

Suits that can
Look you in the face.

No cotton, no shoddy, no poor tailoring, no sweat-shop work—but all wool, silk-sewed clothing—made in clean, airy, light workshops by tailors who know how to stitch and “knead” a Suit into a shape that will stay.

Patterns are often rich—but not “flashy.” The fit is the wonder of men who have never tried “ready-to-wear” before.

The new Fall styles in single and double breasted cuts are ready.

There is an Edge to our suits.

They're full of life—they're different. New styles right off the gridiron. You will find our $10, $12.50 and $15 lines especially attractive. Look to-day—buy any day.

J. WILEY SHOOK FALLS BY THE WAYSIDE

Asheville, N. C. Sept. 24.—J. Wiley Shook has lost his position as division deputy under the commissioner of internal revenue. When this fact was noised abroad it is to tell but half the story when it is said that the act of Commissioner Yerkes provided a countless number of politicians with food for discussion for a good many days to come.

VIRGINIA MURDERER GETS A REPRIEVE

Danville, Va., Sept. 24.—William Jones, colored, the murderer of John Lee, a Caswell county, North Carolina, farmer, whom he killed and robbed in this city in November, and who was to have been hanged for the crime tomorrow, was granted a reprieve by the governor this afternoon. Jones time will be extended two weeks and in the meantime his attorney will circulate a petition praying the governor to commute his sentence to life imprisonment. Jones has already been convicted twice. He originated a plot some weeks ago to blow up the jail with dynamite which was frustrated. Arthur Wilton, Jones' accomplice, has already paid the penalty for complicity in the crime.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., POSTOFFICE LOOTED

Spartanburg, S. C., Sept. 24.—At 11 o'clock last night, a burglary was committed at the Spartanburg postoffice. During the absence of the night clerk a thief wrenched one of the iron bars from the rear window and effected an entrance to the main office. Nine registered letters, the contents of which are not known, and $20 in small coin were taken.

POSTOFFICE THIEVES OPERATE AT APEX

Raleigh, N. C. Sept. 25.—Safe crackers broke in the postoffice at Apex about 3 o'clock yesterday morning, blew open the safe and carried away about $200 in cash and a quantity of stamps. There is no clue.

The Odd Fellows' Convention.

Baltimore, Md., September 23.—The sessions of the sovereign grand lodge of Odd Fellows were resumed today and the competitive drills of rival cantons were continued at the fifth regiment armory.

In the afternoon there was a grand parade of the sovereign grand lodge and subordinate lodges through the principal streets which was witnessed from the sidewalks by vast crowds of people. The sovereign grand lodge officers rode in carriages under the escort of the Patriarch militant. It is estimated that 8,000 Odd Fellows were in line. While passing the city hall the procession was reviewed by Mayor Robert McLane.

It is estimated that 30,000 visiting Odd Fellows are now in Baltimore.

The grip bacillus is the smallest microbe yet discovered which affects man.

DUNN'S DAY OF GREAT REJOICING

Dunn, N. C. Sept. 24.—Between five and six thousand patriotic North Carolinians thronged this thriving and progressive little city today to join the citizens in a celebration of the advent of the Cape Fear and Northern railway. This was indeed a gala day for Dunn and Mr. John C. Angier was the hero of the hour.

Fire in the Oil Field.

Sour Lake, Texas, Sept. 23.—Fire, which started at noon today in the Shoe String district of the oil field, burned about twenty derricks and destroyed a quantity of machinery, spreading about 250 yards of the thickly built portion of the field.

The loss is variously estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000, according to the damage which has been done to the wells. This cannot yet be ascertained.

The amount of oil consumed is also unknown as yet, but there were no large tanks in the path of the fire.

The flames are under control, and no further damage will result.

Now the Nicaragua Route.

Montgomery, Sept. 23.—Senator John T. Morgan, who addressed the Alabama legislature today, referred to the Panama canal treaty. He said that now the treaty is dead, it is mandatory on the president to put the money to building the other canal.

