Save the Checks you get at Ricks & Wilkinson's

The above is the motto of a system of business in operation for benefit of cash buyers at this store. Every cash purchaser gets with each purchase a check similar to this:

75 APR 21
RICKS & WILKINSON,
Dealers in Fine Dress Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Hats and all kinds of Furnishing Goods.
B $10.00
Save your checks and when you get $20.00 worth return to Ricks and Wilkinson and get 50 cents in trade.
It pays to buy for cash.

It means on April 21 you bought and paid for goods to the amount of $10.00, under our contract that whenever such purchases added together amount to $20.00 the return of the checks will entitle you to 50 cents worth of goods free. In other words, we will pay a dividend of 2½ per cent. on every $20.00 you spend in cash at our store, making you a partner in our business to that extent.

The check is printed and the transaction recorded and the dividend made possible by our New National Cash Register. It is a beautiful piece of mechanism and the perfection of system and accuracy in business transactions between clerks and customers. You would pick up a dollar if you found it on the street, and think you were in luck. You can pick up dollars here. But it is not luck, it is business—good business. We are bringing all our resources to bear to make it pay you to be a regular customer at this store.

False Prophets.

Prophet Dowie, who pleases himself with the title of "Elijah the Second," is not such a howling success as a prophet as he is a financier. He slipped up in every one of his predictions in the recent Chicago elections and in order to square himself with his flock, is charging wholesale bribery.—Charlotte News.

Business is Business.

The American Tobacco company should not be allowed to run the town and at the same time it would be foolish on the part of the town to attempt to put the company out of business. It is a part of the town, and a pretty large part, and is entitled to the same consideration that is shown any other business or industry.

Good Amateur Company

The Trinity School Dramatic Co., of Chocowinity, presented the drama "Diamonds and Hearts" in the opera house here Monday night. For amateurs the acting was splendid and equally as good as many of the professional theatrical companies that come around. There was also a quartette with the company who sang well. They had a large audience.

A Tribe of Red Men.

On Monday afternoon a tribe of Red Men was organized in this city. The movement was started about a week ago to institute the tribe here and a good list of names were secured—about thirty. The tribe will be name Withlacooche Tribe, No. 35. The following officers were elected:
Prophet—F. M. Hodges.
Sachem—S. T. White.
Senior Sagamore—C. P. Snuggs.
Junior Sagamore—W. G. Ward.
Chief of Records—J. I. Smith.
Keeper of Wampum—D. W. Hardee.
Collector of Wampum—R. Hyman.
Keeper of Wigwam—W. F. Burch.

The degree team of Tan Tribe, of Washington, will come by special boat on next Thursday to institute Withlacooche Tribe and the genuine Indian war-whoop will be heard in the old town.

AYDEN ITEMS.

AYDEN, N. C., April 21, 1903.

Mr. Bounds, of Parmele spent Sunday night in South Ayden.

Ayden was lighted by electricity Friday night. The electric plant is in good order, so we have light all night.

Saturday night the bard from our sister town, Winterville, came over and gave us a rare musical treat. We are always glad to have our Winterville friends come over. We were also glad to see several over from Greenville.

Bro. Bishop, the presiding elder of this district, held services at the Methodist church Sunday. Quite a large crowd was present and listened to a most instructive sermon. This being the regular quarterly meeting communion services were held after the sermon.

Miss Delia Smith left yesterday to visit her sister, Mrs. Mason, near Whichard.

Joe May and Willie Kilpatrick, of Centerville, spent a short while in town yesterday.

Several of our people attended services at Garris' Sunday evening. Miss Sallie Tucker is visiting her sister, Mrs. Watt Quinerly.

Brother Eare, of Greenville, is holding a revival at the Methodist church this week.

R. W. Smith went to Greenville yesterday.

It is This Way.

In his speech on Thomas Jefferson in Washington the other night, Senator Hoar had it down exactly right when he said that a proof of Jefferson's greatness is found in the fact "that men of every variety of political opinion, however far asunder, find confirmation of their doctrine in him." That is a fact. Every political ism with which the country is now or has been cursed since the days of Jefferson claims to have foundation in his teachings.—Statesville Landmark.

