BOODLERS MUST GO.

Masonic Grand Master of Missouri Speaks of Sorrow and Shame

St. Louis, Mo., 22.—Dr. William F. Kuhn of Kansas City, who was elected at today's session of the Masonic grand, lodge grand master of the state of Missouri, made an address, in which he said: "The fair name of our state has been disgraced by some of our civic officials. Public trust has been betrayed and sold to the highest bidder. Civic honor has been obliged to hide her face, while private and corporate greed has finched, like a bold highwayman, the purse of its victims. The civilization of the twentieth century has stood appalled and thought of the decadence of once proud Rome, which fell a prey to civic dishonor. Of the self confessed, convicted and sentenced boodlers of Missouri, six of thirty-two, to our sorrow and shame, were Masons."

After referring to several specific cases where members who had sold their honor for money had been tried and expelled with commendable zeal," the grand master concluded: "The edict has gone forth that the boodlers must go."

Carolina's Victorious Record Broken.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 24.—North Carolina met her first defeat this season here today, Georgetown being the winning team. The game was played in two twenty minute halves, both teams fighting stubbornly throughout. Georgetown did fine work and showed excellent training. Carolina only reached the city a very few minutes before the game was called. Some of Carolina's best players were off the team, having been hurt in the V. M. I. and Carolina game last Saturday.

Carolina would rally at times, throwing Georgetown back for losses, but could not keep up such heavy work, as Georgetown outweighed Carolina by fifteen pounds to the man.

Welcome.

Greenville extends a most cordial welcome to the delegates and visitors to the North Carolina Christian Missionary Convention here this week. They will find a hospitality awaiting them that is characteristic of our people, and we are sure they will find as much pleasure at being here as Greenville derives from having the distinguished assemblage as her guests. All latch strings will be found hanging on the outside.

The Youth's Companion in 1904.

As the years increase The Youth's Companion endeavors to keep pace with them in all that is wise, beautiful and progressive, and not only to retain but to deserve the honorable and exceptionally high place it holds in the confidence and affection of three generations of readers. The greatest living authors in all branches of literature continue to contribute to it.

Among the important series of articles will be one on the occupation of the farmer in many parts of the world—in England, in Ireland, in India, in Argentina, etc.

The annual Announcement Number of The Companion, describing the principal features of The Companion's new volume, will be sent to any address, free.

The new subscriber for 1904 will receive all the issues of The Companion for the remaining weeks of 1903 free from the time of subscription; also The Companion Calendar for 1904, lithographed in twelve colors and gold.

The Youth's Companion, 144 Berkeley Street, Boston, Mass.

All Stand Together.

The best way to build up a town is to stand by each and every man in the town who does right. Whenever a man is doing well do not try to tear him down. All the residents of a town ought to be partners, not opponents. Their interests are, to a certain extent, mutual. What helps one helps others. In all likelihood the more business your rival does the more you will do. Every business man who treats his customers honestly, courteously and fairly will get his share, and the more business that can be secured by united efforts the better it will be for all. When a town ceases to grow it begins to die and the more the people do all to kill each other in their business or good names, the more rapidly will utter ruin come to all. Stand together for the advancement of every citizen—for the betterment of the community at large. If a man shows ability to prosper do not pull him back through jealousy or weigh him down with cold indifference.—Chapel Hill News.

Asheville Auditorium Burned.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 24.—The Asheville auditorium was totally destroyed by fire this morning shortly before four o'clock, entailing a loss of $35,000. Along with the auditorium the residence of Mrs. W. H. Penland was burned, her loss being ten thousand dollars. Insurance on the two buildings amounted to twenty thousand.

At a meeting of the directors of the Auditorium Company today it was decided to immediately rebuild the structure and plans were put on foot to accomplish this end.

How the building caught is a mystery. All fires were extinguished shortly after eight o'clock, and after the performance of "Favor of the Queen," everything was carefully looked after. At three o'clock Manager Randolph passed the auditorium and everything appeared all right at that hour. With the burning of the building some valuable minutes and records were destroyed, also a trunk full of Masonic records belonging to J. W. Cortland, who is now in Washington at the Masonic conclave.

