Mad Dog on Rampage.

Saturday a bird dog belonging to Mr. Ola Forbes began acting strangely and Mr. Forbes had the dog chained. Sunday morning the dog broke his collar and got away. He bit another dog belonging to Mr. Forbes, came near biting one of his boys and then ran off. About twenty-five other dogs around town are reported to have been bitten by this mad dog. If all the bitten dogs go mad it looks like the situation will be dangerous and some steps should be taken against it. If people whose dogs were bitten will not kill the worthless curs the town authorities should take a hand in it. A good plan might be to order the policemen to kill every dog found on the street within a given time covering the danger period.

Both Hands Hurt.

Mr. T. H. Bateman met with an accident Saturday that injured both hands. His tin shop is up over Baker & Hart's store. His son and daughter were descending the elevator and lost control of the machine. Seeing their danger Mr. Bateman grabbed the rope to stop the elevator in its descent and literally burned the skin off both his hands by the rope slipping through them. But he stopped the elevator and saved his children from harm.

Back on River.

The steamer Myers came back on her run on the river today after being off two weeks for overhauling and repairs. During this time the Shiloh ran in place of the Myers and Mr. J. J. Cherry was in charge as captain.

A woman can get as much fun out of writing a letter of condolence as a man can get out of an old pipe with a cracked stem.

Prolific Corn.

Mr. W. B. Wingate, of Winterville, brought us a stalk of corn that contained five developed ears. He says he has four acres of this kind of corn, some of the stalks having as many as seven ears.

What we call an error of judgment in ourself we call foolery in everybody else.

Superior Court.

The September term of Superior court began today with Judge Fred Moore presiding and Solicitor L. I. Moore representing the state. Judge Moore's charge to the grand jury was of some length, and was a practical review of those portions of the law necessary to be brought to the attention of the jury. His charge was also instructive to the audience that filled the court room and he was listened to with good attention. Judge Moore has held court here before and has many admirers in Pitt county.
 The grand jury for this term is composed of the following:
 Robert Worthington, foreman
 J. H. Mills, H. A. Wooten, J. L. Wynn, W. M. Moore, F. H. Fleming, W. H. James, W. J. Munford, Charles Boyd, H. A. Rollins, D. W. Bailey, Jesse Harrell, G. T. Oakley, B. A. Tripp, J. R. Tugwell, William Broadway, J. M. Leggett, J. E. Cannon.

University Letter.

One week ago today the present session of the University opened. It is too early yet to say whether or not 1903-4 is to be the record breaker in number attending. Every day continues to swell the roll toward the highwater mark. Last year the total enrollment exclusive of the Summer school was 608, yesterday the enrollment for the present term had reached 526,—a mark for the first week certainly.

Notwithstanding the opposition to state education here and there, and the fierce rivalry of some other institution, the people at large have great faith in this old and honored institution that has sent out so many worthy men to all the honored walks of life and they are sending their boys here to be trained for the battle.

Let us hope that every one of the 526 will go back stronger and better in all that goes to make a true man than when they came.

The readers of THE REFLECTOR will be interested to know that Pitt county is keeping up her record of furnishing a goodly number of worthy young men to be trained at the state university. Twelve, I believe, is the number this year up to date. Four of these are from Greenville, Andrew J. Moore, J. Moore, Thomas J. Moore, J. B. James and Harry Skinner; three from Bethel, J. C. Carson, John Staton and T. J. Britton; three from Ayden, E. J. Gardner, C. V. Cannon, one from Winterville, D. S. Chapman, and one from Fainville, J. J. Tyson.

But large numbers are not the best things I have seen about the university this week. There is a spirit of earnestness and work everywhere prevailing. The rowdy is not the hero here, he is not wanted here; more than that he will not be tolerated, he will have to revise his plan of life or leave the university. President Venable made this plain and permanent in his address to the boys on Friday.

