DOWN THE MOUNTAIN SIDE

ENGINE AND 14 FREIGHT CARS TAKE AWFUL PLUNGE.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY HIT AGAIN

Freight Train on Asheville and Spartanburg Division Runs

Wild Down Grade.

Asheville, N. C., July 13.—A wreck that was certainly complete in every sense of the word occurred yesterday on the Asheville & Spartanburg division of the Southern railway. One of the heaviest freight engines employed in this mountain country started down the mountain a short distance beyond Saluda when the crew lost control of the train and it ran away down the grade which had been the scene of a similar disaster. Numbers of the crew jumped for their lives when they realized their peril. The train sped on for several miles at frightful speed before leaving the rails. When the huge engine did leave the track it was hurled down the mountain side with 14 cars after it. When the engine and cars settled down there was nothing to be seen save a shapeless mass of timber and iron, from which arose smoke from the engine. The track, however, was not damaged seriously, and in a couple of hours passenger trains were running by the scene of the wreck.

TUCKER-JOHNSON.

Popular Greenville Merchant Married in Scotland Neck.

A. E. Tucker, accompanied by C. S. Forbes, J. F. Davenport, J. L. Carper, J. S. Williams, Misses Maggie and Rosa Tucker and Glenn Forbes, left on the morning train for Scotland Neck, where at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, in the Baptist church, Mr. Tucker and Miss Nora Johnson were married by Rev. M. L. Kesler.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Tucker drove to Palmyra to take the train for Norfolk. They will extend their bridal tour to Washington, New York and Niagara.

Mr. Tucker is a prominent merchant of Greenville and one of our best young men. His bride is a young lady of culture and refinement. She is a sister of Z. V. Johnson and niece of C. T. Munford, and has spent much time in Greenville with the family of Mr. Munford.

How pleasing it is to contemplate the unsordid innocence of a Boston boy of eight who found a $20 bill in an ash barrel the other day and sold it to another boy—unknown—for 25 cents!—Durham Sun.

All people know that the courts give the criminal every chance that is due him and for this reason some people think that when one has finally been landed in the penitentiary the governor should let him stay there.—Durham Herald.

Absence of Material Witnesses Given as Cause of Delay.

Raleigh, N. C., July 14.—The trial of Ernest Haywood for killing Ludlow Skinner in front of the postoffice here on Feb. 21st, last, was yesterday continued until Sept. 28th, next. Haywood renewed his bond of $10,000 for his appearance at September term. Solicitor Walter Daniel, of Weldon, counsel for the state, asked Judge R. B. Peebles in the Superior court yesterday to order a special venire drawn in order that the trial might begin next Thursday, July 16th. Counsel for the defendant moved a continuance on the ground that two of their material witnesses could not be present at this term and presented an affidavit from a physician as to Chas. E. Hocutt's illness, also an affidavit from Bernard A. Schmitz, of Baltimore, setting forth that he could not attend because of the serious condition of his invalid wife.

"Here is a man on trial for murder who states on his oath that due diligence has been used but he was unable to secure the attendance of two most material witnesses at this term of court," said Judge Peebles after counsel for the prosecution had argued against the defendant's request for a continuance.

"This affidavit is accompanied by the sworn affidavit giving the reasons for the absence of these witnesses. I have to accept this affidavit in good faith. The prosecution admits that both of these witnesses have been examined at the habeas corpus hearing, but refuses to admit as true the testimony then given by them, which shows the importance attached to their testimony. Under such circumstances it would be a travesty on justice to force the accused to go on trial. While it is desirable to have a speedy trial it is more important still to have a fair trial. There will be a criminal term of court here in September and if these witnesses are not here then I will not continue the case again on that account. I would not continue the case now solely on account of the absence of Schmitz since his deposition could be taken but a deposition is not possible in the case of Hocutt who is still ill with typhoid fever. Mr. Clerk make the entry this case is continued until the September term, that a special venire will be drawn on Monday, Sept. 27, and the trial set for Thursday, Oct. 1st."

POPE' LAST HOURS ON EARTH.

Aged Roman is About to Pay the Debt of Nature.

Rome, July 13.—Another crisis which it is almost impossible to doubt signifies the approach of the end, arose today in the Pope's condition. It transpires that he has been becoming worse more rapidly during the past two days than the bulletins indicated. This is acknowledged by Cardinal Rampolla's having insisted that the doctors described the situation in the fullest terms possible. Dr. Rossini objected to these and refused to attend his holiness or sign the bulletin unless the full truth was stated. Tonight's bulletin is again signed by Dr. Rossini and indicates the extreme gravity of the pontiff's condition.

