April turns Mayward. April has a double function to perform. She must, by hook or crook, get Winter to leave the stage, and she is naturally disagreeable until he has gone. Then in a moment she becomes all smiles and sunshine, and gives us a foretaste of May.

Today everybody is ready to welcome the new season, and there is no place like this store to help you to the new things and make Spring favorable and delightful. Men of good judgment come to this store for their furnishings.

Most women know that we carry a splendid line of Dress Goods and Trimmings.

STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT THE ANNUAL MEETING IN KINSTON.

The State Sunday school convention at Kinston is a great meeting. A large number of prominent Sunday school workers, not only throughout North Carolina but from other states also, are in attendance, and the influence going out from the convention will be felt far and wide. A movement was started at the Wednesday night session to bring about the organization of every county in the State for more efficient Sunday school work. This will be a means of reaching the several hundred thousand children in North Carolina who are not attending any Sunday school.

The convention at Kinston is the best that has yet been held in the State. That town is entertaining the delegates and visitors handsomely with that hospitality for which North Carolina is famous.

HIGH DIVER IS A LIFE CRIPPLE

WASHINGTON CARNIVAL PERFORMER INJURED

90-FOOT PLATFORM COLLAPSED

BOTH ANKLES BADLY CRUSHED AND AMPUTATION MAY BE NECESSARY.

Washington, N. C., April 30.—Wednesday evening the high diver of the carnival met with an accident that leaves him a cripple for life.

One feature of the carnival was of have been a daily dive from a 90 foot ladder into a 3 foot pool of water. The paraphernalia for this daring feat was delayed in reaching Washington so that the ladder was not erected until Wednesday and the first dive was to have taken place that night.

After the ladder had been put up the diver went up to test it and see if everything was all right. While he was at the top one of the guy ropes pulled loose from its fastenings and the ladder started over. The diver at once began a rapid descent, but had not reached more than half way down when the ladder broke in two beneath him, giving him a fall of nearly 50 feet to the pavement.

Hundreds of spectators in the street witnessed the accident and expected to see the man dashed to pieces on the pavement. The diver, being an athlete, kept himself in a perpendicular position while falling and landed squarely on his feet. This saved his life, but the fall was with such force that both ankles were terribly crushed.

Though so badly hurt the man did not lose consciousness and dictated a telegram to his wife, advising her of the accident before being placed under the effect of anesthetics for his injuries to be examined. The physicians think one of his feet will have to be amputated.

Tobacco.

The tobacco crop is planted in May for the most part. Since the introduction of the cold frames in the growing of plants in the seed beds the planting of tobacco has been advanced fully twenty days. When open-air beds were relied upon for growing the plants beetles infested them, the cold winds of spring checked their growth, and there was always a delay in planting the crop. Rarely was the transplanting finished in the border states before the 10th of June.

The satisfactory prices that were paid for the last crop are stimulating the growers to renewed efforts for another crop. The weather, however, has been greatly against them. A large majority of the seed beds were prepared much later than usual. Tobacco land was not broken up until vegetation began to grow. The possibilities are that much injury will be done by cutworms and grasshoppers to the young plants after being set out. Grasshoppers may be destroyed by dusting the young plants after transplantation with a mixture of paris green and flour, twenty parts of the latter to one of the former. Cutworms may also be sensibly diminished by a like treatment.

Tobacco land should be rebroken during this month and thoroughly is best because:

1. It costs less to do a job of painting with it for it covers most surface, and spreads easiest.
2. It looks best because it brushes out evenly, the oil in it is purest, and the colors clearest and most lasting.

3. It wears longest, and is most economical, because it puts off for the longest time the need for repainting.

Large Tobacco Planting.

Greensboro, N. C., April 28.—Representative farmers say preparations are being made to plant a very large crop of tobacco in this section this year. The lower prices the farmers have recently been realizing from the sale of the weed have not caused them to lose faith in the predictions of high prices when the new crop comes in. It is known that the supply of bright leaf tobacco is short and the farmers reason that the demand will force prices to a profitable level.

Woman Commits Suicide.

Louisburg, N. C., April 28.—Mrs. Jno. W. Poythress, about four miles from here, committed suicide this morning by shooting a load of shot into her head. She has had some mental trouble for the past two months. This morning at about 1 o'clock she got a gun and going to the hall of her home, she placed the muzzle under her chin and fired. Her death was instantaneous. She was about 22 years old. She leaves a husband and a child about one year old.

It Was Splendid.

That is the verdict of all who were at the opera house Wednesday night to witness "Ingomar" presented by Miss Rachael Lewis and her superb company. It was a thrilling play, and Greenville has seen no better acting. The audience expressed its delight in frequent applause.

Onida's thrilling story, "Under Two Flags," will be presented tonight.

