HINSON-EVERETT.

Cupid had played well his part. It was a quiet and beautiful home marriage. The bride's home was beautifully lighted. Many relatives and friends of the bride and groom had assembled to witness the nuptials. At 8:15, on the evening of January 27th, 1904, Mr. Geo. Thos. Hinson and Miss Maud, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Everett, of Marlboro, stood before Hymen's altar, and pledged faith, each to the other, the beautiful service of the Methodist church being read by Rev. L. E. Sawyer.

The presents were many and beautiful. May their's be a pleasant voyage through life.

DIED.

At 6 o'clock on last Thursday morning, after a severe illness of several months, Mrs. Joseph Parker died at her residence on Academy street.

After beautiful and impressive services, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Mr. Clayton, of the Disciple church, and assisted by Rev. L. E. Sawyer, of the Methodist church, her remains were gently laid to rest in the new cemetery.

WITH BULLS AND BEARS.

Col. I. A. Sugg Doing The Cotton Exchange.

New York, February 3rd, 1904.

EDITOR REFLECTOR:

It is cold, bitter cold, and getting no warmer here in New York. I have heard of Wall street where fortunes were made and lost in a day. I can say "Veni, Vidi." I struck the city on Monday morning, and as soon as I could get a hasty breakfast I went over to look at the boys. Through the courtesy of Messrs. Daniel J. Sully & Co., the bull leaders of the cotton market, I was given the privilege of the floor of the exchange for ten days, and to say that I have enjoyed the scenes on the 'change feebly expresses it. I try to observe as much as possible.

You know I had told the people often and often that cotton would sell in New York at 12½, 15 and 17½ cents per pound, and urged everybody to hold for the big prices. I did not think I would be able to see it quite so soon. But lo, and behold! it came as soon I could get a punch and get back to the pit.

Yes, my many calculations have been realized, and I was present and saw cotton sell for July at 17.55 on Tuesday, Feb. 2, in the year of grace 1904. To the unthinking this is fabulous. I am no more convinced now than when I was urging my people to hold for these prices. I am not alarmed about the 20, 22½, 25 and 26 predictions before Sept. 30, 1904.

Before this reaches you for print the Bureau report will be made known, and the crop estimate will be reduced to less than 9,750,000 commercial bales. I have no information, save my own, as to the report nor can any be had—there has been no leakage as has yet been discovered, but there will soon be no doubt of the fact, plain and straight, that there is to be a cotton famine in the country. And when the noses are counted, as they can be by the Ginners' report, to an absolute certainty, the staple will then become speculative and such prices as the speculators may please to name will be fixed.

With the spirit that prevails in money circles there will be dizzy heights in the cotton market that cannot be counted by any but those who can estimate keenly the power of money. And again I say there will be a time before the season of 1903-04 is passed when 20 and 22½ cents will seem cheap. That is no more extravagant talk than was my statement Dec. 5, 1903, that cotton would reach 15.50 before May 30, 1904.

Everybody can read the history of the last few weeks who has listened, and when September shall become a date of the past there will be a record that will startle the dealers in cotton. I am simply here as a school boy, learning a great lesson in economics—the law of supply and demand—and I think it a strong coincidence that I should arrive on the scene just as the wildest period was reached on the cotton exchange. The city papers have tried to write it up. It can't be done, it beggars description. I enjoyed it very much and learned the great lesson of my life.

But there was "weeping and gnashing of teeth," and this is a feeble tintype kodak pen picture. To those on the winning side there was an excitement of joy. The other side—"Dantes' Inferno" is a glimpse only. There has never been anything up to this date equal to or compared with the scene.

When cotton took a perpendicular drop of 135 points inside of 27 minutes "millions were made and lost in an hour." This was the scene of my life, and I would not have missed it for a great deal. The market has been a perfect see saw ever since, up and down in five or ten minutes 20 to 45 points. Dangerous, dangerous market. I am proud that I am an American. There is great excitement at this time, the war news is more alarming.

The bull leader goes on a vacation of rest on Saturday—the government report on Friday, all tend to keep uncertainty excited. But there is more wild cyclonic fun in store before many suns shall rise and set. ISAAC A. SUGG.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON, FEBRUARY 6, 1904.

THE WHISKEY QUESTION.

In a former issue we promised to continue the discussion of the money view of the dispensary. It is true this is the lowest view, yet is one not to be ignored in the general make up of public opinion.

