LECTURE BY REV. B. W. SPILMAN

"What Have You For Sale?" He Asks the Teachers.

"What have you for sale?" Upon this subject the teachers of the Pitt County Institute and the citizens in and around Winterville heard one of the strongest lectures ever delivered to the teachers of this county. Mr. B. W. Spilman is a forceful, entertaining speaker, and his lecture was full of sound philosophy, spiced with wholesome wit, and driven home by that enthusiasm which comes only from a brain and heart fired with holy zeal. This lecture was of the kind to make you think, feel, resolve and do.

The speaker said that every person has time for sale—the same amount of time plus what he is to put into it from his own brawn and brain and enthusiasm. This something else which you mix with time is what makes the difference between men. The man who mixes muscle alone with his time must continue all his life to compete with all muscle and machine. But, if to this he adds the directing power of a cultivated mind to guide a trained hand he will move out of competition with the brute forces of the world into the realm of the spirit. Then and then only can he rise to the height of usefulness in service to the world, and leave his impress engraved in letters of love upon the hearts of the people. Above all add the purifying influence of a consecrated heart and you will win your right to the crown of righteousness, which is laid up for the children of the King.

Tonight the Superior Court of the Seventeenth Judicial District will hold its first session in the Assembly Hall, at which session an important case for breach of promise will occupy the attention of the court.

RENSTON ITEMS.

RENSTON N. C., July 31, 1903. The farmers are nearly through curing tobacco.

Mrs. W. E. Patrick and children, of Greenville, spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo McGlohon.

Mrs. Lorenzo McGlohon went to Greenville Monday.

J. A. Jarrell and Tobe Tripp went to Greenville Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Major Smith spent Sunday in the neighborhood.

Exum Dail and sister, Miss Allie, spent Saturday and Sunday in Quinerly.

Oscar Speight and sister, Miss Anna, went to Winterville yesterday evening.

E. D. Braxton and Lorenzo McGlohon went to Greenville Saturday.

S. A. Frost, of Ayden, spent Sunday afternoon in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Todd Allen and children spent Sunday in the neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Langston went to Winterville Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Eli Craft went on the excursion to Norfolk.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jackson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hardy.

Bennett Speight went to Norfolk Tuesday.

Early Closing About Over.

The early closing agreement between the dry goods merchants expires today. So far as the business done at night is concerned, there will not be much doing yet, and some may continue to close early for a few week longer.

Freight Car Wrecks Buildings.

Richmond, Va., July 30.—A heavy freight car loaded with barrels of cement jumped from the Chesapeake and Ohio trestle today and tore away the rear of two buildings on Main street. No one was hurt in the accident. The car had jumped the track several squares from Main street but it was impossible for the men in the rear of the train to attract the attention of the engineer. Just before reaching Main street the car lurched clear off the trestle and crashed below. It hit the rear of the Union Clothing Co's store and the adjoining store occupied by Joseph Johnston.

The walls of the building were torn open from the third floor to the first.

Unkown a Prey of Buzzards.

New Berne, N. C., July 30.—Coroner Dr. J. W. Druguid was summoned today to Ballair, six miles west of New Bern, to view the body of an unknown man, who was found in the swamp by Mr. Ipock while repairing his fence. Dr. Druguid reports the body almost consumed by hogs and buzzards. It is beyond recognition. No one has been missed in the community. Three weeks ago Mr. Ipock gave a stranger employment. He got dinner and disappeared and has not been seen or heard from since. Bones and a few remnants of clothing was all that was left.

Lilly Whites Stirred Up.

Pottsville, Pa., July 30.—It is doubtful whether the great labor problem awaiting adjustment in the anthracite region will ever be settled by a conciliation board. The coal companies have three representatives on the board and so have the miners. On every important question they are a tie and one of the members admitted that it was unlikely they will be able to agree on an umpire, as provided by the commission award.

Labor Arbitrators Deadlocked.

New Orleans, La., July 30.—As expected the attitude of President Roosevelt on the negro question has made a break up of the white republican party of Louisiana. A circular addressed to the white republicans by republican leaders calls for an abandonment of party on the ground that under Roosevelt it is identified with negroism that a white man cannot belong to it.

He Went to Winterville.