Another thing that pleased me was the large attendance of the boys at all the churches Sunday, On Sunday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at Gerard Hall, addressed by President Venable and others, there was the largest attendance I have ever seen at such a meeting here. Strong men, good men, true men are at the helm, and the University will make the voyage of 1903-4 with safety and success.

Permit me in conclusion to say I am delighted to know that Greenville is to have a real live graded school. Hurrah for Greenville! Now close the bar room and you will have done much to secure a good citizenship for the future.

BETHEL ITEMS.

BETHEL, N. C., Sept. 19, 1903.
 The brother of our old friend, B. W. Moseley, was on our streets this week in the interest of the cotton farmer.
 The Bethel Ginning company is getting all it can do now in the preparation of the lint for the market.
 V. E. Staton, of Rocky Mount, was in town this week visiting his parents.
 Our young and popular physician, Dr. Thigpen, visited his parents near Mildred Thursday evening.
 Dr. "Billie" Mayo and wife, of Indiana, attended the funeral services of his father and returned to their home Friday morning.
 Our townsman, S. A. Gainer, went in the country Thursday to execute some legal documents. Mr. Gainer and Mr. I. Brown, Uncle Sam's rural route inspector, examined a route that had been applied for from this place. Mr. Brown pronounced it impractical.
 The children at the graded school like the new system. The teachers are doing all in their power to prove the merits of the system by their works. Fine work is being done by both teacher and "taught."

Dr. Nash, of Rocky Mount, is assisting Rev. M. Barker at the Methodist church. He is preaching with his old time power and enthusiasm and much interest is manifested by the unsaved. He conducted the devotional exercises at the school Thursday morning, and gave a strong plea for character, ability and goodness.

LETTER TO F. G. JAMES.

Greenville N. C.

Dear sir: As your business is to get people into and out of trouble, suppose you consider their paint; it makes 'em almost as much trouble as money, except of course matrimony.

They buy poor paint a good deal; they don't mean it; they don't know any better; they buy without thinking. Bad paint isn't good. It looks good-enough for a year; then begins to get rusty; but charges so slowly, one don't notice it.

Looking isn't all. The business of paint is to keep a house dry inside, the wood and iron of it; keep it from rotting and rusting. Takes good paint to do it.

Good and bad paint are sold at one price or about that. One can't go by the price at all; as with lawyers, the price has nothing to do with goodness or badness, and costs are worse yet; the painter and sheriff come in for their share.

But the probability is that a man, who paints Devoe, will come out on top.

Yours truly,
 F. W. DEVOE & Co.

P. S.—H. L. Carr sells our paint.

Ex Sheriff Tucker Dead.

On Sunday morning Mr. J. A. K. Tucker died at his home in Chicod township. Mr. Tucker was a prosperous farmer and well-to-do citizen. He was for many years a justice of the peace, and for two terms—1888 to 1892 was sheriff of the county and made a good officer. His son, Mr. L. W. Tucker, is now deputy sheriff. The funeral took place today.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, SEPTEMBER 21, 1903.

IS ALL FAIR IN BUSINESS?

Not long ago we met a prosperous looking man on a river steamer who laid down the rule that all is fair in business, as in love and war. The conversation turned upon a mutual acquaintance, who came in for severe denunciation from our fellow passenger, who said that our mutual acquaintance was dishonest, as he knew of an instance where he had virtually robbed his employer. "Now, I would never do that," said the other party. "If I could get the best of a man in a business deal—if I could sell him something he had never seen at three times its value or cost to me, I would do it, but I would not take money out of his drawer. All is fair in business."

There is a great deal of this Pharaical honesty in the business world today. It is essentially a product of commercial civilization. It is practiced every day in the year right here in Greenville, in North Carolina and the Union. The man who would not steal your chickens would sell you chickens he knew were likely to die, and call it a shrewd stroke of business on his part. Maybe he would not lie to you concerning a business proposition, but he will neglect to speak a truth which might injure his business interests. It is but a new application of the old law of every man for himself, softened a little in appearance perhaps, but in reality as brutally selfish as in the primordial twilight.

