FLEEING NEGRO SHOT DOWN.

JOHN DANIEL KILLED BY POLICEMAN DUNN AT GRIFTON.

STABBED THE OFFICER AND RAN

Negro Resisted Arrest Saturday Night and Paid For It With His Life.

John Daniel, colored, was shot and fatally wounded by Policeman George Dunn at Grifton Saturday night. Officer Dunn was attempting to arrest Daniel, when the latter resisted arrest and stabbed the policeman with a knife, whereupon Dunn shot the negro three times. Daniel had broken away and attempted to run. He was caught and carried to a doctor. His wounds were so serious that nothing could be done for him, death resulting Sunday afternoon.

Coroner Laughinghouse went down to Grifton Sunday night and held an inquest. The jury brought in a verdict that Daniel was killed by Policeman Dunn in self defence. Dunn's wound was only slight.

THE INLAND WATERWAY.

Congressman Small on a Tour of Inspection.

Norfolk, Va., July 25.—Hon. John H. Small of North Carolina and Captain E. E. Winslow, United States engineer of the fifth North Carolina district and this port, left today to inspect the route of the proposed inland waterway from this city to Beaufort inlet. Captain Winslow and Congressman Small held a lengthy conference at the custom house yesterday and arranged for the trip today. They will visit Elizabeth City and other points along the proposed routes and will probably return here Tuesday. Congressman Small is very enthusiastic over the question of an inland waterway and is confident that the government will become interested in the project when all the details are explained.

Secretary Lumsden of the Norfolk chamber of commerce in a few days will send to the engineer department in Washington a voluminous report from seaport cities along the Atlantic coast who are anxious to see the new waterway completed.

Attempted Jail Delivery.

Washington, N. C., July 25.—Seventeen prisoners in the county jail formulated a plot yesterday to escape and were in the act of doing so, expecting the officer to leave the outer door open as he opened the inner one to take a prisoner and work him on the streets. Joseph Canuney, the policeman, held them back with his hand on his gun and frustrated the attempt just as one of the men was coming through the door.

RALEIGH & PAMLICO.

Much Enthusiasm All Along the Line.

The Raleigh and Pamlico Sound Railroad prospects are growing brighter daily. All along the route the people are signing the petitions for the bond election and are doing this with an enthusiasm that means the necessary bonds will be voted.

Yesterday Solicitor Larry I. Moore and Sheriff R. W. King, of Greenville, were here to consult with the railroad people in regard to the election in Pitt county, and they were in fine spirits about the matter. The news from Wilson county is also most encouraging.—News and Observer, 15th.

KINDLED A FIRE WITH OIL.

Same Old Story of Ignorance and Carelessness.

Winston-Salem, N. C., July 25.—Miss Emma Pitts, a white girl, was terribly burned here late this afternoon. While starting a fire in the stove with kerosene oil the can exploded and threw oil over her. She was soon wrapped in flames and before help arrived she was rendered unconscious. The attending physician says the soles of her feet are the only part of her person not burned. She was removed to the hospital, where she lies tonight in an unconscious condition. The physicians say there is no hope.

$19,981 FOR G. F. COLLEGE.

The Institution Will be Preserved For Future Generations.

Greensboro, N. C., July 25.—Friends of Greensboro Female College throughout the state will be very much gratified to know that the prospects are daily brightening for the saving of the college. There are several in the field from whom results have not been received to this hour but the total amount of subscriptions thus far is $19,981.

Defying Watts Law.

Asheville, N. C., July 26.—The declaration was made in revenue circles today that some distillers in Yadkin and other counties were operating their plants outside of incorporated towns, as it was some time ago predicted they would do. Moreover it is known that several distillers had failed to pay the special tax provided in the Watts law. Thus far no arrests have been made.

Fitzsimmons Marries an Actress

San Francisco July, 25.—Bob Fitzsimmons was married at the Palace hotel today to Miss Julia May Bifford, the actress. The marriage was very informal, Judge Daniel performing the ceremony. Bob wore an ordinary black suit and the bride had on a pretty white street dress.