“I do not credit Roosevelt with the folly of disobeying the statute in regard to the money appropriated for building a canal, and he dare not do it, as there is an election facing him. We could not under that treaty have lived in peace with the Colombian government a single day. We would have gone therein peace and amity, but with our gun in hand, and war would have followed,” said the senator.

A Chicago Tragedy.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—The bodies of a well-dressed woman, 20 years old, and a man of 30, were found in a vacant lot in a fashionable district today. A revolver was clutched in the dead man's hand and a bullet which passed through the woman's neck led the police to believe the case a murder and suicide.

One Result of Sunday Trains.

Capt. G. D. Hawks, who is conductor on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, has tendered his resignation as superintendent of the M. E. Sunday school in this place on account of the conflict with his duties as superintendent, occasioned by the Sunday train being put on that road. It is with sincere regret the Sunday school loses Capt. Hawks, as through his untiring efforts and unselfish interest in it the school has grown wonderfully and is now one of the most interesting in North Carolina, numbering over 300 scholars. It is intimated that a conductor will alternate with Capt. Hawks on this Sunday train, thereby giving him every other Sunday in Kingston.—Kingston Free Press, 24th.

WIDOW OF JEFF DAVIS IS ILL.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Mrs. Jefferson Davis, widow of the President of the Confederacy, is seriously ill at Castle Inn in this city. The hotel was formerly the home of Millard Fillmore, President of the United States.

Advertising

Advertising is like a race horse, says an exchange—the man who drops out is soon lost sight of. It's a good deal like winking at a pretty girl in the dark—you may know you are doing it, but no one else does. Advertising is the life blood of business. Every good Ad. is the stepping stone to success. Judicious advertising will start the ball rolling and keep it rolling. Continuous advertising creates confidence. The prevailing opinion is that one cannot be constantly before the public without being found out and known for what he is. The people believe in a man who can stand trial by the public. The business man who is contented with his business has stopped growing. The man who says he has enough, therefore, has no need to advertise, has reached the flood of the tide. But after the flood is the ebb always. It is a law of nature that nothing shall stand in a state of rest. Every thing grows or decays. No business can remain at a standstill for any considerable length of time. People who have not the business backbone to keep steadily at it until they've succeeded had best keep away advertising. Otherwise they're liable to develop into those sorrowful specimens who occupy benches in the extreme rear, where they mutter imprecations to the effect that “advertising doesn't pay.”

Fighting Packers' Trust

Kansas City, Sept. 24.—A meeting of the promoters of the Independent Packing Company, which was incorporated recently to fight the alleged packer's combine, was held in this city today. The general plans for the organization and financing the company were discussed and a board of directors was elected, which will control the affairs of the company. The company is capitalized at $5,000,000.

PETTY POLITICS.

According to a Washington special to the New Orleans Times-Democrat, the democrats in the senate will introduce a resolution soon after congress convenes "demanding information about the alleged practice of President Roosevelt in obtaining and using special cars from various railroads and paying nothing for the service." If this is a sample of the politics we may expect from the democrats, it makes us tired in advanced. What does the country care about President Roosevelt's special train? Nothing. Ninety-nine men out of a hundred, if offered the same thing, would accept. The country knows that the president has trimmed his sails to meet the breeze of first the capital interests and then the working-men. How successful he has been must be left to time to show. Certainly democrats can do nothing for the party or the country by putting forward such puerile resolutions as the above.

Kansans say Senator Long would make an ideal chairman of the republican committee. What's the matter with the present chairman, your uncle Mark? He is something in the "I deal" line himself.

We see by the papers that Secretary of the Treasury Shaw is soon to resume refunding operations for the relief of financial interests. We know a mighty fine place where he could begin.

Colonel Cunningham still regards the depressed prices of tobacco as temporary. If something doesn't happen soon the first cold snap will freeze them permanently temporary.

Senator Hanna's friends are getting up some nice testimonials as to his character. Now who will be the next to say a kind word for the old gentleman of the gout?

In talking to the farmers' congress Governor Odell used the pronoun "We." But then he is not such a farmer as he would have them believe.

