Greenville Will Get the New Road from Raleigh to the Coast.

Captain J. M. Turner and C. M. Barbee, of Raleigh, promoters of the Raleigh and Pamlico railroad, arrived from Washington this morning and held a conference with the leading business men of Greenville. The railroad people presented their proposition, which was discussed at length. While the plans and agreements were not definitely settled, THE REFLECTOR can say that the new road will come to Greenville. We will publish full details next Wednesday.

GRIMESLAND ITEMS.

Grimesland, N. C., July 17 1903: Our community is full of little boys and girls all growing up in ignorance and idleness. They are helpless, they cannot command what they need, that is, an eight or ten months term of school every year. We have referred to an effort that would be made to hold an election and levy a special tax, in order that we might build a school house and have longer terms. Let us get together, ask for an election, invite Prof. Ragsdale to come down and help us, and he will secure a prominent speaker on education and arouse our people to see the necessity of a good school in our midst. Let's have an election, and we are sure Grimesland cannot afford to take a backward step.

Rufus Galloway and Ed. Boyd returned Tuesday from an extended trip down the country.

T. W. Walker, of Greenville, was here Tuesday, talking tobacco, tacking signs and telling jokes. He is rare good fellow and we enjoyed his visit.

D. G. Moore went Greenville Wednesday, accompanied by Miss Eula Quinn, who has been visiting relatives here for a week or two.

Mrs. J. W. Mayo is spending a few days with her mother's family on Roanoke river.

H. C. Venters is moving into his new residence on Pitt street.

In a few days J. N. Mayo and family will move into the residence recently occupied by J. J. Mason.

Henry Boyd is on the sick list today.

F. Ward and daughter, Miss Louise, are visiting today the family of Dr. Jones.

The stage around J. O. Proctor & Bros. new gin house gave away last Wednesday, and came very near causing a serious accident to two workmen, Lafayette Manning and Sam Godley, who were on it at the time, felt the impulse of the collapse, and seized some timbers overhead just in time to save themselves from a thirty foot fall. They were left hanging by their hands high up in the air.

Misses Lizzinia and Susie Moore went to Shelmerdine Thursday afternoon and returned today.

Meeting of Board of Education.

The board of education will meet at Winterville on next Friday, July 24th, at 10 o'clock for the purpose of considering the school situation in that district, and the district adjoining said district. The committeemen, and all persons interested in these districts, are hereby notified to be present that they may be heard.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

Asks A. C. L. for Depot and Sunday Trains.

The Pitt County Retail Merchants' association held an interesting meeting in the court house Friday night. A constitution and by-laws were adopted and other routine business attended to.

A committee consisting of J. R. Moye, C. T. Munford, S. M. Schultz, S. T. White and J. N. Hart was appointed to confer with the promoters of the Raleigh and Pamlico Sound railroad.

It was resolved to petition the Atlantic Coast line for another daily passenger train, a Sunday train and that the passenger depot to be enlarged and altered or a new one built.

Several new members were added, and the invitation to every retail merchant in the county to join was renewed. A committee on membership was appointed, and will at once begin an active canvass of the county.

Meetings and Meetings.

There were places numerous for people in town to get together Friday night. Some of the churches had choir practice, the Anti-Saloon League committees met in F. C. Harding's office, the Merchants' Association met in the court house, the Carolina club met in the mayor's office, and there was a lawn party in the M. E. church lot on Washington street. Enough not to let the moments be dull.

Mr. Parham to go to Greenville.

In conversation with Mr. Samuel J. Parham one day this week, he informed us that he had formed a copartnership and would go in the tobacco warehouse business in Greenville the coming season. He will leave some time in July. Mr. Parham has been engaged in the tobacco business in Louisburg for a number of years, and is an experienced tobaccoist. By honest dealings with everybody he has gained the confidence of all with whom he has come in contact, and he will carry with him the good will of the people of this entire section. The editor of the Times regrets his departure from the town, but wishes him and his good family great success and happiness in their new home. We commend them to the people of Greenville, and to the farmers of Pitt county, we will say that no man will deal with them more honorably than Samuel J. Parham.—Louisburg Times.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 18th 1903.

A GOOD SIGN.

We could not be strictly truthful and say that Greenville is one of the most public spirited towns in the state, but we can express gratification at the fact that we all seem to be of one mind regarding the importance of water works and electric lights. These improvements have been the subject of much bitter discussion in the past, causing a great deal of hard feeling. But fortunately for the welfare of the town the last evidence of personal prejudice and ill feeling has vanished. There is no longer a bond element and an anti-bond element, but all are supporting the board of internal improvements with a spirit of unity that means peace and advancement.

