"DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED"

And a Baby's Life Was the Price of Carelessness.

Charlotte, N. C. July 16th.—Jack Duncan, the 5 year-old son of B. F. Duncan, a traveling salesman for a Chicago firm, died at the Presbyterian hospital this morning from a gun shot accidentally inflicted. Jack secured his father's cartridges and loaded the gun, then began a romp with his nurse, the gun being the chief plaything. In the course of the play the nurse pointed the gun at Jack, never thinking it was loaded, and pulled the trigger. There was a scream and Jack fell to the floor mortally wounded. The young parents are almost frantic with grief.

ROCKY ROAD FOR SALOONS

They Are Not Allowed Much Rest in Wilson.

Wilson, N. C. July 17.—A special meeting of the board of alderman is called for tonight for the purpose of taking up matters relative to the restriction of the saloon business in Wilson. A set of rules will be proposed for the government of saloons. A large committee from the Anti Saloon League will appear before the board and urge the passage of an ordinance requiring saloons to close at 9 o'clock p. m. This measure will bring on a hard fight between liquor and anti liquor elements.

Pope's Condition Unchanged.

SAILORS NEARLY SUFFOCATED

Ammonia from an Ice Factory in Washington Did It.

Washington, N. C. July 17.—Thursday evening a sail boat tied up to the wharf here behind the Crystal Ice factory. The weather being warm the four sailors on board went to sleep at night with the door and windows of the cabin open. The ice factory was at work during the night and ammonia from the exhaust pipe filled the cabin of the boat and came near asphyxiating the sleeping sailors. One of them awoke with a strange feeling, and finding his room mates unconscious went at once for a doctor who arrived in time to revive them. The sailors had a narrow escape.

LAWLESSNESS IN RICHMOND

Military Swoops Down on Gang of Murderous Thugs.

Richmond, Va., July 16.—With murder in their hearts twelve men lay concealed in a dark alley in the eastern part of the city just after midnight this morning. They were headed by striking union car men and were armed with rocks and pistols for the last car of the night. Secret service men had been informed of the plot and it was decided to send the car without guards to the place selected and also to detail two companies of soldiers to march in squads from all directions, hemming in the rioters. The last car passed in front of the dark mouth of the byway. There were flashes of pistols in the alley and showers of rocks and ragged edge bricks. The men on the car did not have time to return the fire. The military had laid its plan well and suddenly surrounding the place, seven of the men were captured.

But is Making Trouble for the Coat Tail Barrooms.

C., July 16.—The temperance people of Statesville are experiencing some difficulty in protecting themselves against the sale and use of liquor in that town and several offenders of the law have already come to grief. FRIDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 17, 1903.

TAKE THE PARDONING POWER AWAY FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Governor Aycock is being unsparingly criticised and very often denounced for his abuse of the pardoning power. The governor has a great many friends who keenly regret that his administration, otherwise without a fault, should be clouded by one unfortunate trait in the governor's character.

The truth is that Governor Aycock is an extremist of the most extreme type. In the matter of pardons he has not merely carried his ideas of mercy to extremes, but he has wronged every man in the state who obeys the laws. He has turned loose upon society some of the lowest specimens of humanity, and often he has done this without a shadow of moral right simply because he is unbalanced when it comes to a matter of personal feeling.

In the Catawba county case he has, surely, reached the limit. If ever a monster in the guise of man lived in this world it is that man Mehaffey. Decency prevents publication of the details of his loathsome crime. Suffice to say, if he had been a negro he would have been burned.

In a three column article recently the Statesville Landmark discusses the Mehaffey pardon and plainly condemns the governor, who is said to have given as his excuse for pardoning Mehaffey the fact that there were grave doubts as to his guilt. What sophistry! If Mehaffey is not guilty the governor is robbing him of three thousand dollars. If he is guilty he ought to be punished to the very last hour of his sentence, and any other disposal of the case is an outrage upon justice.

We reiterate, the pardoning power must be taken out of the hands of the governor. Under the present rule monstrous wrongs have been perpetrated, and they are going to bring down retribution upon the erring.