President Roosevelt has begun work on his annual message to congress. Thank heaven, it is not due for some time yet.

We haven't noticed any unseemly scramble for the republican nomination for governor.

The sultan of Sulu has absconded. How quickly those little people take to civilization.

The shah of Persia divorced 300 wives recently. Anyone wanting a second hand wife apply at one.

A New York doctor says he can live on water alone. So can a light-house keeper.

"Will pensions decrease?" asks a contemporary. Yes—when little Charlie Ross is found.

Colonel Glenn's letter is like the man—straightforward and effective.

Another crank has visited Oyster Bay. "Birds of a feather flock together."

Of course it will be all right for the farmers' trust to water its stock.

The diplomatic doctors failed to save the Panama canal treaty.

Dawn.

The dawn comes cold; the haystack smokes,
The green twigs crackle in the fire.

The dew is dripping from the oaks,
And sleepy men bear milking yokes
Slowly toward the cattle byre.

Down in the town a clock strikes six,

The gray east heaven burns and glows,

The dew shines on the thatch of ricks,

A slow old croné comes gathering sticks,

The red cock in the ox yard crows.

Beyond the stack where we have lain.

The road runs twisted like a snake

(The white road to the land of Spain),

The road that we must foot again,

Though the feet halt and the heart ache.

—John Masefield.

A Southern Twilight.

A little shallow silver urn,

High in the east the new moon hung:

Amid the palms a fountain flung
Its snowy floss, and there, above,

With its impassioned unconcern,

A hidden bird discoursed of love.

I felt your hand upon my arm

Flutter as doth a thrush's wing,

Then tighten. Sweet, how small a thing

Draws kindred spirits heart to heart!

More was that hour's elusive charm

To us than eloquence of art.

—Clinton Scollard.

THE STATE PRESS.

It is rare that a minister of the Gospel and especially a mountain man is so enterprising in matters matrimonial as the Rev. Mr. Hylar, of Mitchell county, is reported to have been. Molly Hunt's Temptation

(Original.)

"And now, Mistress Molly, I must bid you adieu. Your father, your mother, yourself, have merited the thanks of the Continental congress for harboring me, and you especially deserve my thanks for your kindness while I have been in hiding under your roof."

"Do you go direct to the Americans?" she asked, putting up a pair of tempting lips, inviting a farewell kiss.

"No. I go to the house of that Tory Andrew Moncrief to stop one night."

"And, pray, what will you do that for?" asked the girl, blanching.

"Margaret Moncrief, his daughter, is one of us," he replied. "I must see her before I return. She and I are warm friends."

The girl drew away. Instinct told her that when a man risked his life to meet a woman it was not friendship that led him to do so. The man called a goodby, and they had parted.

The next night a party of British soldiers appeared on the place of Andrew Moncrief and asked if a stranger had stopped there for the night. On being told that no one was there they searched the house, then the outhouses and at last came upon Lieutenant Lionel Otis hidden in the haymow. He was searched, and plans of the British fortifications at Trenton, with information as to the strength of the force defending them, were found concealed in his clothing. He was taken to the house of Farmer Hunt and led into the kitchen, where Molly was cooking supper. When she saw him she turned deadly pale.

"Good morrow, Mistress Molly," said the young man. "We meet again very soon. Some one has given me away."

Molly staggered, without a word, out of the room, turning her back to the soldiers that they should not see her face.

"Strange," said Otis, "that she should be so affected. But perhaps she knows the fate of a spy."

It was late when the prisoner was taken to the farm, and his guard concluded to keep him there over night. A sergeant in command went to the second floor and selected a room with but one window and one door. Into this room he thrust Lieutenant Otis, placing a man at the door and one underneath the window. Then the rest of the guard lay down on the kitchen floor before the great stone fireplace and went to sleep.

At midnight the sentinel below stood leaning against the house, his hands grasping his musket, his hat over his eyes. Presently he sat down on the ground, then fell over on his back. He was asleep. Suddenly he felt his gun slip from his hands and, looking up, saw Molly bending over him, holding a long knife, its point within an inch of his heart. He thought her insane, so wild looking was she.