Masons.

There will be a special communication of Greenville Lodge No. 280, A. F. & A. M. tonight at 8 o'clock sharp. All members are requested to be present, as there will be business of importance. By order of the W. M., Wiley Brown, secretary.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 27 1903.

It is well worth the time of every reader of THE REFLECTOR to read the communications of Rev. T. H. Bain, the Farmville member of our staff. His articles on farming are especially sound and sensible, and what he has to say on any subject is interesting.

A company has been formed in Elizabeth City to transform the Economist into an afternoon daily. This is a sign of Elizabeth City's greatness that all may see. We shall gladly welcome the new paper, and hope to see the name of Richard Benbury Creecy still floating from its flagstaff.

We believe in harmony, but not if we have to go to the devil to achieve it. Those papers that are booming Brooklyn Shepard for the presidency could have something to say about Shepard's record as a republican if they would.

Probably Richmond knows more about strikes than we do, but it does look from this distance that the law's strong arm has rheumatism in the capital of the late confederacy.

It appears that Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria has not been running away. Probably he just went out to inspect the route he is to take when his time comes.

Politics is surely warming up. One of our exchanges has begun to refer to Mr. Bryan as "one of the best and purest Americans that ever lived."

In the Russo Japanese hysterics Japan is somewhat in the position of those Washington book binders who are trying to run the government.

Baltimore is seeking the national democratic convention. If it gets it nothing worse can happen than the event of about 40 years ago.

Pope Leo bequeathed $20 to each poor person in Rome, and under the circumstances the whole population will plead poverty.

High Point has contributed $2,500 to the fund for a North Carolina exhibit at St. Louis. High Point is ace high.

Those striking bookbinders in Washington are butting up against a stone wall when they try to boycott the government.

Nearly as many people seem to know who will be pope as are in a position to predict the outcome of a political event.

It will cost $30,000 to get the Raleigh & Pamlico here. It will cost many times that amount not to get it.

The shirtwaist man is abroad in the land, but he hasn't the nerve to come out in the peek-a-boo kind yet.

Raleigh is about to get a new modern hotel again.

THE STATE PRESS

The collectors at North Carolina ports may be worth all that the government pays them, yet we cannot understand what they can find for their clerks and assistants to do.—Durham Herald.

When prices drop on change the brokers issue a notice that the reaction has brought about a healthier condition. This for the purpose of catching another crop of suckers.—Wilson Times

There was no sort of excuse for the action of the citizens of Madison county, and if that telephone company wants to employ negroes in the construction of its line the authorities should see to it that it allowed to do it.—Durham Herald.

The fellow that persists in saying chivalry is dead has doubtless never heard of the Georgia husband, who recently shot a man because he refused to admit that his wife was the most lovable creature he had ever seen.—Winston Sentinel.

Nathaniel Macon, the greatest of North Carolina's sons, sleeps in Warren county in the grave of his own choosing. His grave is unmarked by marble shaft or storied urn because he believed that a man's life should live in the institutions of his country instead of on marble—that men should write their history in hearts, and characters, and lives, and laws, and institutions.—Warrenton Record.

A Singer in Trouble.

We regret to hear of the following accident which "happened" to the poet of the Adams Enterprise: Providence afflicts us Beyond the golden rule, Lightning strikes our smokehouse An' nearly killed our mule.

But, just before it thundered, And ere the rain had poured, We had the mighty wisdom To have the mule insured.

Mr. Bryan is vindicated. That Cleveland anti-race suicide policy shows conclusively that the sage of Princeton is a republican at heart.—Atlanta Journal.

It is about time now for the island girl to come home from the seashore and report on the perfectly lovely time she had slooping the sloop.—Atlanta Journal.

Maybe the four men chasing Kaiser William, supposed to be anarchist, are merely subjects who want to present him with a new make of cheese.—Atlanta Journal.