It seems to us that every fool in the country who has nothing to say is trying to say it about the negro. We have the negro dished up to us morning, noon and night. Some of our own state papers seem to have negroes on the brain. When the negro is mentioned about half the population are attacked by the disease of unlocked jaw, and we get theory, sentiment, imagination and ignorance concerning the negro in frequent doses. Let the next man who says "nigger" be chained to a phonograph loaded with records of Chauncey Depew's after dinner speeches and other horrible things.

The express companies have combined to advance rates, and the price for carrying small packages exceeding one pound in weight are from fifteen to twenty-five per cent higher. The people have to submit to this.

"One begins to wonder will Haywood ever be brought to trial," says the Asheville Citizen. Yes, he will. You don't think the prosecution will take chances on another governor, do you?

The Richmond street car strikers are preparing to retaliate by getting up a stock company to put on a line of automobiles to carry people around the city in opposition to the street cars.

The Edenton Transcript has been acquired by a retail grocer and will be issued monthly in the interest of his business. What a glorious ending to the Hearst boom in North Carolina.

One Jefferson Davis is a candidate for governor of Arkansas. How that must grouch General Felson A. Miles, who handcuffed the original confederate of that name.

The mortality consequent upon the Kentucky republican meeting is not as high as at first stated.

Governor Aycock says the $3,000 fine will keep 100 schools open for one month. Better close every school in the land rather than sell a rapist a pardon.

It appears that it is the custom in this state in regard to rapists to lynch the negro, jail the poor white and fine all who are able to pay it.

That negro who was not skinned alive in West Virginia doubtless has a good idea of what he will get if he touches a white woman.

A beautiful woman starved to death in New York recently. Why didn't she go to one of Mr. Carnegie's splendid libraries?

The jury that convicts a man and then signs an application for pardon lies at one end or the other of the game.

As Pulliam is still in jail there is ground for hope that Judge Boyd doesn't amount to much after all.

Another blow to the chief oyster at Oyster Bay. Kentucky republicans have endorsed him.

This paper has a minister, a lawyer and a doctor on its staff.

Many a fine day has been spoiled by a bum breakfast.

"A school, a school, a pardon for a school!"

The pope's doctors are sorry executioners.

There is no justice in calling a special term of court to try one murderer and allowing another to postpone his trial from court to court until every thing is fixed to his notion.—Durham Herald.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. For Blind Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Salve by Wooten's Drug Store.

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

A woman's best enjoyment of both a wedding and a theater is when she can have a good cry at them.

Valuable Time saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

What a bachelor can't learn from some woman who is trying to make a better man of him he doesn't need to know in his business.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucus membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. E. Rhea, Coppell, Tex. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

JUST ABOUT BEDTIME

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucus membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

Of all the snake stories now going the rounds we think the following the true one: Last Thursday Mr. J. B. Outlaw killed a rattlesnake four feet ten inches long, with eighteen rattles and a button. LIKE FINDING MONEY.

J. L. Wooten Offers Popular Medicine at Half Price.

J. L. Wooten, the popular druggist, is making an offer that is just like finding money, for he is selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means for it is only recently, through the solicitation of Druggist Wooten that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. He urged the proprietors allow him to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified good judgment, for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, J. L. Wooten will return your money.

The specific is very pleasant to take, coming in the form of small granules, and there are sixty doses in every package. It is especially convenient when traveling, and no one should start on a journey without a bottle of this reliable medicine.

It takes a very high temperature to melt charity.

AN EPISODE OF THE RELIEF OF KNOXVILLE

(Original.)

During the civil war the people of the border states were divided in their sympathies.

One morning in the summer of 1863, when General Burnside was marching on Knoxville—a move that eventually freed east Tennessee from Confederate rule—a woman living on a farm between Knoxville and the Cumberland mountains went to her door with a broom in her hand and, looking up the road, saw two men coming on a quick run. As soon as they reached a point opposite the house they turned in, and the woman recognized in one of them her son, Walter Crain, eighteen years old.

"Mother," cried the boy, "we must hide. The 'fighting parson's' band are after us. They want me for shooting one of their men last night. They'll shoot me sure."