In closing April has given us a few beautiful days as if to compensate for the many bad ones during the month.

barrowed. All grass should be destroyed. (Like corn land, tobacco land should be carefully and constantly worked before the tobacco is transplanted. If this is done and the soil thoroughly pulverized, there will be fewer missing hills.

After this careful preparation and the leveling of the surface by a good harrowing, the land should be checked off three and one-half feet each way for heavy shipping tobacco, or three feet each way for the yellow tobacco. The checking may be done either with a one-horse plow or with a coulter or bulltongue. At the intersection of the rows fertilizers should be applied, from a teaspoonful to one or two tablespoonsful, and a small flat hill made over it. The hills should be compacted as made by patting each with the hoe. Seed leaf and Sumatra are planted in drills three feet apart and the plants set twenty inches in the row.

The best rotation for tobacco is clover, wheat, tobacco, and then clover again, which should hold the ground two years in four. Another rotation is cowpeas, wheat, tobacco. Still another is tobacco, rye, corn, tobacco. Tobacco will grow well after corn if the land is fertile. There are many fertilizers on the market for tobacco. In fact, next to cotton, the largest quantity of commercial fertilizers is used with the tobacco crop. Stable manure should be applied to the preceding crop to get the best results with the tobacco crop. A good fertilizer for tobacco should have a large per cent. of potash.—Southern Farm Magazine.

Bank Clerk Gets Six Years in the Penitentiary.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28.—G. Hallman Sims today pleaded guilty to the embezzlement of $94,000 of the funds of the Capital City National bank and was sentenced to six years in the federal prison. Sims was collection clerk of the bank, and was for some time a prominent figure in the social world of Atlanta.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 30, 1903.

A good stroke of business for Baltimore was consummated when the $300,000 bond issue of North Carolina passed into the hands of two Baltimore firms. Before and since the war North Carolina has been one of Baltimore's best customers and there are strong ties binding the one to the other. However, Norfolk, Richmond and Northern cities have been making strong bids for our business of recent years, and Baltimore has not received as great a per cent. of North Carolina trade as in years gone by. The purchase of our bonds by Baltimoreans will have the effect of reminding us that the Monumental City has always been our friend, and has had a large share in our prosperity. Baltimore is today, as it has been for a half century, our best market, and this renewed evidence of friendship means much for all concerned.

President Roosevelt left off trust busting long enough to kiss a few babies. We thought this method of electioneering belonged exclusively to the small ward politicians. But there's no accounting for tastes.

A Raleigh headline states that robbers secured $35,000.00 at LaGrange. This will be interesting news to those LaGrange people who have been wandering where all the money had gone to.

"Well, we haven't seen any of those half hose yet, and yesterday was a pretty day for it," says the Winston Journal. Maybe it was the other half.

The esteemed Wilmington Star uses Latin in its local columns. We thought this custom had long ago vanished to the realm of oblivion.

We suppose, of course, that the Edenton Hearst boomer received an invitation to attend William Randolph's wedding.

115 Miles of Strawberries.
Saturday's and Sunday's shipments of strawberries, as officially reported by Mr. H. T. Bauman, from the junction office at South Rocky Mount, amounted to the stupendous figures of 122 solid cars and and 1,433 crates by southern express. Reduced to lower denominations, the shipments were 38,033 crates or 1,271,056 quarts. If the little quart baskets in the crates shipped Saturday and Sunday were placed side by side from Wilmington, they would reach 115 miles or beyond Florence, S. C., nearly to Raleigh Charlotte and almost to New Bern and Goldsboro and back again. If they should net the growers even five cents per quart, they will bring to this section $60,852.80.—Wilmington Star.

The Faircloth Will Settled.
The Supreme court yesterday handed down its decision in the matter of the late Chief Justice Faircloth's will. It is favorable to the Baptist Female University in that it holds that the institution can get at once the part of the real estate willed to it that is not covered by Mrs. Faircloth's dower, and that it is entitled to the $1,000 donated by Judge Faircloth about thirty days before his death.

The parties interested in the will of Judge Faircloth submitted all questions arising therefrom to the court, the executor asking for advice as to the administrator of the estate, and all parties interested asking for a construction of the will.—News and Observer, 29th.

Building and loan associations are town builders and no town should be without one. Statesville has had an association for 17 years and it has done more for the upbuilding of the town than any other one thing in it. These associations provide a way for people of small means to buy their own homes and pay for them with money that would go for rent; they are a good savings bank, and in numerous ways they contribute to the progress and welfare of a community.—Statesville Land mark.

A man with an income of $150 per annum advertised in an English paper for a wife. He received 500 answers from women who were willing to share his mite of a salary. All of which goes to show that some marriages are not made for money, that some men are loved for themselves and that there are loads and loads of women who will take all sorts of chances just to get married.—Durham Sun.