It is said that W. R. Hearst will "establish" a great newspaper in this state to help out his presidential aspirations. With all his money Mr. Hearst will find that he will be too old for the presidency before he "establishes" a "great" newspaper for personal political purposes in North Carolina. You can lead a man to a printing press but you can't make him subscribe.

The unloaded gun has given way to the loaded gun in the hands of a mighty hunter who sees a bush move and shoots into it, with the result that a man or woman falls out of the bush. The hunter should not shoot into a bush for no other reason than that it moves, or folks should not contract the habit of residing in bushes even temporarily.

President Roosevelt has at last gotten his feet under the mahogany of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian yacht club without gazing upon Sir Thomas Lipton, whom the club invited when it knew he could not leave his case of appendicitis.

Evidently the farmers and tobacco men of this county do not hate the tobacco trust sufficiently to go into business in opposition to it. The court house bell rang the requiem to the independent factory movement in this county Saturday.

Congressman Small's inland waterway from Norfolk to Beaufort will cost ten millions. How much of this will be stolen we cannot say but John H. will not get a cent of it, though he is the man who has labored for years to bring it about.

Personal—Emperor William of Germany recently arrived in Vienna on a visit to Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria. Their highnesses exchanged kisses at the depot.

There are rumors of another escape from the penitentiary, which must be an agreeable place or the convicts would depart unanimously, instead of on the instalment plan.

Glaring cases of child-slavery have been brought to light in Michigan, yet no one suggests that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is the proper remedy.

It is announced that L. Banks Holt, cotton manufacturer of Graham, will also run for the governorship. They are already too numerous to mention.

"Market the crop slowly" is the advice given cotton farmers by expert cotton and market judges, and it is good advice.

Alfred Austin, poet laureate of England, has written a poem on the late Lord Salisbury. This is hitting a man when he is down.

Beaver's attorney says the chief postoffice fraud-manipulator is innocent. Of course. That is why he went to Canada.

Maybe the president carries a pistol so as to be prepared in case one of those Mississippi bearlets should visit the white house.

President Roosevelt carries a pistol, but has thus far escaped the police court.

Don't pull off your summer underwear just now. Ice cream will taste good for some time yet.

There has been a fall in mercury, but it will not effect Wall street.

White caps are something new in North Carolina but if they will confine their endeavors to men who cruelly beat their wives as the Johnston county man did, there probably won't be any need to get alarmed over the troublousness of the times particularly as we shall probably not hear of the Johnston county white caps again.—Greensboro Telegram.

Undoubtedly the school question is one of the greatest problems confronting the North Carolina people today. During the past two or three years we have heard much of an educational revival, and no one will deny that there has been advancement. The advancement, however, as probably not as great as the educational talk we have heard. (It is also probable that we are not quite as ignorant as some of the educational speeches we have heard would seem to indicate.) Those who talk most about education just now are saying more about the public schools in the rural districts than we have been accustomed to hearing, and this is well. The leaders of our educational thought are realizing that the colleges can take care of themselves if the public schools receive the proper attention.—Charlotte Chronicle.

President Roosevelt has the Delaware post office scandal under consideration, and frost signals are being displayed near Senator Allee's home.—Winston-Salem Journal.

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville; R. L. Davis & Bros., Farmville.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." THE GENUINE VS. COUNTERFEITS.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

This remedy is a never failing cure for indigestion and dyspepsia and all complaints affecting the glands or membranes of the stomach or digestive tract. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure everything you eat tastes good, and every bit of the nutriment that your food contains is assimilated and appropriated by the blood and tissues. Sold by Jno. L. A PURGATIVE PLEASURE.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not gripe, sicken or weaken, but give tone and strength to the tissues and organs involved. W. H. Howell of Houston, Tex. says "No better pill can be used than Little Early Risers for constipation, sick headache etc." Sold by John L. Wooten.