Mrs. Crain hurried the boys into the house and thrust them into a closet. She had scarcely done so before a man with a long beard came riding down the road, followed by a dozen others. None of them wore a uniform, and most of them were dressed in the "butternut" clothes common among the poor whites of the country. They had organized ostensibly to assist the Confederate cause, but really for terrorizing Unionists, among whom the Crain family were conspicuous. A rabid, fire eating clergyman named Sayles, called the "fighting parson," was captain of the band. When they reached the house they called:

"Is this Crain's place?"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Crain.

Sayles dismounted and with several of his men proceeded, without asking any questions, to search the house. He argued that the boy would naturally go to his home for a hiding place and resolved to spare no pains to find him. It was not long before the two boys were dragged from the closet and taken out into the yard in front of the house.

"Which is Walter Crain?" asked the captain.

Neither replied. They had been schoolmates and bosom friends. Later they had been out gunning for secessionists. Crain had shot one of their men and fled, the two boys separating. During the pursuit a country woman whom the fugitive passed told the outlaws that he was Walter Crain. The two boys came together at a point of rendezvous and made for the Crain plantation.

Sayles was one of those extreme natures who are half devil and half saint. He was impatient to learn which of the boys had killed one of his band that he might have him shot at once and be off, for he had got wind of the advance of General Burnside's army across the mountains and knew that should he fall into the hands of the Yankees there were plenty of Unionists about to inform upon his misdeeds and see that he was punished.

"Are you Mrs. Crain?" he asked of the woman.

"Yes, and you're John Sayles. I knew you in Kentucky when you were a boy, and a worse boy I never knew. They said when you got religion and went to preachin' you had turned angel, but I didn't believe it."

Something in this speech excited the evil in the "fighting parson's" nature.

"Which of these boys is your son?" he asked.

"Neither."

This was false, but what mother would have answered differently? Sayles turned away with an angry exclamation, and taking two guns from his men placed one in the hands of each of the boys. Then he ordered his men to place Mrs. Crain against the side of her house with her face to the wall.

Walter Crain divined that the outlaw was preparing to make a test as to which of the boys was the son by ordering them to fire on the mother. He whispered something to his friend, who nodded assent. Both boys were pale as a night mist.

"Now, raise your guns," said Sayles, "and when I order you to fire shoot this woman. The one who fails dies."

At the moment the notes of a bugle rang out clear and near, and horses' hoofs were heard beating the road. Every eye was turned to see, and horsemen were discovered coming at a canter. At the same moment a cheer was heard in the opposite direction, and a concourse of citizens, who had heard of the approach of the Union army, were seen coming up the road, waving innumerable stars and stripes. Suddenly the boys turned together and Walter Crain's voice was heard above the shouts:

"Fire!"

Both boys fired into the outlaws, Walter aiming at Sayles, who fell dead.

The outlaws looked about them for means of escape. They saw at once, however, that they were caught like a rat in a trap. Fences prevented their riding to the woods, while the road was packed on the north by an army, on the south by citizen Unionists.

The boys called wildly to the passing cavalry, who were not long in taking in the situation and riding into the place, they disarmed the band.

On the march to Knoxville General Burnside, not caring to be incumbered with such prisoners, directed that they be set at liberty. This was done among throngs of Unionists, and they were surrounded by their merciless enemies and most of them shot.

Walter Crain and his friend enlisted in the Union army, and both distinguished themselves at the defense of Fort Sanders, near Knoxville, which occurred later and which established Union rule in east Tennessee.

Father Served as a Bumper.

A young lady who is employed in a Rockland millinery establishment is earning quite a reputation for being the victim of mishaps. Sunday, while recovering from a week's illness, she stepped through a register at her home and fell into the room below. The blow almost killed father, but if father hadn't been below to catch the descending girl, further hat trimming would have been indefinitely postponed so far as the young lady was concerned.—Augusta (Me) Journal.

If We Only Could Understand.

[For The Reflector]. If we only were understood. If we only could understand.

Oh! many a dart that pierced the heart Would fall from the lifted hand, And much of the strife, of wearisome life Would cease at the first command, If we only were understood If we only could understand.

Oh! much of the pain, of slavery's chain Oppressing the striving soul Would vanish from earth—then hail to the birth Of seekers after the good, If we only were understood! If we only could understand..

Full many a word like a sombre bird That flies on its way of woe Would never be said, of living or dead

If hearts could be sure they know, Could be sure they were understood Could be sure that they understood. —I. N. DEAVOR
