SPRING 1903

NEW WHITE GOODS WELCOME

COLOR is eliminated from the card today. White Goods first in store displays as they will be in your thoughts, we trust. Ten years ago, yes, four or five years, even—who would have dreamed of the beauty to be brought out in fabric art without a touch from rainbow tints? Pure white, but so varied have been the dreams of designers, so cleverly have loom wizards wrought, that there is hardly a limit to variety. White has only been thought of as a repellent for summer's heat. The sheerest effects have been sought, but now, however, white fabrics, chevots, madras and piques are brought out in rich style assortment. White has overstepped the limits of summer months and hereafter will be an all-the-year-round factor.

WHITE PIQUES

In a large variety of the up-to-date styles and designs in Imported Piques that are worth your while to inspect at 12 1-2, 15, 20 and 25c.

WHITE DIMITIES

In all of the newest designs and weaves, dots, stripes and lace stripes at 8 1-3, 10, 12 1-2, 15, 18, 20, 22 1-2, 25 and 30c.

WHITE MADRAS

In Crepe de Chine designs with Satin stripes that will retain its lustre after it is laundered at 30 and 35c.

WHITE LAWN

In Lace Striped and Hemstitched Patterns. Such a line has never before been your pleasure to see in Greenville at the following prices per yard: 10, 12 1-2, 15, 18, 20, 25, 35, 40 and 50c.

FEBRUARY was a month for clearing out all winter goods. Low prices were marked on entire stock of goods that were not wanted. This week and next we must clear the shelves of the remainder of winter stock. Bed Blankets, Comforts, Ladies' Jackets, Skirts, Fur Scarfs, Men's Overcoats, Clothing and Furnishings.

Friday, March 6th, we will sell Comforts that were $1.50 for 98c.

On Saturday, March 7th, we will sell Men's Macintosh Coats, with Cape, 44 inches long, former price, $3.00, for 98c.
SIZES 34 TO 46.

20% REDUCTION

at B. Fleishman & Bros.

We are overstocked with Fall and Winter goods, and in order to close them out to make room for new spring goods have put the knife to prices and will give 20 per cent. Reduction on all these goods. There are bargains in the prices we are offering and it will pay you to buy now.

Our stock was bought low, and this reduction makes our prices far below what you will have another opportunity to buy for.

Come early and get the benefit of this great reduction. All winter goods must be disposed of quickly.

TEN THOUSAND GALLONS OF OIL AND GASOLINE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Part of John D. Rockefeller's Millions Furnishes Magnificent Pyrotechnical Display For Greenville People.

At the expense of the Standard Oil Co. Greenville has witnessed a spectacle that filled every on-looker with awe, yet its matchless brilliance was interesting to behold.

In a town where we are all neighbors it is useless to say that a fire alarm excites every mother's son (and daughter) and when the bell rings everybody goes.

Shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday night there was a cry of fire and the steel rim over the engine house began its clanging. People rushed out of their houses and places of business to find where the fire was, but no one seemed to know. Soon some one said its all out, and the ringing ceased.

A few moments later the whistle of the Imperial Tobacco Co.'s factory blew an alarm which told there was fire out in that direction. Then it was learned that the Standard Oil Co.'s storage plant near this factory and on the railroad, was on fire. There was a hurrying out that way and it was found that fire was burning in the wagon shelter adjoining the tanks. Under the shelter was the delivery wagon with a large tank of oil.

As fast as people came up and saw the proximity of the fire to the tank of oil they beat a hasty retreat, realizing that an explosion was likely to occur. The fire engine was taken out to the tobacco town cistern, but not a fireman would venture near the fire; in fact, everybody was warned to keep at a safe distance, and the warning was heeded.

It was not long before the wagon tank exploded and a glare of burning oil leaped skyward, lighting up the whole town. Houses hundreds of yards away were shaken by the explosion and some windows were broken. The flames followed the wood work to the large storage tanks, and when it was told that one of these contained 7,000 gallons of gasoline there was consternation sure enough, and fears that a disastrous explosion would result. People living in the vicinity put out their lights, closed their houses and went out of the reach of danger. The colored people living over in "Little Washington" even moved out their effects.