'Twas Ever Thus.

A Philadelphia newspaper man has recently died at the age of 83 years, still in the harness. He got tangled up in the harness and couldn't get out.—Wilmington Star.

Bethel Ahead.

Mr. T. A. Carson, of Bethel, tells us that the people of that section are doing some bragging about their potato crop this season. He says the crop is about fifteen days earlier than any former year and the prospects look to a fine crop.

"And so Professor Gustavus has at last discovered the missing link! Where did he find it?" "Under the bureau, I understand."—Baltimore News.

Complimentary Dance.

After the play in the opera house Monday night the young men of the town gave a dance complimentary to Misses Holt and Steele, guests of Miss Irma Cobb.

The following couples participated in the dance:

Miss Holt with C. B. Mayo.
Miss Steele with R. C. White.
Miss Bertha Patrick with A. M. Moeley.

Miss Nell Skinner with J. B. Higgs.
Miss Irma Cobb with Harry Skinner.

Miss Bettie Tyson with C. S. Forbes.
Miss May Bell White with Joseph Minetree.

Miss Bessie Patrick with Leslie Newton.
Miss Pattie Skinner with C. S. Carr.

Daughters Confederacy.

T. J. Jarvis Chapter of the Daughters of Contederacy was delightfully entertained by Miss Carrie Gay on Friday afternoon, April 17th. The president called the meeting to order and business was disposed of. The program for the evening was as follows—a reading of the battle of Fredericksburg by Miss Helen Forbes. A reading of the battle of Bunker Hill by Miss Ethel Skinner.

Both of the readings were throughly enjoyed. The hostess furnished a guessing contest, a floral party, Miss Helen Forbes winning the prize.

Delicious refreshments were served after which the Chapter adjourned to meet with Miss Lottie Skinner.

Sermon to Odd Fellows.

Next Sunday, 26th, being the anniversary of the Odd Fellows, the order here will attend church in a body to here a sermon delivered especially to them by Dr. F. D. Swindell, of Goldsboro. The sermon will be preached in the Baptist church at 11 o'clock a. m.

The Maid—"What makes you chew your mustache, so, Reggie? Are you fond of discouragement?" The thing—"Discouragement—aw!" The Maid—"Yes; feeling down in the mouth, you know."—Harvard Lampoon.

Our good friends of the Wilson Times concludes a very conservative article upon the establishment of a dispensary in its town, with the earnest admonition: Now let all unite and "make the dispensary a success." May we enquire in what respect?—Raleigh Post.

Preacher Fife has "held up" on preaching and is selling mining stock with an office in San Antonio, Texas. On account of throat trouble he has been forbidden to preach. His advertisements have the ear-marks of his sermons.—News-Observer.

"Madam, I caught your husband making love to my wife. "Oh, lovely! Then he hasn't forgotten how!"—Life.

Wife (locking up from paper)—"What was 'Hobson's choice, anyway?" Husband—"Mrs. Hobson, I suppose."—Chicago Daily News.

The New White Front

This store has been crowded with visitors and customers from the first day it was opened, and feels very grateful to its friends for the kind words of praise and the liberal patronage which it has received. The stock is large and complete in each line shown. The weavers have certainly outdone themselves in bringing forth novelties in fabrics.

An elaborate and noteworthy showing of all the new ideas.

Space forbids mentioning the different lines, but we wish to call especial attention to the Beautiful Dress Goods, Trimmings, Summer Lawns and Thin materials.

The White Goods Showing is a feast of beauty. The many beautiful things shown here for Ladies' wear easily makes this

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 21, 1903.