A man at the depot Thursday evening said he had been debating in his mind whether to take a trip to Atlantic City or to Winterville. He wanted to go where there was a crowd of girls, and on hearing the proportion was 20 to 1 at the teacher's institute, he was not long reaching a decision.

Will Wait for Prices.

The farmers will not likely rush the market with tobacco at the opening of the season. They want to find out how prices are going to run. Reports of low prices come from markets that have already opened, but you can count on Greenville giving the highest prices that are to be had.

Twenty to One.

They tell us the proportion of attendance upon the teacher's institute at Winterville, is about 20 females to 1 male. Boys are certainly at a premium down there. No wonder Joe Blow is having such a good time.

Two Piece Suits

Those new two-piece suits of ours are just the thing for summer wear. We're always plowing new ground—never following the old furrows that will soon result in a rut. Plenty of indulgence is allowable in these very handsome suits.

Rough surfaces predominate. Seems strange that a rough looking cloth can be woven to be cooler than a smooth one. But we can show you how true that is, Wool Crashes, Home-spuns, Serges, Striped Flannel.

A two-piece suit is the thing for comfort.

"Too Much of a Good Thing"

That's what we have—too much Silk Mull, Mercerized Pebble Cloth, Mercerized Chambray, etc., for the season. The season really lacks two months of being over, but we must reduce stock for fall goods. Consequently we are making great reductions in Wash Silks, White Goods, Embroideries, Percales, etc. The profit goes to you if you take advantage of these reductions at once. We will not carry them over. You'll not have another chance to get the same goods for anything like the same money. Note these prices:

Silk Mulls, all colors, was 40c, now 25c.
Mercerized Pebble Cloths, was 30c., now 20c.
Mercerized Chambray, was 25c., now 15c.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, JULY 31 1903.

A CLEAR NOTE.

The First Baptist Church of Wilmington has taken an advanced position on the temperance question, but it is exactly right, and its example ought to be followed by every church in the state. A resolution has been passed in church conference that the hand of fellowship be withdrawn from any member who shall hereafter be found guilty of endorsing applications of signing petitions to grant license for selling liquor. Men who aid saloons ought to leave the church. There is no more deadly enemy to all the church stands for than the saloon; and no matter whether a man sells liquor by wholesale or retail, or aids in the traffic by renting houses to liquor sellers, or signing petitions praying for license, he should be made to walk the plank. There can be no middle ground and no compromise in this matter. The saloon is on one side of the line and the church is on the other. No man can stand on both sides. He that is not for us is against us. He that is friendly to liquor cannot be friendly to the church, for the two institutions are under two different masters, and no man can serve both. We honor the old First of Wilmington, and we hope that the good influence of this courageous action will steady the steps of others who may be in doubt or dismay on this very important matter. The only way to go is the right way, and the right way always leads from the saloon.—Charity and Children.

The Chatham Record pays this tribute to one of Pitt county's bravest of the brave:

"A reunion is to be held at Fort Fisher, on the 12th of August, of the survivors of the confederates who were captured there on the 15th of January, 1865.

This is eminently right and proper, for the heroism of the garrison of the famous fort should be perpetuated to the remotest generation. The gallant survivors have just cause to be proud of their heroic defense, and will no doubt meet again on that historic spot with mingled pride and sadness.

"The bombardment of Fort Fisher was the heaviest since the invention of gun powder. Many acts of heroism in its defense have never received the praise which they so much deserve. Indeed they are known to very few persons. For instance, scarcely any one has heard of the heroism of Private Christopher C. Bland, of company K. Thirty Sixth North Carolina regiment. The flagstaff was unprovided with halyards and when the order was given to raise the battle flag young Bland promptly volunteered to do so. He seized the flag and began climbing the staff under a heavy fire from the enemy's fleet, undismayed by the shrieking of shells which fell around he climbed the staff and fastened the flag at the top. Just as he came down a shell tore loose one end of the flag, and at once this young hero again climbed the staff, while shells fell around him almost as thick as hail, and again fastened the flag in its place and strange to say he escaped un-wounded. History has taught every school-boy the heroism of Sargeant Jasper at Fort Moultrie, when its flag-staff was shot down by the British fleet, but not a school boy has probably ever heard of this more daring feat of Christopher C. Bland."