We congratulate those who originally opposed the bonds upon the good sense and town pride they have shown in accepting the result of the election as final and falling into the line of practical progress and education.

GREENVILLE VS. A. C. L.

At the meeting of the Pitt County Retail Merchant association last night it was moved and carried that the Atlantic Coast Line be petitioned for another passenger train, a Sunday train and a new passenger depot.

The history of former petitions from this town has not been over-glorious, and while we are far from wishing to discourage the above projects, we believe that the present petitions will find their way to the waste basket, the grave of so many of our past efforts. We believe the thing to do is to form an alliance with Washington and take the matter to the corporation commission. We do not desire to act harshly and unreasonably with the railroad, but Greenville is the most important point on the Weldon and Kinston branch and we are entitled to some consideration. Single handed we will only repeat former failures. Co-operating with Washington we may achieve something.

We are willing to wait and see what effect the petitions of last night will have. If we do not get something far more tangible than promises in a reasonable time, this paper will begin to agitate and advocate taking our claims to the state coporation commission.

We opine that Mark Hanna and other distinguished "stand pat-ers" have been doing missionary work in North Carolina. The following from the Raleigh Times entitles that paper to a place at the head of the class of those who have learned to "stand pat" and thrive on it:

"It is the unvarying policy of this paper to use what influence it may have to sustain the actions of public officers. But we do think if Governor Aycock has any better reasons for the course he pursued in interfering with the judgment of the courts in this case, his friends would be glad to see them."

What an ornament the Times would have been to the period of George the Third!

See how the agitation of new railroad projects makes the old one hump. Our neighbor, Washington, needs better depot facilities, but the Atlantic Coast Line, with accustomed indifference, was taking its own time about supplying the need. Now the agitation is on for Washington to have another railroad, and all at once an architect of the A. C. L. appears on the scene with plans and specifications for a new depot. People would have more respect for the railroads if they would provide public needs as soon as they become apparent, without waiting to be forced to do so.

We sympathize deeply with those Charlotte parents whose baby fell a victim to the deadly unloaded gun, but the braud of common sense they showed in allowing a baby to play with a gun does nos entitle them to much sympathy.

"Before we let any of them have it suppose we make them tell how they stand on this pardoning business," says the Durham Herald. The motion finds an enthusiastic second.

The Hon. Champ Clark is inclined to take the Hearst boom seriously—that is, for correspondence purposes. Evidently he has not heard the news from Edenton.

"Why don't you fellows let Aycock alone; he is a good man," was asked us recently. What we are kicking about is that he is too good a man to criminals.

Be not deceived. You will remain in the shade if you wait for the sunny side of the world to turn around to you.

Fourteen boys have died this season from lockjaw caused by the toy pistol. The unloaded gun killed the others.

The open door policy will prevail in Manchuria, but Russia will continue to act as door keeper.

So far Russia has not shown this country the soft spot desired for butting in purposes.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousand's of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. JUST ABOUT BEDTIME take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not grip and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

No, it is not necessary to have a carpenter to frame an excuse.

Valuable Time Saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poison develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food taken into it that fails to digest it decays and inflames the mucus membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucus, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. Rhea, Coppell, Tex. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

The most certain sign of wisdom is a perpetual cheerfulness.

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

A Psalm of Advertising.

Tell me not in sneering manner Advertising dose not pay, Rich are they who fling their banner Boldest to the world today. Advertising done in earnest, Done with wisdom, heart and soul, With determination, sternest, Always wins the wished for goal. Lives of many men remind us We to great success can climb If the reading public find us Advertising all the time. Advertising with persistent Energy to spread our fame, Even honest and consistent In performing what we claim. In the world's commercial battle, In the rivalry of trade, We must hustle, shout and rattle Ere impression can be made Not enjoyment—rather sorrow, Is the certain end of those Who are apt to let tomorrow, Like today unheeded close. Careless of their advertising, Which, if penned in common sense Is the method enterprising That insures full recompense. —The Metropolis.

Founded on a Rock.

If you toot your little tooter and then lay aside your horn, there's not a soul in ten short days will know that you were born. The man who gathers pumpkins is the man who plows all day, and the man who keeps it humping is the one who makes it pay. The man who advertises with a short and sudden jerk, is the one who blames the editor because it doesn't work. They who get the business take a long and steady pull and keep the local paper from year to year quite full. He plaus his advertisements in a careful, thoughtful way and keeps forever at it until he makes it pay. He has faith in all the future, can withstand a sudden shock, and like the man of scripture, has his business on a rock.—Laredo Times.