It's going to be a fine trip—Hatch Bros. excursion to Norfolk on the 28th. See W. C. Hines, local agent.

Summer School at A. & M. College.

Prof. W. H. Ragsdale returned Monday night from the summer school at the A. & M. College, where he has been for the past week delivering a series of lectures on "Rural Libraries." He gives us his impressions of the school as follows:

"Yes, it is a great success, there are between 300 and 400 teachers in attendance. Every department of the work is fully up to date. More than twenty experienced and successful men and women are in charge of the work.

"A visit to the class and lecture rooms reveals the fact that the work being done is of a very high order. The arrangement of the schedule of work is admirable, affording every teacher an opportunity to take in just what he or she may elect.

"The spirit of the teachers is fine. It is inspiring to see how heartily and joyfully they enter into the work. In addition to the admirable advantages for intellectual development, there are delightful opportunities for the social side of nature. It is an ideal place for a great summer school.

"The management is to be congratulated upon the wonderful success attained already. The work being done will prove a great stimulus to the intellectual and social life of the state.

"The Pitt county teachers, a number of whom are there, stand as usual in the front ranks."

It would be useless for conservative newspapers to attempt to stamp out yellow journalism. So long as there is a demand from the public for such papers there will be newspaper men in plenty who will be willing to supply that demand for the money there is in it, if for nothing else.—Durham Herald.

The jury in the Jones murder case at Wilson failed to agree. Well, that is what the jury—composed as it was—was there for. Counsel for defense knew from the time the jury was made up that a verdict of guilty would not be rendered.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 14, 1903.

WHAT WILL THE PRIVATES DO?

If the officers of the state militia can meet in Raleigh and decide that their men shall become United States troops, why cannot the officers decide when and where and how their soldiers shall go to war, stay at home, kiss their wives and wash their feet?

The officers of the state guard met in Raleigh some time ago and voted to accept the Dick militia law, which is nothing less than turning over the army of the state to the federal government. These officers now have the gold lace effrontery to claim that their action bound every enlisted man in the state militia to accept the law and become practically United States soldiers, though in becoming members of the militia they swore only to "serve faithfully as soldiers in the state guard for the term of three years, unless sooner discharged under the militia laws of the state."

THE REFLECTOR regards this attempt to turn over the state to the federal government as the most disgraceful and shameful thing that has stained our history. Even to suggest acceptance of the Dick law should be an insult to every true North Carolinian, and that the outrageous steal of what little state's rights were left to us should be participated in by our own military officers is the deepest shame of all.

However, the thing has not gone so far that it cannot be wiped out. It rests with each individual member of the state guard to volunteer for the new militia service, and until this is done there is no law in state or United States which can force a man to become a federal trooper, the officers to the contrary notwithstanding. In this connection we quote the following published in the News and Observer over the signature of Mr. E. R. McKethan, of Fayetteville.

"Some months ago at a meeting of the officers of the North Carolina state guards, held in the city of Raleigh to consider the national militia bill, known as the Dick bill, it was moved and carried that the bill be adopted.

"In his opposition at that time to the adoption of the bill, the writer (the only enlisted man present) stated that no one had the power to enlarge the terms of the enlistment contract, or to change this from state to national service, with out the individual consent of the enlisted men.

"Since that time, by an act of the legislature, the name of the North Carolina state guard has been changed to the North Carolina national guard; and we are now informed that under the terms of our enlistment each man is liable, under court martial, to nine months' national service under the call of the president of the United States.

"As an enlisted man for several years standing, in the North Carolina state guard, I wish to state now, as I did publicly before the officers' meeting, that I acknowledge no such obligation.

"I am ready to do any state service that may be required of me under my state enlistment, from July 1, 1901 to July 1, 1904, but in a national emergency, as in 1898, I claim the right to volunteer or not, as I see fit. It was then in 1898 my privilege and honor on failing to get accepted a command of my own to head a company enrollment under the first call. Whether or not, I shall do so again, should the emergency arise, must be left to my sense of duty and patriotism, not to any obligation imposed upon me under the Dick bill.

"As a citizen "more than 18 or less than 45 years of age," I am liable along with all others of like age, to service when needed, as an enlisted man in the North Carolina state guard, I agreed "To serve faithfully as a soldier in the state guard for the term of three years"—to do that and no more.

"Generally, as to the Dick bill, I am opposed to North Carolina surrendering the right to maintain an organized state militia apart from national control (Const. of the U. S., amend.; Const., N. C., art. 1, sec. 24.) "a well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state."

They are now fighting over the question as to who was the original Cleveland man. We think it was Mr. Cleveland.

A Northern senator is working in the wheat fields, and it is not believed that Rockefeller will try to interfere.