The glad acclaim with which the public greeted the news of the Cleveland baby puts the finishing touches to the presidential hopes of David B. Hill.—Atlanta Journal.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Boeque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

The new comet seems to be a good mannered comet, after all. It hasn't butted into anything yet.—Atlanta Journal.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousand's of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Sumner, S. C. For Blind Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Salve by Wooten's Drug Store.

This is the season when the summer girl is up in arms against the seashore masher, anyhow.—Atlanta Journal.

Valuable Time Saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poisons develop, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

There is a chance to make war really a fearful devastation when Dr. Leonard Wood is put at the head of the army. Pills may take the place of pistols.—Atlanta Journal.

CATARH OF THE STOMACH.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucus membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. R. Rhea, Coppell, Tex. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

Kentucky is preparing to give new fuel to the fends. The grand jury men, it is announced, will investigate the affairs and order the principals to be presented.—Atlanta Journal.

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

If all the rubber generated by the new comet could only be utilized for commercial purposes the rubber tree would have to go out of business.—Atlanta Journal.

Polish Wedding Customs.

According to the Polish custom, the marriage ceremony usually occurs on a Sunday, this being done to permit the men to attend without losing any time from their employment, while the bride is supposed to maintain the greatest secrecy concerning her wedding until she is actually clad in her wedding garments of thin white and bridal veil. Then she goes from house to house, regardless of the conditions of the weather, and invites her friends to her wedding, which, of course, is paying them a very pretty compliment. Again, according to custom, and during the course of the reception, a china bowl is placed in the center of the table upon which the feast is spread, and each man whom the bride honors with a waltz understands that he is to throw with all his might and main a silver piece into this bowl, the idea being to break it, and the man who is so fortunate as to shatter the vessel is entitled to the farewell dance and a kiss from the bride. While the custom is curious it is none the less practical, as it is not an infrequent thing for the newly married couple to receive three or more hundred dollars at their wedding feast.

A Dog and a Song.

During one of the last birthday celebrations of the poet Whittier he was visited by a celebrated oratorical singer. The lady was asked to sing, and, seating herself at the piano, she began the beautiful ballad, "Robin Adair." She had hardly begun before Mr. Whittier's pet dog came into the room and, seating himself by her side, watched her as if fascinated, listening with a delight unusual in an animal. When she finished he came and put his paw very gravely into her hand and licked her cheek. "Robin takes that as a tribute to himself," said Mr. Whittier. "He also is Robin Adair." The dog, hearing his own name, evidently considered that he was the hero of the song. From that moment during the lady's visit he was her devoted attendant. He kept by her side when she was indoors and accompanied her when she went to walk. When she went away he carried her satchel in his mouth to the gate and watched her departure with every evidence of distress.

Sorry He Sued.

A stranger admitted below the bar of the British house of lords was required to deposit his umbrella with one of the attendants. The umbrella was not to be found afterward, and the owner brought an action in court to recover its value. He was successful and was awarded $5. But this was a violation of sanctuary which the lord chancellor would not tolerate. Summoning the plaintiff and his attorney to the bar of the house, he only refrained from committing them both to prison on their making a humble apology and refunding the amount they had gained.

The Small Grains.

A man recently made a fortune by picking out specks of gold from the heaps which the miners had cast up and abandoned. They were in search of nuggets and despised the smaller grains which rewarded their perseverance. And how frequently the richest findings of philosophy are in the commonplace incidents of life! In circumstances and places that seem wholly unpropitious to the poet's heavenly attuned ear discerns a sweet undertone of harmony which all the hurly burly of sin and misery cannot drown.

No Difference.

Young Criminal Lawyer—I have arranged to have the prisoner's wife and babies sit in front of the jury and weep all through the trial. Do you think it advisable to pick bachelors or married men for the jury?
 Old Criminal Lawyer—Oh, it doesn't make a particle of difference. If bachelors they will sympathize with the woman and babies, and if married men they will sympathize with the prisoner.

Butler's Actress Wife.

General Butler deputed the stage of one of its great beauties and a most talented and popular actress. It is a bit of forgotten biography that he fell in love with Sally Hildreth when she was twenty-one years old and had been on the stage five years. She capitulated to the young lawyer and retired from the histrionic field.