There was a bright side to that pitiful story of how a young North Carolina couple—Gerald Jardens and his pretty wife—stranded in New York without a cent, made a compact to commit suicide, and were found suffering from the effects of the laudanum they had taken to produce death. The bright side is one that shows the true North Carolina spirit that exists wherever a Tar Heel lives. As soon as the news that this young couple in trouble were North Carolinians, a young North Carolinian, Mr. James Gordon Battle, who has won fame in the metropolis, came to their relief, secured medical assistance, helped to save their lives, and sent them on with a new faith in the goodness of their fellow man. It is doubtless true that there is a common tie that binds men of any state, but there seems to be a deeper appreciation of this kinship among North Carolinians. No matter how wide the gulf of wealth or social position that separates them, the cry of a North Carolinian cannot go unheeded by any native of this state whether he lives in New York or in Manila. It is the North Carolina spirit—the spirit of brotherhood that binds in affection all the sons of this good mother state.—News and Observer.

Two Rag-Time Anthems.

A colored divine from Salisbury was holding a meeting here last week and during the services he told the congregation that he had two songs to sing for them; that everywhere else he was paid five dollars each for singing them, but because of the friendly relations between the Asheboro negroes and himself he would render the two for five dollars. At once the congregation set to work and raised the money, for which they received two fancy ragtime anthems.—Randolph Argus.

To You I Turn.

To you I turn in time of stress
And sue, dear love, for the caress
Whose subtle art doth vanquish care
And change the gloom of cold despair
To fragrant bloom and sunshine.

If fortune brings to me success
I cannot wholly acquiesce
Until, with heart as light as air,
To you I turn.

Thus, if the fatedespire or bless,
One prize I know that I possess
Which makes all season debonair,
For which all else I would forswear;
And so, today, or heart's Princess,
To you I turn.
—John P engrave, in Chicago Journal.

Very Remarkable Cure of Diarrhoea.

"About six years ago for the first time in my life I had a sudden and severe attack of diarrhoea," says Mrs. Alice Miller, of Morgan, Texas. "I got temporary relief, but it came back again and again, and for six long years I have suffered more misery and agony than I can tell. It was worse than death. My husband spent hundreds of dollars for physicians' prescriptions and treatment without avail. Finally we moved to Bosque county, our present home, and one day I happened to see an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with a testimonial of a man who had been cured by it. The case was so similar to my own that I concluded to try the remedy. The result was wonderful. I could hardly realize that I was well again, or believe it could be so after having suffered so long, but that one bottle of medicine, costing but a few cents, cured me." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

When a girl won't flirt it is a sign there aren't any men around.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—it has done this in thousand's of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. For Blind Bleeding, Itching and Protruding Piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Salve by Wooten's Drug Store.

The only idiot that is absolutely hopeless is the man who sits down to reason a thing out with a woman.

Valuable Time Saved.

Slight injuries often disable a man and cause several days' loss of time and when blood poisons develops, sometimes result in the loss of a hand or limb. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment. When applied to cuts, bruises and burns it causes them to heal quickly and without maturation, and prevents any danger of blood poison. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville, Farmville Pharmacy, Farmville.

It comes so natural to a woman to do it that she can even brag her husband's bald head into her esteem.

CATARH OF THE STOMACH.

When the stomach is overloaded; when food taken into it that fails to digest it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves, and causes the glands to secrete mucin, instead of the natural juices of digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach. For years I suffered with Catarrh of the Stomach, caused by indigestion. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. E. Rhea, Coppell, Tex. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

A woman may respect a man for being able to think, but she can never understand why he wants to do it when he could have so much more fun talking.—New York Press.

THE FOUNDATION OF HEALTH.

Nourishment is the foundation of health—life—strength. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the one great medicine that enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest, assimilate and transform all foods into the kind of blood that nourishes the nerves and feeds the tissues. Kodol lays the foundation for health. Nature does the rest. Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all disorders of the stomach and digestive organs are cured by the use of Kodol. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

JUST ABOUT BEDTIME

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, biliousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by Wooten's Drug Store.

THE STATE PRESS

A man in Boston has discovered how to make sugar out of saw-dust. He is a twentieth century alchemist of the ight sort. Lumber mills may yet find the saw-dust more profitable than the dressed lumber. Who knows?—News and Observer.

If the courts would make an example of a few people who "accidentally" kill others by pulling the triggers of "unloaded" guns it might have a tendency to discourage the practice and at the same time lengthen the average of human life.—Lexington Dispatch.

