When Bed Time Comes.

On a Santa Fe train coming out of Kansas City one night was a mother and her brood of five, four girls and one boy. They had left Illinois the day before, and were on their way to "the new country" where the husband and father has a claim which is the new home. The oldest girl appeared about fifteen, and from that age down to the only boy, a chubby little fellow about four.

Their dress and manner showed that they had not been reared in the midst of luxury and opulence, but with all they were model children and scrupulously clean. The mother was thin and bony, her face sleek and haggard from the long trip and the care of her precious flock, for there were twenty-four hours yet before the journey's end.

It was after bed-time when the train left Kansas City and the younger ones were soon yawning and scarcely able to keep awake. In fact the pet of the family had closed his eyes and was fast approaching "shut eye town," while the next eldest tugged at him while she looked appealingly to her mother with an expression that was pitiful. He musn't go to sleep yet! The others began whispering among themselves and then to the mother, as if something exciting had happened or would happen soon, all of which attracted the attention of the other passengers, who sat in wonderment as they tried to divine the cause of so much whispering to keep the last one awake. They occupied seats in the front end of the car, including three long seats which ran along the smoking car partition.

Presently the cause of all this excitement was made plain, it was bed-time and they had not said their prayers. Quietly, modestly, without ostentation, yes even timidly, the mother and her children knelt together at the long seat, the baby bowing his head with the rest and rubbing with chubby hands his eyes that would hardly stay open, while the evening prayers were said.

Just for a moment, and then they arose, the children were made as comfortable as possible for the night and soon all but the mother were asleep, while the moistened eyes and quivering lips of the other passengers, the traveling men with the grips, the politician with his schemes, the business man with his worries, yes, even the old reprobate of the News paid a silent but mighty tribute to the greatest civilizing agent of all ages, the Christian religion.

Here, oh, ye teachers of theology, is a sermon greater than you ever preached!

Here, oh, ye choirs, is an anthem sweeter than ye ever sang!

Here, oh ye host of Israel, quarrelling over creeds and doctrines and torn with strife and envy, is a lesson more powerful than ever you taught!

God save the mother and her brood, bring them to their home in safety, and to their last home in peace.—Wellington (Kansas) News.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, OCTOBER 17, 1903.

RETRIBUTION WILL COME.

Jim Tillman goes free and another dark crime goes unpunished. North Carolina is in no position to throw stones at South Carolina, and perhaps it is best to forget the whole thing as quickly as possible. But a great wrong has been done in both states, and two murderers have escaped the gallows. There will be retribution somewhere—mark ye that. The penalty will be paid for both crimes—will be doubly paid, for there is a hell on earth more terrible to the conscience of the man whose hands are blood-stained than any fire of brimstone the imagination can conceive.

The Greenbrier Presbytery, at Wheeling, West Virginia, made a kick at the preachers wearing bob-tail coats. This resolution on the question was adopted by the body: "It is the solemn and painful conviction of this Presbytery that some of the brethren are departing from the time-honored custom of the fathers in wearing bob-tailed coats, and the Presbytery would hereby warn the brethren against conformity to the customs of the dades." And this leads the Charlotte Observer to remark:

"If it had read that no brother should appear in the light of day wearing a silk hat and a bob-tail coat, it would have met with an amen chorus. The bob-tail coat is all right if topped off with the proper hat."

The Dunn Guide prints the Tillman and Haywood verdicts side by side, adding this comment upon Tillman's crime.

"The deed was as black as hell itself. From one viewpoint of the evidence published in the papers, he is a high-handed murderer in first degree. Premeditated and planned to take the life of Gonzalos for charges that he dared not test before the courts of his state. It was the act of a coward."

Very true and well said, but Tillman's was no worse crime than Haywood's, yet our contemporary, having worked off all its indignation on a crime far from home, disposes of the Haywood verdict as follows:

"The jury heard the evidence and rendered their verdict accordingly, no doubt, therefore we submit without comment."

The following news dispatch appeared recently:

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 15.—There was considerable comment on the street here today over the announcement by the Citizen, that it had inaugurated a negro department and had absorbed the Weekly Advocate, a negro paper of this city. In view of the fact that the Citizen has heretofore so strongly defended white supremacy, the deal with a negro paper is considered by many a remarkable move.

Well, well, you never can tell just where the fool killer will be needed next. Surely a bunch of microbes must have escaped from an insane asylum and landed in the office of the Citizen. The Citizen has been one of the best papers in the state, and we regret to see it making this mammoth blunder. Turn, sinner, turn, 'er 'tis too late.

And by the way, we think there will be something to say about it when Judge Peebles comes up for re-election.

The Supreme court has decided that Judge Purnell's salary is not subject to taxation, and the decision has law and precedent on its side, but we have no sympathy with the constitutional provision which prohibits the general assembly from reducing the salaries of judges, "in order to preserve the independence of the judges and executive officers named in the constitution." Judges are no better than other people, and their independence is not and never has been threatened. "The law is plain enough, but it is a bad law."

Republicanism in North Carolina has been almost extinguished, but there are still a few poverty-stricken radical journals eking out a miserable existence. From one of these we occasionally get such slops as the following:

"An exchange says there is a great educational revival going on—in the democratic newspapers, but that it has not struck the schools or the general public."

It is well that a man who can lie like that is forever barred from public life.