Did Not Mean It.

"Honesty is the best policy," sapiently said the commuter.
 "My dear sir, you're wrong!" exclaimed the suddenly awakened insurance agent who had been dozing in the opposite seat. "My company has the best policy. We long ago abandoned the other as out of date."

Showing the Way.

"Whose little boy is this, I wonder?" asked the old gentleman.
 "There is two ways you could find out," said the small boy.
 "How so, my son?"
 "You might guess, or you might inquire," replied the small boy.

To Shine by Contrast.

Aunt—Your bride, my dear boy, is delightfully rich and all that, but I don't think she will make much of a beauty show at the altar.
 Nephew—You don't, eh? Just wait till you see her with the bridesmaids that she has selected.

A Healer.

"Why, Sharpe, I'm glad to see you so lively again. You were quite lame when I last met you."
 "Oh, yes; I was awfully lame then. But that was before I got a verdict of $5,000 against the railway company."

No. 146

[Original.]

"No. 146, you are discharged from this prison and may go where you like. I hope you'll live an honest life and not have to come back here again."

As the warden spoke the prisoner stared at him as though his mind were upon other matters, then, without a reply, hastened out into the world.

Several years before this Henry Tracy was a young business man of such marked ability that when Manning Brightman, an intimate friend, though fifteen years his senior, died it was found that Tracy had been named sole executor of his estate and guardian of the only heir, Edith Brightman, seventeen years old. One day Abel Barnicourt, who had once been Brightman's attorney, produced papers transferring the whole estate to Sarah Parton, who claimed to be the second wife of the deceased. These papers disappeared, and there was such strong evidence that Tracy had stolen them that his incarceration followed. While he was in prison the estate remained in litigation, and Edith Brightman, being deprived of her income, was forced to earn her own living.

On the evening of his discharge he stood on a street corner waiting for the clocks to strike 10. At the first stroke a man crossed the street and joined him.

"The shovels?" asked Tracy.
 "On the place."
 "All right. You go ahead, and I'll follow. We don't want to be seen together."

Tracy followed the man out of town to a deserted house standing beside the road, and the two entered the grounds. A pick and a shovel were found under a large tree in a corner of the lot, began to dig. Coming to a small sheet iron box, they removed it and returned with it to the city.

"We'll go to your room, Brown," said Tracy. "You've got the documents there, I believe."

"Yes."
 A few minutes later Brown scratched a match in his room, lit the gas, locked the door, pulled down the shades, and the two opened the iron box, taking out a bundle of papers. Brown meanwhile unlocked a desk and brought forth an envelope containing documents. Tracy seized them eagerly and scanned them one after another till he came to one at which he uttered a cry of joy.

"This is the key to the situation!" he exclaimed. "Without this the others are worthless. I'll take care of this myself. You look out for the others. Meet me in the morning at the court-house, and we will swear out the warrant."

It was 11 o'clock at night when Tracy left the detective and walked rapidly to a house where there was but one light burning. He rang the bell and when a servant came asked for Miss Brightman.

"Gone to bed."
 "Never mind that. I must see her tonight."
 "Who shall I tell her wishes to see her?"

"Never mind that either. She'll approve of your calling her up."

When Edith Brightman entered the room and saw her guardian, the convict, she caught at the door knob. His imprisonment and the mystery attending it, together with the loss of her property, had not only been a puzzle but a horror to her. When it occurred she was still half a child. Now she was a woman.

"Edith," said Tracy, "your estate is saved to you."
 She stared at him wonderingly as he proceeded:

"When your father asked me to be his executor he told me of the woman who claimed to be his wife, and that he also suspected Barnicourt. 'When I die,' he said, 'there'll be some rascality practiced on my little girl. Promise me you will see that she is not robbed.'"
 "I promise on my honor and my life," she replied.