More Minstrels.

The Greenville Minstrels, including the famous comedians, A. A. Forbes, Eugene Bennett, W. P. Edwards and A. Beasley, will appear at the Opera House Monday, November 9th, for the benefit of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Forbes' band and orchestra will furnish music.

Parham Leads.

Parham's warehouse is taking the lead in pounds of tobacco sold by any house on the Greenville market this season. Of course tobacco is selling low at all the houses, for which none of them are responsible, but if Parham & Parham were not getting as much for it as can be had anywhere they would not be leading the market. They are hustlers and do everything possible in the interest of those who sell on their floor.

INGRATITUDE.

One of the saddest sins of this and all other ages is the fault of letting those who have done their heart and hand and head's best for you go uncommended, unthanked and unappreciated. Money does not buy everything or pay for everything. The price you pay in coin for a service does not alone determine its value to you or the value the one who serves intended it to have. He who sells the skill of his hands for a price disposes of the part of himself that is least valuable. He who serves you with his heart as well as hand, gives you a service that your money alone could never buy. But who can put his heart into his work when he has the certain knowledge that whatever he does well, and however well he does it, it will never be noticed? There are very few hearts so stout, oh! ye generation of ungratefals. You can buy hand service with money, and it may profit you, but you can buy a far brighter jewel with a price that should cost you nothing—a word of thanks or appreciation.

The following is taken from the Concord Times. THE REFLECTOR has said the same thing in different words time and again, and we believe it still:

"Any man accused of any crime and known to be guilty as certainly as anything can be known, can if he has money, find plenty of lawyers who will undertake to acquit him—and, be it said to our everlasting shame, they nearly always succeed. From a moral standpoint no lawyer has a right to do this. Suppose, for instance, some guilty man should offer an influential newspaper a sum of money to use its editorial and news columns to accomplish his acquittal, and the paper should accept, what would public sentiment say of that newspaper? The editor would be driven out of the community, and should be. From a moral point of view, is there a particle of distinction between the newspaper and the lawyer who takes the case in the same way? No argument and no amount of reasoning can convince us that there is."

We again call the attention of advertisers to our Thanksgiving edition, which will appear Thanksgiving morning. It will consist of from 12 to 16 pages, will have a circulation of over 3,000, and will be the best advertising opportunity this year. Orders for space should be given in at once, as the first to order will be given the best positions.

It is supposed that there is more whiskey consumed in damp, cold weather than under any other conditions, and our observation tends to confirm the statement. On a bright, warm day people hang around the saloon front, but when the air is raw and chilly they don't even hesitate, they go through the swinging door in crowds, and are always in a hurry—to get in.

Unless there is a change three or four national democratic administrations would put up the republican party out of business in North Carolina.—Durham Herald.

We can understand why Mr. Dowie is engaged in his present occupation, but cannot understand why his followers allow themselves to be worked so easily.—Durham Herald.

Ruffin and Clark Both Honest but Wrong.

An esteemed friend of the News and Observer, in a private letter, says that recent editorial in this paper upon the decision of the Supreme Court with reference to the taxation of the income of judicial officers "is capable of the construction that you believe the judges were influenced in rendering their decision by a desire on the part of the judges to escape the payment of a tax on their own income." We are surprised that such a construction has been placed upon the editorial. Our purpose was to dissent strongly from the opinion of the court and to express regret that they had not departed from a precedent, which we believe tends to create a class of officialdom, enjoying exemption from the common burdens of government. It was foreign to our idea to attribute so small or selfish a motive to the North Carolina Supreme Court. We believe they have erred, but we never for a moment believed they were actuated by a desire to save the little tax on their own incomes, and we are surprised that any regular reader of this paper could put such a construction upon the vigorous dissent. This paper, having labored to secure the selection and election of a majority of the court, could not believe the members capable of rendering an opinion solely to save themselves a few dollars. It would not support men it believed capable of such littleness.