A Prominent Minister Recommends Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Rev. Francis J. Davidson, pastor of the St. Matthew Baptist church and president of the Third District Baptist Association, 21 a Second St., New Orleans, writes as follows: "I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for cramps and pains in the stomach and found it excellent. It is in fact the best cramp and colic remedy I have ever used. Also several of my parishioners have used it with equally satisfactory results." A Demonstration of What Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Can Do.

"One of our customers, a highly respected citizen of this place, had been for ten years a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea." writes Walden & Martin, druggist, of Enterprise, Ala. "He had used various patent preparations and had been treated by physicians without any permanent benefit. A few months ago he commenced taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and in a short time was entirely cured. Many citizens of Enterprise who know the gentleman will testify to the truthfulness of his statement." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy Farmville.

A disordered stomach may cause no end of trouble. When the stomach fails to perform its functions the bowels become deranged, the liver and kidneys congested, causing numerous diseases, the most fatal of which are painless and therefore the more to be dreaded. The important thing is to restore the stomach and liver to a healthy condition, and for this purpose no better preparation can be used than Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Good for Children.

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Cough, Croup and LaGrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect right at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life-sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues.

A Sweet Breath

is a never failing sign of a healthy stomach. When the breath is bad the stomach is out of order. There is no remedy in the world equal to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for curing indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders. Mrs. Mary S. By the use of Kodol I began to improve at once, and after taking a few bottles am fully restored in weight, health and strength and can eat whatever I like." THE HOLDUP OF MARY ASHTON

(Original.)

Mary Ashton had a remarkable talent for all games. Mary's father went to Colorado with his family and engaged in banking before the days when railroads carried people everywhere. Mary showed as much aptitude at western sports, shooting, riding, skating, as she had shown at other games. A natural fearlessness was a great help to her in these more manly sports. That was the time Redhand Bill, as he was called, was masquerading as a road agent. He was one of the gentlemanly rascals who invite men to hand over their purses in true Robin Hood style and was especially gallant to the women he robbed. One day Mr. Ashton had occasion to send $3,000 to a neighboring town, and there was no one at hand by whom to send it. He was complaining at home of his want of a messenger when his daughter Mary spoke up:

"I'll take it, father."
"You? Suppose Redhand Bill were to hold you up. What would you do?"
"They say he is very gallant to women."

"Yes, but he always takes their valuables."

Mary persevered, and her father, thinking there would be no trouble, or, if there were, a woman would fare no worse than a man, consented. The next day Mary left with the money, which she chose to carry in her grip-sack. The coach had traversed most of the route when a man stepped into the road, leveled a rifle at the driver's head and called on him to draw rein. This done, the agent invited the passengers to alight and line up in the usual way. He relieved them of their funds—no great haul—but when he came to Mary Ashton's bag his eyes stood out with delight.

"Good morning, Bill," said Mary.
"Good morning, beauty," replied Bill, good natured at his find, while a tremor ran through the line at the girl's temerity. "How did you know my name's Bill?"

"Oh, I've often heard of Redhand Bill and wanted to meet him. They say you are a fine euchre player. I've always wanted to see how you played your hands. Can't we have a game?"

Bill stood looking at her in as great astonishment as the passengers.

"Certainly. Got any cards?"

"I always carry them to pass the time on a journey."
Mary produced a pack of cards, and Bill, after disarming the passengers, permitted them to lower their hands, and he and Mary sat down to a game.

"I'm Banker Ashton's daughter. If I had a blank check, I'd fill it in for a stake."

The road agent always carried blank checks, for he frequently compelled his victims to sign them. He dived into his hip pocket, took one out and handed it to Mary, with a fountain pen which he found as available as the blanks. Mary filled it in for $1,000, pledging her word that it would be good. "Now for the best two in three games for $1,000," she said.

Bill staked ten $100 bills against it, and the game proceeded. He won the first and Mary won the next two games. Bill laughed a short, nervous laugh and put up another thousand. Mary won the first and the last game of this rubber. The next rubber Mary lost and asked Bill if he would play one more, "double or quits." He gallantly consented, and Mary won two successive games.

"Put up," she said, raking in the funds.
"Put up? I'm busted! Shut up, you mean, and so I do. You're the luckiest woman and the best euchre player, man or woman, I ever met. If you'll give me just one kiss, I'll call this job off and let you and the whole kit go scot free, with all the stuff."

Mary was so delighted with her success, especially with respect to her fellow passengers, that she threw her arms about the robber's neck and gave him a hearty smack. Then, taking a twenty dollar bill from the money she had saved, she said:

"Take that and drink my health with it, and if ever you decide to leave this life come to me, and I'll get my father to help you."

"I won't take your money," said Bill, "but some day I may accept your offer."