It is the man who pushes the baby carriage at home that bullies his woman typewriter in his office.

The interesting fact has lately come to the attention of the government scientists that the frog, the edible variety, attains its greatest and best development not, as one would imagine, in the semitropical swamps of Florida and Louisiana, but in far northern Canada, on the extreme northern limit at which these reptiles are found. This bears out an old and pretty safe rule that both plants and animals attain their best development at the northernmost point of their habitat. Thus the diamond back terrapin of the Chesapeake brings nearly eight times the price of the diamond back of Louisiana, and the best oranges are grown not in tropical Cuba (people of the older generation still remember the coarse grained, sourish Havana oranges), but in northern Florida, where the trees are frequently cut down by the hard frosts and cold weather.—Washington Post.

A Chance For Millionaires.

The feeling that one is adapted by nature to be a rich man's son is common enough, but a young Englishman is the first to show the enterprise to attempt to remedy the defects of circumstances. This advertisement is from a paper published in a suburb of London:

Will any kind, philanthropic person adopt John H. E., at present getting a living as a leather merchant and dealer in leather fancy goods, who, albeit he is not afraid of work, is confident he would make an excellent only son to a millionaire? Telegrams to Bruce Grove, Tottenham.

There is a touch of impatience about the word "telegrams." Millionaires must hustle if they want John H. E.

On the Siberian Railway.

Think of the snap the railroad lunch counter privileges would be at Irkutsk, Yakutsk and the other Siberian points. Even on the dining cars ice cream could be served the year around without the use of refrigerators, especially through Siberia. Simply by stopping the train occasionally to milk a musk ox one could obtain all the ready flavored ice cream necessary to human happiness. And then it would be so pleasant to hear the brakeman sing out: "Bering, Bering! Change cars for the north pole, Pearyville, Walrus Beach, Nansen's Ford, Melville island and all points north."—Baltimore American.

A Cablegram of Condolence.

When the news of the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga reached the state department at Washington there was some discussion about the propriety of sending a cablegram of condolence.

"No, no," said Third Assistant Secretary Adee; "nothing is to be done in a case of this kind. Besides, there's nobody to send it to. The king and queen are dead, and the government has no head." "Why not send it addressed 'To Whom It May Concern?'" asked a demure young stenographer.—Saturday Evening Post.

Eddie and Labby.

Henry Labouchere was once asked what he called the Prince of Wales, now King Edward, when he dined at Marlborough House. "Well," said Labby, "when the soup comes on I address him as 'your royal highness.' The fish often softens the reserve, and I get a little chummier, and often as not I call him 'Wales,' while during the entrees and joints I get quite familiar, and he becomes 'Eddie,' while he slaps me on the back and dubs me 'Labby!'"

Overheard at the Club.

Johnson—I wonder if they will teach advertising in their school of journalism?

Bronson—They will not need to teach the rule of self advertising at any rate.

Swanson—What is that—not to let your left hand know what your right hand doeth?

Bronson—No, but to let all hands know and take all men by the throat to make them praise you.—New York Post.

Dead Bodies Silver Plated.

A German professor has invented a process of silver plating dead bodies so as to convert them into metallic images of the individuals as they were when in life. Gold plate can be used if the relatives can afford it.

But as the expense of silver plating a body is $12,000 there are probably few relatives who would deem themselves justified in squandering an estate on such a memorial.

A Rocking Shrine.

The most wonderful temple in the world is built on a rocking stone on the summit of a mountain in northern India which is over 20,000 feet high. The rock weighs many thousands of tons, but is balanced on so fine a point that a comparatively light pressure is sufficient to make it sway. Hindoo priests teach their followers that this rock was placed in position by the help of the gods, and thus they add considerably to the feeling of awe which they desire to create.