"When the blow fell I knew the papers were fraudulent, but could not prove it. The court was about to turn over the estate to this woman, who would at once turn it into cash and leave the country. I deliberately stole their papers and buried them in my yard. While serving my term I employed a detective, who has only recently unraveled the case. Here is a contract between Abel Barnicourt and Sarah Parton, wherein she agrees to divide the estate with him, in case he secures it for her, and below her confession that she was never married to your father, and the documents are all forged, the signatures being copied from letters of your father which had fallen into her possession. This confession Barnicourt was to hold over her in case she refused to divide with him after the estate was acquired."

While Tracy was giving his ward this brief summary of a case which could only be written in volumes her face wore the expression not of one delighted at hearing how she had regained her property, but an engrossing pity mingled with wonder, admiration, gratitude for one who had suffered disgrace and imprisonment that it might pass to its legitimate owner.

"And you did this to fulfill a promise?"
 "No, I loved the little girl for whom I did it."

It was a long while before Edith Brightman, reversing the conventional order of matrimonial occurrences, could persuade Henry Tracy to become her husband. Despite the truth, to the world he was known as an ex-convict and his career was ruined. Then he fell ill, and it was in one of his weaker physical moods that his consent was obtained. The pair went abroad and have never returned to America.

Rheumacide

Is a new and scientific compound made from roots, herbs and barks—contains neither opiates nor poisons. It purifies the blood and removes the causes of rheumatism and all blood diseases. Anyone can take RHEUMACIDE with absolute safety. Does not injure the digestive organs.

TWO CURES.

FLORENCE, S. C., Aug. 10, 1902.
 Gentlemen:—I began to suffer from rheumatism about three years ago, and had it very bad in my limbs. At times I could hardly walk. Was treated by a physician without benefit. More than a year ago, Mr. George Wilson, an engineer on the Coast Line, living in Florence, told me that "RHEUMACIDE" cured him. I got a bottle and it benefited me. I took five bottles and am now as well as I ever was in my life. I regard "RHEUMACIDE" as a great medicine. I know of others it has cured.

Truly,
 S. T. BURCH.

DARLINGTON, S. C., Aug. 10th, 1902.
 Gentlemen:—About two years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I suffered great pain and was confined to my bed for five weeks. During the time I was treated by two physicians without permanent relief. Capt. Harker, a conductor on the Atlantic Coast Line heard of my condition and sent me two bottles of "RHEUMACIDE." I began to take it and in a week I got up and walked on crutches. After taking three bottles of the remedy I got entirely well and went back to my business. I personally know of a number of other bad cases that were cured by the use of your medicine, in this town and vicinity. It is all that you claim for it.

Truly,

MINNIE COX IS A STAYER.

She is Still Living Easy at the Expense of Uncle Sam.

Washington, July 25.—The name of Minnie V. Cox, the negro postmaster at Indianola, Miss., will be stricken from the civil pension roll, created by President Roosevelt, April 1 of next year. In the meantime her salary of twelve hundred dollars per year has been reduced to eleven hundred dollars, and this is the amount she will receive as a reward for her timidity in failing to return to the Indianola post office despite the assurances of Senator McLaurin and officers of the town that she would be protected. The action of the department is probably the last chapter in a case which excited national interest for a time. Last winter Minnie Cox, alarmed by a petition of the patrons of the Indianola post office, asking for her resignation, closed up her office and sent the resignation to Washington. The president declined to receive it, claiming that it was written under threats of personal violence. She was afraid to return to Indianola and reopen the post office, but the president ordered her salary to continue with the result that for over three months she has drawn from the government at the rate of twelve hundred dollars per annum for no service, and will continue on the rolls at eleven hundred dollars, dating from March 31 last.

The office being presidential, the salary is adjusted on the basis of the gross receipts accruing for the four quarters ending March 31. When the question came up for readjustment last April the officials of the department, not knowing what action to take in view of the order of the president, referred the matter to the assistant attorney general. He held that under the law the receipts govern the salary, which must therefore be reduced in proportion to the decrease in receipts. No money having been taken in during the last three months of the post office year the salary was therefore reckoned on a nine months' receipts basis and eleven hundred dollars was fixed for this year's pension. —Morning Post.