Some years later a prospector named Stone appeared in the town where the Ashtons lived, and after his departure was "grub staked" by Mr. Ashton till he struck a fairly valuable property, upon which Mr. Ashton organized a gold mining company. This led to other discoveries, and at last the man became rich. Then there was a great scandal. The wealthy Stone was arrested and charged with being the redoubtable Redhand Bill, who years before had terrorized the country. When his trial came, Mary Ashton, whose adventure with Bill had been long and widely known, was called upon to identify him.

"Stand up!" said the prosecuting attorney to the prisoner. Then, to the witness, "Were you in a coach some years ago that was robbed?"

"I was."

"Was this the man that robbed it?"

Mary and the prisoner were looking straight into each other's eyes.

"No."

This virtually ended the trial. A cloud passed over the face of the presiding judge. He sat thinking for a few moments, then, turning to the prisoner, said:

"You are discharged."
Soon after his release Stone left the country and never has returned. Mary Ashton is a spinster.

MUCH DRINKING AMONG WOMEN

MANY LEAVE CHURCH RATHER THAN SIGN A TEMPERANCE PLEDGE.

New York, April 27.—In many Harlem homes today the sensational sermon of the Rev. Dr. Willis P. Odell, of the Calvary Methodist church, and one of the most popular ministers in this city, in which, last night, he emphatically declared to a congregation of 2,000 people in his big church that drunkenness among women is alarmingly on the increase, is being discussed with amazement. After the sermon, a dozen young women were sent among the congregation with total abstinence pledges, and hundreds of women signed them. Before the girls reached them, however, scores of women left the church.

"This sermon is especially for women," bluntly began Dr. Odell; "drunkenness is alarmingly on the increase among them."

"I sat down in a down town restaurant recently. A woman, as fashionably dressed as any in this audience, came in and sat near me. When the waiter approached she ordered whiskey straight. He brought it with a small glass of water. She pushed the water aside and drank the liquor at a single draught. She paid the waiter and left."

"That woman was no novice at drinking, and she may have been a Harlem matron."

"As a result of women drinking scores of children—little girls of six and eight—are taught the habit. The little girls are sent for beer and the bartender always puts in some for the child who carries the pail, as he knows she will drink it on the way home."

Dr. Odell read a number of clippings from newspapers telling of specific cases of drunken women and children. Some of the stories were so revolting that there was a buzz of horror in the big congregation.

Why Not Go Early?

Greenville displayed more affected style, Wednesday night, by the holders of reserved seats not going to the opera house until 9 o'clock and after. Of course this delayed the starting of the play, and after the curtain rose there was interruption and confusion caused by people coming in all during the first act. Of course they have a right to do this, but they ought to have more consideration for others in the audience as well as for the actors.

LETTER TO L. HOOKER & CO.

Greenville, N. C.,

Dear Sir: Rockland, Maine, is a seacoast town: hard place for paint. About seventeen years ago, Farrand, Spear & Co., Rockland, began with Devoe. Their first sale was to paint the Farrington residence, well known there.

Mr. Farrand says the house appears, from the street, to be well painted now, and has never been repainted.

We should like to know more definitely about a job of paint that has lasted seventeen years on a sea-side house. It is the longest time we have had a report on.

Lead and oil lasts three years—a first rate job—and nobody says it lasts longer.—We are content to say that Devoe lead and zinc lasts twice as long; but we know of houses innumerable, on which our paint has exceeded six years.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOE & Co.

P. S.—H. L. Cari sells our paint.

Rev. J. J. Barter, of Bethel, returning from Kinston, stopped here this morning.

Newspaper Men Can't Get Damages.

Raleigh, N. C., April 28.—The Supreme court today rendered a decision affecting railroads and newspapers. W. H. McNeill, editor of the Carthage Blade, received serious injuries on the Durham and Charlotte railroad. The Supreme court sets aside a verdict giving him $4,000 damages, upon the ground that in accepting a transportation ticket on the road Mr. McNeill was violating the law against discrimination by transportation companies and that both he and the railroad company were violators of the law. Under the corporation commission law no railroad company can give a free pass except to orphans, the poor, and other like classes.

GREENVILLE'S GREAT DEPARTMENT STORE

"Dorothy Dodd"

THE FAULTLESS FITTING SHOE FOR WOMEN

Let us assume that your shoes fit you. Now, what next? What is most important? Unquestionably, style. If it has style you want it. If it has not style, but everything else, you do not want it. The style of a Dorothy Dodd is unique. It cannot be duplicated by any other maker, because the Dorothy Dodd is a totally different construction from any other ladies' shoe. Besides being exclusive in style, it holds the foot firmly at the instep, prevents the foot from slipping forward, and gives a correct poise in walking. It makes the foot look nearly a whole size smaller. That's curious, and you won't believe it until you see it. Just for once try the Dorothy Dodd Faultless Fitting Ladies' Shoe and prove the truthfulness of our assertion.
