope Winston-Salem will not be as long getting a new depot as it takes to write the name of the Piedmontese city.

North Carolina postoffices are giving the government nearly as much trouble as is handed out to a bobtailed mule in fly time.

This is from the Greenville REFLECTOR:—"We suggest to the Greensboro Record that it explain to those of its farmer friends who are opposed to the Audubon Society what 'Audubon' means. How could the farmers be expected to take kindly to a society with a name that sounds so much like 'Ohbedam?'"

We take pleasure in informing our friend and all others not acquainted with the matter that the name of the society is that of a gentleman who first wrote a book on the preservation of birds and devoted the greater part of his life to their preservation. These Audubon societies exist all over the country and it is noticed today that the legislative committee has voted to report the bill unanimously and it will no doubt become a law.

In this connection the Winston Sentinel appropriately says:—"It is most unfortunate that some of our North Carolina farmers have gotten in into their heads that the proposed Audubon Society legislation, taxing foreign hunters and otherwise protecting the birds, is contrary to their best interests. As the Greensboro Record says, 'If the farmers will look into the matter a little more closely they will find they will be benefitted instead of hurt.'"—Greensboro Record.

The Richmond News-Leader in its issue of yesterday prints the story of the death of a former Virginia lady at the home of her parents in Baltimore, three weeks after her marriage to a young man of Baltimore. The article continues thus: "Mrs. Cook was 189 years old, a native of Shenandoah, Va., and came to Baltimore two years ago with her parents." Shades of Methuselah! How old were the parents!—Newport News Times-Herald.

He that tooteth not his own horn
The horn of the same shall not be tooted, but

He that tooteth his own horn,
The horn of the same shall be tooted with great muchness.

"Me Too."

And here comes February, that blessed month when the man who gets his salary twelve times a year finds out how good it must feel to be paid every four weeks.—Winston Sentinel.

Some of those Washington papers that always manage to stay on the right side of the administration will have to undergo a radical change if the next president should happen to be a democrat.—Durham Herald.

Tendency of the times.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold of from an attack of influenza (grip) and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted; it always cures. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

The Easy Pill.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers do not gripe nor weaken the system. They cure biliousness, jaundice, constipation and inactive livers, by arousing the secretions, moving the bowels gently, yet effectually, and giving such tone and strength to the glands of the stomach, liver and bowels that the cause of the trouble is removed entirely. These famous little pills exert a decided tonic effect upon the organs involved, and if their use is continued for a few days there will be no return of the trouble.

causes a weak body and invites disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures and strengthens the stomach, and wards off and overcomes disease. J. B. Taylor, a prominent merchant of Christman, Tex., says: "I could not eat because of a weak stomach. I lost all strength and run down in weight. All that money could do was done, but all hope of recovery vanished. Hearing of some wonderful cures effected by use of Kodol, I concluded to try it. The first bottle benefited me, and after taking four bottles I am fully restored to my usual strength, weight and health."

A Mother's Recommendation.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds and croup I have ever used in my family. I have not words to express my confidence in this remedy.—Mrs. J. A. Moore North Star, Mich. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

Forger Caught.

Scotland Neck, N. C., Feb. 4.—The colored man who forged a check on a Tarboro bank and swindled Br an & Whittly out of $400 about three weeks ago, has been caught. He was arrested at Battleboro and brought to Scotland Neck. At first he denied it, but later confessed and said if they would take him to Tarboro he would find the money in a stump. He was carried to Tarboro, but could not find the money. He was brought back to Scotland Neck, tried and sent to Halifax jail. It was learned that he had left some of the money at Battleboro, and Bryan & Whitley secured $113 of it. The balance doubtless he has spent and divided with a partner, who has not yet been caught.

Demented Man Ate Greenbacks.

Port Huron, Mich., Feb. 2.—Charles Hemingway, for many years constable at the Sarnia tunnel, who was worth $25,000, was taken violently insane yesterday and had to be sent to an asylum. Hemingway, while demented, took a roll of bills, about $100 and, with the remark that they were good food, proceeded to eat them.

Before they were taken away from him the bills had been so mutilated that they were unrecognizable. The numbers of some of them were deciphered and the Government will be asked to redeem them.

White Man Shoots a Negro.

Henderson, N. C., Feb. 2.—At the Henderson mills, near Gill's store, yesterday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, Charles Lowry shot and, it is thought, fatally wounded John Burton, colored. It is stated that Lowry and several other friends were conversing, when he told them he was going over to the Harriet mills. As he left them he met Burton, who without provocation, ran against Lowry, when he cursed him. Burton then threw a rock and struck Lowry on the head, cutting it severely, and when in the act of throwing the second, Lowry drew his pistol and shot him.

Laid in Bed With a Corpse

Martinsburg, W. Va., Feb. 2.—Joseph Norris was found by neighbors helplessly sick, while his wife lay dead in the same room. For two days he had lain in bed alone with the corpse, unable to get word to their friends. There was neither coal nor food in the house when they were found.

Down in the legislature in Raleigh they're still talking about Senator Vance. Too much praise may not be said of that statesman and simple gentleman, but there is something unnice in the way his name is invoked on the smallest prefix. In many legislatures it has been customary for orators, no-matter whether they wished a no-fence law or a bill for the relief of a crossroads, to get up and violently swear honestly and by patriotism by the memory of that immortal leader. The name of Vance, dragged into a speech as a part of personal eulogy and flaunted in shocking bad taste, is heard too often on the political stumps in all parts of this state. Oh, this screaming, nauseous sentiment that reeks with prate of deity, or a father's grave, or the profane use of the name of a dead leader like Vance, whose fine scorn would have blasted such methods! —Idle Comment in Charlotte O bserver.