"What do you want?" he asked.

Molly did not answer; but, keeping the point of the knife as near his heart as possible and her eye fixed on him, she drew a little away till suddenly she raised the musket and, pulling up the firelock, pointed it at him instead of the knife. Then she told him in a whisper to go before her, indicating the direction by pointing. Marching him to the house of a patriot whom she well knew she could depend on, the two locked him up in the barn, and the man stood guard while Molly returned. Going at once to an outhouse, she took out a ladder, raised it to Otis' window and, mounting, gave a faint tap. Otis' heart jumped within him as he went softly to the window and cautiously raised the sash.

"Come," said Molly, and she descended the ladder.

In the barn two horses stood saddled. Molly led the way with one, Otis following with the other, through a field to the rear, and, making a circuit, they struck the road far from the house.

"Molly," said Otis, his voice trembling with emotion, "I owe you everything. If I get clear some day I will return to thank you. If a life of devotion will help to repay"—

"Oh, hush!"

"Molly, listen to me. Perhaps you thought that there was more than friendship between me and Margaret Moncrief. There is not. She is working with me and was to give me war secrets. True, her father is a Tory and must have got wind of my being on the place."

"Oh, no, no! You were informed on by a wretch, one unworthy to live a minute by your side!"

"Who?"

She was riding at a gallop, but she dropped her reins on her horse's neck and covered her face with her hands.

"Molly, sweetheart, never mind who gave me away. You have rescued me, and my life belongs to you. It will be a willing servitude, for my heart is also your slave."

"No, no, no!" wailed the girl. "I am unworthy of you. I thought you loved Margaret Moncrief and were going from me to her. I betrayed you. I am a selfish, fiendish creature. I put you in jeopardy of the halter, and the only hope I have for peace of mind is that I have undone what I have done."

She turned her horse's head and went galloping back in the direction from which she had come. Otis reined in his horse and sat looking after her.

"Molly!" he called. "Molly! I forgive you."

There was no reply except the diminishing sound of her horse's hoofs as she drew farther from him.

After Cornwallis' surrender Otis sought out Hunt's farm, hoping to find Molly, but he was told that she had pined away and died. Her doctors said that she suffered from some mental straits that sapped her vitality.

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville; R. L. Davis & Bros., Farmville.

DISTRESS AFTER EATING CURED. Judge W. T. Holland of Greensburg, La., who is well and favorably known, says: "Two years ago I suffered greatly from indigestion. After eating, great distress would invariably result, lasting for an hour or so and my nights were restless. I concluded to try Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it cured me entirely. Now my sleep is refreshing and digestion perfect." Sold by John L. Wooten.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. John Hamlett, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville; R. L. Davis & Bros., Farmville.

Security Homes for Delegates.

A committee is calling upon the housekeepers of the town to secure homes for the entertainment of the delegates to the Christian convention, which meets with the Christian church here the last week in October. There will be a large number of delegates and visitors to the convention and the committee should meet with a liberal response from our people of all denominations. Greenville can do herself credit in entertaining the body handsomely.

Mince pie and cheese are the foods for reflection. They keep you awake at night for reflecting purposes.

THE GENUINE VS. COUNTERFEITS. The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroughly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

THE PLEASURE OF EATING.

Persons suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia or other stomach trouble will find that Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. This remedy is a never failing cure for indigestion and dyspepsia and all complaints affecting the glands or membranes of the stomach or digestive tract. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure everything you eat tastes good, and every bit of the nutriment that your food contains is assimilated and appropriated by the blood and tissues. Sold by Jno. L. Wooten.

A PURGATIVE PLEASURE.

If you ever took DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse the liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. They do not gripe, sicken or weaken, but give tone and strength to the tissues and organs involved. W. H. Howell of Houston, Tex. says "No better pill can be used than Little Early Risers for constipation, sick headache etc." Sold by John L. Wooten.