It is a matter for deep regret that the court lost so splendid an opportunity of rendering a decision that would repudiate the absurd contention of ancient judges that a tax upon all incomes does not apply to judicial officers because such tax would tend to destroy the independence of the judiciary. The editorial in question was written to express this regret and disappointment, also to put on record what we believe to be the saner view enunciated in a decision in Pennsylvania, to-wit: that a tax imposed upon all incomes bears upon judges just as upon private citizens, and does not in any way even tend to destroy the independence of the judicial department of government. Of course a tax levied upon judges alone would be unconstitutional, but to exempt judges from a tax that is imposed upon all others enjoying a like income builds up an office-holding class upon which special privileges are conferred, and is in conflict with the republican theory that no special privilege is to be enjoyed by any class.

We have no doubt that the day will come when the present decision of the court will be reversed. We sincerely believe it is as wrong in principle as the monarchical decision enunciated in Hoke vs. Henderson. Both confer a special privilege upon office-holders that is denied to others. The public interest is superior to the right of the office holder, Hoke vs. Henderson to the contrary notwithstanding. The right of the Legislature to impose a tax upon all persons in receipt of an income over $1,000, including judicial officers, is superior to the right of the judge to enjoy exemption. Purnell vs. Page to the contrary notwithstanding. Judge Ruffin was wrong half a century ago; Judge Clark and his associates are wrong now. Every civilized country in the world except North Carolina has repudiated the doctrine of Hoke vs. Henderson. It may require quite as long to reach it but the day will come just as sure as law is the perfection of wisdom and reason when Purnell vs. Page will also be repudiated. Ruffin was honest but wrong. So were the Associate Justices then. Clark is honest but wrong. So are the Associate Justices now. Of course we may be wrong in our conviction, and the judges may be right. Time alone will tell.—News and Observer.

When Mr. Butler resigns the chairmanship of the populist national committee can be taken as a sign that all the rest of them had as well join some other party.—Durham Herald.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

No one who is acquainted with its good qualities can be surprised at the great popularity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It not only cures colds and grip effectually and permanently, but prevents these diseases from resulting in pneumonia. It is also a certain cure for croup. Whooping cough is not dangerous when this remedy is given. It contains no opium or other harmful substances and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. It is also pleasant to take. When all of these facts are taken into consideration it is not surprising that people in foreign lands, as well as at home, esteem this remedy very highly and very few are willing to take any other after having once used it. For sale by Wooten's Drug Store, Greenville; R. L. Davis Bros., Farmville.

Many Mothers of a Like Opinion Mrs. Pilmer, of Cordova, Iowa, says: "One of my children was subject to croup of a severe type, and the giving of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy promptly, always brought relief. Many mothers in this neighborhood think the same as I do about this remedy and want no other kind for their children." For sale by Wooten's drug store, Greenville, R. L. Davis Bros., Farmville.

A Dog and a Song.

During one of the last birthday celebrations of the poet Whittier he was visited by a celebrated oratorio singer. The lady was asked to sing, and, seating herself at the piano, she began the beautiful ballad, "Robin Adair." She had hardly begun before Mr. Whittier's pet dog came into the room and, seating himself by her side, watched her as if fascinated, listening with a delight unusual in an animal. When she finished he came and put his paw very gravely into her hand and licked her cheek. "Robin takes that as a tribute to himself," said Mr. Whittier. "He also is Robin Adair." The dog, hearing his own name, evidently considered that he was the hero of the song. From that moment during the lady's visit he was her devoted attendant. He kept by her side when she was indoors and accompanied her when she went to walk. When she went away he carried her satchel in his mouth to the gate and watched her departure with every evidence of distress.

Sorry He Sued.

A stranger admitted below the bar of the British house of lords was required to deposit his umbrella with one of the attendants. The umbrella was not to be found afterward, and the owner brought an action in court to recover its value. He was successful and was awarded $5. But this was a violation of sanctuary which the lord chancellor would not tolerate. Summoning the plaintiff and his attorney to the bar of the house, he only refrained from committing them both to prison on their making a humble apology and refunding the amount they had gained.