"A MAN'S A MAN FOR ALL OF THAT"

Discussing the proposition that judges of the Supreme court wear gowns, the Wilmington Messenger grows somewhat red in the face as it recalls the antics of judges of by-gone days. The burden of The Messenger's logic is that because certain judges who did not wear gowns misbehaved, judges of today should don the priestly garb and thus save their manners. Our contemporary is of course, entitled to its opinion, but we think it goes rather too far out of its way in the following slam upon its brethren of the press:

"Among the democratic politicians, (the self constituted leaders of the party) and editors there are a great many demagogues who will take up any cry which they think will please the masses and give themselves the chance of securing a front seat in the band wagon. It strikes us this is the object in view of many of those editors who are making such a howl about the proposition of the State Bar Association."

Who are the "great many editorial demagogues who will take up any cry which they think will please the masses and give themselves the chance of securing a front seat in the band wagon?" Show them to us. If there are a "great many" such editors, they certainly are not on our exchange list. The Messenger might as well have been exact about it and said just how many. Never in the history of the state has the press been conducted on a higher plane, as regards politics. During campaigns of the last few years there have been no such character assassinations as disgraced the profession at one time. The Messenger's charge is hasty and ill-considered.

As to the gown proposition, common sense ought to promptly dismiss it. The law is as truly dignified in the mouth of a cross roads magistrate as in the highest court in the land. A magistrate in a gown would be a laughable spectacle indeed, and a Supreme court judge thus attired would be no less so.

Will Allen White, the literary genius of Emporia, Kansas, has suffered the humiliation of seeing "that man's town" go democratic, though the town is normally republican. Once in awhile those Emporians get it in their heads to go to Will Allen for advice and then do the opposite thing.

"While trying to shoot a hawk, a young man near Brevard last week sighted a little too low and shot his sister's 'big' toe off," says the Hendersonville Hustler. Now, was the hawk roosting on the girl's "big" toe, or was the girl's "big" toe boosting the hawk?

And now, Bill William Hohenzollern, we would call your attention to the fact that we are launching big warships every day or so. It is a way we have.

James Marshall Head is the Commoner's second guess for the presidency. Who is he? We don't know, but he is probably so far ahead of the nomination that it will never catch up with him.

We cannot regard that state paper which prints a half-page whiskey ad as a disinterested authority on the liquor question.

We suggest to the Charlotte News that it put a ball and chain on its news service and hang out a sign "Keep off the grass."

Yes, dear reader, Mr. Cleveland looks much more like a gentleman than his picture in the newspapers indicate.

Mark Twain has tackled the German language in his old age. Mark began about 50 years too late.

Mr. Cleveland's case is now quite hopeless, Colonel John R. Webster having handed him the rinky dink.

Chinch Bugs Ruin Wheat Crop.

Farmers from the eastern part of Mecklenburg and the upper portion of Cabarrus counties who were in the city yesterday said that the chinch bugs are playing havoc with the wheat and oat crop in their section of the country. The pests seem to come out of the ground and destroy the grain by the acre. A large number of the farmers are plowing up their crop of wheat and oats and will plant cotton on the land. They have much fear for the coming crop of corn and will not plant corn on the land where the other grain crops have been destroyed.—Charlotte Observer.

W. H. Whitehead, Jr., of South Carolina, who is a student at Wake Forest college, a Miss Maud Ellis, a daughter of the matron of one of the college clubs, ran away and were married Sunday. The ceremony took place in the public road.

Miss Willie Harten, of Henrietta, while riding along the road with her father, was struck on the head by a falling telephone pole and received injuries that resulted in death.

Luther, Barber, of Cary, who was doing some work in Roanoke, Va., was instantly killed by a derrick falling and striking him on the head.

In Buncombe county Charles Britt was shot and killed by another young man named Herren in a quarrel about a woman.

Another large hotel will be built at Southern Pines.

A Prominent Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Rev. Francis J. Davidson, pastor of the St. Matthew Baptist church and president of the Third District Baptist Association, 31 Second St., New Orleans, writes as follows: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for cramps and pains in the stomach and found it excellent. It is in fact the best cramp and colic remedy I have ever used. Also several of my parishioners have used it with equally satisfactory results." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy Farmville.