The kerosene end of the storage tank near the railroad soon exploded and sent another blaze of illumination skyward. This contained about 3,000 gallons. All eyes turned to the gasoline tank, expecting another and more terrific explosion, but it never came. Fortunately the valve on top of the tank had been opened by the driver just before the fire started, and from this there was sufficient escape to prevent an explosion. But when the flames reached this valve and ignited the gasoline it made a picture that words fail to describe. For a time it was like a veritable volcano in miniature, and those who saw it were reminded of the recent eruptions of Mont Pelee.

The opening in the tank looked like the mouth of a volcano with flames darting and hissing, while the roar could be heard some distance. At the same time the burning oil from the exploded tank was running along the trenches by the railroad embankment looking like little rivers of fire. It was an awe-inspiring picture. The oil and gasoline burned several hours.

The cause of the fire was purely accidental. Wiley Vines, the colored man who drives the delivery wagon, did not finish his Tuesday deliveries around town until near night. He was due to be at Farmville today, and went to the tank after supper to refill his wagon and have it ready for going out this morning. Just as he was pouring out a bucket of oil the shade to his lantern was broken and the flame was blown in the stream of oil. Wiley was terribly burned about the face and hands, almost losing one eye. He fled in terror and agony.

ANOTHER FIRE.

This the Work of Incendiary.

The town had hardly grown quiet from the fire at the Standard Oil Co's tanks, Tuesday night, and people were just getting off to bed when another fire occurred about half past twelve o'clock. A bright light over in the "Buzzard Roost" section gave the location of the fire, and when the people reached there a small frame building on the east side of Cotanch street near the branch, in which Jack Bryant, colored, lived, was falling in. The house was too far gone to save, so attention was given to surrounding buildings, some of which had also caught on fire.

The building belonged to Mr. R. J. Cobb, who places his loss at about $150 with no insurance. Jack says his personal loss was quite heavy, as his last century's beaver and organ were destroyed. What little furniture he had was bought on the instalment plan so of this falls on the city shows 636,000 infidels.

sellers, and possibly they can stand it. Jack accused a colored woman, Henrietta Donaldson, with whom he had had some trouble, of setting fire to the house. She was arrested and placed in jail to wait trial.

Mayor's Court.

The following cases have been disposed of by Mayor H. W. Whedbee since last report:

W. J. Daughtery, drunk and down, fined $1.00 and costs, total $3.20

Frank Cox, drunk and down, fined $2.00 and costs, total $4.20.

PERSONAL NOTES

Brief Mention of People Met With in the Social World

W. R. Parker went up the road this morning.

Claud Chapman, of Shelmerdine, spent Tuesday here.

Jim Moore returned Tuesday evening from Norfolk.

Burwell Riddick, of Suffolk, returned home this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pender went to Tarboro this morning.

Rev. J. D. Waters, of Washington, came in Tuesday evening.

W. A. Bowen returned Tuesday evening from a trip to Plymouth.

A. D. Hill went to Kinston Tuesday evening and returned this morning.

Mrs. Susan Mumford, of Grifton, is visiting the family of C. C. Parkerson.

Mrs. Martha Latham, of Centerville, came up this morning to visit friends here.

S. J. Parham, tobacconist, of Louisburg, was on the Greenville tobacco market today.

Mrs. Doremus Dixon, of Greene county, who was visiting relatives here, left Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Weeks, (nee Miss Blanche Brown) of Scotland Neck, arrived this morning to visit friends.

Miss Eleanor Rollins, of Pactolus, and Mrs. Frank Rollins, of Washington, were in town today.

Capt. A. B. White and little son Hazel, of Greensboro, who have been visiting his son, H. A. White, returned home today.

Well Again.

The many friends of John Blount will be pleased to learn that he has entirely recovered from his attack of rheumatism. Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured him after the best doctors in the town (Mon, Ind.) had failed to give relief. The prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, and Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

A Very Convenient Arrangement of Holidays.

The Office Boys' Union in the Drexel building had adjourned from labor to lunch, and the youthful members were sweeping the pastry counters of the stand on a near by corner, when the walking delegate, after examining the union table on a doughnut, asked: "Has you kids seen the new calendars?"

"Ah, wat er yer givin' us now? Weze seeu a hundred uv'em."

"Dat's all right, but has yer read 'em?"

A prolonged yell went up at the idea of reading a calendar.