It is pretty generally conceded that the delays of the law and the technicalities which sometimes permit the guilty to escape are unquestionably a potent factor in inducing lawlessness. Speedy trials and punishment will cure the lynching evil.—Winston Journal.

Noting the fact that the clerk of the Superior Court of Bladen county has resigned, the Statesville Landmark observes that it is not stated "whether he has been examined as to his sanity." He certainly ought to be committed and kept under observation for a spell. His action is very irregular, not to say unethical.—Charlotte Observer.

The interest still continues to grow in the proposed Raleigh and Pamlico Railroad. There is every reason it should be so. This road will be one of the greatest factors in further development of the capital city and the section through which it will run. Every man in Raleigh should put his shoulder to the wheel and push the project to completion.—Raleigh Times.

Martin county last week for the first time forced whiskey dealers to pay a county license tax. The county levied the same tax as the State, $200 a year. Eighteen licenses were granted in the county, six of them being located in Williamston, a town of about a thousand population. The Enterprise says this being the first time the tax goes hard with the bar men.—Elm City Elevator.

BETHEL ITEMS.

BETHEL, N. C., July 30, 1903.

Mrs. F. C. James left Tuesday for Boston, where she will spend the summer months with relatives and friends.

M. O. Blount, left this morning for New Jersey, Pittsburg and Maine. He is still following up the potato market. They are just beginning to dig the Jersey potatoes.

Miss Fannie Grimes left Tuesday morning for Asheville. She will visit the most noted place in the state, that is, Vanderbilts' park, and many other places of interest.

We hear from reliable sources that the town of Bethel will have electric lights in the near future.

Crops are suffering right much around here for lack of rain.

R. D. Whitehurst lost a tobacco barn Saturday night, the loss was about $100; cause of fire unknown.

Jefferson Jones, of Portsmouth, came in today and commenced the manufacturing of bed springs, making two factories of the same kind in town.

Mrs. J. L. Nelson left Tuesday for Mount Olive, where she makes her home.

H. W. Martin's horse ran away the other day with a plow and seriously cut himself, but is getting along very well.

Mrs. R. F. Garner, of Washington, is spending a few days here with friends and relatives.

THE DREAMER

[Original.]
I was born a dreamer. To say this is considered tantamount to saying that I was heir to the most unfortunate disposition a man can have. From earliest boyhood I was accustomed to fancy myself a military hero, a distinguished jurist, artist, clergyman, but my favorite dream was to be immensely rich and known as a great philanthropist. There was but one person to whom I ever told my dreams, my little playmate, Jennie Davey, who as a child was much pleased with them, but she had no sooner given up her doll than she gave up interest in my dreams. Indeed, at sixteen she said to me: "Vail, you'll never amount to anything in the world. Instead of giving away money lavishly you'll be begging it from others."

This speech was a blow to me. It should have taught me to stop dreaming and bestir myself. Had I not been from my birth a besotted dreamer doubtless it would have helped me. As it was it stimulated me to take the only action a dreamer is capable of. I read of the gold fields of Colorado, and when I was twenty-one and paid a legacy of $500 that had been left me by an aunt I departed for the Golden State.

When I had reached the goal I had set out for, Georgetown, I went to a hotel, where I met a man who sold me a claim for what money I had left, which I discovered soon after was worthless. Then I dreamed that I would find a fortune prospecting, and wandered about with a pick on my shoulder, which I had no time to put into the earth, because I was constantly lost in a dream as to what I would do with the proceeds of my bonanza mine when I should find it. The consequence was that I was one day picked up by a prospector in a state of rags and starvation. He was nearly as ragged as I and completely discouraged. However, he took me to his camp and gave me something to eat, and after supper I vowed for him a chain of circumstances which would end in fabulous wealth for him. The next day he went to work with renewed vigor, permitting me to remain with him for the sake of my stimulating dreams. Every evening he would come in discouraged, and every evening I would weave a new fancy, sending him out the next day with new vigor. The result was that one day he struck a bonanza.

"I'd never 'a' done it but for you," he said, and when he organized a company to work his mine he gave me half his stock, and left me the other half in his will. Then something happened that had never entered into my dreams for him—he was killed while blasting. That gave me three-quarters of the stock of the biggest paying mine in Colorado. I hadn't time to operate it myself. I was too busy dreaming how I would surprise the folks at home. So I left it in charge of the directors and started eastward.