The Small Grains.

A man recently made a fortune by picking out specks of gold from the heaps which the miners had cast up and abandoned. They were in search of nuggets and despised the smaller grains which rewarded their perseverance. And how frequently the richest findings of philosophy are in the commonplace incidents of life! In circumstances and places that seem wholly unpropitious to it the poet's heavenly attuned ear discerns a sweet undertone of harmony which all the hurly burly of sin and misery cannot drown.

Only Room For One.

Lady—How could you be so foolish as to put anything on that newly painted table?
Maid—But I saw Mr. Jones lay several articles there.

Lady—What of that? If my husband makes a jackass of himself he has a right to, but you haven't, you stupid creature.

Discretion.

Miss Bizzy—I am glad to hear that you are married, O'Brien, and hope that you and Bridget don't have many differences of opinion.
O'Brien—Faith, ma'am, we have a good many, but O! don't let her know about them.—Town and Country.

The Name Moses.

It is a curious fact, unknown perhaps to a majority of readers, that Moses of Scriptural fame was called by eight different names in various places in the Bible. Bathia, the daughter of Pharaoh, called him Moses because she drew him out of the water. Jochebed, his mother, called him Jekuthiel, saying, "I had hoped for him." Miriam, his sister, called him Jared because she had descended after him into the water to see what his end would be. Aaron called his brother Abi Zanuch because his father had deserted their mother. Amram, the father of Moses, called the boy Chabar because he was again reunited to the mother of the lad.

Kelathi, the grandfather of Moses, called him Abigdor because God had repaired the breach in the house of Jacob. The nurse of the grandfather of Moses called him Abi Socho because he was once hidden three months in the Tabernacle. All Israel called him Shemalah because "in his days God heard their cries and rescued them from their oppressors."

In some parts of England the tapping of a bird round the house is looked upon by the superstitious as a warning.

A doctor was recently summoned in hot haste to a little Warwickshire farmhouse not many miles from Birmingham.

He found an old man in bed, but in perfect health, and asked why he had been sent for.
"Why, sir," replied the daughter-in-law, "there coom a little robin about the door. We knowed it was a 'cell,' and we thought it must be granfer; so we put 'im in bed and sent for you."

What He Didn't Wear.

Mr. Blunder—Why, your mother looks as young as you do, Miss Stale.
Miss S. (stiffly)—That is not very complimentary to me, Mr. Blunder.
Mr. B. (confusedly)—I—didn't mean that. I—I mean you look as young as your mother.

Even With Him.

Mr. Flirty (tauntingly)—I saw Mrs. Berryman on the street today. She looked charming 'in her mourning gown.
Mrs. Flirty (sarcastically)—Indeed! It's a pity we can't all be widows.

Frank and Honest.

Butcher—What did you think of that steak I cut you yesterday?
Patron—To be perfectly frank with you, I thought it "came off a South American cow that had been foddered on rubber trees."

Education is a mighty good thing to have in the house, but you can't trot a small jackass around a college and make a blooded steed of him.—Dallas News.

DIETING INVITES DISEASE.

To cure Dyspepsia or indigestion it is no longer necessary to live on milk and toast. Starvation produces such weakness that the whole system becomes an easy prey to disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that one cares to eat, and is a never failing cure for indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Kodol digests what you eat—makes the stomach sweet. Sold by John L. Wooten.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exist plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and causes cuts, bruises and like injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by Wooten's drug store, Greenville, R. L. Davis & Bros. Farmville.