"I tell yer dis year nineteen tree is the bulliest year yet. Yer see dem red figures wot shows de Sundays and de holidays—dis time dey comes in pairs. Dere's Washington's birthday—dat comes on Sunday—and we gets two easy ones a-running'. Den] deys put five Sundays in March dis year. See? Deckerashun Day is a Saturday, and we gets two a-running'; der fourth of July is put do wn for a Saturday, and we skips the ranch for two days. Labor Day is on Monday, makin' two again. Next Christmas comes on Friday, and sure, dere's nuthin' doin' for three days, and the same wid New Year."

"Who makes de calendars?" piped one of the boys.

"Why, de printer, yer nut. Don't yer see de union label? Dat's what organized labor in doin' for us poor workers."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, MARCH 4, 1903.

As a president Theodore is a failure, but as a consumer of newspaper space he is a pippin.

Senator Pritchard is holding his own, but apparently cannot find the right friends to hold his offices.

Gas Addicks says he will be a candidate again. Which means that he will be a candidate for gain.

Every time we buy a gallon of oil we hear John D. Rockefeller chuckle as the money drops in the till.

Theodore feels hurt over the outcry in the South. Pity; we ought not to hurt the poor fellow's feelings.

We have less respect than ever for Theodore since his explanation. Brave men do not whine—they take the consequences.

If Theodore feels so badly about it, why doesn't he turn over a new leaf? It's never too late to be right.

David Beenit Hill is opposed to Judge Parker for the presidency. But there is one nice, baldheaded little man to whom David is not opposed.

If the rest of the country is as tired of the Indianola post office talk as we are, Theodore will be pardoned for cutting out all reference to it in future "explanations"

We extend the editorial glad hand to the Weekly News, the first issue of which blows in upon us from Robersonville. May the News live always and go to Heaven when it dies.

If there's any credit coming to Theodore for not being a politician, let him have it. Every North Carolina county has politicians who can give Theodore lessons in the first rudiments.

It begins to look as if Theodore will have to give the Charlotte postmastership to a democrat, as he does not seem able to find a member of his own political household with the right kind of a pedigree.

The Winston Salem Sentinel's new dress gives that bright paper the appearance of a man who has taken a bath and dressed in white duck and a straw hat for a stroll by the bounding wave in the good old summer time.

Not content with having a majority in congress, the republicans never lose an opportunity to rub it in the democratic minority. Anything in the way of "rules" that a republican congress cannot scare up isn't worth 10 cents on the dollar.

For sale or rent—one second hand peace proclamation, good as new, having been but recently landed in the Philippine. Renson for selling—another band of three hundred "patriots" have taken to the warpath in the Isle-that-knows-not-when-it's-licked.

If Greensboro, Charlotte and Raleigh can't come to an agreement as to the location of those monuments, Greenville will have to take them off their hands. There is just about as much reason why they should be located here as at some other places which have been mentioned.

A press dispatch from Winston-Salem says:

"Postoffice Inspector Frye had Monroe Cuthrell, colored, janitor and special messenger at the post office, arrested today on the charge of misplacing a registered letter containing ten dollars. In default of a $300 bond Cuthrell was committed to jail. It is believed that Cuthrell opened the letter and used the money."

"Misplaced!" Now if that negro janitor is up to-date he will plead that he did it to help the republican party.

Thanks.

The editor of the Greenville REFLECTOR has been twenty-five years in the business and is not rich yet, although his paper is better than ever before.—Durham Herald.

Saturday the Greenville REFLECTOR rounded up twenty-five years of continuous publication, and brother D. J. Whichard is to be congratulated upon his excellent work during these long years. He has published a clean, bright and conscientious paper, and his daily edition is a credit to any town.—Durham Sun.

Yesterday the editor of the Greenville REFLECTOR announced the completion of a quarter of a century in the editorial harness. During that time many phases of newspaper work have passed under his observation, and a much riper, fuller knowledge of life and humanity in its varied forms falls to his credit.

Greenville is to be congratulated because it is represented so ably by THE REFLECTOR; and THE REFLECTOR is especially fortunate in being edited by brother Whichard. May THE REFLECTOR enjoy many more years of prosperity.—Kinston Free Press.

Burial Scene on Broadway.

The sidewalks of Broadway and Vesey street were blocked yesterday morning by a multitude attracted by the unusual spectacle of a burial in St. Paul's churchyard.

