JARVIS FOR UNIVERSITY.

ONE OF HIS ANCIENT FOEMEN COMES INTO CAMP.

JOHN R. MORRIS INTERVIEWED.

He Says the Man He Fought So Bitterly Should Succeed

Dr. Venable.

John R. Morris, the popular traveling man, spent Monday in Greenville, where, as elsewhere, his friends are legion. He is a man full of business, yet who can find time between his interviews with the merchants to engage with his friends in conversation on current events and topics of the day. It was during one of these periods that THE REFLECTOR caught him amid a group of friends, and finding the conversation to be about the article in Sunday's state papers as to the contemplated resignation of President Venable of the University, and who would probably be his successor, we proceeded to take note of what was said, knowing that any expression from Mr. Morris would be well worth quoting.

"I don't know anything about what President Venable is going to do—whether he intends to stay at the University of North Carolina or resign and go to the University of Virginia. In fact, I barely know President Venable except by sight. To be plain, I'm so poorly educated and have had so little to do with schools that I am wisely unrecognized along the way of learning in North Carolina; and, at this time, in the flame of the lightning from our electric educational boom, I feel like a runt sardine at a convention of whales."

Here someone in the crowd said, "Morris is in favor of Matt Ransom for the presidency of the University. He's in favor of old Matt for anything and everything."

"Yes, I'm in favor of Ransom for anything he wants in this world, or the next, and don't any of you forget that," cried Morris. "But Ransom doesn't want to be president of the University. His ambition at the University was satisfied when he and Pettigrew—the famous general of the Confederacy—carried away the highest honors for scholarship ever conferred by the institution prior to the war between the states. Ransom is busy planting late corn and covering with his foot. I hope the Lord will shoo off the worms and make each stalk to have ten ears. Am I for him politically, yet? Of course I am. I would be in favor of returning him to the senate if he were a hundred and fifty years old and had to be toted, and fed through a blowpipe."

"But, if Mr. Venable resigns, I am in favor of Gov. Jarvis, of this town, for the presidency of the University," said Morris, to the astonishment of those who listened, for each knew how Morris had fought Gov. Jarvis' ambition to be returned to the United States senate. (Mr. Morris had not only made it his business apparently to come to Greenville, the home of Gov. Jarvis, and boldly talk against the Governor to the latter's friends but he was signing his name to anti-Jarvis newspaper articles in the west and it was known to the supporters of Gov. Jarvis that he was furnishing anti-Jarvis editorial matter to two newspapers in eastern North Carolina.

"You want to put what I'm saying in your newspaper, do you? Well, now you put up that pencil and throw that pad away. You are leading me to a point where I am confronting real seriousness, and if you want to print what I say let me take my pencil and give me some paper."

Then Mr. Morris walked in with the editor to THE REFLECTOR office, and wrote as follows: "Yes, I opposed Gov. Jarvis. He did not stand for what I, as a democrat, believed from an economic standpoint. I was, however, with an exceedingly minute and microscopic democratic minority, while the Governor marched in the longer and more demonstrative funeral procession.

"Yes, I fought Gov. Jarvis in the past, but especially did I do so on these streets, here at his home. But notwithstanding my view of his political attitude and abhorrence of his candidacy against my friend, yet Thomas Jarvis is a man of superb character, a North Carolinian of singular patriotism, and of superior executive talent, and today, I am sure that I and many of my intimates underestimated the abilities and patriotism of the man.

"He has been a commoner of his state, and both lieutenant governor and governor, United States senator and foreign minister. So far as this world's civic honors may adorn a life Thos. Jarvis has been eminently distinguished, and the University itself, should be led to its presidency, would share in the eminence of its executive head.

"Jarvis has more learning than had Gov. Swain, who, as ruler over the domain of the classic Hill, was indeed the Pericles of the University. He is an alumnus of Rauldolph Macon, and was a worthy and painstaking pupil of that institution.

"So far as I know there have never been any dramatic features in the federal head of the University of North Carolina, but the elevation of Jarvis to the presidency would be an assurance, so far as the University executive might be representative, against professional scholasticism—ape-erudition, under gown and cap.