"Selling a pardon" is the way one paper describes Governor Aycock's latest.

Louisiana the Paradise of Wives.

The Louisiana Supreme Court has affirmed the constitutionality of an act passed by the legislature at its last session which provides for the punishment with imprisonment at hard labor of men who desert their wives or fail to support their wives and children. A number of arrests were made shortly after the law went into effect, but punishment of the culprits was suspended as the act was supposed to be unconstitutional. The Supreme court's decision now settles the matter, and in future the Louisiana man who gets married must expect to bear the consequences.

It is to be hoped that the law will not have a tendency to discourage matrimony, and there is no likelihood that it will. If it does, the ones who permit themselves to be frightened away from marriage by it will be better single anyway. Louisiana has made a good start in this matter and should now provide for the imprisonment at hard labor of wife beaters. That done the state will have a clear lead in at least one important respect.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

Married couples have to quarrel just so much to learn not to.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

"When the stomach is overloaded; when food taken into it that fails to digest it decays and inflames the mucus membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. B. Rhea, Coppell, Tex. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

A woman's figure seldom feels the way it looks.

Valuable Time saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. A SURGICAL OPERATION is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousand's of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. For Blind Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Salve by Wooten's Drug Store.

With half the women that get married they are too good for their husbands, and with the other half their husbands are not good enough for them.

JUST ABOUT BEDTIME

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

The Two Vaughans

(Original.)

It was just 9 o'clock when I entered my office. The clerks were busy at their various duties, while my typewriter was reading a morning paper, waiting for work. I was surprised to see my desk open and a man sitting in my place. There was something familiar in the clothes he wore, which were of the same pattern as a suit I often wore. But what was my astonishment when he turned and—great heaven, there sat myself!

The first thought that darted through my brain was that I had received some physical shock which had bereft me of my mental equilibrium, but upon glancing at the clerks I saw they were as much astonished at my entrance as I was at the appearance of the man at my desk, who appeared to be equally surprised.

"Well, sir," I gasped. "Well, sir," echoed the man. "What are you doing at my desk?" "Your desk?" "Yes, sir; my desk."

"Who are you, sir? Your appearance is remarkably like mine." "I am John Vaughan, the proprietor of this office!" "John Vaughan?" "Yes, sir; John Vaughan. And who are you?"

"I am he whom you claim to be—John Vaughan." I grasped at the back of a chair to steady myself, while a cold sweat stood on my brow. My double sat staring at me, with something of the same evidences of terror in him that were in me. Partially mastering myself, I turned to the head bookkeeper and asked:

"Who is this person, Frazer?" Frazer stood with mouth and eyes wide open, staring first at me, then at the man at the desk, but answered never a word.

"Who he is?" I repeated, addressing young Curtis, a clerk. "We supposed he was you, sir," he replied hesitatingly. My double turned to the persons addressed and repeated my questions verbatim. Had I gone daff? If so, how account for the astonishment of the employees?

"How long has he been here?" I asked. "He came in ten minutes ago, sir," Curtis answered. "He was earlier than you usually are."

"Where do you live?" I asked the pretender. "At 3943 Chestnut street." Again I clutched the back of the chair convulsively. The man had named my own residence.

"Sir," he said, rising, "if I had had a twin brother I would surely think you were he. As I have no brother I am inclined to think either that I have lost my senses or you are pretending to be me for a purpose."

A pained expression passed over his face as though he had begun to doubt his own sanity. Then, turning to the gaping clerks, he said: "Come. Decide between us, and do it quickly or we shall both go mad. Am I John Vaughan or not?"

The clerks continued to gape. "Decide!" I said on the verge of frenzy. "Decide," repeated my other self, "and if I am not myself I will leave this office and betake myself to a mad-house."

At this point Miss Towne, the typewriter, arose and with far more presence of mind than the others surveyed us both. Then, pointing to me, she said: "You are Mr. Vaughan."

With a shriek, my double sprang past me, down a flight of stairs and out of the building. I fell into a chair in a dead faint. When I recovered, all the clerks were bending over me with anxious faces.

"What does it all mean?" I asked. "Have I been dreaming something terrible or was the scene real?" "It was real," said the head bookkeeper, "and the strangest experience I have ever had in my life."

"Where is Miss Towne?" "Here."

The circle opened and I saw her standing before the safe, which I now for the first time noticed was open. "Who opened that safe?" I asked, astonished.

"I, sir," said Frazer. "I opened it on your—I mean the other one's order." "How much money was there in it?" asked Miss Towne of me. "Fifteen hundred dollars and over. Is it there?" "There's no money here that I can see."