Those Chicago parents who buried the body of a boy found floating in the river, thinking it was their 11-year-old son who had disappeared from home, were a bit surprised when their youngster turned up at home alive and well. The boy had taken offence at a scold-in from his father and left home, staying away several weeks.

It would be a real stroke of enterprise if the News and Observer should discover the identity of the woman who received that letter from Dewey and reread it to the above paper. The original envelope would probably give Dewey's present location.

Maybe Dewey intends to come back about Christmas, so as touch the hearts of kindly people. He is a pretty fair touch artist, anyway.

While we expected that jury to acquit Haywood, we did not expect it to be in such a blamed big hurry about it.—Durham Herald.

After getting the jury to do what he wanted it to do Judge Peebles might have kept his mouth shut about it.—Durham Herald.

If these fellows who continually make trouble for the police were allowed to work out their fines instead of paying out you would soon see a difference.—Durham Herald.

Oranges are exceedingly healthful and have medicinal properties. In fevers the juice will quench the thirst and act soothingly on the stomach. Glycerine and lemon juice applied with a soft brush or rag will remove freckles, but care must be taken that the skin is not exposed much to the sun.

If the face is hot and covered with perspiration wait until it becomes cooled off before washing; a heated, perspiring skin causes it to become rough.

Never allow either very hot or very cold food to come in contact with the teeth; the extremes in temperature will break the enamel and cause decay.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substance and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville; R. L. Davis Bros., Farmville.

Many Mothers of a Like Opinion
Mrs. Pilmer, of Cordova, Iowa, says: "One of my children was subject to croup of a severe type, and the giving of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy promptly, always brought relief. Many mothers in this neighborhood think the same as I do about this remedy and want no other kind for their children." For sale by Wooten's drug store, Greenville, B. L. Davis Bros., Farmville.

Motherhood

MOTHERHOOD is the reward nature bestows upon healthy womanhood. Women whose vitality has been sapped by disease cannot safely give birth to children. In pregnancy and in childbirth weakness of the mother is revealed in the pain and agony she suffers.

This great medicine drives out every vestige of inflammation and weakness, and gives tone and strength to the delicate organs which mature the child. The pains of pregnancy are banished by Wine of Cardui, and miscarriages, which blast so many fond mother's hopes, are prevented. Flooding, which so often occurs after childbirth, is corrected when Wine of Cardui is used during pregnancy.

Wine of Cardui babies are healthy babies, because, during the months of pregnancy, the mother is able to give them necessary vitality and strength.

With these facts presented to American women no expectant mother should be satisfied without the re-inforcement that Wine of Cardui will give her. Every mother should be able to treat herself in her home with this valuable medicine.

Wine of Cardui can be secured from any druggist at $1.00 a bottle.

Polycarp, N. C., Jan. 11, 1902.

I am the mother of seven children and while in pregnancy with the first six suffered untold misery until they were born. One month before the seventh was born I began to take a bottle of Wine of Cardui, which gave me relief after taking three doses. I used the remainder of the bottle until the birth of the child, and was stouter in three days after the birth than I was in a month after the birth of either of the first six. I am 29 years old.

Football Days.

The football days have come again, the gladdest of the year; One side of Willie's nose is gone and Tom has lost an ear; He leaped, out the field, the play; a jab, and punch, and claw, and tear.

They knock the breath from those beneath and gong without a care; They break each other's arms and legs, and pull joints out of place, And here and there is one who gets his teeth kicked from his face.

The freshman and the sophomore, besmeared with grime and mud, Go gallantly to get the ball and quit all bathed in blood;

The senior knocks the junior down and kicks him in the chest, The high school boy is carried home and gently laid at rest, While here and there a crowded stand collapses 'neath its weight, And forty people get more than they paid for at the gate.

O brave, O happy careless days! How deep the mother's joy, What time she thinks of all the things they're doing to her boy! How proud she is to know that he is on the team, how sweet His face appears to her since it is only bloody meat!

With honest pride she lays away his amputated ear, And puts his eye in alcohol to be a souvenir.—New Haven Leader.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exist plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and causes cuts, bruises and like injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by Wooten's drug store, Greenville, R. L. Davis & Bros. Farmville.

Set Your Heels.

When you're feelin' kind o' blue And the world sets down on you, Don't lose hope and ease your grip—Set your heels so they won't slip. Set your head, and with a smile And keep shovin' all the while, Keep on shovin' till you lose. All the symptoms of the blues.

Don't lose hope if luck seems tough; Show you're made of sterner stuff. Don't sit down to sob and sigh; Brace up for another try. Brace up! Stiffen up your lip. Set your heels so they won't slip, Then shove hard and wear a smile And you'll git thar after while.

Do your friends seem to be few? That's when it is up to you, But there's left one faithful friend Who will stick unto the end, He, will stick through thick and thin, So brace up and wade right in. Set your heels and brace your back And success you will not lack.

Don't sit down to peak and pine. Stiffen up your wobbly spine. Spit upon your hands and then Grab a hold and try again. Grab a hold and set each heel; Put your shoulder to the wheel. Shove with all your bloomin' might And you will find things movin' right.

The big headed man is most likely to run with the herd. The devil is not losing any sleep over watchcharm, piety. The love of all can be learned only from the Lord of all.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder. If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me.