Solomon's Horses

By a great many people Arabia is supposed to be the home of the horse. From ancient Roman, Grecian and Jewish history we readily learn that the horse was unknown in Arabia long after he was a common factor in the life of southern Europe. The horse was scarcely known to the Hebrews prior to the days of Solomon, that worthy and illustrious sovereign having been brought into closer contact with the horse by his marriage to a daughter of Pharaoh, the reigning king of Egypt, whose gorgeous wedding outfit was supplemented by a large number of elegant horses, adapted alike to the service of war and the chase. The appearance of these beautiful animals as they sped swiftly along the streets of Jerusalem excited the envy of a few jealous princes, but added to Solomon's popularity with the masses. After his marriage with the Egyptian princess Solomon began buying horses from his father-in-law, and so rapidly did he multiply them by purchase and breeding that those kept for his own use required, as it is written, "4,000 stables and 40,000 stalls."

His Unspoken Opinion.

Richard M. Hunt, the artist, honest in his opinion and blunt in its expression, was appreciated by budding students. What he said in criticism sometimes necessitated the destruction of a picture, but the advice eventually was profitable.

A lady called on Mr. Hunt one day, requesting him to select a frame suitable for a sketch which a dear nephew had painted. "A frame in harmony with the thought suggested by the picture," was desired.

Artist Hunt betook himself to the woods. A few days after he called on a picture dealer, saying that he wished the sketch framed in the material he had collected.

"Impossible!" exclaimed the picture dealer. "Can't frame the picture with this stuff. It's rotten wood."

"You must," said Mr. Hunt gruffly. "This frame is to be in harmony with the picture."

The Blood as a River.

The blood is a very river of human life, its pulmonary and systematic circulations constituting an intricate network of canals, making the body a sort of corporeal Amsterdam or human Venice, writes George Dana Boardman in "Ethics of the Body." Each corpuscle is a barge, moving with varying rates of speed in different parts of the body, tolling through the capillaries at the rate of two inches a minute, rushing through the arteries at the rate of from twelve to twenty feet a second, ceaselessly carrying on the organic functions of the body by perpetually exchanging freight, depositing at the depot of this and that tissue oxygen and taking up dioxide of carbon. What money is to society that blood is to the body. It is the means of exchange or the circulating medium.

A Pyzard Hindu was restored to his caste by the following process of "purification." He lost caste eating cooked food in a railway carriage, in which persons of another caste were traveling. He had to pay his own weight first in rice, the value reaching 180 rupees, and then in wheat. After being twice weighed in this way he was made to sit on a square stone while his body was covered with manure, the face only excepted. He was then taken up by two men and thrown into the river, and after a bath was received by the Brahmans, fully restored to caste fellowship.

POLLY IS HERE.

Doc Waddell Arrives With the Remarkable Faust Minstrel Parrot.

Doc Waddell, known to every newspaper office in the country, arrived this morning to announce the Ted E. Faust Minstrels, that are to be at the opera house, Saturday night, Oct. 31. He has with him Mr. Faust's remarkable talking parrot, which has the power of prophesy, foretelling the weather, tipping winners at the race track and predicting additions in the family.

Last night at Kinston the parrot was made a life member of the Elks. A brother presented the application for membership of Miss Polly Faust. A dozen brothers were on their feet in a jiffy, and objected. They argued that a woman cannot be admitted to membership. The argument waged warm, finally the outside guard stated that Miss Polly desired to be heard. The parrot came in, the Elks shook the building with applause and promptly made Polly a life member and on the way to her hotel from the lodge room the parrot to every one she passed cried: "Hello Bill! I's just got it for life!"

is that one that will cleanse the system, set the liver to action, remove the bile, clear the complexion, cure headaches and leave a good taste in the mouth. The famous little pills for doing such work pleasantly and effectually are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Bob Moore of Lafayette, Ind., says: "All other pills I have used gripe and sicken, while DeWitt's Little Early Risers are simply perfect." Sold by John L. Wooten.

To All Whom It May Concern:

This is to certify that in July, 1902, I had a fistula in anus which had given me trouble for ten years past and I had consulted several physicians and had followed their prescriptions to the letter and continued to grow worse until I could not walk, and for eight months I could only walk on crutches, and in this condition I was advised to call on Dr. Moore, colored, which I did, and under his treatment I at once began to grow better and in one week the trouble was removed and I was perfectly well, feeling like a 16-year old boy, and the trouble has never returned.