"Should the present scholarly and efficient president resign, his successor should be a man whose name is masterful over the strong men and women who breed our boys and surely he should be a North Carolinian, and indeed, one whose life, as does the life of Jarvis, so interlards the vital civic and martial history of the state as to command the profound respect, and call forth the admiration of every worthy and ambitious boy in North Carolina.

"An University is a municipality, its pupillage an interesting citizenry; and its most singular administrative need is the best available genius for social and municipal organization.

"Jarvis is a man of commanding position familiar with the politics of government, whether of the commonwealth, or of small communities; and, too, he has the genius for organization and control.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JUNE 9, 1903.

EX-GOVERNOR JARVIS FOR THE UNIVERSITY.

It is said that President Venable is contemplating resigning his position at the head of the University of North Carolina to accept the presidency of the University of Virginia. If this rumor is verified, THE REFLECTOR desires to name ex-Governor Thomas J. Jarvis as the successor of Dr. Venable. Ex-Governor Jarvis is North Carolina's leader in the matter of education, and no man in the State could carry more ability, more honor and more enthusiasm to the university than he. The state could honor itself no more highly than by placing him at the head of its leading educational institution.

GREENVILLE BUSINESS MEN.

If you would know what sort of business men there are in Greenville, look over the advertising columns of this paper. In a town of about 3000 inhabitants THE DAILY REFLECTOR carries from 14 to 15 columns of advertisements, and publishes the largest yearly ad of any daily paper in the state. C. T. Munford is regarded as one of the shrewdest business men in North Carolina. He pays his good money for that 4-column ad—he wouldn't do it if it didn't pay him. Then among others who advertise what they do and do what they advertise are Ricks & Wilkison, Frank Wilson, Pulley & Bowey, J. B. Cherry & Co., C. S. Forbes, J. F. Davenport, W. J. Thigpen, A. H. Taft & Co., B. Fleishman & Bro., A. E. Tucker & Co., the Bank of Greenville, Greenville Banking and Trust Company, Baker & Hart, J. R. Corey, D. W. Hardee, S. M. Schultz, Johnston Bros., J. B. White and many others whose ads can readily be found in these pages.

These firms are the very cream of the business life of Greenville. They show their confidence in their claims by publishing them to the world, and whatever they advertise to do they will do.

In many respects Greenville is the best business town in the state, and before another year goes by we will be ahead of many towns that have far better advantages. We hope we are going to have another railroad, and we know we are going to have electric lights, water works and other modern municipal necessities.

One thing is certain, no town can go backward if it contains such live and progressive business men as Greenville is proud to claim.

One detail regarding the flood in Kansas City and other Western cities is as follows:

Spring water is selling for 5 cents per gallon and river water is hauled for a dollar per barrel.

Water has been sold on the streets of Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City and other cities for the above price for many years. And the man who goes up against Mississippi, Ohio or Missouri river water for internal bathing purposes will think the price quoted for spring water ridiculously cheap.

All is not serene in Grover's camp. The Asheville Citizen throws the harpoon into his ideas about fishing.

Go Wis', young man—that is, if you are not worth a cuss' except for tornadoes to practice on.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

In Raleigh things gubernatorial are warming up considerably. Six gentlemen are understood to be aspirants. They are John S. Cunningham, Theodore F. Davidson, B. A. Doughton, R. B. Gienn, Charles M. Steadman and Lieut-Gov. Wilfred D. Turner. There has been some mention of Locke Craig, A. W. Graham, C. B. Watson and J. S. Carr, but nothing that is regarded as a positive indication of their intentions has been said or done. Of course the nominee of the state convention will be elected, so there is no dearth of candidates.

The effect of the Watts bill on the governorship is being more or less seriously discussed. We don't believe it will have any effect at all. The man who is most popular and has the most friends will be nominated and elected, and not a dozen voters in a hundred will even think of the Watts bill.