Screens of canvass were stretched across the iron fence just in front of the Le Roy vault, only a few feet from the building line of Broadway and the vault which was built in 1803, was opened to admit the body of Miss Mary M. White, daughter of the late Campbell P. White and grand-daughter of Jacob Le Roy, who died on Sunday at her home, 13 West Twenty-fifth street. The funeral services were held in the morning at Calvary church.

The slab of the vault was deeply covered with snow. After the coffin was lowered the snow was shoveled back on the slab and the ground looked as if it had not been disturbed. The vault was last opened 18 years ago.—New York Sun.

READ IT THROUGH.

'Twould Spoil this Story to Tell it in the Headlines.

To use an 18th century expression, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melia Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced, as I was." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, and Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

When Rockettler bought Popocatapell he probably got a discount on account of the hole in the top of it.—Baltimore American.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I run down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." Jno. L. Wooten.

Mrs. Kidder—And then I thought there is no use quarreling with a milkman. Mr. Kidder—That's right. He'll make you take water every time.—Baltimore World.

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth street, Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. Two boxes of these Tablets have effected a permanent cure and she is now well and strong. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, and Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

"How are you going to vote on that question?" "Don't know yet," answered Senator Sorgum; "I'm waiting for a telegram."—Washington Star.

The Stomach is the Man.

A weak stomach weakens the man, because it cannot transform the food he eats into nourishment. Health and strength cannot be restored to any sick man or weak woman without first restoring health and strength to the stomach. A weak stomach cannot digest enough food to feed the tissues and revive the tired and run down limbs and organs of the body. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cleanses, purifies, sweetens and strengthens the glands and membranes of the stomach, and cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Jno. L. Wooten.

There seems to room for sharp politics even in the organization of the daughters of the revolution. With such practice the daughters will soon be qualified for the ballot box.—Florida Times-Union.

Colds are Dangerous.

How often you hear it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learns that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disregarded. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. It always cures and is pleasant to take. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, and Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

HER CHOICE OF REDS

[Copyright, 1902, by McClure's Newspaper Syndicate.]

Mary Cassell was frosting a cake by the pantry window. The new minister's reception was that evening, and the cake was part of the Cassell donation toward the refreshments.

Out in the kitchen Mrs. Cassell, with her sleeves rolled to her ample elbows, was resting from her labors of preparing a huge dish of chicken salad and chatting with a neighbor who had run in. Her maiden sister sat by the window working buttonholes in a white lawn dress.

"Is that Mary's?" asked the caller, nodding toward the white waist. "Is she going to wear it tonight?"

"Yes," said the mother, looking interestedly at it. "Awful plain, too, but she would have it that way. Kind of bridey, I tell her." And she laughed significantly.

"Did the minister go to college in the same town Mary's college was?" asked the caller, her voice lowering to a sepulchral whisper which more easily reached the pantry.

An angry flush rose to Mary's cheek, and she stepped to the door and sharply shut it before her mother's reply.

Two patches of color began to grow in the landscape outside the pantry window. Mary saw them simultaneously. One was vivid and scarlet and grew out of the field across the pasture lot. Presently it came and crossed the fence and became distinctly the new minister's handsome golfing attire. It was fine, knit and ribbed and had curiously feminine sleeves of scarlet taffeta silk.

The minister carried his bundle of golf sticks. He came and stood under Mary's pantry window and besought her to play. Strange insight that should make him sure 'twas Mary!

The other spot of color was red, too, deep, dull red. But, though it was not vivid like the other, it caught and held Mary's attention, and an answering glow of color flamed upon her cheek like the sunset in the autumn west. The minister saw it and thought he had brought it there.

The girl's eyes lifted toward the distant color coming nearer, while she gravely told the minister she could not play golf that morning.

It was David Halstead's old red flannel shirt that glimmered through the trees. She had known it from the first. It was open at the throat a little, showing where the white skin met the sunburn of his neck. As he looked toward the two at the window he gravely lifted the large straw farm hat from a forehead fine in outline where the damp hair clustered in dark rings. He thought the color in Mary's cheek was a reflection from the minister's red jacket, and she saw he thought so and blushed the more.