Of course it would have spoiled all my dreams to go back and at once announce myself a gold king. To make a fine climax I dressed myself in the rags that I had on when good luck struck me and one day appeared in my native village and stood before the house where Jennie lived. She was going to the well for water, and, seeing what she thought a hungry looking tramp in the road, said, "Wait and I'll give you a piece of bread." When she returned with the water and saw me I thought she was going to topple over. "For heaven's sake, Vail," she said, "where did you come from? And is this what your dreams have brought you to?"

"Jennie," I said, "what would you think if I were to tell you that I'd been prospecting in Colorado and found a big mine and had come home to make you and your mother and your father and all your brothers and sisters rich?" "Oh, Vail!" she said, the tears starting to her eyes. "Since you've been away I've hoped that you would get your dreams knocked out of you. You are the best fellow, the loveliest fellow in the world, and but for—"

"Jennie," I interrupted, "have you dreamed that I would redeem myself and come back and you and I would enjoy the fruits of my industry together?" She made no reply to this, but I knew by a fresh outburst of tears that she had been doing that very thing.

"Well, sweetheart," I went on, "I've dreamed a bigger dream than that. I've dreamed that I've got a big mine and it's turning out $700 a day!"

"Oh, Vail!" She sat down on the porch and buried her face in her hands.

"Jennie, dear"—I went to her and put my arm about her while with the other hand I took hers away from her weeping eyes—"it's true, every word of it. Look!" I put my hand into my pocket and pulled out a fat roll of bills, every one a hundred dollars. She looked at me in terror, thinking I'd stolen it.

"Listen to me, Jennie. There's no faculty that may not be useful, even dreaming. I was starving in these clothes when I met a man who possessed what I do not—energy—and I what he did not—a fancy capable of lifting him out of a despondency that would have conquered him when otherwise he was fated to make a marvelous success. He gave me my portion and, dying, left me his."

I married Jennie and became a philanthropist, dispensing funds through her, for I am too busy with new dreams to attend to the practical results of the old ones. I have listened to hundreds of addresses, the speakers referring to me as a noble example for the youth of America. My wife says that if I had got my deserts I would have occupied a poorhouse.

Bead Remained in Her Head 17 Years

Seventeen years ago, when Mrs. W. L. Hogue was 4 years old, she was playing with some beads and in some way got a glass bead about the size of a pea up her nose. The physician failed to get it out. After a few days the bead gave her no trouble and it was thought to have come out. Last week she gave a violent sneeze and felt something come into her nostril. It was taken out and there was the bead that had gotten in there when she was a child. The bead gave her no pain when it came out and it is strange to know how the bead stayed there so long without giving trouble.—Gastonia News.

Uprisings in Cuba.

Havana Cuba, July 30.—In spite of the assertion made yesterday by secretary of the interior that the killing of three men and capture of a fourth, their leader, who had attempted to cause an uprising in the vicinity of Bayamo, province of Santiago, effectually ended the only semblance of an uprising in Cuba, the rumors of uprisings in Eastern Cuba were fully confirmed today in the government report from the officials of Santiago province. These are to the effect that since the night of Sunday last sixty armed and mounted men have appeared outside villages proclaiming a revolution and demanding the payment of the former members of the revolutionary army. No acts of violence have been reported but the inhabitants of the Cauto region are greatly excited. The leader of the revolutionary party is named Cupo. He is a brother of one of the bandits killed by the rural guards Tuesday. Gen. Rodriguez, commander in chief of the rural guards, has ordered the mobilization of all the rural guards in eastern Cuba and the governor of Santiago province has been instructed to enlist as many volunteers as may be deemed necessary to cooperate with the mounted troops.

Rumpus Among Colored Folks

Boston, Mass., July 30.—Booker T. Washington missed the last train for South Wymouth tonight because of his making a tour of the newspaper offices here to issue a statement about a riot which occurred at the African M. E. church, at the corner of Columbus avenue and Northampton streets this evening. Washington came into town from his summer home to give a lecture but he only succeeded in delivering it after a squad of policemen had cleared the church of some colored men who had made a lot of trouble. Four arrests were made, one of the prisoners being a negro woman. She was released later.