KODOL
Digests What You Eat.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol
Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammelled action.

Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2 1/2 times the trial size, which sells for 50c

THE TIGER OF THE SEA

In the year 1870 I shipped aboard the English brig Ruby for a voyage from London to Ceylon, calling at the island of Mauritius, off the east coast of Madagascar. From London to the island not a single shark was sighted. Thirty miles off the island, as the voyage was resumed, a shark, judged to be twenty feet long, suddenly appeared on the port quarter not over fifteen feet from the side of the vessel.

We tempted him with all kinds of bait, but he refused everything. First we gave him a piece of pork on a hook. He paid no attention to it. We changed to beef, then to chicken, but he would touch neither.

It was noon next day before we tried the shark again, but we had no better luck. He simply ignored the bait. The men began to whisper about accident and death, and the captain brought up a blunderbuss loaded with slugs and took a fair shot at the shark. He was only about a foot below the surface, and the heavy charge struck him at the base of the dorsal fin and nearly tore it away. The shark made a sudden rush, but only for a few feet. The smoke had not yet blown away when he resumed his old position. His start was one of surprise instead of pain. He had learned caution, however, and he sank down until he had two feet of water over him. Some of the men dropped objects over the bow with a great splashing, but the shark paid no attention to the noise.

For nine long days and nights he kept the place where we had first seen him, and during this time we had two or three squalls and two days of heavy weather. So long as a man leaned over the rail to watch him he kept his wicked eyes fastened on that man, and when any one was aloft and laying out on a yard the brute's jaws could be seen working as if he had the taste of a sailor on his tongue. He might have followed us to the end of the voyage but for a curious incident.

On the morning of the ninth day we approached a large swordfish sleeping on the dancing waves. We were within a hundred feet of him when the creaking of the yards or the voices of the men disturbed him and he came tearing down on the port side and ran right over the shark and away out of sight. If the shark was not struck he was at least badly frightened, for he made off and we did not set eyes on him again.

While the American bark Rocket, from New York to Santos, was lying becalmed on the equator, a shark twenty-four feet long suddenly appeared on her starboard side amidships and only a few yards away. He lay head and tail with the ship, and the carpenter got his length to an inch by measurements along the rail. The spread of the monster's jaws was such that he could easily have taken a flour barrel into his mouth.

There was no shark hook aboard, but the captain, being willing to divert the crew, gave them leave to throw over a lot of pork which had become unfit for eating. There were four full barrels of this pork, and it was fed out piece by piece to that shark till the last pound was gone. It was so stated by officers and men, and there is no reason to doubt their veracity.

When the pork was finished, a piece of beef was thrown over the port rail, and the shark dived under the ship and seized it. How much longer he would have gone on eating no one could say, as there was no more to give him. He seemed to be as ravenous for the last piece as for the first. How one shark could hold all that meat and another go eight days without eating a thing is yet another question for discussion.

While off the southeast coast of Java in the New Bedford whaler Joshua Lee we one day came upon a native craft floating on her beam ends. She had a crew of six men aboard, but they were frightened and helpless. The craft had no cargo in her and had taken considerable water through her single hatchway, which had been left open.

We sent a boat and cut away her masts and righted her, and then a strange discovery was made. There was three feet of water in her hold, and dashing about in the water was a shark fourteen feet long. He had come aboard with a gun, and instead of being left on deck had gone down the hatchway. The natives abandoned the wreck for the whaler, and three weeks later she was drifted ashore on the Sunda-wood island with the shark still alive and rushing about, although he had had nothing to eat and the water was very foul.

On that same cruise the whaler ran into the port of Barung, Java, to make repairs. Some fishermen had caught a shark nine feet long in their nets, and he had been lying on the beach three hours when I saw him. Some of our men went to the ship and got a pork barrel, knocked out both heads and slipped the shell over the shark and drove it down to his bulge. He was then rolled into the water, and the tide floated him out. In a quarter of an hour he was swimming about and headed for the open sea.

Sixteen days later, when 220 miles to the south, that same shark came alongside. There could be no doubt of his identity because he still wore his wooden jacket. The barrel had shrunk to him so tightly that no effort of his could remove it. It must have bothered him about keeping under water, but it did not seem to affect him otherwise. In the course of a year we heard of him no less than five times. He went up as far as the strait of Sunda, came back to Barung, ran over to the coast of Australia and when last reported was to the south of the Coco Islands. M. QUAD.