"I never thought of economizing," said a resident, "until I heard a man remark that 5 cents was the interest on a dollar for a year. There was nothing new in the thought, but somehow it struck me forcibly. Now, every day it deters me from spending a nickel foolishly, though formerly I looked upon it as a piece of odd, useless change." —Idle Comment in Charlotte Observer.

AN ACCIDENTAL DISCOVERY

(Original.)

Murderers are not always discovered by sleuths. Sometimes accident gives them up.

For twenty years I have been a detective. Soon after I entered the profession Father Vost, a Roman Catholic priest, one of whose flock I was, called me one day into his study and told me the following:

"What I am about to narrate happened last night. I know nothing about law or justice or the workings of the police force, but as it is your business to track crime I give the information to you, and you can make what use of it you think proper. It was about 11 o'clock, and I, who had been up later than usual visiting a sick parishioner, had just come in and was preparing for bed when the servant came to my room and said that a carriage was waiting at the door to take me to give absolute-tion to one about to die. I went downstairs and out to the carriage. I found a masked man inside.

"I was driven for a full hour. The carriage made few turns, and I fancy that I must have been driven to a suburb of the city, for after leaving the pavement we drove for a time over a dirt road, then again a pavement. I made an effort to engage my companion in conversation, but he gave me no reply. Finally the carriage came to a stop, and he bound my eyes with a handkerchief, the door was opened from without, and some one guided my steps over flagstones, I think, and we mounted steps. I counted six. Then after going a short distance we mounted more steps—this time I counted twenty—and we made one turn. In another moment I was led into a warmer atmosphere, and the bandage was taken off by some one who slipped out of a door behind me. Before me, pale and haggard, stood a man who sank upon his knees.

"Father," he said, "I am about to be murdered. My murderers have been brought up in our church, whose influence, you well know, can never be entirely overcome. When I begged for absolute-tion before being put out of their way, they could not refuse me. Shrive me, father!"

"Give me your name," I said, "and even if I can't prevent your murder I may at least bring about the punishment of your murderers."

"Should I reveal the slightest circumstance you, too, would be put where you cannot harm them."

"I received his confession and gave him absolute-tion. All the while, I confess, I was studying the room that I might know it again. There was an open fireplace, with a mantel, such as was used 100 or 200 years ago. I fixed the beadwork in my mind and made a drawing of it as soon as I returned. I tried to find some other special mark about the room, but there was nothing else unusual. I left the man prostrated and was driven home, as I had come, over pavement, dirt road and pavement again."

Father Vost went to a desk, took out the drawing and handed it to me.

I was young in my business and determined to make some reputation for myself on this case. I did not report it at police headquarters, as I was in duty bound to do, but spent months in searching the newspapers to catch a notice of some missing man. My efforts were without success, and at last I gave it up. That was ten years ago, and since then I have been accused by my conscience for not at once reporting the case. The only effort I have continued to keep up is an examination of all old mantels offered for sale, and I have compared hundreds of them with Father Vost's drawing, always to find them different.

One day recently, while I was passing through the very street in which Father Vost had lived, not a block from the house I passed a building which was being converted from a dwelling to a store. A crowd had gathered, and some workmen were carrying out a skeleton which, I was told, had been found bricked up in a chimney. Such things may at any time be of service to a detective, and I went up to examine the room from which the bones had been taken. The first thing to catch my attention was a mantel which had been taken down and was leaning against the wall. The moment I looked at it it seemed familiar. Taking out Father Vost's drawing, which I always kept in my leather case for papers, I compared the two. They corresponded exactly.

Going downstairs, I counted twenty steps and from the front door to the sidewalk six. At last I had stumbled by accident on the room of the murder. The wily murderer had drawn Father Vost out of the city and back to within a block of his house, returning by the same circuitous route.

I succeeded in getting the name of the tenant on the date of the murder and hunted up people who had lived in the neighborhood during his occupancy, but as it was very short—only three months—they did not remember much about it. One day when I was examining the room, hoping I might find some concealed message from the murdered man, a workman engaged there handed me a bit of paper which he said had fallen from behind the mantel when it was taken down. I seized upon it eagerly and read:

I, Peter Hendrickson, came upon two Italians in a wood near —, where they were burying the body of a man they had murdered for his money. To keep me from hanging them they have brought me here and will probably murder me. By chance I learned the name of one—Gamberti.

I hunted two years for Gamberti before I found him. Three months later I landed him on the gallows. His mate was never taken. Curiously enough, Father Vost shrived the murderer.

Hill-Andrews.

There was a pretty marriage this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Andrews, in west Greenville, when their daughter, Miss Carrie, was led to the altar by Mr. H. P. Hill.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. H. M. Eure, of the Methodist church, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends.

As the couple and attendants entered the parlor the wedding march was played by Miss Lora Ferrell, of Winston.

The attendants were J. L. Carper with Miss Rosa Hooker, J. I. Smith with Miss Blanche Andrews, of Tarboro, J. H. Averett with Miss Floy Andrews, of Durham. There were many beautiful bridal presents.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Hill left for Washington City, in which place they will make their home. Mr. Hill was formerly local superintendent of the telephone exchange here, but goes to Washington to accept a position there.

The couple have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Civilization in 1903

That was a horrible condition of affairs in Ashe county as described by Senator Wellborn in his speech Saturday. The sleep of citizens is disturbed by drunken mobs on the highway. Men had to fight their way to the polls through drunken gangs; whiskey flowed freely at political speakings, while there were 19 serious affrays and two killings from liquor in the past year. Such a state of affairs in a county certainly calls for serious study. A prohibition law was passed for Ashe two years ago and the question for the legislature now is to find some way to make it effective, educate the people up to it, or adopt something else in its place. The present law seems worse than inefficient, according to the senator from Ashe.—Raleigh Times.