Last week one North Carolina editor credited a clipping from a Greensboro paper to THE REFLECTOR, another credited a clipping from THE REFLECTOR to the Kinston Free Press, another credited a clipping from THE REFLECTOR to a South Carolina paper, and one or two just stole our matter outright. We don't claim that the Watts bill is responsible for the somewhat mixed condition of affairs, but it looks like somebody has been looking upon the corn licker when it was yaller.

With destructive forest fires in the North and terrible cyclones and floods in the South and West, the country has had more than its share of disasters in the last few days.

It doesn't seem to be a very serious matter to be arrested for post-office frauds. We note that none of the bunco men who have been pried off the postoffice department are in jail.

Alas! for human hopes. John Wilkes Booth hoped death would end his troubles, but the yellow journals will to the contrary.

Discontent

I knew a fellow once that had a horse That trotted at a very merry clip; But he was very sad at heart because He had no whip.

I knew a fellow once that found a whip, But he was not content with it, of course, For after that he wished and wished and wished He had a horse!

Now, if the two had met and made a swap, Each would have got the thing he so desired; But neither would have been quite satisfied— Which makes me tired!

His Last Hope Realized.

[From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mont.]

In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889, the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad water, which, together with the severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders being at hand suggests this item. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville; Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

Howell, Houston, Tex., says nothing better can be used for constipation, sick headache, etc. Bob Moore, Lafayette, Ind., says all others gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers do their work well and easy. This medicine is a recent discovery for the cure of all diseases of the stomach and bowels. It not only gives quick relief, but it makes permanent cures.

Dr. Howard's specific has been so remarkably successful in curing constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles, that J. L. Wooten is willing to return the price paid in every case where it does not give relief.

Headaches, coated tongue, dizziness, gas on stomach, specks before the eyes, constipation, and all terms of liver and stomach trouble are soon cured by this scientific medicine.

So great is the demand for this specific, that J. L. Wooten has been able to secure only a limited supply, and every one who is troubled with dyspepsia, constipation or liver trouble should call upon him at once, or send 25 cents, and get sixty doses of the best medicine ever made, on this special half-price offer, with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

Reverting once more to the pardon of Marrow there never was a time since his conviction he could not have pardoned himself by paying a small sum of money to the support of the woman he wronged. He elected to serve as a convict rather than do a righteous act; he said he would rot on the roads before he would pay her a cent and he has been good as his word. In the meantime, what is to become of the victim of his lust? She is unable to work, being now almost a wreck with consumption and is simply living on charity. Only the other day she was here and was given $5 by a gentleman who knew her condition.—Greensboro Record.

Two Trains Needed Here.

The A. & N. C. railroad is now running double daily passenger trains through from Goldsboro to Morehead City. Pity but what the Atlantic Coast Line could take as much interest in its patrons and do something like that on this road.

AN EARNEST KICK.

Regarding Railroad Matters
Patience Has Ceased to be a Virtue.

If the operator who does the reporting of trains in the dispatcher's office, at Tarboro, does not lose his job for the trouble he caused Monday, the railroad officials will fall short of their duty to the public. For a long time now the passenger trains have never come in on time and people have been going to the depot by the reports sent out of the expected arrival of the trains. So inaccurate have been these reports, causing much trouble and annoyance, that complaint after complaint has been heard and THE REFLECTOR has taken occasion more than once to speak about it. For convenience the reports are sent to two places here—to the telegraph office down town and to the railroad office at the depot—and people get their information from whichever point is most convenient to them. While it is the duty of the dispatcher to send out these reports at a reasonable time, they always have to be asked for to get him to send any at all.

But it is Monday's report that we started out to speak about here.

The report sent to the down town telegraph office said the train was 5 or 10 minutes late, while the depot office was told it was 50 minutes late. The hotel bus prepared to move by the latter report. Neither report was correct, as the train was 20 minutes late, and when it came the bus had not left the hotel. As Agent Moore had given information based on the report sent to his office, he felt it was his duty to hold the train until the passengers could get there from the hotel. This was done, yet the baggage of some of them got left. And it was all due to inefficiency and want of accommodating employees in the dispatcher's office. The public have had enough of this kind of trouble.