There will always be a lot of theatrical "stars" left over.

A Demonstration of What Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Can Do.

"One of our customers, a highly respected citizen of this place, had been for ten years a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea," writes Walden & Martin, druggist, of Enterprise, Ala. "He had used various patent preparations and had been treated by physicians without any permanent benefit. A few months ago he commenced taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a short time was entirely cured. Many citizens of Enterprise who know the gentleman will testify to the truthfulness of his statement." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy Farmville.

"Yes," remarked the loud-voiced man with the diamond stud, "I am out of politics for good."
 "Ah," murmured the sedate little fellow in the corner, "May I ask for whose good?"

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store Greenville Farmville Pharmacy Farmville.

It's as great a gift to listen to a funny story as it is to tell one—and a much more popular gift.

Due Notice is Served.

Due notice is hereby served on the public generally that DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is the only salve on the market that is made from the pure, unadulterated witch hazel. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has cured thousands of cases of piles that would not yield to any other treatment, and this fact has brought out many worthless counterfeits. Those persons who get the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve are never disappointed, because it cures. Jno. L. Wooten.

A happy medium—the jovial clairvoyant.

For liver troubles and constipation, There's nothing better in creation Than Little Early Risers, the famous little pills. They always effect a cure and save doctor bills. Little Early Risers are different from all other pills. They do not weaken the system, but act as a tonic to the tissues by arousing the secretions and restoring the liver to the full performance of its functions naturally. Jno. L. Wooten.

It is much better to scatter seeds of kindness than to sow wild oats.

A Sweet Breath

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. Crick, White Plains, Ky., writes: "I have been a dyspeptic for years—tried all kinds of remedies but continued to grow worse. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Jno. L. Wooten.

Shadow Superstitions.

Our proverb, "Devil catch the hindmost," is based on one of the curious shadow legends. According to the fable, the devil had a regular school at Toledo, Spain. Commencement was inaugurated by the graduating class running through a long subterranean hall. The devil hid at a place known only to himself, and if he "caught the hindmost" he ever after claimed him or her as his special property. Sometimes he only caught the shadow, and the persons thus deprived of their "second self" were supposed to make the best astrologers and magicians.

Nearly all East Indian tribes as well as the Malaysians and several African sects believe that if a man walks along the south bank of a river casting his shadow across the water a crocodile will seize it and thus draw the owner to certain death.

Several writers, Fiske among the rest, say that the Zulus have a superstition similar to that of the old Babylonians—viz, that a dead body has no shadow. The Modocs and the Klamaths of Oregon formerly refused to have their pictures taken for fear that the process would take away their shadows. In the Aryan folk tale the "witchdalo," or "infernal Sabbath," was celebrated only by witches' shadows.

Hitch Your Wagon to a Star.

A student of the horse thus explains where Emerson's epigram, "Hitch your wagon to a star," originated: Long before the war there was a famous trotting stallion of the name of American Star, belonging to one Seely, American Star mares became scattered all through New England and New York, for they were the best roadsters in the country, and every farmer must have one. It soon became well understood that in order not to lose the respect of the community one must drive nothing else. Later it became a subject of banter. If one farmer passed another on the road, he would look over his shoulder and shout, "Why don't you hitch your wagon to a star?" Unquestionably Emerson many a time had heard the remark, and in his lecture on "American Civilization" at the Smithsonian institution in 1862 he rung it in for the first time, advising mankind in general to aim high and "Hitch your wagon to a star," thus converting a common incident into a figurative allusion.

Queer African Mask.

Grotesque masks are worn in many parts of Africa during dances and religious ceremonies. The reason is because a symbolic significance is attached to them and they are especially supposed to possess the power of preserving those who wear them from the influence of evil spirits. The masks are generally made of wood, and some are carved with rare skill. When a chief or the head of a family dies, he leaves his mask to his successor, and the latter is bound to wear it. In every village there is an artist who repairs masks and occasionally makes a few new ones, and it is said that no one does a more thriving business than he.