"You'll be out tonight, of course, Mr. Halstead?" the minister called joyously. He was young, and he was glad to be here and looking forward eagerly to the reception in his new, first church.

"I am not sure," answered David, the shadow of trouble flitting over his face. "My mother is not well." Then he turned away, bowing homage to the girl at the window.

The icing on the cake hardened perfectly and did Mrs. Cassell's reputation as a cakemaker high honor. Two women of the congregation sat eating it by the window of the Sunday school that looked diagonally across to the infant class windows. Their talk floated through the sweet night air:

"Yes, this is Miss Cassell's cake. I was up there today. She's just fixin' fer their Mary to carry off the minister with a high hand, and all because she's the only girl in town has been to college. As if she was any better fer that to keep house and be president of the woman's missionary societies and sew on his buttons. There's other girls in Fernwood as good lookin' and capable as she is."

The girl across in the other window, patiently cutting cake, turned white with anger, and, throwing down her knife, she rushed out of the open door and down the path between the grave-stones of the churchyard.

She ran on down the road after she had passed the churchyard gate, her white dress gleaming in the moonlight. "Mary!" called a voice behind her, and she heard footsteps. She but ran the faster.

"Mary!" came a voice more clearly now, and she suddenly stopped. No; that was not the minister.

"David! Is that you?" she asked, and there was the choke in her voice he remembered that time they went wading in the brook years ago and she got a thorn in her foot.

"I was going down to see how your mother is," she faltered in her college voice.

"Mary, there are tears on your face. Who are you running away from?" "From Mrs. Banks and Mrs. Nettleton and—and—the minister!"

"I thought you cared for him," said David when he could master the great joy in his voice, "and I would not let old vows stand in your way if you loved some one else. Mary, he is more your equal. He is educated and has a career before him. You know that it is too late for me ever to make of my life what I dreamed in my boyhood days. Mary, are you sure?"

"Sure, David—sure beyond a doubt! Do you think my love has not grown with these years of sacrifice on your part? Do you think I cannot recognize true nobleness? Oh, David, the new minister is a good man, but I doubt if he would be capable of giving up everything that life held dear for the future to save a mortgaged farm and care for a sick mother. I made my choice long, long ago and will never change it." And she raised to his face transfigured by love and faith.

GRACE L. HILL.

Sleeping on a Kong.

China is a land without mattresses or counterpanes. A bed, or kong, is merely a broad wall of brick built across the side of the room. On first acquaintance it seems absolutely impossible for an Anglo-Saxon, but a man in the interior of China must either sleep on a kong or not sleep at all. I determined that if the bricks would not yield to me I must yield to them, and, as a means of yielding gracefully, I studied the sleeping-methods of my Chinese companions. I found that their practice was to climb inside of quilted sacks, called pookas, which they tied and folded around themselves until a row of men on a kong looked not unlike sealed envelopes. Whenever they rolled or turned over in their sleep their pookas rolled with them. In whatever position they happened to lie on the brick pile they could not escape the ameliorating effect of their pookas. Obviously I, too, must have a pooka. From a dealer in leather in a town through which we passed I bought two goatskins. I had them sewed together, with the hair side in. I devised a system of strings by which I could tie myself in my appliance, and in this way I succeeded in sleeping in China.—Outing.

Rapid Work For Fingers.

The deaf and dumb, as every one knows, "speak" by means of their fingers. How many words, then, can a good hand speaker form in a minute? The average number of letters per word in the English language is five. Now, a ready hand speaker can make the English alphabet ten times in a minute—that is to say, 200 letters. It is usual for him to pause for the space of one letter after each word to show that the word is complete. If, therefore, we subtract from the total just given about one-sixth for these stoppages, the total will be reduced to 215 letters.

Let this be divided by five, the average number of letters per word, and we shall find that a fairly expert deaf and dumb person will speak forty-three words per minute. A person in possession of speech will probably speak 150 words in the same space of time.

Substitutes For Tobacco.

Dried holly leaves, the bark of the willow and leaves of the stag's horn sumac are among the substitutes for tobacco used by the American Indians. In Switzerland a weed called mountain tobacco is smoked in great quantities. It is powdered before using and causes the smoker to become a mental and physical wreck. The natives of South Africa are peculiarly affected by smoking the dried leaves of the camphor plant. The smoker trembles with fright at nothing, weeps bitterly and uses all sorts of words which do not in the least express his meaning. The wild dagg, another South African plant, poisons slowly any one using it.