There are in town eleven bar rooms. The law requires them to make semi-annual returns, under oath, to the Register of Deeds, of the amount of liquor purchased by them for the previous six months. We copy from the records of the Register of Deeds the returns made to him for the six months beginning July 1st, 1902, and ending Jan. 1st, 1903, and for the six months beginning Jan. 1st, 1903, and ending July 1st, 1903. We had to take these because some of the saloon keepers have not yet made their returns for the six months ending Jan. 1st 1904.

NAMES.	July 1, 1902 to Jan. 1, 1903.	Jan. 1, 1903 to July 1 1903.	Total For One Year.
J. A. Brady	$300	$400	$700
E. M. Cheek	350	212	562
W. C. Dudley & Bro.	176.50	250	426.50
John H. Howard, Jr.	311.40	328.06	639.06
H. C. Hooker, Agt.	400	350	750
Z. V. Hooker & Co.	350	500	850
L. Hooker & Co.	500	500	1,000
W. E. Jolley	400	400	800
B. F. Jolley	400	400	800
R. A. Nichols	200	350	550
M. L. Starkey	550	800	1,350

Now remember these returns were made under oath and for the purpose of paying a tax to the State and County on the amount of the purchases. There are many things about these returns to challenge the attention of the inquisitive, but we shall only comment on one of them. Take for instance the return of W. C. Dudley & Bro. They return they bought only $426.50 worth of liquor for a whole year from July 1st, 1902 to July, 1st, 1903. They did business in the two story brick store on the East side of Evans street nearly opposite the Bank of Greenville. We estimate the rent, light and fuel for the bar room at $450. We estimate that they paid their clerk about $400 per year. Mr. Dudley kept house near Hotel Bertha and we suppose he paid as much as $120 a year rent for his home. We estimate that his wood, lights, washing, table, servant hire, &c., cost him at least $400 more. The state, county, town and federal tax was about $600. Here we find a whiskey firm doing $1,970 worth of business on $426.50 worth of liquor. Either the profits of the whiskey business are marvelous or there is something criminally wrong in the returns made. The same criticism can be made of all the other concerns engaged in the business. Then it is manifest that neither their returns nor their sworn statements give us any reliable data by which to estimate the profits on the whiskey business in Greenville.

But this we know. There are eleven bar rooms now doing business in Greenville. There are two men in each place—the owner and a clerk in some of them there may be more. This makes at least 22 men to be supported out of the business. It is a low estimate to put each man at $400 per year including house rent for family, support of family and everything else. This makes $8,800. It is well known that rents for bar rooms are very high, much higher than for any other purpose. It is not an over estimate to put the average for rents, lights, fuel and incidentals at $400 each. This will make $4,400 for rents, lights, fuel and incidentals. The state, county, town and federal tax is $675 for each bar room. This gives us about $7,500 in taxes to come out of the business. So we have fixed charges amounting to over $20,000 that must come out of the sales of whiskey made by the eleven bar rooms before any profit can be declared. There must be profit in a business that can bear this burden. If we want any further proof that there is profit in it we find it in the fact that the eleven men who bear this burden are making a desperate fight to hold on to their business.

If a dispensary is established nearly all of this expense can be saved and it can go into profit. Instead of eleven places of business and high rents there will be but one. Instead of 22 men, four will be ample. There is no tax except three per cent on gross sales to the state. Then there are no bad debts as with the eleven bar rooms. It is all cash. Although the returns of the barkeepers do not show it, it is a well known fact there is a large amount of whiskey sold in Greenville. Add a reasonable profit on what is sold to the expense saved by a dispensary, and we assert that the net profit cannot be less than $30,000 if the dispensary is put under proper business management. One half of this goes into the town treasury to meet the current expenses of the town. With this amount paid into the town treasury from the dispensary all town taxes can be abolished if that shall be thought advisable. One year's receipts will pay the town's subscription to the Raleigh and Pamlico Railroad. Or the funds can be used to put the streets in order, and if wisely spent will, in a few years, give us good streets. The other half goes into the school fund. With $15,000 paid into the school fund from this source, Pitt county can soon have a school system of which every citizen can be proud and which will ultimately give the county an educated citizenship.

We have already said that the money view of the question is a low view, but we repeat that it is one that must be taken into a full discussion of the matter. It is well known that the sale and use of liquor is a fruitful source of idleness, lawlessness and crime and that these add to the burdens of the tax payer.

It is therefore wise that we so regulate the sale and use of liquor that the evil produced shall be as small as possible and that the profits arising from the traffic shall go to lightening the burdens of the tax payers and to serve the public good.