How to Make Cloth Waterproof.

Ordinary cloth may be made waterproof by the following treatment: Put half a pound of sugar of lead and half a pound of alum in a pail of soft water. Stir this at intervals until it becomes clear. Then pour it off into another pail, put the cloth or garment into it and let it stand an entire day, twenty-four hours. Then hang up to dry without wringing. Garments treated thus, it is said, can be worn in the wildest storm of wind and rain without the wearer getting even damp. The rain hangs in globules upon the cloth, and cloth that is waterproof is better and more healthy than rubber goods.

The Spittle Fly.

The spittle fly is an insect which encompasses itself in a white froth composed of the juice it has sucked out of the plant on which it is bred. It seriously injures pinks, carnations and picotees if not checked in the early stages of its progress. It is very tender when young, but develops into a hard skinned hopper. It can be pinched and rubbed off with the fingers, or a good syringing with something bitter, like a concoction of quassa chips, will drive the creatures away.—London Times.

The Trap.

"You call zat building a 'fire trap'?" asked the perplexed foreigner. "How can a house be a trap for ze fire?" "It catches fire so easily. See?" said the native. But he couldn't see, such is the unreadiness of the untrained foreign intellect in grasping the idioms of our rich and expressive language.—Chicago Tribune.

Inadequate Motive.

Howes—What did they do with that fellow who was arrested for stealing cigars from McStogy's place? Barnes—Oh, he was discharged. The prosecutor was unable to prove a motive for the alleged theft. The judge as it happened had smoked one of McStogy's cigars.—Boston Transcript.

A Lovers' Quarrel.

She (turning at the door)—I think you are just hateful, and I'm never going to speak to you again; so there's no use coming into the music room after me, because I'll be on the rustic bench at the far end of the conservatory.—Smart Set.

Drasen.

The Fat'er—What! You want to marry that puppy? I never heard of such a thin. The Dea Girl—Well, you know, father, dogs are very fashionable just now.—San Antonio Express.

There is this difference between a house and a woman: A coat of paint improves the house.—Atchison Globe.

NO COUNTY SPECIAL TAX.

Regular County Levy Will Raise Sufficient Revenue.

The last legislature gave the commissioners of Pitt county authority to levy a special tax for two years of 10 cents on each $100 valuation of property and 30 cents on each poll. At their meeting Monday to revise the tax list for this year the commissioners found that the aggregate value of property in the county has so increased that the regular tax levy will raise sufficient revenue to meet current expenses, and they do not think the special tax will be necessary. This is a good showing and is no doubt gratifying to our excellent board of commissioners, as well as to the people of the county.

RAGSDALE ON RURAL LIBRARIES

His Speech Warmly Commended in Raleigh.

Superintendent W. H. Ragsdale, of Pitt county, delivered a series of addresses last week on the subject, "Rural Libraries," which have been pronounced by all who heard them masterpieces of argument and most eloquent and powerful appeals for the establishment of libraries in every rural school. No speeches that have been delivered have created more real enthusiasm and doubtless great good will be the result. At the close of his last address a large number of teachers declared it their purpose to agitate the question and to urge the establishment of these libraries in the schools in which they are teaching. It is impossible to get an epitome of the addresses as they were entirely extemporaneous. However, we have secured a synopsis of the subject from Superintendent Ragsdale. He, along with the state superintendent, regards the rural library question as one of vital importance in the development of our school system along vigorous and healthful lines.

His subject was as follows:

1 The necessity for the library.

This is shown by knowing: (a) What are the conditions surrounding the schools? (b) What means are now being employed to better these conditions? (c) Ought something to be done? (d) What will the library do towards relieving the situation?

2—How can we get libraries? (a) By creating a public sentiment for them. This may be done by agitation. (1) By county boards of education; 2. By county superintendents; 3. By teachers: (b) by securing the interest of the children; (c) by getting parents interested.

3—How shall we use these libraries? (a) As companions for the children; (b) To cultivate the habit of reading; (c) to enable the child to grow up in touch with the best thought and literature. (d) To broaden the thought and culture of the entire community.

4—What results may be expected from their proper use? (a) Increased interest in the schools; (b) more hearty support of, and sympathy with the teacher and his work; (c) Higher ideals of life and duty; (d) Broader and more liberal views of things and of life; (e) General elevation of the entire moral atmosphere of the community.—Raleigh News and Observer.

The fact that there are 461 full public school libraries in this state is a cause for congratulations of all people who want to see the spread of intelligence among our folks.—Wilson Times.

A man can always make a woman believe he loves her if he remembers when he writes her he is coming to see her to ask her to wear a certain dress that she thinks she looks pretty in.