Selling Elephants by Measure.

The Moors, who drive a trade in elephants through the Indies, have a fixed price for the ordinary type according to their size. To ascertain their true value they measure from the nail of the fore foot to the top of the shoulder, and for each cubit high they charge $500. An African elephant of the largest size measures about nine cubits, or thirteen and one-half feet, in height and is worth about $4,500. For huge Ceylon elephants $20,000 is sometimes paid.

Reply of a "Beardless Boy."

When Keppel, a commodore at twenty-four, was sent to demand an apology from the dey of Algiers for an insult to the British flag, he took so high a tone that the dey exclaimed against the insolence of the British king for charging a "beardless boy" with such a message to him. Replied the beardless boy, "Were my master wont to take length of beard for a test of wisdom he'd have sent your deyship a be goat."—Gentleman's Magazine.

The Word "Umbrella."

The English word umbrella is very like the Latin, coming through the Italian "ombrella," or "little shade." The French, German, Spanish and others give it a distinctive name, such as "parapluie," "regenschirm" and "paraguas." "Umbrella" and "parasol" are etymologically precisely the same thing, but custom has given them the distinctions that we understand today.

Easter Work.

"Why don't you try to carve your name high on the tablets of fame?" asked the poetic enthusiast.

"My friend," answered Senator Sorgum, a little severely, "there is no use in my dodging around with a hammer and chisel when I can do such effective work with a fountain pen and a check-book."—Washington Star.

Borrowing Trouble.

"I have heard a good deal about people who borrow trouble, but I think my wife is a champion in that line."

"Why, I thought she was always cheerful and contented with her lot."

"She was until our baby was born six weeks ago. Now she is worrying because he may marry some girl that we shall not like."

Ten Years to Get It.

Towne—Why, he told me he was getting along splendidly; fine salary and all that.

Browne—Indeed?

Towne—Yes, he told me he was getting $10,000.

Browne—So he is, at the rate of $1,000 per year.—Philadelphia Press.

Ungrammatical.

Dusty Rhodes—Will yer please give me a dime to get somethin' to eat with?

Bunker Hill—My good man, you cannot purchase a set of false teeth for 10 cents.

MISS FAY LEE,

President of the Shakespearean Club, Kansas City.

Miss Fay Lee.

"Your booklet came to my home like a message of health when I had suffered with headache, backache and bearing-down pains. I was weak, nervous and hysterical and had not consulted any doctor, thinking it would pass away in time, but instead I found that the pains increased and were more frequent. I decided to try Wine of Cardui and in a short time was much improved. It seemed to act like a charm. I kept up the treatment and the result was most satisfactory. Words fail to express my gratitude for the suffering that is now saved me. I am in fine health, physically and mentally. I can only say 'thank you', but there is much more in my heart for you."

BEARING-DOWN pains are the worst that women know. If you are suffering from this trouble you need not be uncertain about it. The pains in the abdomen and back that feel as if heavy weights were pulling down on the nerves of the stomach are "bearing-down pains." They may not be particularly severe at present but they are growing worse. That headache which nearly drives you distracted now is caused by the terrible nervous tension. The nerves soon begin to give way under the strain. You perhaps jump at any unusual disturbance, or laugh or weep, hysterically, at no apparent cause. That is what Miss Fay Lee, 603 1/2 North Seventh Street, Kansas City, Kansas, was coming to when she rescued herself by taking Wine of Cardui. The Wine made her a strong, healthy woman again, as it has made a million other women strong and healthy. By inducing regular menstruation the entire system is relieved of the terrible wasting drains. The ligaments which hold the womb in place are strengthened by a healthy flow and that organ is returned to its normal position. Returning health is the result. This is what Wine of Cardui has done for thousands of the best women in America.

If you need advice write The Ladies' Advisory Department, The Chattanooga Medicine Company, Chattanooga, Tenn., describing all your symptoms freely, and a letter of advice will be sent you. Secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist to-day.

WINE of CARDUI

A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by utter collapse unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, an effective nerve and the greatest all round medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c., and satisfaction guaranteed by Wooten's Pharmacy.

DEATH RATE DECREASING.