Worshippers at this shrine must first make a perilous ascent of the mountain. Then they spend seven days of

C. S. FORBES,

THE MAN'S OUTFITTER,

Motherhood

MOTHERHOOD is the reward nature bestows upon healthy womanhood. Women whose vitality has been sapped by disease cannot safely give birth to children. In pregnancy and in childbirth weakness of the mother is revealed in the pain and agony she suffers.

This great medicine drives out every vestige of inflammation and weakness, and gives tone and strength to the delicate organs which mature the child. The pains of pregnancy are banished by Wine of Cardui, and miscarriages, which blast so many fond mother's hopes, are prevented. Flooding, which so often occurs after childbirth, is corrected when Wine of Cardui is used during pregnancy. Wine of Cardui babies are healthy babies, because, during the months of pregnancy, the mother is able to give them necessary vitality and strength.

With these facts presented to American women no expectant mother should be satisfied without the re-inforcement that Wine of Cardui will give her. Every mother should be able to treat herself in her home with this valuable medicine.

Wine of Cardui can be secured from any druggist at $1.00 a bottle.

Polycarp, N. C., Jan. 11, 1902.

I am the mother of seven children and while in pregnancy with the first six suffered untold misery until they were born. One month before the seventh was born I began to take a bottle of Wine of Cardui, which gave me relief after taking three doses. I used the remainder of the bottle until the birth of the child, and was stouter in three days after the birth than I was in a month after the birth of the first six. I am 29 years old.

SALMON CATCHING CENTERS.

The six chief salmon catching centers on the Pacific coast, in the order of the quantity of fish packed, are Alaska, Puget sound (British Columbia), the Columbia river, the Oregon coast, the Washington coast and the California rivers. About four-fifths of the entire catch was in American waters, one-fifth in Canadian. For their extent and importance—the annual product now being worth over $20,000,000, employing an army of men and millions of capital—the Pacific salmon fisheries are of surprisingly recent development. Like every industry in the northwest, they have seemingly sprung into importance overnight—yesterday nothing, today a business of worldwide recognition.—Ray Stannard Baker in Century.

The Japanese Emperor's Sanctity.

A monarch, or, rather, chief of state, who has never had his portrait impressed upon the coinage or printed on the stamps of his country is his imperial majesty Mutsu Hito, emperor of Japan. This abstinence is not due to any clause in the constitution, but rather to the fact that in Japan the emperor is far too sacred a person to have his portrait scattered about wholesale. In Japan the portrait of the emperor is considered quite a sacred possession, and it seems very strange to Japanese gentlemen visiting Europe to see the way in which real portraits of the reigning sovereigns are offered for sale. In Japan crude drawings from imagination are sold, but photographs not at all.

A Lost Opportunity.

John Fox, Jr., author and strummer on the gentle guitar, is also an athlete of no mean prowess, though he does not look it. One day, on a train, with true Kentucky chivalry he called a drummer down for annoying a lady. The drummer resented the interference. "For half a cent," he said menacingly, "I would break your face."

Fox looked him good and hard in the eye, went down into his pocket, came out with a cent and, proffering it to the offender, said: "There's a cent. Break my face if you want to and keep the change."

Mr. Fox's face remained intact.—Collier's Weekly.

Japan's Highest Peak.

Fuji is no longer the highest mountain in the Japanese empire. Since the acquisition of Formosa Mount Morrison claims that honor, its height being 13,880 feet. The same island has what are probably the highest sea cliffs in the world. They attain heights of 5,000 to 6,000 feet. Camphor furnishes one of the main sources of income. The trees which yield it are unfortunately within the domains of the aborigines, with the result that the camphor industry, head hunting and butchery still go hand in hand. The chief victims appear to be the Chinese, the Japanese being rarely attacked.

Turned Out.

"Our colleges turn out some pretty good men nowadays," remarked the elderly gentleman.

"Yes," replied his son gloomily, "our college turned out the man who was sure to have won the hundred yard dash for us next year just because he didn't pass any of his examinations."—Syracuse Herald.