Ethnologists have been trying to find out the exact time when these masks first came into use, but all they have learned as yet is that they have been popular in Africa for many centuries.

Somnambulism.

Somnambulism? What is it? Did you ever walk in your sleep? If so, you know just about as much about this strange use of the faculties and senses of the mind and the body as does the average physician. Somnambulism has been a mystery and a matter of discussion to the medical profession since the days of the ancients. They knew as well as we all now know that there is such a thing as somnambulism or walking in the sleep. They attempted to explain it just as modern medical science has been endeavoring to explain it ever since. But as it was then so it is now. There are so many explanations that even the physician is puzzled to decide which to accept.

Ostrich Plumes.

In each wing of an ostrich twenty-six long white plumes grow to maturity in eight months. In the male these are pure white, while those of the female shade to ecru or gray. The short feathers are plucked for tips, and each wing furnishes seventy-five of these. The tall feathers are of a deep old ivory color, and sixty-five of these have a commercial value. In a plucking at the Coronada ostrich farm 300 feathers were obtained from one bird. The female ostrich lays seventy eggs a year.

Waiting For the Change.

"It was too bad to keep you waiting so long for your change," said the smiling shopgirl as she counted it out. "I am afraid I have given you a bad quarter."
 "What?" exclaimed Mr. Tytephist in alarm.
 "Of an hour."
 "Oh!" he said, considerably relieved.

A Bath at Tiflis.

To take a bath at Tiflis is to court a wonderful experience. Abundant springs of water, strongly impregnated with sulphureted hydrogen, supply the building, and in its vaulted chambers, far below the street, there is no sound but the splash of the fountain and the rolling echo of one's own voice. Henry Norman gives a description of the masseur who presides over the bath and makes its most eccentric feature. "He is a Persian, who speaks but a word or two of Russian. His head is shaved, a rag is twisted round his waist, and his feet are dyed orange. "First he rubs you, and then suddenly, as you lie face downward on the marble slab, he is upon your back, his feet dug into your spine, his hands grasping your shoulders, to increase the pressure. Slowly, with skillful appreciation of every muscle, his feet grind up and down your back. They encircle your neck. They are on your head."
 "Then he vaults lightly off, and in a moment from a linen bag filled with soap he has squeezed clouds of perfumed bubbles, and you are hidden in them from head to foot as completely as if you had fallen into a snowdrift. You are not absolutely bruised, but you are clean."

Sweetness That Never Fails.

During a sleepless night the Vizier Mujjeduddin Kumija dispatched his slave, Bedruddin Ejas, to bring him sweets. The slave procured a copper kettle heaped with many kinds of fruits and sweets, and Mujjeduddin began to eat.
 "You relish them, my master?" asked the slave.
 The vizier shrugged his shoulders. "These fruits are sweet—for the moment," he said, "but show me a fruit the sweetness of which will endure even unto the judgment day."
 "Such fruits there are, my master," cried the slave and hastened toward the Mesched Husa, where he awoke the starving orphans in the house of Aliwin and led them forth and into the room of his master. Overjoyed, the famished children devoured the fruits.
 "Look, oh, my master," said the slave. Here you see fruits the sweetness of which endures unto the judgment day."—New York Press.

Betrothal Customs.

The Scandinavian bridegroom presents to his betrothed a prayer book and many other gifts, which usually include a goose. She in turn gives him, especially in Sweden, a shirt, and this he invariably wears on his wedding day. Afterward he puts it away, and under no circumstances will he wear it again while alive. But he wears it in his grave, and there are Swedes who earnestly believe not only in the resurrection of the body, but in the veritable resurrection of the betrothal shirts of such husbands as have never broken any of their marriage vows. The Swedish widower must destroy on the eve of his second marriage the bridal shirt which his first wife gave him.

To Boil Water Without a Kettle.