The 1900 census shows a decrease of 10 per cent in the general death rate. The decline in Consumption is more marked than any other disease. Many causes are attributed, but it is safe to say that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is responsible for this decline, to a large extent. Many a life has been saved by its use. There is nothing anywhere just as good for Lung and Throat troubles. It's positively guaranteed by Wooten's Pharmacy. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

Local option has displaced prohibition in Vermont.

They Were Ready for Work.

Somebody with a disposition to criticize has said that the fire steamer was broken down and not in condition for work Tuesday night. This is a mistake. The engine was placed at the tobacco town cistern and kept on some over a hundred pounds of steam, while the firemen had a line of hose ready for emergency in case an explosion of the burning oil tanks set fire to any adjacent buildings. But the firemen showed wisdom in not going near the burning tanks, where they could do no good and only be exposing themselves to danger.

The best pill 'neath the stars and stripes; It cleanses the system and never gripes. Little Early Risers of wordly repute— Ask for DeWitt's and take no substitute. A small pill, easy to buy, easy to take and easy to act, but never failing in results. DeWitt's Little Early Risers arouse the secretions and act as a tonic to the liver, curing permanently.

What's in a Name?

Everything is in the name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co. of Chicago, discovered, some years ago, how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles. For blind, bleeding itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, bruises and all skin diseases, DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. Jno. L. Wooten.

If it's a bilious attack, take Chamberlin's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and a quick recovery is certain. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, and Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

THE PLOT THICKENS,

But that has nothing to do with the fact that there is not a better Salve on earth than Bucklen's Arnica salve. It's a reliable cure for Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Corns, Sores, and Salt Rheum. Tried and tested and proved infallible for Piles. Only 25c. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded by Wooten's Pharmacy.

LOST HIS NERVE.

Those who climb mountains frequently find the dizzy depths too much for them and lose their nerve. Such is also the experience of those who neglect their stomach or bowels. Self-preservation demands Dr. King's New Life Pills. They are gentle but thorough. Only 25c. at Wooten's Pharmacy.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS AND BUSINESS NOTES.

NOTES.

WINTERVILLE, N. C., March 4. Mrs. Jack Smith, of Hanrahan, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. A. G. Cox last week, has returned home.

The postoffice at this place sent out last month on mail routes five thousand and seventy two pieces. How's that for the R. F. D.?

Mr. Josephus Cox has in his possession a most extraordinarily shaped hen egg. It is fully three times as long as it is large, measuring about one inch in diameter and three in length.

J. A. Sutton coming to town drunk and disorderly Monday afternoon, had to be confined in the guard house. Relatives took him home with them that night.

When a firm with the reputation for honesty and square dealing that the A. G. Gox Mfg. Co. has, puts an implement before the farmers telling them if it is not alright that it does not cost them a cent, nine tenths of them are going to try it. A very noticeable case of this kind has been their new style horse or hand fertilizer distributor just put on the market a few weeks ago. Not a word of complaint, we are told, has been heard. The truth of the matter is the first one was pretty thoroughly tested.

Ambrose Johnson, of Greenville, has moved his family to Winterville. He occupies the Ben Tucker house next to J. W. Sparks.

W. H. Harris, of Ayden, was in town yesterday seeing about a lot of work that he is having done in the factory here.

Miss Meta Dew, matron at the girls' dormitory, had a severe attack of acute rheumatism Monday afternoon. We are glad to hear she is much better.

The Baptist Sunday school will have a new organ. A sufficient amount has already been contributed to purchase same.

Several large loads of wire fence left the factory here this week, but the end is not yet. It was all on one reel the farmers would hardly let it stop turning.

J. R. Patrick and B. F. D. Albritton, of Hookerton, were here on business Tuesday.

Winterville Manufacturing Company has already begun building. Another horse died in town yesterday (if it was not the same one.) Being in good hands and well cared for it is more than likely that the trouble was heart failure.

The road master tells us that a train load or so of gravel will be brought real soon. West Railroad street will get the benefit of this.

Now is the time to set out a lot of shade trees. The maple seems to live here better than any other tree. If some man who has a lot of them on his land will bring several wagon loads of nice ones he can readily dispose of them at 25 cents each.

The meanest man in Atlanta has been found at last. His wife asked him where he got a black eye and he said he had been run over by a steamboat the night before.