"My wife and I," says a traveling man, "were once in a hotel where we couldn't get any boiling water. After we had discussed the situation my wife asked me if I had an envelope in my satchel. I got one out, when she told me to fill it with water and hold it over the gas jet. I hesitated, but finally did it and expected to see the envelope blaze up every minute. But it didn't blaze. The envelope took on a little soot, but that was all. The water boiled in time, and the envelope was as good as ever when the experiment was at an end. I don't know the chemistry of the process, but try it yourself and see if it will not work."

The Oriental Amethyst.

The oriental amethyst is really a violet colored sapphire, which is an exceedingly rare gem and of brilliant luster. It is regarded as a sacred stone, and it is used to ornament the cross and the pastoral ring of Catholic bishops. The ancients often used the amethyst for cutting figures both in relief and in intaglio, and there is in the national library of France a delicately wrought profile of Maccenas, a Roman statesman of Octavian's time, engraved on amethyst by Dioscorides, one of the four celebrated engravers mentioned by Pliny.

Caught the Students.

There was formerly a barber in Harvard square who caught the university custom with this classic appeal which some friendly patron suggested:
 Siste, viator,
 Submitte collum tonsori
 Et abi alter Adonis.
 "Traveler, stay, submit your neck to the barber and depart a second Adonis."

Businesslike.

"Some people," said the caller with a slight sneer, "seem to think that signing checks is the most important thing in life."
 "I know it," rejoined Senator Sorghum, "and it's a mistake, my boy; a sad mistake. Getting the money in bank in the first place is what counts."
 —Washington Star.

Agreed on One Point.

"But I am so unworthy, darling," he murmured as he held the dear girl's hand in his.
 "Oh, George," she sighed, "if you and papa agreed on every other point as you do on that how happy we could be!"

Superstitions.

"What! Did you let the examinations go by again, Carl?"
 "I'll tell you, father. On the way to the college I met an old woman, and then I turned back again."—Fliegende Blätter.

If some men and a good many women were to lose the use of their tongues, life for them would not be worth living.

Mammon has a mortgage on half the people in this world and the other half don't object to having a little money—occasionally.

Many a young man who falls in love is raised from that condition by the girl's father.

The tailor-made woman is often more or less ashamed of her husband, the self-made man.

Mr. Charley Andrews, of this city, was badly hurt by the kick of a horse this afternoon. He hitched up preparatory to taking a drive, and attempted to get into his buggy, but as he did so his foot slipped from the stirrup and he fell over on the shaft. This frightened the horse so that she kicked Mr. Andrews on the head, just back of the ear, rendering him completely deaf, since he has not been able for some time to hear with the other ear. Mr. Andrews is in a serious condition.—Kinston Free Press.

A THOUGHTFUL MAN.

M. M. Austin of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble, physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c, at Jno. L. Wooten's Drug Store.

The Epworth League meeting is postponed until next Monday night.

ALL WERE BAFFLED.

Word comes from Wake, Ark., that Rev. Jno. J. Cox had a strange malady accompanied by yellow jaundice. For 12 years, physicians were baffled and though everything known to the profession was used, the trouble remained. One day he began to use Electric Bitters and in a week, a change for the better came and, at length, he was entirely cured. It's the most reliable medicine for Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c and guaranteed by Wooten's Pharmacy druggist.

DAYS OF ABSENCE.

Days of absence, sad and dreary,
Clothed in sorrow's dark array;
Days of absence, I am weary,
She I love is far away.
When the heavy sigh be banished;
When this bosom cease to mourn
Hours of bliss, too quickly vanish?
When will angel-like you return?

Not till that loved voice can greet me,
Which so oft has charmed mine ear,
Not till those sweet eyes can meet me
Telling that I still am dear
Days of absence then will vanish,
Joy will all my pangs repay;
Soon my bosom's idol banish
Gloom, but felt when she's away.

All my love is turned to sadness,
Absence pays the tender vow,
Hopes that filled the heart with gladness
Memory turns to anguish now;
Love may yet return to greet me,
Hope may take the place of pain;
Antoinette with kisses meet me
Breathing love and peace again.
—JEAN JACQUES ROUSSEAU.
